PIONEER JEWELER

Uncle Santa Claus

By Christopher G. Hazard

(Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

"TELL us a story, Uncle Peter," said the children, as they climbed over their kindly relative one Christmas eve. "A story!" repeated Uncle Peter, affecting surprise, but willing to draw upon his inexhaustible stock; "well, have you ever heard of Uncle Santa Claus?" "Oh, you mean Uncle Santa Claus?" exclaimed Jack. "No, I don't," said Uncle Peter; "I mean the old man with the plug hat, the blue swallowtail coat, the striped breeches, the old man with eyes like stars and a smile that never comes off excepting when somebody is treading on somebody else; the old man with the striped flag, whose headquarters is up in Alaska; the biggest Santa Claus there is." "All right, then," answered the children, "tell us about him."

"Well," said Uncle Peter, "he has his hands full just now and is doing all he can to fill the hands of others. The air is so noisy with wireless cries and clamors, there are so many hands reaching out over the seas, that he is almost distracted. Ever since he got back from the great war he has been repairing its damage and renewing the prosperity that it spoiled. And long before that he was in the Christmas business. He surprised China by refusing to accept the great sum of the Boxer indemnity. He let the Cubans have Cuba when he had made them free, and many thought that he had a right to take that fair island for himself. He is working hard at his task of making America truly American, a sober, industrious, enlightened, prosperous, happy, Christ-mas-y nation."

"I'm glad I'm one of his American children," said Agnes, when Uncle Peter had concluded, with which sentiment all the rest agreed.

A little cloud of doubt had arisen on the Christmas sky, however, as "I'm Glad I'm One," Said Agnes.

Uncle Peter had spoken of Uncle Santa's lavishness in far countries. Edith voiced it when she wanted to know if it would be of any use for them to expect anything that Christmas, whether or not they were to hang up their stockings. "You'll put your foot in it if you do," said George. "No, she won't," said Uncle Peter; "I have had a special delivery letter from Uncle Santa, saying that he has had his eye on this house for the last twelve months, and that this will be one of his stopping places because from it so much of service for others has been going out. He says that you are his gardeners, and that you have planted so many seeds of kindness that a lot of beautiful things will be sure to come up. That is always the way, he says; in fact, it is the way in which he got rich himself."

This was a very pleasant assurance for the children. It made them think of a happy mistake that one of them had made when they were hanging war cards all over the town. A certain Mr. Rose had been appointed by the mayor as inspector of gardens for the whole place, and one day Betty pointed him out to a friend with whom she was walking. "There goes Mr. Rose," she said; "he's an expert of gardens!"

When the children had been reminded of Mr. Rose they also remembered what Betty had done at their last Christmas party: stalking heavily and pompously down the room, she had said: "Oh Mr. Atlas, who holds up the world." So one of them stood on tiptoe, threw back her head and threw out her arms and said: "The Uncle Santa Claus, who holds up the world." "Well done!" cried Uncle Peter; "that's just it!"

"There wasn't any disappointment in the house the next morning. 'Did you get all that you wanted?' asked Uncle Peter. "Yes," said Mary. "Were you at all disappointed?" "No," said Mary. When Mary said "Goodness," her mother said: "You shouldn't say goodness; Mary." "Gracious!" said Mary. But Mary was too excited to have a care for her expressions. In describing the situation afterwards she said: "I was in a perfect stupor of excitement."

Uncle Peter had a present, too. After all the rest had been made happy Agnes brought out a parcel, and when Uncle Peter opened it there were too big books that told over again the story of all that America had stood for and accomplished. This made him very glad indeed, and he asked them to write his name on the fly-leaf and to say that it was from his Young Americans. Then the Christmas party ended with a verse of our national anthem, heartily sung and followed by all the other verses, with a hurrah for Uncle Sam instead of an amen.

LOEB SCHOOL TO GIVE A PROGRAM

Plays, A Wand Drill, Recitations To Be Features

Everybody is invited to attend the Christmas entertainment at the Loeb school on the evening of Friday, December 22nd, at 7 o'clock standard time. The program will be given by the pupils, each of whom will have a speaking part. There will be three little Christmas plays, a wand drill, recitations, and class and community singing. There will be a great Christmas tree, organ music, and a general good time conducted by Santa Claus in person, who will distribute presents and goodies to such pupils of the school as he approves of after looking over all the report cards.

The fine community spirit in the Loeb district, and the co-operation of teachers and parents, indicate that this will add one more to the fine list of good times that have been enjoyed at the school house. Other entertainments will follow during the winter. There will be a valentine entertainment in February, at which February's great men—Lincoln, Washington and Longfellow—will be featured, an illustrated lecture, and a musical and literary evening.

"BROWN", BIG FREIGHTER ASHORE

Men Lashed to Life Boats Attempt Rescue

The freighter J. J. H. Brown, owned by the Brown Steamboat company, of Buffalo, ran ashore yesterday in a blizzard at Point Nichols, Bois Blanc Island, just out from Cheboygan, and had a big hole stove in her side. Three lifeboats, with men lashed to them, were sent out from Walker Point.

The Brown, which is valued at $500,000, carried a $100,000 cargo of coal and was bound from Buffalo to Chicago. The boat is one of the largest on the lakes being 600 feet long.

Captain Richard Herline at Walker Point coast guard station, states that this is the worst storm on the waters in 15 years.

DOUBLE SHOOTING AT KALKASKA

Eighteen Months Child Meets Death by Hands of Brother

Kalkaska had a double shooting tragedy on Saturday before Thanksgiving. Nile W., the eighteen months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Soper, was killed by a shot from a small rifle in the hands of his brother, four years old. The rifle belonged to Kenneth Riley, the ten-year-old son of a neighbor who had left it standing in the house while he played with the other children about the yard. Following the accident, Kenneth Riley went home with his gun, and soon after was found dead in his yard with a bullet in his forehead. It is supposed that he shot himself because of remorse over the shooting of the young child of the neighbor.

LOREN HART IS RADIO ENTERTAINER

Former Local Boy Attached to Station W-H-A-C

A clipping from a recent issue of the Waterloo (Iowa) Tribune, tells of the success in musical circles of a former Charlevoix boy, Loren A. Hart, well-known to our readers. We reproduce the extract below:

"L. A. Hart, Cedar Heights, assisted by Miss Elsie Byvank and Mrs. H. O. Chapman, gave the radio concert last evening at the Cole Brothers-Tribune station, W-H-A-C. The numbers given were of a variety of excellent selections which would be hard to duplicate. The reports from people in this city and vicinity telephoned the station saying that the concert was being received very nicely and without much bother from static."

The concerts, which have been secured for the coming week, will bring much of the desired talent in the city to the station and many a treat is promised the radio world in general."

The Courier wishes to congratulate Mr. Hart on his well-earned success and trust that on some occasion when station W-H-A-C may be "connected up" with our local receiving outfit at Wood Brothers, we may have the pleasure of "listening in" on some of his selections.

The Sewing Club of the M. E. church will hold their annual, fancy goods bazaar at the Metcalf Drug Store, Saturday, December 16th. Adv. 4912.

NEW PALACE THEATRE

Attractions for the Coming Week

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, DECEMBER 16-17—Priscilla Dean in "Conflict." This play was taken from the famous "Red Book" story by the same name. Here is a stupendous picture of the great North woods. There are many wonderful and sensational acts of bravery and enough real thrills to make your hair stand on edge. We also have a very good St. Johns comedy, "The Village Sheik." Don't miss a good show.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 19—Corinne Griffith in "The Single Track." Here is a railroad play that will bring back the old days of railroading. It is of a girl who drives a train many miles to save a right of way. On this night we will also have "Squibs & Squabbles."

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20—Dustin Farnum in "Strange Idols." He won her in the city and lost her in the wilds. In other words, the romance of a man of the open and a beauty of the cabaret. See how the lumberman and cupid hold their own. Also episode 13 of "The Adventures of Tarzan."

NEXT SATURDAY and SUNDAY, DECEMBER 23-24—A very big special. Rudolph Valentino in "Blood and Sand."

There will be a dance at the I. O. O. F. hall, Saturday evening, December 16, under the auspices of the Encampment, for Old Fellows, Rebekahs and their friends. Good music.—Come.—Adv. 5011.

JELLY-ROLLS WERE SCRAMBLED

Mingle With Cup Cakes and Buns at Foot of Hill

A hungry tramp with a weak heart would have perished miserably last Saturday night, had he witnessed the destruction of dainties that took place when John McCann's bakery delivery rig went over the cliff-side above the life-saving settlement.

At about half past five, Lawrence Taylor, driving the car (a Chevrolet), accompanied by Richard McCann, finished his deliveries in the life-saving colony and started up the steep hill to Park avenue, trying to make it "in high." When nearly to the summit of the rise, his engine "killed" and Taylor let the car roll back across the road until the rear wheels rested against the low curb, which with the sidewalk and the steep declivity behind it, was sheathed with ice. He got out to crank her up, leaving young McCann in the car.

Somehow, in his efforts to start the engine, Taylor bore his weight too heavily against the radiator and the rear wheels, mounting the icy curb, the car started to roll back over the edge of the bank, which at this point is just about straight up, and down for some fifty feet.

Seeing that the car was going to go over the edge, McCann jumped out—a act that in all probability saved his life, as she tumbled turtle twice before hitting the bottom.

The solid side-wall of William Kibbe's garage stopped her further progress, but the mess was awful to behold. Fenders, windshield and body were splinters only and her toothsome freight was scattered far and wide. Some of it could be saved but much was a total loss. Some of the bread-stuffs, not rendered unfit for consumption, was given away to persons in need. The repair bill for the car will be heavy, but Richard McCann is to be congratulated on his narrow escape.

McLEAN FAVORS CANNING FACTORY

Holland-St. Louis Head Offers to Take Stock

Joseph Cooper, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from Sears R. McLean, general manager of the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company, at St. Louis, in which Mr. McLean makes the statement that, if Charlevoix gets a canning factory started here, he will, personally, take a large block of the stock.

In his opinion, the factory should not be located on the outskirts of town, but erected at a point close in. The reason for this is that women are largely employed in the canning industry and, in order to maintain their highest efficiency in the somewhat exacting and confining demands of the work, they should not be forced to walk great distances between the factory and their homes.

Mr. McLean sees no difficulties in the way of establishing a successful canning factory in this locality and his offer to become interested in the enterprise in a financial way is sufficient earnest of his confidence that it would be an excellent thing for the development of this region. It is probable, also, that the control of a large portion of the stock by a practical man in a field closely akin to the canning industry would lend that stabilizing influence to the project which has been so sadly lacking in similar attempts of past years.

The ladies of the W. R. C. will give a six o'clock dinner at the Baptist church, February 12, for the benefit of the Legion boys. More notice later.—Adv. 5011.

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS CONVALESCENT

LeRoy Sanders Leaves Hospital to Return Home

LeRoy Sanders, eighth grade pupil in the Leeb school, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sanders, of East Marion, who was dangerously ill at the Charlevoix Hospital for several weeks, has been taken to his home. On the way the car was stopped at the school so the invalid might get his books to make up lost work while convalescing, and his classmates flocked out to congratulate him on his improved condition.

LeRoy, who was unconscious most of the time for a week after being struck by a rapidly moving car on the Horton road several weeks ago, while driving cattle to Boyne City, hopes to be back in school after the Christmas vacation. At the time of the accident he had stepped away from the road when he saw rapidly moving cars approaching from the rear, and, when the foremost auto stopped short to avoid the cattle, the one just behind ran into the ditch to avoid striking it, and hit the boy.

WHAT SHOULD EDUCATION MEAN

ples which were laid down as the foundation of American citizenship in our country's constitution and embodies an idea, which, if misinterpreted, can do incalculable harm to our coming generation of citizens.

In the third from the last paragraph of his article, Mr. Hamilton affirms, "we must emphasize the equality of man." The trouble with this statement is that it is not qualified and may mean any one of three things—physical, mental and moral equality which is absurd and contrary to nature; equality before the law, which is an established theory, but more largely theory than fact (due, however to the shortcomings of human nature and not because of any inherent defect in the principle itself) and equality of opportunity, which is a true and healthy interpretation, worthy of acceptance, and the one most likely to prove an inspiration to our young men and women on life's threshold.

The first interpretation is capable, if widely held, of wrecking our entire social fabric. This erroneous conception is the seed of our "red" agitations and a good part of our labor troubles. It is a sure breeder of disrespect for law and authority, encourages envy and extravagance, destroys happiness and, if carried to its logical conclusion, ends in anarchy and confusion. It is said that "nature abhors a vacuum." It is equally true that she has little use for a dead level. Nowhere in her works can anything approaching equality be found. If biological equality were a fact, progress would be impossible. Such institutions as the Loeb Farms, engaged in the breeding and development of fine cattle, would be throwing away their money and time on a "will o' the wisp." There is no more mental and moral equality between a Jack Dempsey and an Abraham Lincoln or a rag picker and Henry Ford than there is equality between a scrub Red Pole and a thoroughbred Holstein prize winner. Every man has his natural limitations and he is wise who recognizes them and makes the best of his opportunities within the sphere allotted him. Outside of it he will find little happiness.

The second concept is well enough, and one of our fundamental national principles, but we do not see much of it. We are getting so accustomed to the wealthy offender getting "soaked" when he should be cleared and getting off "scot-free" when he should be given the limit to the pretty murdres hypnotizing the jury or pleading the damnable "unwritten law" and getting by with it that we are apt to forget that there should be equality under the law. As a matter of fact, it is really difficult to apply this principle in some cases. How about the poor man who steals to aid his starving family and the wily promoter who deliberately robs the widow and orphan? Should they stand before the bar of justice on an equal footing and be meted out the same sentence? Why not, as a matter of theory—they both committed larceny? These are difficult problems and not lightly to be disposed of.

The third aspect of Mr. Hamilton's statement seems to present the most inspiring and attainable ideal. Equality of opportunity! No matter what a man's talents or handicaps, if he may start on the "scratch" line with his fellows, his failure to win the prize will be chargeable to no one but himself; if he succeeds his right to the fruits of victory will stand unchallenged. It is in this respect that American life has most nearly approached the state of equality among men and women. Even here, we fall far short of perfection and opportunity will not be equal for all of our young people until we find some way of removing the profiteer, the grasping landlord and the unscrupulous employer, the Wall Street manipulator and the corrupt public servant. It must be the duty of the new generation to get rid of these obstacles and insure to all the equality of opportunity which the founders of our nation wrote into the constitution of the United States.

ANOTHER QUARTER HEARD FROM

BEETS ARE BOOMED BY CHARLEVOIX FARMER

Isaac Mills Says New Farming Will Be an Endless Chain with Beets at One End—Cash at Other

Here's a letter from a practical farmer of this region who liked our account of the citizens meeting at the Council Chambers a week ago Monday and has a little something to say about the beet question. It is quite a while since we have had the pleasure of printing a communication of this kind and reproduce it below for the benefit of our readers: Charlevoix, Dec. 9, 1922.

"Editor of the Courier,

Dear Mr. Editor:

I am very much interested in your write up of the citizen's meeting at the council chambers, especially in regard to new industries. The cheese factory sounds good.

When Jack Means was married in Indiana, away back when Congress land was selling for $1.25 an acre, he got $600.00 along with his wife and she, in relating it to the Hoosier Schoolmaster, said she advised Jack to buy land with the $600.00 and while he was getting, to get a plenty. And that is my advice.

While we are getting a cheese factory and a canning factory, let's get a sugar factory. To my mind, there is nothing that will develop the farming interests as that will. It is well known that Charlevoix beets have a very high percentage of sugar and a few farmers still persist in raising beets, despite the many handicaps. Beets also have a very big percentage of water and we pay freight on a great many tons of water. We also pay freight on a great many tons of limestone that we have an abundance of and if we had a factory here, the limestone is already ground to haul and apply on our land, after serving its purpose in the manufacture of sugar. Then there is the pulp at our door, than which there is no better stock feed, and in the beet tops we also have a great amount of feed. All this goes to build up the dairy industry and along with that, hog raising.

Sugar beets are a cash crop. Hogs are a cash crop. Dairying is a continual cash income. Don't you see—beets are the foundation of a successful farm? Beets, dairying, hogs, fertilizer, alfalfa, clover, corn. More beets, more cream, more milk for your hogs. More hogs, more fertilizer, more alfalfa, more clover, more corn, more cash. There are hundreds of Loeb, Fords and Couzens who have millions of dollars that are "restively champing the bit" and waiting for such an opportunity as a sugar factory at Charlevoix would offer.

It was the greatest calamity that ever befell Charlevoix when the old factory was moved. Farmers were just beginning to understand the business and the benefits derived therefrom, and I believe that no one regretted the move more than the ones who moved it, for they made a barrel of money the last season's run and most of the beet raisers were intending to increase their acreage the next year and others were going to start.

I believe that if capitalists understood the situation they would be offering a bonus instead of asking one and there would be no shares to sell and no promoters required.

We have a county agent who is anxious to build up the interests of the county and I would suggest a community meeting in every grange hall or school house and boost the beet business, beginning at the Barnard Grange Hall with an all day meeting and I will guarantee a packed house.

Nuff sed, Isaac Mills."

This sounds like good, common horse sense to us. Let's hear from somebody else on the subject next week.

MORE SUGAR BEET ARGUMENTS

WM. F. JOHNSON NEXT CONTRI-BUTOR TO FORUM

Is Doubtful About Acreage Being Sufficient to Support a Factory Here

In response to our suggestion of last week, another communication on the sugar beet question has come to hand.

The writer is inclined to be somewhat apologetic in adding his contribution to the discussion of this interesting and timely subject and for his benefit and such other of our readers as may be desirous of expressing their opinions on this or any other matter of general interest, we may say that the columns of the Courier are always open to our readers for such discussion, provided their articles are signed and entirely free from defamatory or libelous statements.

One of the functions of a country newspaper is to provide a means for the expression of public opinion and no broad-gauged publication will refuse the use of its columns for this purpose.

"Editor, Courier.
Dear Sir:

I am wondering if you would consider me entirely out of order if I, too, should try to say something?

The letter of Isaac Mills in your December 13th issue has surely touched a spot nearest to my heart—sugar beets.

It has been a long time since your paper has talked sugar beets, and, yet, I am sure it would surprise you and others of your city to know how important this crop really is to the farming community around Charlevoix.

Unlike my brother, Mr. Mills, I can't talk sugar factory for Charlevoix. I wish I could. I don't believe there is anything—yes, I say, any one thing that would benefit the farmers around Charlevoix as much as would a beet sugar factory, but I also know how almost next to impossible it would be to get one here for many reasons. The most important one is the same reason that caused the West Michigan Sugar Company to leave; because they could not get the acreage of beets and it takes beets to run a factory.

A sugar factory would furnish employment for a good many Charlevoix citizens, but, from the farmers' standpoint, it makes but little difference whether his beets are sliced here or in Holland—only a matter of 50c per ton difference. All the other benefits Mr. Mills refers to are practically the same. Pulp can be gotten direct from the factory at about the price it costs to dry it.

I have been closely connected with sugar beets all my life. I believe in them above all other so-called cash crops. I believe the farmer who grows sugar beets and grows them well has a sure return for his labor and a clean farm.

I do not want to be a knocker, but, because I am a firm believer in sugar beets, may I be excused, Mr. Editor, if I take their part?

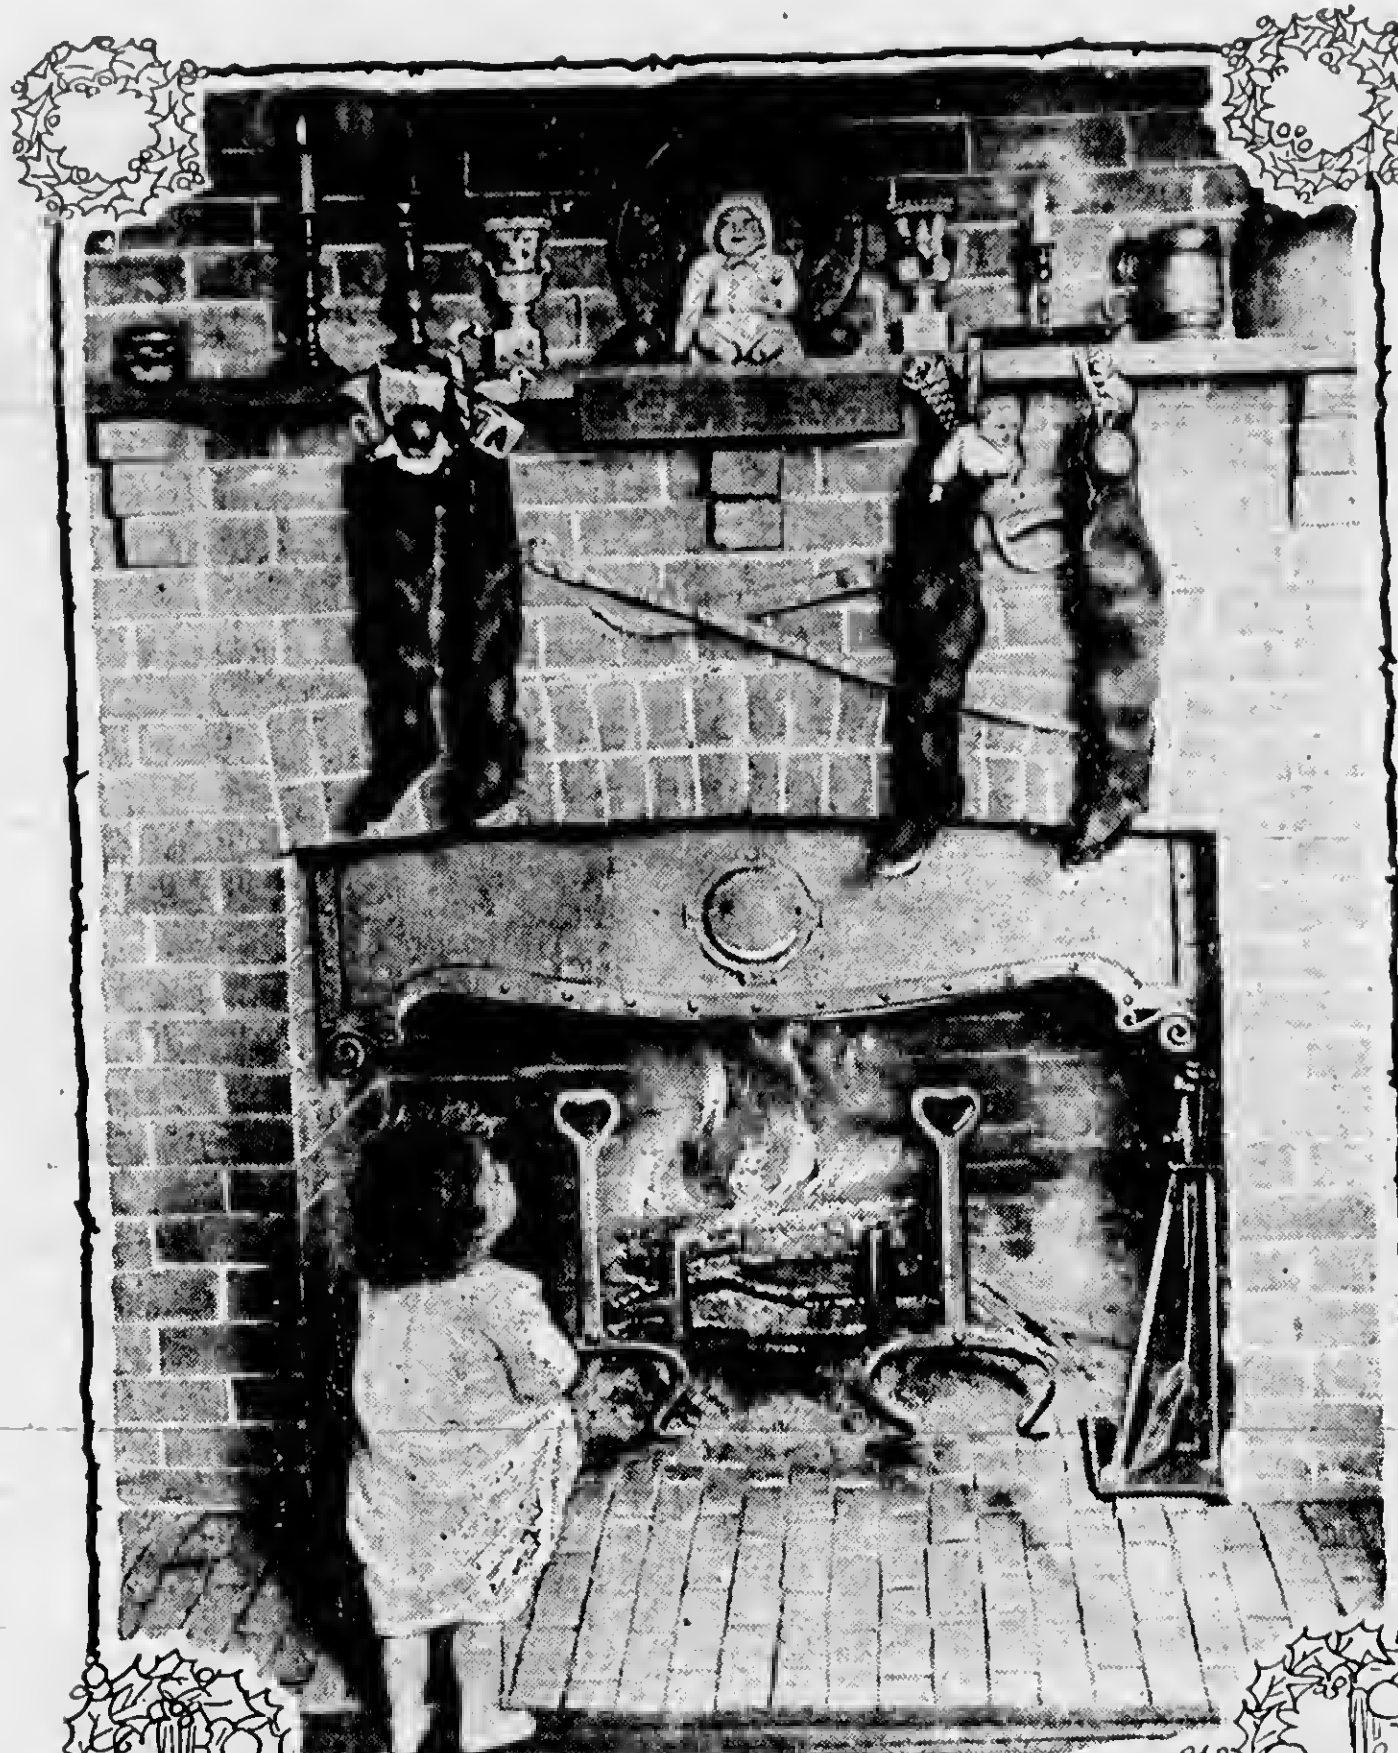

It is said that "every dog has his day." Sugar beets in northern Michigan have a great enemy—potatoes, and, for a few years past, potatoes have had the best of it. But this is one year when sugar beets have their day and put it all over the potatoes. I don't know why there is such a "holler" about the growing of potatoes and especially around Charlevoix. From Charlevoix to East Jordan, Phelps, Atwood, Norwood is sugar beet land.

Charlevoix is no great potato market. You Charlevoix merchants will bring more real business to town by boosting beets than you ever will get from potatoes. I don't think our county agricultural agent knows what a sugar beet looks like—but he knows a potato from A to Z.

It seems as if farm crops all slide one way and I am afraid the potato slide has caught our agricultural agent, sure. But, oh, what a biff potatoes are getting, while sugar beets are growing higher and higher.

On December 1st, all sugar beet growers received their checks at $5.50 per ton, contract guaranteed price. According to the contract, 7c sugar will mean about $7.75 for (continued on page eight)

Oyster stew will be served at the I. O. O. F. Benefit dance at the Bank hall Saturday evening, December 23. Proceeds to go to relieve a member of the order.—Adv. 5111, pd.

DODGE CAR TURNS INTO TOBOGGAN

Rev. Long Takes Wild Coast At Expense of Tires

Rev. C. W. Long, of the Congregational church in this city, had a rather trying experience last week, while making a business trip by auto to the southern part of the county. In fact, it might have proven not only trying, but disastrous for the parson, had he not kept his presence of mind.

His car was not equipped with chains, and in attempting to make the steep hill on the Ironton road, near the Mitchell farm, the wheels lost traction and commenced to spin, when near the summit of the hill. Mr. Long promptly applied the emergency brake, with the result that his car became a sled and started back down the long declivity with locked wheels.

For fully forty rods, the parson said he coasted at hair-raising speed, but managed by good luck and the grace of Providence to stay in the track and even negotiate a turn in the road without mishap. The reverend says it was a thriller as an experience, but does not recommend it as a form of winter sport.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT THEATRE

Charlevoix Children Entertained in Novel Manner

Charlevoix children as well as older people are to be royally entertained at the Palace Theatre at 3:00 p. m. on Christmas Day.

The entertainers are "Mike" Hamlin, local grocer, the Palace theatre management, and old Santa himself. The fun will start at 3:00 in the afternoon, when the doors of the theatre will be thrown open to children and parents. At the close of the free entertainment and show, each child will be met at the door by Santa Claus and presented with a sack of candy.

Without doubt the theatre will seat a capacity house, and Messrs. Hamlin and Miles are to be congratulated on their effort to entertain.

YOUTHFUL CROOK CAPTURED HERE

ROBERT JENETT JAILED FOR FORGING CHECKS

W. A. Boss of Ellsworth, C. R. Bellinger and Little Will of This City
Were His Three Victims

Robert Jenett was picked up Saturday by chief of police, Jeff Weikel, on a charge of forging and passing checks.

The young man, who is eighteen years old and a son of Mrs. Cory Jenett, formerly of Norwood township, but now residing in the E. B. Ward house on Moson street, put through his first deal in this city on December 9th, when, it appears, he bought a watch and chain from C. R. Bellinger, which came to $22.00, giving Mr. Bellinger a check, drawn in favor of one, Floyd Dean (a fictitious name), with the name of Frank Hammond forged as the maker's signature, and in the amount of $41.75. This check Jenett endorsed over to Bellinger in the name of Dean, receiving $19.75 in change.

His next venture occurred in Ellsworth the early part of last week, where he bought a razor, razor strop, hame strap and whip at the store of W. A. Boss, and gave in payment a check for $21.65, drawn in favor of Dan Gee (another fictitious party) with O. D. Hammond's name forged as that of the maker. This check Jenett endorsed, as in the first instance and got back $18.05 in currency the bill amounting to $3.60.

On December 14th, Jenett passed a third check for $55.60, in Frank Hammond's name, also drawn to the order of Dan Gee (although the name of the payee is not spelled exactly the same as on the previous check). This one he cashed in the jewelry shop of Little Will in this city, buying a wrist watch valued at $25.00 and taking back $30.60 in change.

Even then, Jenett might have "got by" with his little stunt for a while longer, but on Saturday his nephew, a boy of eleven years, appeared at the County Bank with a poorly scrawled order on the bank, reading as follows:

"Please give this boy a check book for me, Frank Hammond." Cashier Robert Bridge, suspecting something wrong, detained the boy until he could compare the signature on the order with that signed to the check. C. R. Bellinger had cashed for Jenett and which had come in with the day's deposits. This check had already been compared with Frank Hammond's signature card and found to differ in certain vital respects. Further inspection confirming his suspicion that the check was a forgery, Mr. Bridge immediately communicated with the chief of police who arrived on the scene shortly and questioned the boy, who evasively replied that a fellow over on State street had given him the order. Weikel got the boy finally to take him to the Jenett home where he found the embryo forger and took him into custody. He at first told Weikel that he had received the order from a man on a dray who was driving by, but when taken to Bellinger's and Little Will's and identified as the man who passed the bogus checks, he confessed.

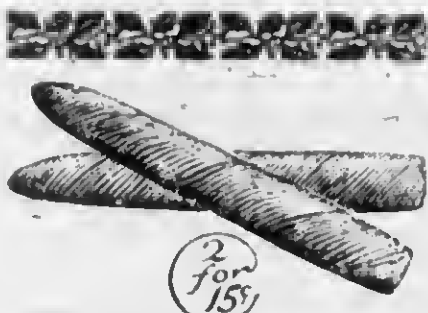

He appeared before Justice Henry Cooper Tuesday afternoon for examination and was bound over to the circuit court; bail being fixed at $700.00. Since his arrest, he has made good to the extent of returning the jewelry and money obtained under false pretenses from the two Charlevoix shops and has paid for the razor and the strop bought from Boss at Ellsworth. He still owes the latter some eighteen dollars.

BARNARD

Merry Christmas all. We are sorry to learn that Mrs. A. Kerr is quite ill at present writing.

Our school and Sunday school tree and program will be held on Friday evening, December 22nd. Everybody welcome.

John Boss, Sr., has been spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Walter DeGroot and family in Atwood.

Next Sunday is Rev. Frook's day in Barnard. We promised an additional attraction, which will be his brother, the evangelist, who is holding a revival at Ellsworth.

The Ladies Aid met last Wednesday with Mrs. Gornell. A small crowd attended on account of the severe cold, but a very profitable and enjoyable day was spent, and they adjourned to meet with Mrs. Wm. Burns the second Wednesday in January.

Wm. Havens, of East Jordan, formerly of Barnard, met with a serious accident last Tuesday morning during the severe storm, when the engine he was on collided with another locomotive. His leg was broken and other train men were badly hurt.

BAY SHORE

Verlin Jones, Arthur Zipp, and Simon Dodge are working in the Wallace boys' saw mill.

There was no school at the Fair Grove school house Monday and Tuesday, December 12th and 13th. The teacher was sick.

North Bay A. O. G. met at the home of Conrad Seud, Wednesday evening, December 13th. Election of officers was held. Six new members were admitted in the Arbor.

Harry Kohlutz, of Ironton, county deputy, A. O. G., lost control of his Ford on the ice near Neland Baker's, running over the hunk and tipping over. Fortunately he was not hurt and very little damage was done to the car.

When Mr. and Mrs. Rev. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Nat Burns were returning from Petoskey one day last week, they lost control of their Dodge car, and collided with the big culvert near Chew's corner. None were seriously injured although the car was badly wrecked.

Lornie, the six year old son of Mrs. Alice Brecheisen, was seriously injured by running into a car, while coasting down the Carpenter hill. The gentleman who owned the car took Mrs. Brecheisen and the child to the Petoskey Hospital, where he is being cared for. At this writing he is much improved. The gentleman stated he lived at Kalamazoo. We understand he is paying all bills, although he was in no way to blame for the accident.

Christmas exercises at the Laeb or Marion No. 5 school, Friday evening, at 7:30, December 22nd. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shaw returned last week from Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, where they were called by the sickness and death of Mrs. Shaw's father.

A number of the friends and neighbors of Wm. Shaw gathered at their home Monday evening to remind Mr. Shaw of his 50th birthday. The evening was spent in talking over old times and a fine pot luck lunch was served, which everyone enjoyed. As the guests were arriving, Mrs. A. Winters had the misfortune of slipping on a cement walk and breaking her ankle. Dr. R. B. Armstrong was called and she was taken to the Charlevoix Hospital.

FERRIS CARRIED
BUT 35 COUNTIES

GIVEN HEAVY VOTE IN INDUSTRIAL CENTERS

Townsend Carries Practically Every Country District But Loses by 13,089 Plurality.

Senator-elect Woodbridge N. Ferris carried only 35 of the 83 counties in the state in the November election when he won over Senator Charles E. Townsend, official election returns, as canvassed by the state election board show. The democratic candidate, however, piled up majorities in virtually every large industrial county, which offset the vote given Townsend in the country districts, and returned him winner by a plurality of 13,089.

The counties carried by Ferris were: Alcona, Alger, Alpena, Arenac, Branch, Calhoun (Battle Creek), Cheboygan, Clinton, Delta, Eaton, Ingham (Lansing), Ionia, Jackson, Genesee (Flint), Gratiot, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo, Kent (Grand Rapids), Lenawee (Arling), Livingston, Mackinac, Manistee, Marquette, Mecosta, Menominee, Midland, Monroe, Oakland (Pontiac), Otsego, Saginaw, Shiawassee (Owasco), St. Joseph, Washtenaw (Ann Arbor), Wayne (Detroit) and Wexford.

Ferris carried both his own county and the home county of Senator Townsend. The vote was—in Mecosta, Townsend 1,384, Ferris 1,512; in Jackson, Townsend 7,390, Ferris 8,342.

The vote for governor failed to show the lines laid down by the senatorial ticket. Governor Groesbeck carried all but 13 counties. Those in which Alva M. Cummins, his democratic opponent, ran ahead were Branch, Clinton, Eaton, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Ionia, Ingham, Isabella, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Shiawassee.

In the vote for secretary of state, which is usually accepted as the "barometer vote" and credited with depicting the normal voting trend, only one county—Monroe—is shown on the democratic side. This county, which also gave majorities to the democratic candidates for senator and governor, was one of the five which chose a democratic member of the state house of representatives.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

This Saturday evening is the Xmas tree and program. Remembrances to the primary scholars, boxes of candy, a real Santa Claus and cantata by the Junior League. Come!

This Thursday prayer meeting subject, "The Holy Spirit, With, In Upon."

Sunday morning, the Christmas message, "Good Tidings of Great Joy."

White Gift Christmas for the work of our children's home in Detroit. This is our Methodist Michigan Home. Our contributions is its only support. Let us not forget the little motherless tots dependent upon us.

The Sunday school is at 12 m. You are welcome. Junior League is at 3 p. m. For boys and girls.

Epworth League at 6 p. m. Study the lesson.

7 p. m., evangelistic appeal. The Christmas time is ideal in accepting Christ. When he gave his life for us, we ought to give our lives for him.

Tuesday the 26th, at 7:30 p. m. is the annual Sunday school meeting and election of officers.

Service Sunday afternoon at the Indian church at Greenbush Hill. The hour is 2:30 p. m. The pastor will preach. The Christmas theme will be "Tidings of Great Joy."

The burning of the main building of Albion College last Saturday night, is a real disaster to Michigan Methodism. All the biological laboratories, with expensive equipment, photographic instruments, compounded microscopes, stereopticon, etc. The old museum, the co-operative book store, offices, class rooms and all. The new college drive for $2,000,000 has just been launched and its offices were all in that building. Countless records are gone. We hope that readjustments can be made so as not to totally paralyze this school year.

Barnard Christmas tree and program will be held at the church, this Friday night. Preaching Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Frook and his brother will have the service.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Sunday, 10:30 a. m., Christmas sermon by Mr. Long. Special music by choir and Mrs. Gaskin will sing a Christmas lullaby.

Sunday, 7 p. m., praise and thanksgiving service with appropriate remarks by pastor. Opening of Christmas gift envelopes and announcement of amount. The C. E. will join in the evening service.

The church school Sunday 12 m. A. F. Bridge, superintendent. The special Christmas Sunday school offering will be made.

A special Christmas pageant will be given (this) Saturday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. A Christmas tree—a Sunday school treat. The public is cordially invited.

Thursday evening study class and devotional service at 7:30 p. m.

Special Notices

In the absence of Miss Catton, Mrs. Oldham will preside at the organ, Sunday.

USES SURPLUS SPUDS FOR FEED

EUROPE GROWS THEM FOR THE PURPOSE

County Agent Hagerman Submits Article On How Potatoes Are Fed to Stock

The Courier has received from County Agricultural Agent, B. O. Hagerman, the following contribution, which contains some excellent and timely information on the potato question:

"The following few lines which have been compiled from an outside source may serve as a possible partial solution of our present surplus of potatoes. It is not supposed that the methods advocated in this article will serve as a complete rectifier for our present dilemma. However, the writer does believe that our 30 per cent above our ten year average could be very well taken care of according to the following suggestions:

"In Europe heavy yielding varieties of large sized potatoes are extensively grown for stock, but in this country potatoes are only fed when low in price or too small for the market. Knowing their feeding value, the farmer is in a position to utilize the crop wisely, for feeding his livestock rather than to force it on a profitless market. Potatoes are chiefly employed for swine feeding, but may be fed in limited amounts to cattle, sheep and horses in partial substitution for grains. For pigs the potatoes should be boiled and mixed with corn meal. The heavy feeding of raw potatoes induces scouring, but may be fed in limited amounts sliced and mixed with dry feed. The bitter tasting water in which potatoes are cooked should be thrown away. Extensive trials were carried on at the Wisconsin College on feeding potatoes to pigs. The results were as follows: 440 pounds of corn meal, fed alone, produced 100 pounds of gain, and 262 pounds of corn meal with 786 pounds of potatoes weighed before cooking, produced 100 pounds of gain.

From this we learn that 786 pounds of potatoes when fed to pigs after being cooked effected a saving of 178 lbs. of corn, 442 lbs. of potatoes taking the place of 100 pounds of corn meal. When fed with rye about five pounds of potatoes to one pound of rye is required in order to give the best results. 100 pounds of barley may be replaced with 550 pounds of potatoes when fed to pigs. Raw potatoes, alone, will scarcely maintain life in pigs, but when fed in small quantities they help to keep them in health and good condition.

Potatoes can be fed to horses, raw or cooked in amounts as high as 17 pounds a day along with suitable dry feed. 280 pounds of cooked potatoes mixed with cut straw replaced 100 pounds of hay. This means that 4 2-3 bushels equals 100 pounds of hay. If hay is worth $14.00 per ton, or $7.00 a hundred and is replaced with potatoes it would give potatoes a value of $.15 per bushel as horse feed.

Milk cows should not be fed more than 30 pounds of potatoes a day as larger amounts injure the quality of the butter and makes it salty. At 15¢ a bushel potatoes are a little more costly than corn silage when fed to cows.

It should be remembered that in feeding stored potatoes all sprouts should be removed as they contain a poisonous compound called solanine."

The Greatness of Peking.

Peking, the Chinese capital, about which the rival armies are now fighting, is in reality three cities in one. There is an inner or Manchu city, and an outer or Chinese city. The inner comprises the Imperial city, which, in turn, contains the "Forbidden City" or the "Purple Forbidden City" inside the walls of which, again, is the Imperial palace. Peking itself is one of the oldest cities in the world, being known to exist in the Twelfth century before Christ, but although it is of immense size, being 25 miles in circumference, much of the space within the walls is unoccupied.

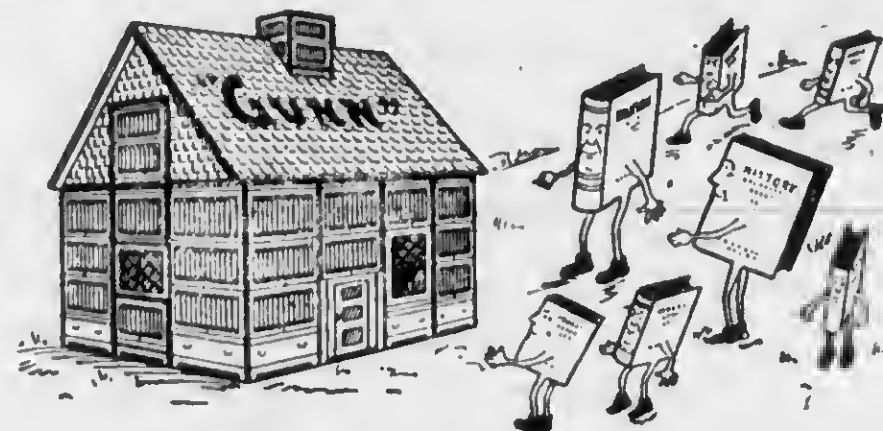

Brains.

World-famous Dr. George W. Crile, who operates as skillfully with one hand as the other, compares the human body to a dry cell, with liver the negative pole, brain the positive.

Anything that affects the liver will also affect the brain, says Crile.

Indirectly, therefore, it appears that the intellect is partly in the liver. Sluggish liver frequently is the cause of stupidity. A course in calomel sometimes is worth more than a course in school.

CIRCUIT COURT CASES SETTLED

TWO MEN SENTENCED—SOME DIVORCE CASES

Boyne City Chiropractor Freed—Little Girl Gets $2,000—Robbins Wins Over Beutel

A brief outline of the proceedings of the circuit court during its session since the commencement of the December term does not show anything very startling or sensational.

The first case disposed of was that of D. F. A. DeGordy, Boyne City chiropractor, who was arraigned on the charge of practicing without a license. The jury found him not guilty.

Lucretia Buckley (a minor) brought suit against M. L. Hartman of Petoskey, through Dan Buckley, her "next friend," as the legal terminology has it, for injuries received when struck by Hartman's automobile in Petoskey. The jury awarded her $2,000.00.

The case of Goodwin, vs. the State Highway commission was decided in favor of the defendant. The case arose over an injunction gotten out by Goodwin last year to prevent the commission from building the Boyne City-Walloon Lake road across his property. A decree was granted at this term setting aside the injunction. Goodwin, it was shown, had waited until the line of the road was surveyed, contracts were let and the ground broken before having the injunction served.

The case of Charles C. Robbins, Inc., vs. Robert Beutel Fish Co., a trespass action, resulted in a judgment of $616.78 in favor of the plaintiff.

John Robb, having been found guilty at the February term of embezzlement, in connection with the purchase of a car on contract, which he drove to Wisconsin and sold, subsequently refusing to settle the original contract with the Boyne City Sales Co., was sentenced to serve not less than six months and not more than two years, with a recommendation of one year.

George Mutton, the highway robber, received a sentence of from five to ten years at Jackson, where he was taken last Friday by sheriff Weaver.

Robert Jenett, who was picked up Saturday by chief of police Welkel for forging and passing checks in this city and in Ellsworth, is being held for examination.

The above, with the exception of the usual divorce cases, which county clerk Lewis says run in the proportion of about three to every two marriage licenses issued, completes the tally.

The steamer "Bruce" brought a cargo of 220 sheep from the Beaver last Friday, consigned to Boyne City parties.

Sunday, she brought over a load of sixty hogs. The hogs, tougher than the sheep, came through in good shape. After unloading, as they thought, all the hogs on the Boyne City dock, two more of the grunting cargo appeared from behind a water-hut where they had been taking a quiet snooze and consented to be led ashore.

DEATHS OF WEEK NUMBER FOUR

PIONEER EAST JORDAN WOMAN PASSES

Mrs. Heston Dies in Detroit—Lorenzo Cook, Mrs. Annie McPherson and Sarah Green

Mrs. M. E. Heston
The remains of Mrs. Mary E. Heston, aged 76, formerly of East Jordan, were brought to this city Monday night by Alvah L. Coulter, formerly of this city but now living in Columbus, Ohio, whose first wife was Mrs. Heston's daughter.

Mrs. Heston, who was born in New York State, was one of the pioneer settlers of East Jordan and had lived there forty years up to the time of her daughter's death last spring, when she took up her abode with her grandson, Clark C. Coulter, in Detroit, at whose home the end came on Sunday last, at the close of a long illness resulting from a stroke of paralysis.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning at the Congregational church in this city at ten o'clock. Rev. C. W. Long officiating. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

The deceased, in addition to her grandson, is survived by a sister, Miss Louise Brown, of Chicago.

Lorenzo Cook

Lorenzo Cook, a former resident of this city and the father of Mrs. Ralph Smith, whom the older generation of Charlevoix people will remember, died in Pontiac, Mich., Friday, December 15th, at the age of seventy-five years and three months. The cause of death was cerebral hemorrhage. The remains were brought

"Asleep at the Switch"

THE ANNUAL ROMANCE

By Mary Graham Bonner

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

ROSALIND was engaged to be married. She was to be married the day after Christmas. She couldn't very well be married before then as her fiancé was so especially, unusually busy at Christmas time, and it would have been cruel, too, not to have waited.

For Bill, her beloved, took the part of a Santa Claus every Christmas for one of the big city stores. He was an ideal Santa Claus. He wasn't too tall, he was not too short; he was rather inclined to a stockiness of build, and extra clothes made him look an ideal round Santa. He had a ruddy face and snapping blue eyes—and dressed in a Santa Claus costume he was perfect.

How the children did adore him! And how he loved them! They whispered their secrets to him and their eyes danced with rare happiness when he waved a good-bye to them and called them:

"Sweethearts," and "My dears," and "Children dears," and other affectionate terms.

Rosalind had been thrilled when she had heard him first, in his deep beautiful voice uttering such beautiful words! For Rosalind had met him first when he had been a Santa Claus and she had been an extra sales girl taken on for the Christmas rush.

It had been her first meeting with him. But she had been kept at the store after the Christmas rush was over, and Bill had worked for the store for seven years now. Every December he was Santa Claus. The other eleven months he spent in selling kitchen utensils in the basement. They had fallen in love with each other, though, at this time when he had been Santa Claus. And many a time when he had said: "Good-bye dearie," to a child, he had been thinking of the pretty girl who was at that very moment selling dolls and giving her smiles, her beautiful smiles to a mother or to children.

And now a second Christmas was coming around, and once more Bill was Santa Claus, and as soon as he was through being Santa Claus they would be married.

"I've always had lots of romance in my nature," she said to him one evening. "I've always thought it would be awful to be like some folks—some I know and some I've heard talk. One lady who came to the store with a friend was telling how she and her husband got along perfectly. They each had other friends, and sometimes they met and embarrassed others when they told that they were married. For one time the husband had been having dinner with a friend, and the friend had been looking flirtatiously at his wife who was also in the restaurant. The friend had been much embarrassed when he discovered he had been flirting with the husband's wife. And she was telling this as a good joke. "I wouldn't want that kind where one goes one way and the other the other way. And I wouldn't want to be known as a wife because I was quarreling with my husband.

"You know how you hear folks say 'Well, you could tell they were married, all right'—I don't want that kind."

"And you won't have it, little girl," Bill said. "I'm for your kind of romance every time. For for the kind of a married life where folks won't think we're married, well, be so happy! I had a friend once like that. Why, a cop called him down because he was making love to his wife and wouldn't believe they were married 'cause she called him 'darling.' They found it awkward, but they had the right idea."

And as Rosalind listened to her Santa Claus, as she counted the days before the wedding, she said to herself:

"It will be an annual romance to see Bill as Santa Claus, for it was as Santa Claus that I, too, fell in love with him as well as the children, and every year our happy, merry memories will be revived for us. We believe in romance and romance believes in us. For it, too, is going to play its part."

And someone who knew them both said:

"It wouldn't be a bad idea if every man could be as he was during his courtship days for a whole month of every year!"

Have Breakfast Room Tidy. Start the day right by having the breakfast room aired and tidy, even though a more thorough sweeping and dusting is done afterwards. If the table is set the night before a light cloth must be thrown over it.

"COME AN' GONE!"
IN THE days before prohibition, an old, southern mawky was wont to celebrate Christmas with a quiet and solitary bottle of liquor. Upon one occasion he was going home with his prize under his arm, when he stumbled on the curbstone. The bottle slipped, fell and broke, spilling the contents all over the pavement. The old dandy regarded the catastrophe with gentle mournfulness.

"Dere, now," he murmured, "Christmas come an' gone!"

CHRISTMAS DAY IN ICELAND

Natives Still Cling to Old Customs and Songs; Day is One of Great Happiness.

SUCH a strong-winged thing is Christmas. Cheer that it has betokened itself even to that isolated island of the far north, where the shortest day is four hours long, and where at Christmas time the sun does not rise above the horizon for a week.

Christmas is a great day with the people of Iceland and they still cling to all their old customs and songs and the day to them is one of great happiness.

One of their favorite old songs is filled with simplicity that is touching and yet gives a glimpse of a philosophy of life that is pretty fine: When I go good and think aright, At peace with man, resigned to God, Thou lookst on me with eyes of light, Tasting new joys in joy's abode.

A HARD JOB.

TUBERCULOSIS CLINICS ARE HEALTH INSURANCE

The tuberculosis clinic with its bare chest examinations, is of first and last importance in combating consumption. Through the clinic doubtful cases are diagnosed early enough to permit the successful treatment of the disease, and convalescent patients are guarded against the danger of a hidden relapse.

Loss of appetite and decrease in weight are symptoms which call for a thorough chest examination, for a deranged stomach is often one of the first signs of tuberculosis. Just at this period, when the patient believes himself only the victim of "stomach trouble" or "overwork", the clinic can render invaluable service by diagnosing the disease so early that there is every chance for its permanent arrest.

The safest course for the man in doubt is to have a chest examination. The examination certainly will not give him tuberculosis, if he is free from the disease; and if he really has it, early discovery of the fact may be his salvation.

At the other end of the story is the convalescent, the discharged sanatorium patient. A return examination is a safeguard for him which should under no circumstances be neglected.

In the follow-up correspondence which the Michigan Tuberculosis Association now carries on with all patients discharged from the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, the convalescents are reminded at the end of three months that they should return to the sanatorium for examination.

The state sanatorium gives free examinations to ex-patients every Thursday afternoon.

Many county tuberculosis societies use part of the funds from their annual Christmas seal sale to support a permanent tuberculosis clinic.

The presence of such a clinic is health insurance for the community which establishes it.

TB. CHRISTMAS SEALS WIN GENERAL SUPPORT

People with a heart for helpfulness will find in the sale of Christmas seals a simple and effective form of service to a group of most needy people.

Bishop THEODORE S. HENDERSON, Detroit Area M. E. Church.

The annual Christmas seal sale that is about to begin is the only means available for financing this great campaign, and I bespeak for it the co-operation of farmers all over the state.

JAMES NICOL, President Mich. State Farm Bureau.

I do most heartily endorse the sale of the seals and fully expect that the club women of Michigan will in every way possible lend their support.

MRS. DORIAN RUSSEL, President Mich. State Federation of Women's Clubs.

As it does not come to the average citizen to help in this matter (tuberculosis prevention) directly, he should help indirectly by purchasing these seals and earnestly helping their sale to the limit of his ability.

Good Roads Cause Should Be Espoused Early in Order That It May Become Grounded

The season of the year is rapidly approaching when the school children of Charlevoix county devoted a good bit of their time to writing essays last year for the advantage it has been and will be to Charlevoix county to build good concrete roads. Several of these essays were of an unusual character, so much that it excited the attention and admiration of several road commissioners, fence-owners of schools, and road builders, not only from our own county but others throughout the state. It may not have brought forth as much fruit as the Charlevoix County Good Road Association expected, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that every body of school age in the county had an opportunity to earn a $25.00 prize and every prize that was won was paid in full, thereby keeping the agreement between the Club and the school children and every man, woman and child in the county and adjoining counties as well learned something good about good concrete roads.

It has been my desire to have the Charlevoix County Good Roads Association continue holding these meetings and to do the good work it did in 1916 and 1917 for it is a fact, as you all know it, that our county would never have had the good concrete roads that they have now, nor the several object lessons we now have in all our cities had it not been for this Association.

I would like very much to have the boys take up this work and with the experience they have had in watching what the older parent association did they will be better able to advance the interests of good roads than we older ones were when we began. In those days we had to take everything second hand, but now every one can see for themselves. Some who were then boys are young men now, but all are old enough to realize the importance of building good concrete roads and this being tax paying time it will appeal more strongly to these young men than any other time of year, particularly so when they see the excessive road taxes which they will have to pay, and also when they figure up what the cost of the G. & S. S. R. (gravel and soft stuff roads) is and the up-keep of the same which will in a few years more be an amount in excess of the original cost and this cost will continue to increase year by year until these roads are all replaced by good concrete.

It is a dead sure thing that unless the boys do and do it right away quick, many of them will soon be married men, have children of their own, and then their children will be in the same bad box as they themselves are at the present time only more so. They may know what the concrete roads have only worn 3-32 of an inch in twelve years and that the G. & S. S. R. have already worn out several times during that time. I will ask the parents who know that all I have said is actual, gospel truth to assist the boys in forming this association and in pushing it along.

In one of the training camps a boxing master taught his men that when they received a hard blow they were not to blame their contestants but themselves for not having been quicker on their guard. In this way he said they became more alert, avoided getting angry and they were better able to hold their own. Every encounter with smart dealing of any kind, if rightly regarded calls forth the noblest qualities of character and true individuality. I bespeak an interesting time for all those boys who join the Junior, Charlevoix County Good Concrete Road Klub.

Yours Truly,
Uncle George VanPelt.

A. B. COOK HEADS STATE GRANGERS

LITTLE OPPOSITION TO PRE-SENT ADMINISTRATION

Question of Marketing Produce
Thoroughly Discussed—1923
Meet at Muskegon

Opposition to the present administration of the Michigan State Grange vanished as the delegates went to the polls and elected every candidate nominated in the recent Grange primary Friday.

A. B. Cook, of Owosso, was re-elected master and Mrs. Dora H. Stockman was re-elected lecturer. It was over these two offices that it was expected some contest might arise from the floor of the convention as a result of charges of irregularities in the canvass of the primary vote preferred by James Helme, of Adrian.

Others elected were: Secretary, Jennie Buell, Ann Arbor; executive committee, Mrs. Mable Madison, Hubbard Lake; W. F. Taylor, Shelby; Mrs. Berice M. Curtis, Charlevoix; and W. J. Hill, Davidson.

A mass of resolution still remained to be acted upon during the closing sessions of the convention Friday afternoon.

The next convention will be held in Muskegon. Grand Rapids was a close contender for the conclave.

If Michigan agriculture is to succeed in the next few years it must be taken off the international markets and placed upon newly developed home markets. Michigan farmers must find out what these home markets need and then produce those products in the quantities desired. This is the solution President David Friday of the Michigan Agricultural college mapped out for the problems of Wolverine farmers in his address.

WANTED GOSPELS BY MARK

Husky Cowboy Gives Up Life of Crime
After Reading Tract Supplied by Bible Society.

One afternoon Rev. A. Wesley Melk, secretary of the Pacific agency of the American Bible society, was working alone in the San Francisco depository. Suddenly the door opened and a cowboy 6 feet 1 in. height, with one eye gone (shot out in a drunken brawl), with sombrero and chaps and clanking spurs came toward him with outstretched hand. Mr. Melk thought at once that it was a hold-up. But the cowboy said to him, "I want some gospels by Mark." And he got them.

This cowboy, who had been riding the range for several months, had drawn his pay and come into San Francisco for a good time. One morning he awoke to find himself in one of the lowest rooming-houses in the worst section of the city. Every cent of his money was gone and he debated as to what he should do to raise sufficient funds to take him home. He finally decided that he would go out on the street and "stick somebody up."

As he lay in bed working out his plans he noticed a small narrow-covered book lying on the stand by the side of his bed. Not being in any special hurry to go out and perpetrate a hold-up, and out of pure curiosity, he picked up the book.

It was one of the 3-cent Gospels of Mark, printed by the American Bible society, which are given by the thousands to mission workers.—American Bible Society.

SEASONABLE FRUITS AND FOODS

The meaty Bing cherries make the most delicious conserve or spiced fruit, though the dark rich cherries of the smaller variety have even a better flavor.

Cherry Olives.—Wash the cherries, leaving the stem on the fruit. Pack into jars and fill with half good strong vinegar and water, add a teaspoonful of salt to a quart jar and seal. These are delicious in the winter to serve with meats. The equal parts of vinegar and water are poured over the cherries cold. Be sure to see that there is no bruised or decayed fruit in the can.

Compote of Cherries.—To a pound of cherries add one-half pound of sugar and the juice of a lemon. Wash the cherries and leave short stems on each. Put the fruit into a saucepan and pour over the sugar and lemon juice, cover and cook gently until the cherries are cooked but unbroken. Lift carefully to a glass dish and boil the syrup until thick, then pour it around the fruit.

Chicken Custard.—Cut and put through the meat chopper any left over chicken, mix the meat with equal parts of cooked rice, season well and press into a bowl to mold. Unmold in the center of a baking dish and pour around it a custard made by using two eggs, one pint of milk, a few green peas and a tablespoonful of flour. Bake until the custard is set and serve from the baking dish.

Chicken Scramble.—Into a quart of chicken stock that has been well seasoned stir one pint of corn meal, cook slowly for an hour, adding at the last any bits of left-over chicken. Pour into a small heated tin rinsed in cold water. When cold cut in slices and brown in hot fat. This is very nice for a breakfast dish.

Lemonade.—Squeeze one-half dozen lemons. To a pint each of sugar and water add a bit of the grated lemon peel and boil for five minutes, strain, add the lemon juice and put boiling hot into bottles. When cool set in the ice chest and the lemonade will always be ready with the addition of a tablespoonful of this syrup to a glass of chilled water.

Took a Long Journey.
Last fall an inhabitant of Ostheim, Alsace, captured a swallow nesting under the eave of the roof. He released it with the following message attached on parchment: "During the summer of 1921 I lived with a farmer at Ostheim. He would be glad to learn where I have spent the winter when I return." The bird returned recently to its Alsatian home, bearing the following inscription: "I have been staying with a shoemaker, Joseph Rudy, on the Island of Murtleque, who salutes my prelate host."

Looking Backward

Are you spending your time and brain power looking backward, lamenting about the good times gone by, about the inequality of prices, about some one (you don't know just who) making a whole lot of money at your expense, or are you looking ahead and employing your time and brain power for the successful planning of your future operations, thereby placing yourself in a position to take advantage of opportunities as they present themselves or even creating your own opportunities. There are better opportunities in all lines of agriculture today in this country than ever before because of the fact that we as a nation are more progressive today than ever before. We have suddenly changed from a debtor nation to the largest creditor nation of the world. We are all a part of it, and the benefit we get out of it depends almost entirely upon the individual effort and ability we put into it and how we apply it.

Are you looking backwards or forward?

KING SAUNDERS AND PARTY NOT INJURED

Car Sideswipes Concrete Wall—Towed Back a Wreck—Dog is Thrown Through Shield

A hunting party came to an abrupt end, a car was smashed and four young fellows from this city are congratulating themselves on a narrow escape from death or serious injury, as the result of a skidding accident last Sunday morning.

King Saunders, Dwight Smith, Joe Smith and Floyd Rice and a hound belonging to Dwight Smith, started out for the woods in Saunderson's car—a Buick six. About half a mile beyond the George Durand place the old lower road to Petoskey, car struck an icy spot in the road, although equipped with chains and skidded, heading directly for a concrete abutment of a culvert.

King Saunders, who claims he was driving not faster than twenty miles an hour at the time of the accident, seeing that he was about to hit the culvert, put the wheel hard over and went into the ditch, as the lesser of two evils, but not in time, however, to avoid side-swiping the end of the abutment.

The car, nearly a complete wreck, was dragged into town on skids, improvised with poles cut in a nearby swamp. One ludicrous episode of the affair was furnished by Dwight Smith's ha'oun dog, who was sitting on his master's lap when the crash came. When the dust cleared away, the hero of many rabbit hunts was discovered with his head poked clean through the wind-shield, looking rather worried but otherwise unscratched. In fact, after being liberated from his uncomfortable position, he had "nep" enough left to locate a rabbit and run him down, so that the hunt was not a complete failure.

This accident clearly brings out the fact that even when all ordinary precautions are taken and the speed of the car is not great, this season of the year is a treacherous one for the autoist and nothing short of eternal vigilance will prevent disaster.

ATTEMPT RECALL PETOSKEY MAYOR

First Instance of Using Recall and Referendum Privilege

Petitions are in circulation at Petoskey urging the recall of John L. A. Galster as mayor. It is reported that almost the full number of names required to submit the question to a vote has been secured by the circulators.

The plea for a recall of Mayor Galster is based on accusations of improper conduct in connection with recent paving operations in the city. Galster, the petition states, purchased crushed stone for use on the streets from the Petoskey Portland Cement Co., of which he is a large stockholder. In addition, it is stated, he paid for the stone from the lighting fund, when he found that his street fund had been exhausted. This, the petitioners allege, is contrary to provisions of the city charter.

This is the first instance that the referendum and recall privilege inserted in the city charter has ever been taken advantage of and much interest and speculation is in evidence.

The news of the proposed recall of Mayor Galster follows closely upon two other blows recently handed him. The first took place recently when the city officials were served with an injunction restraining them from validating a contract with George McManus for the leasing of a hydro-electric plant.

The second occurred last week when Mr. Galster resigned from the state conservation commission after charges had been made by John Baird, director of the commission. "Animosity of an individual, engendered by business differences and supported by several disgruntled persons who were refused municipal appointments because they were not big enough," is responsible for the move," is the statement made by Galster.

MORE SUGAR BEET ARGUMENT

beets, or an extra bonus of $2.25 per ton. No wonder the big bugs in the potato game are crying, "certified seed"—that's the only crowd out they have got and that will close up in a year or two. But the big fellow will be out by that time.

Who ever heard of an oversupply of sugar? It can't be did.

Come on, Doctor, with your canning factory. I'll grow pumpkins for it. Oh no! I forgot they don't can pumpkins. They can these yellow squash and label the cans either pumpkin or squash, just as they see fit. I want to be on the square, so I will take green corn that goes cob and all.

I thank you. William F. Johnson. Good start! Now we have two sides of the argument. Won't somebody else take it up for next week?

L. E. Crandell, who has been working in Flint for the past month, returned to Charlevoix Friday afternoon. Mr. Crandell reports extremely cold weather in southern Michigan, and that all building operations are badly handicapped on this account.

REINDEER ARE IN NEW PARK

NO TROUBLE EXPERIENCED IN TRANSPORTING THEM

Chief Deputy Jones Reports Animals Appear to Be Finding Plenty of Moss and Other Food.

Chief Deputy David R. Jones, of the state conservation department, was in Escanaba and other northern points Wednesday on business for the department, expecting to be away for several days. Mr. Jones reports that the state's reindeer have been safely transported from Grayling to the new park near Newberry, and that animals appear to be finding moss and other food there very much to their liking.

The deer were placed in crates at Grayling, loaded into box cars and shipped by train to Newberry. From that city the cars of deer were hauled over the Charcoal Iron company logging road to McClintock's camps—the end of the line. There they were unloaded and uncrated.

Driven Through Woods. The deer took to the woods the first night in the north and wandered about three miles from camp. The herders had no difficulty, however, in rounding them up the next morning. The old lead bull was captured, haltered, and led at the head of the herd through the woods to the new preserve. Two days were required for this part of the trip.

The first day the drivers had the deer as far as the high bridge over the Two Heart river. Here they camped for the night. The next day the animals discovered the fine crop of moss and broke from line for a good feed. Once they had filled up on moss they were easily taken the remainder of the journey.

Mr. Jones accompanied the drivers all of the way, superintending the work along the route. When the gate of the fenced-in three thousand acre preserve was reached the deer were quickly driven inside and turned loose.

The herders, who accompanied the reindeer from Norway, will remain at the park to superintend their care during the winter. Hunters and trappers will also guard the preserve against wolves this winter.—Petoskey Evening News.

MAY REORGANIZE INSURANCE CO

Many Local Stockholders Interested in Letter From A. Simpson

Charlevoix stockholders in the Title Guarantee & Casualty company will be interested in an announcement contained in a letter to Prospecting Attorney Ruegger, of Boyne City, from A. Simpson, in charge of the affairs of the company for some time. Mr. Simpson intimates that the company will soon be reorganized and doing business at a profit.

In his letter he says: "In case you should be asked about the future of the company, you may say that the plans for reorganization are well advanced and we have reason to believe that the insurance department will issue us a license within the next few weeks and the prospects of making some profit for the stockholders this coming year look very bright. The time which must elapse before we actually commence business, will depend largely on the support we receive from the stockholders and the action they take on the payment of over-due notes."

PUPILS OF LOEB SCHOOL CELEBRATE RIGHT

Every Pupil Took Part And All Deserve Much Credit—Many Visitors From Town

Nearly two hundred pleased parents and patrons taxed the capacity of the Loeb school auditorium last Friday evening and witnessed an unusually interesting Christmas program given by the pupils of the school. It was the first time the auditorium had been used for entertainment. A few stage had been built for the occasion and will prove of value for future occasions of similar nature. The material was donated by the pupils and the work by Thomas G. Jensen and Nelson Lindley.

Every pupil in the school had a speaking part. There was a play and a wand drill, perfectly given by pupils of the grammar grade room under the direction of their teacher, Edward E. Webb, who also wrote three of the Christmas poems on the program. The primary department, directed by Mrs. Webb, gave two plays that produced great merriment, and there was good singing and dancing. Auto and sleigh loads of spectators drove out from Charlevoix, and the mild evening was made the occasion of much jollity. Among those present were Archie C. Belding, county school commissioner, who gave a brief talk, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loeb, of the Loeb farms, and Miss Clara Thorsen, for two years teacher at the school and now connected with the Charlevoix school system. The hall was decorated with potted plants, flags, evergreens and exhibits of school work. The program followed:

Star Spangled Banner and "America".....Everybody.
"Welcome".....Pauline Krussell.
The Christmas Tree.....Marshall Freehafer.
If You're Good.....Lyra Lindley.

SANTA CLAUS DID NOT FORGET NURSES

Hospital Staff Remembered by Patients and Public

Santa Claus was good to the Charlevoix Hospital and staff this Christmas. Many people remembered the institution quite substantially, and the nurses were individually the recipients of some nice gifts from former patients and others.

Among the grateful remembrances of the occasion was a quarter of beef, donated by E. E. Stroud, of R. F. D. No. 3. A quantity of fine butter and fruit was the gift of D. E. Ingalls, the dairyman; Mrs. Elmer Donaldson, of Hulbert Ave., sent a supply of eggs; a quantity of baked goods were received from John McCann and Miss Jarvis's and Miss Manson's grades and all of Mrs. Manson Rose's history classes at the high school furnished a fine supply of canned goods and fruit.

The nurses and the hospital board desire to thank most sincerely the good people who helped to make their holidays delightful in this manner and to express their earnest wishes that the donors may enjoy a most happy and prosperous New Year.

PALACE THEATRE CROWDED MONDAY

Arrival of Santa Claus Greeted With Cheers

Over four hundred kids and older people attended the free show at the Palace Theatre Monday afternoon, and not one came away disappointed.

The entertainment started at three p. m., and at the close of the show, Santa met the mob at the door and presented each with a sack of candy.

The stunt was carried out by Walker Miles, manager of the theatre, and Mike Hamlin, local grocer, who for several years past has similarly entertained the younger element of the city.

FARM PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR '23

GOOD GAINS MADE DURING PAST YEAR

Fair General Crops and Higher Prices Augur Better Times For the Farmer

Twelve months ago most of the six million farmers of the United States were starting on the long hard climb out of the valley of economic depression. They have not yet attained the heights which are bathed in the grateful sunshine of prosperity. Some, indeed, have fallen by the way. Others are still in the valley. Nevertheless, as we stop a bit and look backward we can see that very considerable ground has been gained by the great majority, and we can enter the New Year with renewed hope and with that courage that comes from the realization that we are really making progress.

A year ago, when speaking of the prospects for farming in 1922, I said that while there was no reason to expect boom times for the farmer in the near future, there was promise of better times, both for the farmer and for those whose business is largely dependent upon him. The year has brought fulfillment of that promise. Speaking generally, times are better, much better, than a year ago, both for agriculture and for industry.

Crops have been good, on the whole. Prices of the major crops are mostly considerably higher. While there has been a corresponding advance in the prices of the things the farmer must buy, the total sum which farmers will receive for the crops of this year is greater by a million and a half dollars or more than that which they received for the crops last year. This will certainly mean better times on the farm, and farm folks will be able to ease up a little on the grinding economy they were forced to practice the preceding year.

The labor cost of producing the crops of 1922 was still further reduced. There were some substantial reductions in freight rates. Much helpful legislation has been enacted and more will be this winter. Interest rates are lower and the credit strain has been eased. This has made it possible for many farmers who were rather heavily involved to refund their obligations and get themselves in condition to win through.

There are still some dark spots. In some sections weather conditions were unfavorable and crops were short, and farmers in these sections are having a very hard time of it. Freight rates are still high, especially for those who must pay for a long haul to market.

Taxes are high, but this is largely due to the increase in local taxes, over which farmers themselves must exercise control.

There has been gratifying growth

The New Days

The old days, the old days, how oft the poets sing.
The days of hope at dewy morn, the days of early spring.
The days when every mead was fair, and every heart was true,
And every maiden wore a smile, and every sky was blue;
The days when dreams were golden and every night brought rest,
The old, old days of youth and love, the days that say were best;
But I—I sing the new days, the days that lie before,
The days of hope and fancy, the days that I adore.

The new days, the new days, the selfsame days they are;
The selfsame sunshine heralds them, the selfsame evening star
Shines out to light them on their way unto the Bygone Land,
And with the selfsame arch of blue the world to-day is spanned.
The new days, the new days, when friends are just as true,
And maidens smile upon us all, the way they used to do,
Dreams we know are golden dreams, hope springs in every breast;
It cheers us in the dewy morn and soothes us when we rest.

The new days, the new days, of them I want to sing.
The new days with the fancies and the golden dreams they bring;
The old days had their pleasures, but likewise have the new
The gardens with their roses and the meadows bright with dew;
We love to-day the selfsame way they loved in days of old;
The world is bathed in beauty and it isn't growing cold;
There's joy for us a-plenty, there are tasks for us to do,
And life is worth the living, for the friends we know are true.

—By Edgar A. Guest

in farmers' cooperative marketing associations, and more of them are being organized on a sound business basis.

Aside from the help which has been given by legislation and by administration activities, strong economic forces are at work to restore a more normal relation between agriculture and other industries.

The peril in the agricultural depression is more keenly realized by other groups than ever before, and on every hand a sincere desire is being evidenced to do what can be done safely to help the farmer better his condition.

Everything considered, we have good reason to expect still better things for agriculture in the year 1923.

PLAN ADDITION TO HOTEL PERRY

Improvements to Consist of Thirty Guest Rooms For Summer Trade

Plans are under way for the erection of an addition to Hotel Perry, Petoskey, next spring to give this hotel added high class accommodations for summer tourists.

The proposed addition will face Bay street and will provide about thirty rooms, each with private bath. While no definite announcement has been made thus far, it is believed work on the improvement will be started in the early spring.

A dancing pavilion is also being planned as a new feature of this hotel. The pavilion will also be erected next spring, according to plans of the owners.

CERTIFIED SEED AS XMAS PRESENT

Car Load of Potatoes Given to Indiana Boys

Growers of certified seed potatoes in Emmet and Charlevoix counties will make Indiana boys a Christmas gift of a carload of Potatoes Russet certified seed potatoes. News of the gift was sent to the Michigan Agricultural college by telegram last Friday by D. C. Cavanaugh, Emmet county agricultural agent. The message will be conveyed to the Indiana boys from the college.

The plan was worked out by D. C. Cavanaugh, Emmet county agricultural agent, and R. O. Magerman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. Certified seed potato growers in the two counties have already expressed their desire to contribute to the car. Each county will contribute about 350 bushels.

The car load of seed will be an "out and out" gift with no strings attached. Indiana county agricultural agents will portion the seed out to boys' club members and will keep careful watch of the crop. Their reports will be available both for Michigan seed growers and Indiana farmers who may desire to purchase seed.

"The gift is for the purpose of demonstrating to Indiana the value of northern Michigan grown seed," said Mr. Cavanaugh. The potatoes will be shipped in the spring in plenty of time for distribution to the boys before planting time.

MRS. MCPHERSON DIES SUDDENLY

WELL-KNOWN WOMAN WAS AN ABLE CHURCH WORKER

Traveled in Many Lands—Her Chief Ambition Was to Become Missionary to the Heathen

The funeral of Mrs. Alexander McPherson, who died last Wednesday morning, was held Saturday afternoon at the Frank Metcalf home on Antrim Street, Rev. H. R. E. Quant officiating. She was laid to rest beside her father and mother in Brookside cemetery. Beautiful flowers from here, Grand Rapids and other places, testified to the esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

Anna Elizabeth McCartney was born in Harrisburg, Penna., July 23, 1846, and was married to Alexander McPherson in September, 1872, in Webster, N. Y., where they made their home for twenty-two years, or until the death of her husband, when she came to Michigan with her son, a young man of twenty years. They made their home with Mrs. McPherson's brother, the late Rev. W. H. McCartney, until the winter of 1904, when she went as governess to the children of Godfrey Von Platen, of Grand Rapids.

Of late years, she has spent her winters with her son, George McPherson, in Grand Rapids, and summers with her niece, Mrs. Frank Metcalf, of this city.

While with the Von Platen family, Mrs. McPherson travelled in England, Scotland, France, Germany, Italy, Egypt, Constantinople and the Holy Land. She always counted it a great privilege to have visited the places where Jesus was born, suffered and died. In Scotland, she saw the early home of her parents and Edinburgh University, where her father was educated for the Presbyterian ministry.

She was converted in childhood and always lived a devoted, conscientious Christian life—a worker wherever she was, especially among the children and young people.

For many years she held her membership in the M. E. church in Charlevoix. In former years, she was, for some length of time, superintendent of the Junior League. Foreign missionary work lay very near her heart. In her girlhood, she felt the call to go as a missionary to the foreign fields, but, owing to frail health, she was not permitted to go. This desire was always with her, however, to the end—the one great longing of her heart.

Mrs. McPherson was also much interested in temperance work and was a member of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

She has gone—a woman loved and respected by all who knew her and her works will follow on.

A man smokes to quiet his nerves—a woman powders her nose.

GAME FISH ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

STRICT LAWS LIMITING CATCH NEEDED

Pike Fishing Will Be No More Unless a Limit is Immediately Placed on Catch

The sportsmen of Michigan are fast beginning to realize that unless a limit is placed upon the pike and they are put in the class with other game fish of the state, that pike fishing in Michigan, once such a common sport, will soon be no more.

Pound for pound, more pike are taken in Michigan than are bass, but both these splendid game fish are decreasing at an alarming rate. Already in many sections fishing for any game fish is a thing of the past and the hardy fighting pike, once so common to Michigan waters, is fast disappearing.

At the present time there is no limit on these fish and unscrupulous fishermen who fish for the sole sake of killing are rapidly reaping a terrible harvest in the sections where any number of these fish are still to be found. If this condition is allowed to exist within a few years, aside from the smaller fish, such as perch and bluegills, there will be no fishing left in the settled sections of Michigan.

According to statistics gathered by the Michigan Sportsman Magazine, the last few years has been a rapidly increasing interest in fishing in this and other states, due no doubt to the growing numbers of automobiles and so-called "auto campers." With proper precaution and game and fish laws consistent with the increase of hunters and fishermen there is no reason why the people of this state cannot continue to enjoy these privileges for all time to come, but as in the case of the rapidly disappearing pike, it is high time to call a halt and seriously consider the menace to the wonderful recreational features of Michigan.

The pike as a game fish is among the best. A hard fighter, this fish is no less interesting on the other end of a light rod than when safely sizzling in bacon grease over the campfire. Some people may prefer other kinds of fish, but many consider the pike among their first choice and second only to the imperial trout.

Sportsmen's associations all over Michigan are becoming alarmed at the steady decrease in the number of pike in practically every section in the state. This condition can be attributed to one reason more than any other—the lack of any legal protection for these fish.

C. W. Scott, editor of the Michigan Sportsman Magazine, who is well acquainted with conditions throughout the state says: "For a number of years it has been the custom for so-called 'game-hogs' to frequent sections where the pike were fairly plentiful and because there was no law to the contrary, they would fish until they had caught a supply far in excess of any possible use; in many cases leaving their fish where caught after taking a few pictures to show their friends what they called 'sport.'"

Conditions such as this must need have their reaction, and this is already being realized to the consternation of fishermen everywhere. "There is only one solution. Through the combined efforts of the sportsmen of Michigan, enough influence must be brought to bear that the legislature will enact a law placing a limit on the pike, thereby giving them the same protection allowed any other of the game fishes of Michigan."

One home in our community, that of John Trn, was deeply saddened on Christmas Day, by the death of their infant son.

Harold Stafford and family were Xmas guests at Mrs. Stafford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanDusen, of Charlevoix.

Anna Jones and Kenneth Pierce, who are attending school at Charlevoix, are spending the holidays at their respective homes here.

Frank Richardson and family and Merrill Richardson and family were Christmas Day guests at the John McCull home in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Hattie Hollebeck received a telegram stating that her sister, Mrs. Margaret Cutler, of Chicago, has a baby daughter, named Betty Jean.

The Misses June Stafford, of Detroit, and Jessie, of Charlevoix, are spending the Xmas vacation at the home of their mother, Mrs. Lavina Stafford.

Ed. Jones has gone to Grand Rapids and Moline, and other southern points, to visit his mother and other relatives and friends for an indefinite stay.

On Friday afternoon the school children had a Christmas tree in the school room. There was plenty of nuts and candy and a general good time, after which their teacher, Mrs. Cora Willis, left to spend the holidays with relatives at Horton Bay.

Those who attended church last Sunday morning were highly pleased with the splendid sermon by Rev. Roy Frook. We also had a vocal choir, and Rev. Frook has partly promised to be with us again next Sunday, so we hope to have a well filled church.

On Wednesday of last week, two of Norwood's popular young people, Wm. Jennette and Doris Greeley, were united in marriage at Charlevoix. They will make their home for a time with the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Cora Jennette, who recently moved to Charlevoix. Norwood friends wish them well.

Galo Chew closed his school in the Nowland district Friday, with a Xmas entertainment. He will spend his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Chew, of Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Isaman and family of Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bodkin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Guilds and family and Miss Agnes Cellner spent Christmas at the J. R. Guilds home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fuller and family, Mrs. Melissa Fuller and brothers, Dick and Matt, and Ed, of Charlevoix, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Einwachter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beattie and son, Forrest, attended Christmas exercises at the Loeb school Friday evening. They remained and spent Christmas with their daughters, Mrs. Effie Dodd and family and Mrs. Thomas Jensen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jensen spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jensen, of Rock Elm. Other guests at the Jensen home were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tate and Bob and Elsie, also Lavern Jensen, who is home from Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loeb, of the Loeb Farms, gave a Christmas party at their home Sunday, to employees and their families. Sleighs were sent out to those who lived a distance from the farm. Mr. Loeb, acting as Santa Claus, came through the window laden with gifts for all. Ice cream and candy, also cigars, were served. Everyone returned to their home happy, voting Mr. and Mrs. Loeb royal entertainers.

ERUPTIONS ON SUN'S SURFACE

Cause of Upheavals of Vast Quantities of Gas Not Clearly Understood by Scientists.

The surface of the sun often is the scene of great and sudden upheavals of vast quantities of incandescent gases of many elements, these eruptions attaining heights of between 20,000 and 200,000 miles, according to the science service report of the United States Naval observatory.

A record-breaking upheaval appeared October 8, 1920, when a height of 510,000 miles was attained, considerably more than half the diameter of the sun. Part of the material in this upheaval returned to the sun, and part of it apparently was attracted to other planets. The velocity was over 200 miles a second.

Though eruptive prominences are frequently associated with sun spots, they are not essentially so, and this prominence was apparently an isolated phenomenon. The cause of these solar eruptions is not clearly understood, but it is probable that they are produced by a sudden release of subatomic energy beneath the surface of the sun.

Actors and Statesmen.

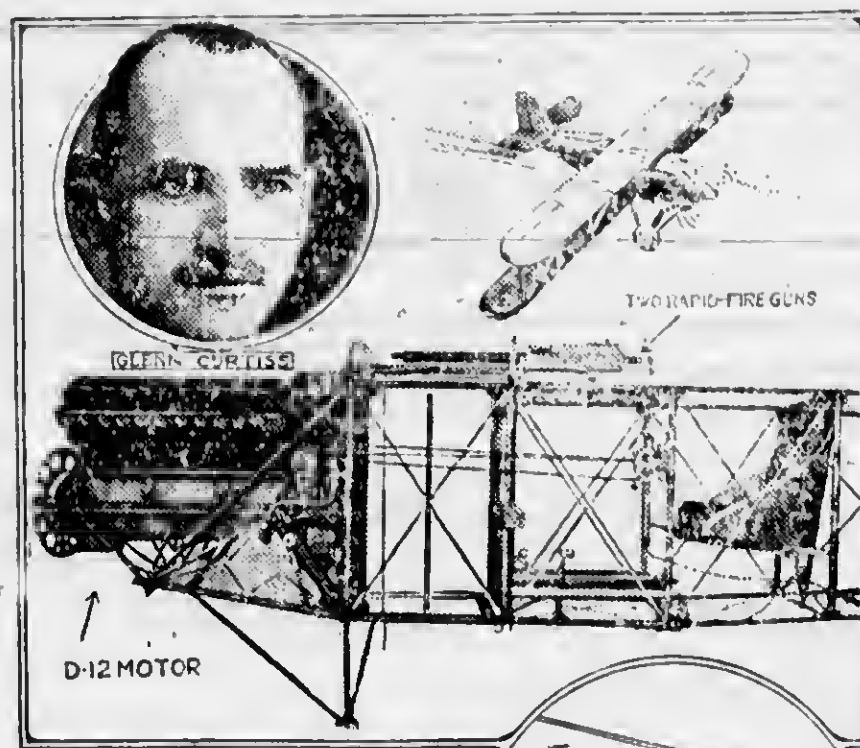

Our early presidents were friends of the actors, and corresponded with them as well as with the playwrights, says Monfrase J. Moses in the North American Review. One reaches the conclusion that never, since the seventies or eighties, has the playhouse in America been so closely in touch with the social life of the people. I like to run through Washington's expense book to measure how frequently he bought tickets for the play; I enjoy the correspondence between John Adams and our polemical dramatist, Mrs. Mercy Warren; did not John Quincy Adams carry on a spirited debate with James H. Hackett, of Falmouth, Maine, regarding the plays of Shakespeare? It was a known thing in those days for legislators to adjourn that an actor might be seen by the lawmakers. The romance of the play in America, therefore, is the romance of America in the making.

Horse's Revenge.

Horses have good memories and more sense than some imagine. There is a fairly well authenticated old story of a certain king of Syria who had a horse of which he was very fond, and which in turn was devoted to his master. The king used to ride this horse out to battle, but at last was defeated and killed in the fight. His enemy, rejoicing in his victory, seized the king's horse and mounted it. The horse seemed to know what had happened, and who was on his back, for he began to show the greatest fury. After trying for some time to throw his new rider off, he suddenly dashed off up a steep cliff; and when he reached the top, he leapt wildly down the sheer precipice, with the man still on his back. The rider had no time to save himself, and both he and the horse were dashed to pieces.

"Go in and win," is a good motto, but it doesn't mean much when you figure that if you stay out you're bound to lose.

Fastest Pursuit Plane in World Gives America War Mastery of Sky

Skeleton View of New Curtiss Pursuit Plane, Showing Main Construction.

The test performance of a new Curtiss Pursuit Plane has caused a sensation in the Army and Navy services. Ever since the Pulitzer Prize at Detroit, in which a new all-American motor finished in the first four places, it has been expected that military planes of a super-type would make their appearance at almost any time. The actual performance of the first pursuit ship of a series surpasses expectation.

In many respects, this aeroplane is a departure from precedent. It uses the same Curtiss motor used in the racing ships at Detroit. It is equipped with wing radiators, the most radical advance in the art of cooling a motor since 1917, and which reduces the resistance of the air almost to zero. These features were expected. The construction, however, is said to possess, also, a new feature, in that the entire machine can be stored for a period of twenty years, if necessary, and taken out of storage, ready to assemble and fly on twenty-four hours' notice.

This machine is also stated to be the first real fighting ship of all American construction and design. While tests are not completed, expert opinion is that it is not only the fastest, but also the most powerful fighting ship in existence in any nation today.

Rose Finds the Real Thief

By WILL T. AMES

"Look here, Collard," said Mr. Emmons, "here's the way the business has gone for the past three months." He handed the younger man an abstract sheet that he had just finished compiling from the books and sat frowning thoughtfully while Collard, with lengthening countenance, took in the unpleasant information the paper contained.

"That's worse than I thought," said Collard.

"It isn't worse, though, than it's going to be all winter. I'm up against it, Joe. I'm not capitalized to stand the losses that even a little business like this is bound to make between now and spring. I hate like poison to do it, but I've got to let Miss Blythe go."

Collard shot a disconcerted glance at his employer. "Miss Blythe?" he exclaimed. "Why, Lane, cuts a good deal more figure on your pay roll. If anyone must go I should think—"

"Man alive! Bob's been with me almost as long as you have; and the girl's comparatively a newcomer. I've got to play fair, Joe."

So it came that, with much honest regret, the worried Emmons broke to Rose Blythe the bad news that after the following Saturday the book and stationery shop would have to be conducted without the benefit of her services. "I understand, Mr. Emmons," said Rose bravely, and Emmons left her greatly relieved that she had taken the matter so coolly. But Bob Lane, returning from lunch earlier than usual, surprised the girl in the back room, fighting with clenched hands to restrain a flood of tears.

"It wouldn't be so bad," she faltered, "only mother has simply got to have things reasonably decent—she's more than half an invalid, you know—and it's just all we can do to get along now. As for getting another position, in this town and in these bad taste to come back here, you'd better know the truth. Emmons fired him. You remember that college professor who disputed his bill of $32—said he was certain he had paid it in cash? Well, it turned out—but I promised Emmons I'd keep still. He said he didn't want to ruin a young fellow's chance to change his suit. He's queer that way—he'd be hot under the collar if he knew I'd said this much. Keep it mum," Collard added as he started to meet an incoming customer.

Never until that very moment had Rose Blythe realized how much Robert Lane—funny, helpful Bob—had meant to her. And now, along with the realization, came a storm of resentment that she should have dared to make her thick-limbed fine and clean and all that was desirable in manhood, while killing her, and doubtless deciding her ingenuities, that hideous other side of him that Emmons had counted out and Collard so suddenly and belatedly revealed. She felt victimized and disgraced in her own eyes.

In this mood she went out to a most unsatisfactory lunch. And in this mood she was returning, when at a street corner she found herself looking squarely into the eyes of Bob Lane. He was poorly dressed, indeed, and his face was thin and haggard. There was a trace of embarrassment, too, as he put himself in her way and extended his hand; but the eyes were as frank as ever—and eager.

Rose had not thought of meeting him thus, or at all. She had planned no course of action. Suddenly she was aware that her heart had given one great wild leap; that a high anger had possessed her, and that she had ignored his hand, stepped aside and passed on without a word or a second look at him. She was shaking when she reached the bookshop.

Ten minutes afterward Mr. Emmons, also returning from lunch, looked curiously at Rose as he passed her; then he turned and asked her to come back to the desk with him.

"Miss Blythe," said Emmons bluntly, "why did you give Bob Lane such a ghastly cut just now? I was just behind you."

The bitterness of Rose's disappointment in Lane was still upon her. "You should know better than any one else, Mr. Emmons," she answered, "I cannot be friends with a thief."

Emmons's eyebrows went up. "A thief? What the deuce? There's some misunderstanding here, I guess." In five minutes he had picked it all out of her—what Collard had told her, at which he looked grimly grave; the story of her own conduct, at which he hid a whimsical smile.

"Now let me tell you something, young lady," said Emmons. "Bob Lane was not discharged. He went out of this business for a reason of his own—whether it was good or not remains to be seen. He went out at a time when it took nerve to throw up a job, and he went out practically dead broke, for he'd just finished paying for a terrible costly operation on his sister's crippled boy. He'd had a pretty rough time of it this winter, I take it, although he didn't complain. You see, I had a talk with him just after you snubbed him, and he came back here only because the sister has been very ill and begged for him to come. But the point is, he knew very well when he went that he was likely to have rough sledding."

"Bob is coming back into the store. Business is enough better to warrant it, and I told him to come in tomorrow. But now that I've had this talk with you, he isn't coming back as a junior clerk; he's going to take Collard's job. Collard's plumb right about one thing—I won't keep the thief in my employ; not even the kind of a thief who can manage to keep his fingers off his boss's money but can't keep from stealing a rival suitor's good name."

Rose was staring at her employer—her color coming and going.

Like a lightning flash had come sudden illumination. "Mr. Emmons," she trembled, "if Bob didn't have another position and wasn't discharged, why did he leave?"

"Can't you guess?" asked Emmons. "Oh, oh, yes—yes! And I hesitated such awful things, just because that—that beast told them to me! What shall I say to him? What shall I do?"

"I don't know, my dear. But Bob told me he had tramped and ridden the bumpers and starved and been threatened and had an altogether wretched experience since he went away, but never went down under anything till a few minutes ago. If I were you, Rose, I'd just lift him up."

"Oh, if there's any way I can I will. I will! He has been wonderful!" "Then dry your eyes and go back to your work," said Emmons, with his whimsical smile. "For if I know anything of life, Bob will soon show you this way."

FARM BUREAU NOTES

—By—

B. O. Hagerman

The certified seed producers of Charlevoix and Emmet counties are entering into an advertising proposition which will give the Rural Societies of northern Michigan statewide publicity in Indiana.

F. C. Gaylord, Lafayette, Indiana, associate professor of horticulture in that state, has agreed to carry on a project with the Potato Club members of that state to use northern Michigan certified seed in comparison with their own home-grown seed and with seed from Wisconsin.

According to professor Gaylord's lecture at the recent Potato and Apple Show at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin is proving to be Michigan's greatest competitor as a source of seed for Indiana producers. The donation of this carload of seed from Charlevoix and Emmet counties is in an attempt to establish Michigan seed in that state similar to the manner in which it has already been established in Pennsylvania.

It may be remembered that a few years ago a carload of potatoes went from Michigan into Pennsylvania for demonstrational purposes. This carload of seed out-yielded all other competing seed by an average of 67.7 bushels to the acre. Consequently, according to Dr. Nixon, of Pennsylvania, the farmers of that state are clamoring for Michigan grown seed.

It is with this idea in view that the certified seed producers of Charlevoix and Emmet counties are sending this carload of certified seed to the members of the Boys and Girls Clubs in Indiana.

Birds That Fell Trees

A bird's nest as big as a house. It sounds a tall order, and you might think that only some kind of super-ostrich could make it.

As a matter of fact, it is built by a little fellow no bigger than a canary. South African society birds like company. They live in large colonies, all the members of which build in the same tree.

Each pair constructs a nest of mud, joining its walls to those of its next-door neighbors. As the colonies are several thousand strong, the bird town soon reaches a very respectable size.

The following season the colony occupies the same tree, building new nests on top of the old ones. The tree creaks and groans, but the society birds take no notice.

Sometimes the huge mass of nests comes crashing down, and the air is filled with dust, feathers, and frightened squeaks. But often the tree itself is weighed down by the industrious colonizers, until eventually it collapses beneath the weight of their homes.

Origin of "Blue Blood."

There are two explanations of how the term "blue-blooded," to describe a person of aristocratic descent, came into use. One is that it merely was borrowed from the Spanish, where sangre azul had long been used to denote the aristocracy of Castile and Aragon—persons who traced their pedigrees from ancestors who had never intermarried with the more swarthy Moors, who had at one time conquered Spain.

The other explanation is that it was founded upon the noticeable fact that families which for generations have not had to "rough it" in any way develop fair skins through which the veins show blue, whereas families who for long periods of years have had to work hard physically develop thick skins through which the blue veins cannot be seen.

MATCHED LUMBER FOR NESTS

Plan to Have as Few Cracks and Crevices as Possible, Built in Portable Sections.

When first in the poultry business we thought that nests made of scrap lumber or small boxes were satisfactory. Now we believe that the nests should be of smooth matched lumber with as few cracks and crevices as possible, says a writer in an exchange. They must never be nailed to the sides of the wall or beneath the dropping boards, but built in portable sections, so they can be easily carried from the house for sunning and spraying.

When we used open nests in some of the houses the birds were constantly roosting on them or bothering the hens while they were laying. After several eggs had been laid in a nest another hen might decide to scratch around in the litter in that nest. This resulted in broken eggs and then it was only a short step to the egg-eating habit.

The best nests are built with a small track at the rear where the hens can enter. The eggs are removed by lowering a hinged door in front. These nests are slightly darkened and the hens hardly see the eggs that are laid. There is not much scratching in the litter in a darkened nest. If a soft-shelled egg is laid and broken the danger of the hen eating it is reduced.

The egg-eating habit probably causes as much loss and discouragement as any habit or disease which troubles poultry keepers. The remedy is largely in prevention and this consists in building the right kind of nests.

POULTRY NOTES

Keep chicks out of the wet grass.

The boarder hen always jumps her board bill. Give her the crate.

Geese grow fast, and need no feed in the summer if they have a grassy run.

Filth causes more sickness than anything else. Clean up and keep things clean.

Laying hens and hens being fattened for market should not be kept in the same pen.

A cement floor is considered best for the permanent laying-house as it lasts a long time and is easily cleaned and keeps out rats.

Bob might have said: "Never mind, little girl; there's a way out; marry me and make one salary do the work of two!" He might have, that is, if he had yielded to his first impulse. Instead, he thought: "No, that would be taking a rotten advantage." And Bob wasn't the kind to take advantage. So he went straight to Emmons.

"If I wasn't here you'd be keeping Miss Blythe out, wouldn't you, Mr. Emmons?" he asked point blank.

"Undoubtedly," replied his employer. "But why do you ask, Bob?"

"Because, I'm through—I'm quitting."

"Lane is back in town," remarked Collard, as he and Rose were rearranging the fiction section. "Looks like a tramp. Never saw anybody go down the line so fast. Three months and our natty Bob is a hum! Think I'd have pride enough left to sly swiny if I was in his place."

"But I thought he had such a fine position in Buffalo!" exclaimed Rose.

"He told me he had, when he left here so suddenly. I'm sorry. —I always liked Bob."

Something in the girl's tone brought to Collard sudden conviction of what until now had been merely uneasy suspicion—it was Bob Lane who stood in his way with Rose. It was Bob Lane who, though months absent and seemingly gone out of her life, was the underlying cause of the hesitating reluctance with which the girl accepted Collard's attentions.

"So he told you that, did he?" said Collard. "Well, now that he's had the

IS IT CARS VS. HOMES?

Now and then we get a look at ourselves through the eyes of someone else and it does us good. Most of our visitors utter opinions more or less related to something they want, but Raymond Urwin, chief architect of the ministry of health, who was over here from London, seems to have talked just as our own boys have talked about Europe—speaking of the things that excited their attention.

Mr. Urwin says that citizens of the United States do not care where they live as long as they have a car. He is fair enough; he goes on to say that "American housing conditions, if they are not yet as bad as our own, seem fairly on the way to becoming worse." He takes for granted that they ought to be better, which is commendable, but he thinks the big idea now is to have a car. If you have it, you live in it so much that the home isn't so important.

Now 11,000,000 automobiles running in the United States is a pretty big thing. Such an unimagined number is the result of a peculiar condition or it is going to produce a peculiar condition. If the effect is bad, we want to know about it. But first of all, let's remember that a car is a different kind of factor in a family's life that some of the other desiderata that have marked our social life. It is different from a talking machine or a piano or a porch swing. For it does change our mode of living. It takes us out of doors, and that is a good thing. Presently we like it so well that we are scheming all the ways we can to get out of doors more. Often this means less time spent in preparing meals and the rest of it. Naturally we want things that will simplify housekeeping. And it's a question some spring of keeping the car going or giving the house needed repairs and paint, why, we know which is better for the children's health.

There's a whole lot to be said about a car besides its making us extravagant and speed thirsty and nervous. There are a hundred sober cars carrying families into the open in pleasant weather for every car that suggests recklessness. But the auto for all it is changing our manner of living and making us all, whether city dwellers or country dwellers, suburbanites and week-enders, isn't a substitute for a home. And we cannot afford to get that idea.

For America is built on homes. More than that it is built on homes in which standards of home life prevailed. We don't need iron deer in the front yard as proof that home is our true anchorage; the house may get along without painting now and then. But ceasing to care about it is another thing. They used to warn us that modern children would never be able to write of any place as home because their memories would be a confusion of moving from one apartment to another. But maybe the memoirs will read: "The next year we managed somehow to buy a triple-eight, and while it lasted, our lives were different and our whole circle of friendships changed." We don't care much for that prospect.

We aren't going to substitute cars for homes because if one thing more than another arises out of the present so-called unrest it is a desire for something permanent. It's true we aren't going back on the cars, for we have found they give us something desirable. But already they stand in 10,000 garages, just as the old survey stood, for use when needed. They have enslaved some; there is no denying that, but the swing is the other way now. And those who have realized that a car is no more a substitute for a home than a club is, are in the land of those who are really going to own America and use America and be the Americans.

THE ODYSSEY OF A DOLLAR BILL

The Houston Post has been conducting a "spend it at home" campaign which should be imitated in our national business policies. Recently the editor of the Post having received a dollar bill as part of his weekly salary, attached a piece of blank paper to the bill, wrote his name on the blank and then spent the dollar at a local department store for some handkerchiefs. He asked that the recipient of the bill write his name on the blank sheet of paper and spend the money in Houston so that it would be used to build up Houston trade, and also requested that each person who received the bill write his name on the sheet attached thereto. In two days that dollar bill had passed through the hands of 24 merchants in Houston.

Nominally, the editor of the Post is a democrat, but at heart he is manifestly a good Republican. The Democratic theory is to "buy where you can buy the cheapest." The Republican principle is to buy at home, when, in discussing the tariff question, he said that if we buy some foreign goods, the foreigner has the money and we have the goods, but if we buy good made at home, we have both the goods and the money. The editor of the Houston Post has been giving his home people a practical demonstration of the working of the Republican principle.

Starting his story of the travels of the dollar bill, the editor declares that "if every dollar earned in Houston were spent in Houston this would be the most prosperous city in the country. Money would be instantly available for every civic need and every just request would be immediately satisfied." Of course the editor knows, as everyone else does, that Houston does not produce all it needs, and, for climatic reasons, can not do so. But, so far as practicable, observance of the doctrine laid down would produce the results he describes. The same thing may be said of the nation. If every dollar earned in America were spent in America, this would always continue to be, as it is today, the most prosperous country in the world.

After the Houston dollar bill had passed through the hands of 24 people, it returned to the editor, presumably in part payment of a subscription, and this is what the bill said to the editor, "I hope that I won't fall into the hands of some disloyal citizen who will send me away from Houston for I like it here and I want many of my brothers to settle in Houston as quickly as they can. I was made to work and I want to work in Houston."

Experience has demonstrated that there are a lot of disloyal citizens in the United States who go abroad to do their buying, if given an opportunity. The only practical method of discouraging that sort of trade is by imposing a tax on buying abroad, and this is known as a protective tariff. That protective tariff keeps the dollars working in America—passing from hand to hand, paying for goods and for services, and adding to the prosperity of the nation.

The whole United States should express its gratitude to the Houston Post for its impressive exhibition of the home-building effects of buying at home instead of pursuing the Democratic policy of buying where you can buy the cheapest. We hope the Post will join in the effort to have the American dollar spent for ocean transportation in American ships instead of for transportation in foreign ships, which carry the dollar abroad to build up the industries of other countries.

THE BOOZE AND THE HOP AND THE LAW

"Constitutional prohibition has been adopted by the Nation," President Harding reminded congress. "It is the supreme law of the land. In plain speaking, there are conditions relating to its enforcement which savor of nation-wide scandal."

"The day is unlikely to come when the eighteenth amendment will be repealed. The fact may as well be recognized and our course adapted accordingly. If the statutory provision for its enforcement are contrary to deliberate public opinion, which I do not believe, the rigorous and literal enforcement, will concentrate public attention on any requisite modification. Such a course conforms with the law and saves the humiliation of the government and the humiliation of our people before the world, and challenges the destructive forces engaged in wide-spread violation, official corruption, and individual demoralization."

There are differences of opinion as to the wisdom of the law designed to carry the eighteenth amendment into effect, but everybody should be of one mind in enforcing it while it remains on the statute books. It represents the majority will of our national legislators. Whenever it does not they can change it at once. These legislators interpret the majority opinion of their constituents, otherwise they would be removed from office. The fact is that the prohibition law is there, and likely to stay there, because as the President believes, a majority of the people are for it. We are faced with the problem whether a militant minority shall be permitted to continue their flagrant acts of violation—whether the "humiliation of our people before the world" is to be longer condoned.

Those who advocate the repeal or modification of the prohibition law quote the bootleggers' activities as proof of the nation's inability to curb man's appetite for drink, and say that the country might as well admit its impotence by letting down the restrictions.

We are hearing a lot these days about the drug evil. It is said that in the city of Washington alone $500,000 worth of drugs is consumed every year. The other day a man was arrested in New York with a huge stock of drugs in his possession, and a long list of customers to whom he furnished the stuff. Prominent actors and actresses are said to be among the victims. Apparently the stringent Federal law against the unauthorized sale and use of drugs falls far short of accomplishing its object. But the fact that numerous drug bootleggers make it easy for drug addicts to satisfy their cravings is not advanced as a reason for letting down the bars. On the contrary, Federal and state governments are urged to tighten up in their enforcement of the narcotic laws.

Those who wink at violations of the liquor law and then urge its repeal because of those violations are taking a most dangerous stand. Followed to its logical conclusion, their argument means that if the illicit drug dispensers are sufficiently active, and the drug users make a loud enough wail about the curbing of their liberties, the Federal narcotic law should be modified so that drug addicts can appease their appetites without annoyance.

Unjust laws can be exposed only through vigorous enforcement, and the development of sound public opinion thereby. Encouragement of violation is destructive of government and can bring no healthy legislation in its wake. Let the people judge of the wisdom of their laws by observing the literal enforcement of their provisions.

WANAMAKER, ANOTHER EXAM- PLE

The recent death of John Wanamaker once more calls attention to the fact that in a land of individualism all things are possible. Wanamaker was great in private life and he achieved large success in public life, being Postmaster General under President Harrison, from 1889 to 1903. He was a vigorous opponent of "machine rule" in politics. Such an attitude in a land like Russia, for example, would have resulted in his attending a shooting party with himself as the target. Indeed, there would have been small chance of his ever arising to a point of distinction as the opponent of anything under a bureaucratic or socialistic system, because such systems attempt to keep a man at the dead level of mediocrity, and success in anything except cold-blooded murder is accounted a crime. Competition is greater now than it was when Wanamaker achieved his success, but as Webster said of the law, so it may be said of all walks of life in this country, "there is always room at the top." As competition grows stricter, outstanding ability is more speedily recognized. Any young man today could take Wanamaker's initial equipment and achieve success.

ST. HELENA IS HIT BY SLUMP

Island Prison of Emperor Napoleon Affected by Great Decrease in Visits by Ships.

St. Helena, the island prison of Emperor Napoleon, is harder hit than at any time since the opening of the Suez canal. This is chiefly due to the great decrease in visits by ships.

The failure of the tax industry, which was started with the aid of a government grant after the war, is another cause of the lack of prosperity. Jamestown, the capital, was a busy and rich little town 40 years ago. Today the streets are empty and the houses dilapidated.

Even in the country many houses are unoccupied, while others are in ruins. The cable station is one of the few institutions which have not suffered since the beginning of the war.

The population of St. Helena is a curious one. Many settlers came to the island after the great fire of London in 1666. Others were originally slaves from Madagascar. The result is a colored race. The majority of the men are sailors.

The climate is very healthful, the trade winds tempering the tropic heat. Five-sixths of the island is barren owing to rapidly multiplying flocks of goats destroying the vegetation. There will not live on the island, and in consequence little fruit can be cultivated.—London Daily Mail.

THE DEVIL-FISH IN DEMAND

Delicacy, Dried and Fresh, in All Sizes, Never Missing From the Stores of Manhattan.

The devilfish tribe, big and small, dried and fresh, are never missing from the stores of the Italian, Greek, Spanish, Turk and Mongol colonies of Manhattan. They range in size from the small squid to the giant cuttlefish. The cuttlefish can also always be obtained, from one year's end to another, pickled and canned in its own ink.

Sun-dried oysters are always obtainable at Mongol stores throughout the country. They never use canned oysters. The live ones are sold on rattan, and dried (after drying) for hanging up in stores.

Lobsters' tails, sun-dried, are a great delicacy with the Greeks, and are imported regularly. A caviar is imported from the Hellenes and all along the Ash Minor seaboard. It is the roe of the barchin which is salted down, undiluted and sun-dried to a firm compactness which makes the article almost as hard as wood. Then it is steeped in and given an effective coating of beeswax. This will preserve it for years and the slightly fragrant beeswax film will hold its full honeylike odor for as long. This is the real original Turkish kaviar.

A man may go along for years with a reputation for being thrifty and then suddenly buy an automobile.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The first lesson in life is to burn our own smoke; that is not to inflict on ourselves our personal sorrows and petty morbidities, not to keep thinking of ourselves as exceptional cases.—James Russell Lowell.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

Peas are one of the most valuable sources of vegetable proteins.

Green Pea Soup.—Take a pint of shelled peas, six spring onions, a bunch of mint, a bunch of parsley, a handful of spinach, two table-spoonfuls of butter and salt to taste. Wash the vegetables and cook in a quart of seasoned stock. When the vegetables are tender put through a sieve and reheat. Season with butter and salt and serve hot.

Hot Cherry Pudding.—Cream one-half cupful of sugar with two beaten eggs, add one cupful of flour, a tea-spoonful of baking powder, a table-spoonful of cherry juice and one-half pound of ripe stemmed cherries. Mix and steam in buttered cups for an hour. Serve with cream and sugar.

Spanish Salad.—To two cupfuls of diced chicken add one cupful of diced cucumber, a cupful of walnut meats and a cupful of cooked peas; mix with boiled dressing and serve on lettuce. Another good salad combination is peas, pickles or green olives, peanuts and a bit of celery. Serve in heart leaves of lettuce.

Peas and Peppers.—Cut the tops from half a dozen peppers, remove the seeds and soak in a strong brine for several hours. Drain and fill the shells with cooked peas, one-half cupful of chopped mint, using a cupful of peas, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, onion juice, salt and some of the liquor from the peas to moisten. Bake until tender. Sprinkle the tops with buttered crumbs and brown quickly under the gas flame.

Pound Cake.—Cream one cupful of fresh sweet butter until soft, add one and two-thirds cupfuls of fine granulated sugar, beating constantly until all is added, then add five eggs one at a time beating vigorously after each addition; then add two cupfuls of pastry flour folded in lightly; flavor with any desired flavoring—lemon rind is especially good. Bake one hour in a slow oven; line the tin with buttered paper.

HAS MANY SULPHUR SPRINGS

Oklahoma Has Wonderful Supply of Sparkling Water Impregnated With Health-Giving Minerals.

In southern Oklahoma not far from the Texas boundary, a group of 30 healing springs, all of cold sparkling water, were set apart by congress in 1904, under the title of the Platt national park. Most of them are sulphur springs; others are impregnated with bromides and other mineral salts.

Many thousands yearly visit the bordering city of Sulphur to drink these waters; many camp in or near the reservation; the bottled waters bring relief to thousands at home.

All these Platt springs, like those at Hot Springs, Ark., were known to the Indians many generations before the coming of the white settler.

According to a Chickasaw legend, two warriors, competing for the hand of Deerfoot, a chief's daughter, both were killed by jumping off a cliff. Then Deerfoot also jumped and killed herself. The chief on the hill-top cried so many briny tears that, according to Indian tradition, they filtered down through the cliff and mingled with the spring water, to which they imparted remedial qualities.

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 19th day of December A. D. 1922.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Ella E. Ranger deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Robert Bridge appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Thursday, the 26th day of April A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the Probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

ADVERTISING MAKES BUSINESS

Advertising makes business for the merchant and is a money saver for the community. It is educational and deserves time, energy and reading. It is salesmanship on paper and a time saver to the buyer and merchant.

It has satisfied buyers the world over and created riches for hundreds. No well informed man or woman can neglect advertising. Certainly no buyer or seller interested in the home or in a business can afford to neglect this field of thought.

Give this your close attention Mr. Merchant.

Little Miss Emily Himebauch, youngest daughter of Harmon Himebauch, was taken to the Charlevoix hospital Thursday by Dr. McMillan, suffering from pneumonia. At the present writing she is some improved but still in a very precarious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Balch and Little son, Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stevens, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Balch and children drove to Breezy Point farm, Monday, where they took Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jackson.

What might have been a sad accident happened here Saturday night, when the carbide light tank belonging to F. R. Klooster exploded, seriously burning John Timmer about the face and head and also burning Mr. Klooster on the hand and one side of the face. Mr. Klooster had just gone to the tank to empty the emergency supply, and had left his lantern setting on the ground a few yards away, when Mr. Timmer, all ready to get into his car which was standing near by (on his way to Ellsworth) saw Klooster lifting at the tank. He picked up the lantern and stepped up to give Mr. Klooster a lift when !!! a loud explosion. We are very thankful it was no worse, although we fear it has inconvenienced Mr. Timmer very much just at the present time.

Freak Memory of a German.
Herr Otto Schrader of Berlin is reputed to have the most marvelous memory in the world. The German Meteorological society tested it recently. "What was the weather the other day—say November 20, 1890?" the president of the society asked Schrader. Schrader never hesitated: "It was very clear before dawn," said Schrader. "In the afternoon it was cloudy, with snow flurries. The temperature was two or three degrees above freezing." And Schrader was right, the German scientists found out on checking up. Several American theatrical men are said to be after him to appear on the vaudeville stage in the United States this summer.

MANY ADVANTAGES OF SHEEP

Animals Are Quite Useful in Keeping Farm Free From Weeds—Good Meat Producers.

While many farmers flock from one line of farming to another, according as prices have been high or low the season previous, the successful farmer usually sticks to some well-tried program whether conditions appear to be favorable or otherwise. The great majority of these successful men recommend the keeping of at least a few sheep upon the farm.

They emphasize that sheep are helpful in keeping the farm clean of weeds. They also consume much material that would otherwise go to waste. These farmers point out, too, that these animals can be comfortably kept in comparatively inexpensive buildings. The two main requirements for housing are protection from winds and freedom from moisture.

These animals enable the farmer to better distribute his labor because they require the most attention in the winter time when help is most plentiful and cheap. As most producers sheep require about as little food as any other animal for the production of a pound of mutton.

Finally, the income from the flock is fairly well distributed over the year. Wool is sold in the early summer when money is much needed, lambs are disposed of in the fall and winter, while breeding stock and mutton may be sold at practically all seasons.

Old Friends.

A woman went to market to buy a fowl. At one stall two live ones were offered for sale. They were in the care of a little country girl. The prospective purchaser asked the price of one, but the girl would not sell one without the other. Remembering that a friend had expressed a desire for a bird, the woman was induced finally to buy both. She asked the girl why she had refused to sell them separately. The girl replied simply: "If you please, ma'am, mother said as how these fowls had lived together for fifteen years, and it would be a cruel thing to separate them now."

BANKS AID PUREBRED SIRE

Virginia Farmers Given Opportunity to Improve Live Stock by Local Bankers.

The banks of Charlottesville, Va. are co-operating with farmers of the surrounding county in obtaining purebred sires. According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, if a farmer will sell his grade or scrub sires and purchase purebred animals, the banks supply the necessary funds to cover the purchase of the purebred sire over the amount received for the inferior animal. The loan is made on the basis of a year's time.

Sentiment among bankers regarding the use of purebred live stock in practical farming operations appears to be growing more favorable, and the attitude of the Charlottesville banks is evidence of this point. Purebred sires of good quality, as shown by information obtained by the bureau of animal industry, increase the earning power of herds and flocks in which they are used.

CYLINDER OIL HELPS SWINE

Ames Specialists Declare It Is Safe for Hogs, Except Those With Delicate Skin.

Old oil from automobile crank cases can be used for oiling hogs, say the animal husbandrymen at Iowa State college. Although some people are skeptical about using this sort of oil, the Ames men declare that it is safe, except possibly in the case of white hogs, which have a delicate skin that sometimes blisters through the use of the oil.

The oil should be allowed to stand for a while in order to allow the fine particles of metal to settle out. The surface oil may then be poured off and used in the hog organs. The sediment should be discarded.

Alfalfa for Horses.

Alfalfa hay can be successfully fed to work horses provided some other hay such as timothy is fed once a day. If alfalfa hay is fed the grain ration can be reduced very materially when these horses are not at work.

Start Young Pig Right.

The life and future value of the young pig is absolutely in its owner's hands. Start it at the start and it goes through life in runt. Start it right and it will be a big, healthy hog.

Curious Mediterranean Fish.

A creature which has a head like a parrot, cheek pouches like those of a monkey, and chews its cud like a cow inhabits the warm waters of the Mediterranean. It browses on the weeds that flourish on the sea floor. Its upper and lower jaws have become hardened into a sharp curved beak, which is just the tool required for popping off tough seaweed. Each piece snapped off by the two curious pouches which adorn the cheeks, and there it remains until the parrot fish feels that it has collected enough for a good meal. It then chews the cud by means of the splendid set of teeth, which nature has placed not in its mouth, but in its throat.

A Runaway Perambulator.

A runaway perambulator caused the death of a baby boy at Dalston, England, recently. It had been left for a moment outside a barber's shop by the mother, while she went to attend to her other child, whose hair was being cut. In her absence, the perambulator, owing to the wind, ran to the curb and overturned. The baby was thrown out at the moment when a horse-drawn van was passing. A wheel of the vehicle passed over the child's head, killing him instantly.

His Intention.

IN THE INTEREST OF CONSERVATION

LAW CHANGES SUGGESTED BY SPORTSMEN

Passing of Stricter Regulations Will Result in Considerable Increase in Game

Michigan sportsmen as well as local, are interested in game conservation and are desirous of aiding in the passing of laws which will tend to increase and preserve wild life. Opinions regarding new legislation vary, according to the one's point of view. But the one desire, however, is to regulate the killing of game and fish that each sportsman, and those sometimes included as sportsmen, may in future years enjoy the same privileges as we have today.

Below are enumerated a few suggestions presented by hunters and fishermen that will tend to conserve wild life. Some we agree with, while others we do not. But all would be helpful to a certain degree if made into a law:

1. A sentence of imprisonment for willful violations of game laws of the state—namely the killing of deer out of season, dynamiting fish or the trapping or spearing of trout. Too many violators are getting away with small fines.
2. A fishing license of one dollar to fish on all private and public waters of the state excepting parties owning property adjoining waters in which they fish, or who lease said property for yearly periods.
3. An extension of ten days of the present deer hunting season. With the one buck law in effect this will not increase the killing and will give the busy man more opportunity to go hunting.
4. Close the deer season in the lower peninsula for from three to five years. This law is plainly a necessity to preserve the few remaining deer.
5. Partridge. Alternate open and closed season on partridge in the lower peninsula, lower bag limit and unlawful to shoot birds on or from public highways. We solicit the opinion of the upper peninsula sportsmen on their wishes.
6. Rabbits. Open season on both cotton-tail and snow-shoe (jacks) from October 1 until February 10. Day limit of five with limit of same number in possession. This will "put a ring in the game hog's nose."

7. Trout. Legal limit of eight inches with a limit of twenty with twenty-five in possession. The present limit does not outlaw the game-hog.

8. Bass. Day limit of five.

9. Pike. Day limit of five with a legal length of fifteen inches. This law is an absolute necessity.

10. Spawning. Unlawful to have spear in possession on any of the inland waters of the state except by permit to take carp, mullet, reidsides, auckers and whitefish.

11. A lower day limit on bluegills and perch.

12. Conservation Commission to have power to condemn property for entrance to all lakes over five acres in extent that same may furnish the maximum of sport and recreation to the people.

13. Department of Conservation to have power to build dams in streams to increase the lake areas on public lands.

14. Private parties and clubs to be protected from trespass on lakes and artificial ponds only if said lakes and ponds are fished by sufficient people to take the full fish crop.

15. An idle land tax, to be increased yearly, on all lands over 80 acres not being used for farming, grazing or re-forestry.

16. A great increase in the powers and duties of the State Conservation Commission that they may re-stock, reforest and protect the wild life of Michigan.

EVELINE LOSES PIONEER FARMER

Peter Jensen Taken at Ripe Age of Eighty-Two

Residents of Eveline township mourn the loss of one of their good neighbors and staunch fellow-workers in the death last Sunday of Peter Jensen, whose home is located on R. F. D. No. 1, out of East Jordan.

Mr. Jensen was born eighty-two years ago in Denmark, on June 19, 1840, and farmed it for many years in the Eveline district, of late years with the assistance of his son, Hans, with whom he lived up until the severe attack of heart trouble that resulted in his death last week. The remains were laid to rest in Brookside cemetery here.

DECLINE IN HORSE RAISING

Decrease Since 1915 of About 60 Per Cent in Number of Stallions in Service.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If comparative figures from 14 of the leading horse-producing states can be taken as showing the tendency in all parts of the country, there has been a decrease since 1915 of about 60 per cent in the number of stallions in service in the United States. Grades, crosses and scrubs have been falling behind at a greater rate than the pure-breds, the latter decreasing a little less than 50 per cent. These statistics are based upon a report, "Stallion Enrollment—As Related to the Horse-Breeding Situation," just compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture from reports from 18 to 24 states having stallion-enrollment laws.

There has been a decrease in the total number of stallions and jacks every year since 1915, but the date of decline slackened somewhat in 1921. Fourteen states having an enrollment of 40,121 stallions in 1915, had only 15,062 in 1921, a decrease of 62.5 per cent. Of the stallions in 18 states in 1921, 74.2 per cent were purebred. In 1915, only 60 per cent were registered sires. As the numbers decrease the quality improves. Farmers are finding that it pays to raise only good horses and mules.

The number of stallions of the light breeds has been decreasing more rapidly than the number of draft stallions. The total of jacks has been increasing gradually, until the last year, when there was a slight decrease. There has been a striking increase in the actual number of purebreds. The change in the ratio of jacks to stallions is a fairly accurate measure of the popularity of the mule. Twenty-nine per cent of the total number of stallions and jacks enrolled for public service in 18 states in 1921 were jacks, while in 10 states in 1915 only 3.3 per cent were jacks.

Several states have recently enacted enrollment legislation that should lead to further improvement of breeding stock and the general run of work.

Purebred Stallions of Size and Quality.

stock. Pennsylvania and Indiana now permit the use of only purebred stallions and jacks for public service. They also disqualify stallions and jacks that are unsound or of such inferior type or conformation that they may prove a detriment to the horse-breeding interests of these states. Michigan, also, has passed a similar law that will become operative January 1, 1923.

A copy of the complete report on stallion enrollment may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

NO BEST BREED OF POULTRY

Three Classes Recognized Are Egg Producers, Dual Purpose and Extremely Large Fowls.

What is the best breed of chickens? That question frequently is asked by persons who are thinking of taking a plunge in the poultry business.

But there is no "best breed," according to Harry Emberton, professor of poultry husbandry at Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college. "You can find good and poor layers, large and small birds in every breed," Emberton explains. "It is the strain more than the breed that is really the more important thing to consider."

"There are three recognized general classes of poultry," Emberton says. "The small birds or the so-called egg-producing class, the medium-sized bird or the so-called dual purpose class, and the extremely large or the meat class. There is no great distinction between the egg class or the dual so far as the egg production is concerned, for many of the medium meat breeds are good egg layers, and in the small-sized birds which are considered for egg laying only, there are often times found individuals that will weigh from five to five and one-half pounds and these will make a fairly good meat bird."

"Now, in regard to the breed you would like to have, I have first to suggest that you decide upon whether you want eggs primarily or whether you want general-purpose breeds. When you have made this decision pick out the breed which you like best because this is the breed with which you will get the best results. After you have picked the breed that you like best buy your stock or eggs from a breeder whom you know has bred for the things that you desire. This may be egg production or it may be show purposes or it may be a combination. You will find many breeders that have bred for egg production but their stock may not be worth very much for show purposes. You can find breeders which have bred for show purposes and their stock, in turn, may not be worth very much for egg production. You can find a small per cent of breeders who have combined these two qualities and of course their stock would naturally be worth more because of having this combination.

"But just as a matter of caution—be sure you know the breeder from whom you are buying your stock and be sure that he has the strain of birds which have the qualities which you desire."

INDICATION OF LAYING HENS

Spread of Distance Apart of Pelvic Bones is Valuable Sign of Fowl's Condition.

As a hen stops laying there is a tendency for her to take on fat. This is noticeable in examining the pelvic bones, the two bones which can be felt as points on either side of the vent. When the hen is laying these bones become comparatively thin and flexible. When she is not laying they feel thicker and less flexible, due to the fat which has accumulated there. The spread of distance apart of these pelvic bones is also a valuable indication of whether or not the hen is laying. When laying they are wider apart than when not laying.

Ex-Servicemen as Teachers.
Intensive training for teaching is given ex-servicemen in England at Horsey Rise Training college, under the auspices of the Ministry of Labor. The course is 75 weeks long and not more than 24 days' absence will be allowed to any student, so that the length of the course will approximate that of the ordinary training.

DISABLED EX-SERVICEMEN—NOTE

See What U. S. Govt. Vocational Training Will Do For You

What is the government doing for the disabled ex-servicemen? That is a question we hear in every community. The idea of the ex-servicemen becoming a parasite on the government and on his community is erroneous, because the disabled man of today is preparing himself for a new start in life. Every possible assistance is being given him by his government through its agency, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

In November, 1917, Howard C. Middleton of Boyne City, Michigan, enlisted in the U. S. Army and was attached as a private to Company C of the 47th Infantry. With his outfit he was sent to France and there he engaged in many of the big battles of the recent war. At Chateau Thierry, Middleton was hit by shrapnel in the left arm and forearm and from that time until the date of his discharge, February 26th, 1919, he was in the hospital.

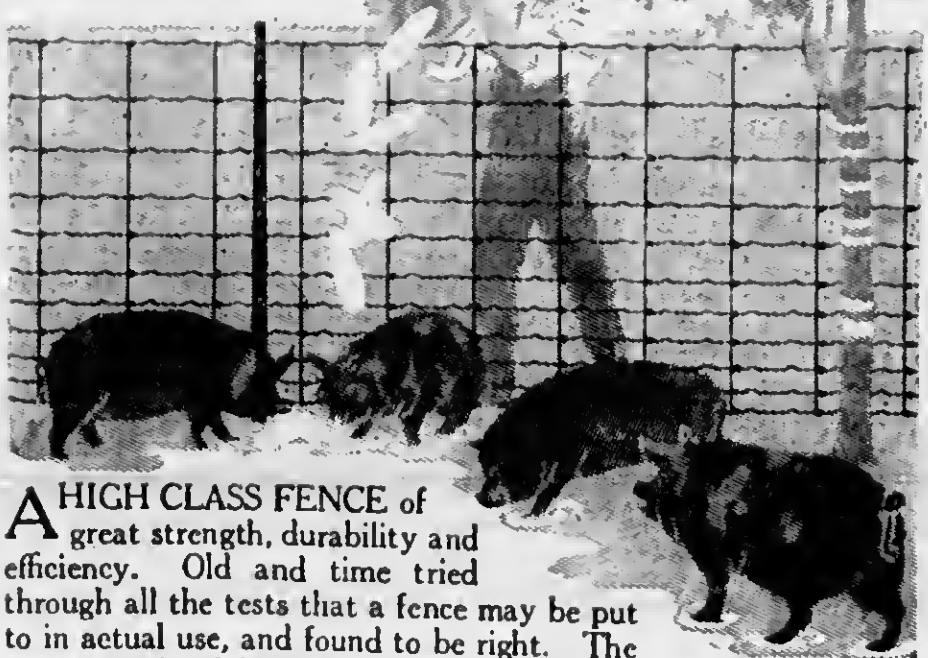

After his discharge, Mr. Middleton endeavored to again take up his pre-war occupation, but found that as a result of his disabilities he was unable to do this. Hearing of the government training being given through the U. S. Veterans' Bureau to men disabled like himself, he immediately made application for same. In January, 1921, he began a course in auto mechanics, training on the job with the Northern Auto Company of Boyne City. Mr. Middleton applied himself diligently to his tasks and in August, 1922, completed his training. He was hired by the firm under which he had received his training and is now successfully carrying on at his trade.

Mr. Middleton's case is only one of many handled by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau and this opportunity is open to all men disabled like him. Applications for vocational training must be received prior to December 16th of this year.

CHRISTMAS VS. CONSERVATION

OR THE PASSING OF THE EVER-GREEN

Editor Scott of The Michigan Sportsman Voices Timely Protest Against Decadence

Herewith an article by C. W. Scott, who, as editor of the leading sportsman's organ of the state, lifts his voice to decry our wasteful Christmas custom of cutting pine trees and stripping standing timber of their branches for decorations.

This article has aroused considerable comment among the newspapers of the state since its appearance in print and, although there seems to be a tendency in some quarters to dispute the accuracy of Mr. Scott's figures, there is still enough truth in his remarks to challenge the serious consideration of Michigan people.

The article follows:

"For many years there has been a growing sentiment favoring the conserving of our remaining forests, thereby preserving our wild animal life, maintaining our stream flow and perpetuating our timber supply which has been steadily growing smaller each year.

The devastations caused by preventable forest fires have been terrible; hundreds of thousands of acres of timber being destroyed each year, but still in the face of all the pleas made for conservation, reforestation and forest fire protection, each year witnesses wholesale destruction of countless thousands of young trees which are cut, slashed and burned for the slight amusement afforded for a few days at Christmas.

The practice of using coniferous trees for decorations at Christmas time is a very old one, which originated among the ancient Romans. In those days forests were of little use and of no commercial value, but it seems rather strange that a practice as destructive as this one would be maintained in this modern generation when our forests are growing smaller every year. It seems a poor example to set before our younger generation—the teaching of conservation and then contradicting ourselves by public demonstration of the destruction of countless young trees.

One Detroit dealer advertised "Ten Thousand Personally Selected Trees." Think of it! Ten thousand of the finest of our Michigan balsam and pine—trees which in a few years would have afforded lumber, recreation, shelter for our wild animals and protection for our bird life—cut for a few days' pleasure at Christmas only to be carried away and burned a few days later. Is there anyone with the least trace of righteous state pride, who has seen this and

GASOLINE TAX SUGGESTED TO MEET ROAD COSTS

Enactment of legislation to remodel the state's taxation system, cut down the cost of state government, develop the state as an agricultural center, tighten the "blue sky" laws and broaden women's rights will be asked, along with other proposed changes in the laws of the Michigan legislature when it convenes in regular session this week.

Outstanding in the prospective legislation are the following proposals:

To provide a gasoline tax to finance highway development and maintenance without a real property tax.

To make more compact the centralized state government which was inaugurated two years ago, by curtailing and combining departments.

To make the furnishing of poisonous liquor punishable as man slaughter.

To tighten the motor vehicle laws, by prescribing more specifically the lighting equipment on automobiles, and increasing the penalties for speeding and reckless driving.

To provide what amounts to a literacy test for voters.

To provide a bill of rights for women, which will put them on an equal standing with men in business and welfare matters.

To enact a land certification law which will enable non-residents of the state to invest in Michigan's undeveloped lands and to provide that the state encourage reforestation of idle lands not suited to agriculture by reducing taxes.

not questioned whether or not it was wrong?

"Where are Michigan's Forests?" This is a question which is growing harder to answer every year.

There are those who will say that we should not deny the children the pleasure which they take from the Christmas tree. These children will soon grow up—where will they spend their vacations then? Not beneath the trees which they enjoyed for a few days each Christmas, that is sure.

Where will our future generations hunt if the game covers of today are destroyed? This is one of the subjects which should demand the earnest thought of every sportsman of our state.

It will take a long time to effectively put an end to this colossal folly, but sooner or later it is a question which is going to demand attention, for our supply is growing less each year.

Nearly 400,000 pine and cedar trees were destroyed last year for the city of Detroit alone, and this is less than half the amount used in Michigan. Many times this amount were shipped outside the state, and it can be safely estimated that over 3,000,000 trees were killed in Michigan this year—for a few days' pleasure. At 300 trees to the acre, it (Continued on page four)

DIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

MRS. CLARK C. COULTER LEFT MANY FRIENDS

Former Charlevoix Girl Much Beloved For Fine Traits of Character and Mind

The announcement last week of the death of Mrs. Clark C. Coulter, at her home in Detroit, was a severe shock to her many friends in this city and their grief was not lessened by the fact that she had been ill for many months without hope of recovery.

The malady that terminated a useful and much beloved life in the fullness of its power was chronic nephritis, an incurable kidney disorder. The end came at six thirty o'clock, Friday evening, December 29th.

Claire Finucan was born in Throop, Ontario, Canada, in 1890. At the age of three, she came with her parents, the late Captain and Mrs. William Finucan, to Charlevoix, where she received her education in the public schools, graduating from the Charlevoix high school and the county normal. From Ypsilanti state normal, she received a life certificate and taught two years in Battle Creek, transferring from that city to Detroit, where she taught for six years more, or up until the time of her marriage to Clark C. Coulter, formerly of Charlevoix and now an attorney in Detroit. Since that time, she and her husband have been residents of the latter city.

Besides her mother and husband, Mrs. Coulter leaves three sisters; Mary, Irene and Elinor, of this city, and four brothers; George and Richard, of Charlevoix; Will, of Grand Rapids; and Stanley, of Lansing.

The remains were brought to this city Monday evening and were accompanied by the husband of the deceased and his father, A. L. Coulter, of Columbus, Ohio. The funeral was held Tuesday morning at St. Mary's church here, at nine thirty o'clock, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the family, after which interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Coulter was a young woman of fine character and a cheerful winning disposition that endeared her to many, not only among the friends and associates of her girlhood here, but to those with whom she worked and whom she met in the course of her professional and social life in Battle Creek and Detroit. Though she has been taken from the mortal sight of her sorrowing family and friends, the eye and ear of memory is keen, and her cheerful, uncomplicated life of service will still continue to serve as an inspiration and a happy recollection to all who knew her.

GERMANY HAS PLENTY OF FOOD

TERRIBLE SUFFERING AMONG POOR DESPITE THIS

Michigan Man Just Returned From Europe Tells of Horrible Conditions Over There

"Believe me, the old U. S. A. looks good and I am mighty glad to get back home with my family and friends again," says Eloy Klar, a Menominee man, a few hours following his arrival in that city after an eight months' stay in Germany. Mr. Klar left Menominee last winter and went to New York where he sailed for Germany. In that country he mingled with industrial men and capitalists.

"Conditions in Germany are terrible to say the least," said Mr. Klar. "We over here can't imagine how destitute some families possibly could be and how trying conditions are. Food is plentiful, it seems, but because of the high price of it, the poorer classes don't seem to be able to get their share. Such articles as butter and eggs are far beyond the reach even of the more moderately fixed people. Delicacies are almost unheard of except for those who are so well situated financially that they 'live like kings,' as the common people say."

Mr. Klar related scores of interesting incidents which he saw during his stay in that country. Among the matters spoken of by him was the monetary situation. Money changes in value so fast in Germany these days, he says, that even the biggest financial men don't pretend to be able to follow the market. The mark one day is at a certain value and the next day is so far from that of the day before," Mr. Klar explained, "that people hardly try to follow its rapid changing course."

"This overcoat? Yes I paid 56,000 marks for it," he declared, but added that 56,000 marks is German money when he purchased the overcoat he was wearing amounted to about $7 in American money. Cigarettes, he said, were also available at a low figure. The popular brand sold from two to three cents, although the matches with which to light the fags were so costly that it was not an uncommon sight to see a crowd of men standing on a street corner "bumming a light from another."

"My greatest fun," Klar remarked, "was trying to get accustomed to ordering food in the cafes and hotels. The best way was to point your finger at some name on the menu and then one was apt to get three or four orders of soup when he believed he was ordering a regular course meal. But after a time I managed to pick up enough expressions to get what I wanted to eat and of course, that was one of the most important things at that."

Mr. Klar told the reporter that hundreds and hundreds of men seeking work could be seen in front of every factory and mill every day of the week. He said labor was very plentiful and could be hired less than $1 a day. The men are very willing to work and after they get one job, they don't seem to want to take any chance on losing it.

But the most pitiful condition of any, he stated, is to see the children coming and going to and from school. Speaking of that condition, he said:

"I stood on the cars more than once and saw little boys and girls with only sandals on their feet, no stockings and their clothes so patched that there was no room left for more patches. Their faces were sunken and it wasn't hard to tell that they were under-nourished."

"But one of the most wonderful sights of Germany," he went on to say, "is to see the trained government dogs leading blind soldiers around the busy streets. The dogs take their masters to street cars, into buildings, across busy thoroughfares, and places where I was afraid to venture for fear of being run over. They sure are wonderful and well trained. Each blind soldier gets one of these dogs from the government. The anti-dogs (Continued on page four)

D. & C. LINE TO COME NORTH

DETROIT-PETOSKEY RUN WILL START IN 1924

"Eastern States" and "Western States," World's Largest Side-Wheelers to Make Trips

Fairly well substantiated rumors to the effect that the D. & C. line of lake passenger steamers plan to extend their service as far north as Petoskey, have excited much interest in this region.

As far as can be learned at the present time, the new schedule will not go into effect until the season of 1924, as the D. & C. people will be forced to build two new boats to take care of the Buffalo-Detroit run. The steamers, "Eastern States" and "Western States," now making trips between Detroit and Cleveland will be transferred to the Detroit-Petoskey run and the two boats, "Detroit III" and "Cleveland III," now on the Buffalo-Detroit division, will take their places.

The new boats, for which the keels are not yet laid, will be built in Cleveland and brought to Detroit, where the engines will be installed. This will take nearly a year and, as a consequence, the plan of linking the northern resort region with Buffalo and the east and Cleveland and the west, through Lake Huron, cannot go into effect this coming season.

The four steamers of the D. & C. line now in service, are the largest side-wheel boats in existence, being over five hundred and eighty feet in length. The two new boats will be even larger.

Points touched on the new run will be Harbor Beach, in Huron county, Alpena, Mackinac Island and Petoskey. There is probably a two-fold reason for their failure to include Charlevoix in the list of stopping points. Perhaps the chief obstacle is the difficulty of getting across in turning a boat of the size of the "Eastern States" around in Round Lake, even granted that she could get through the channel and the swing bridge. It is probable also that the D. & C. company are loath to "butt in" on the territory served by the Michigan Transit company.

There is one way, however, in which we may hope to benefit from the institution of the new D. & C. service. Hitherto, it has been a difficult matter for the summer visitor from the East to have his car shipped through direct to his destination. If he came by the way of Detroit bound for Petoskey or Charlevoix, it was necessary to transfer at Mackinac Island to the Michigan Transit line. During the season of 1924, the traveler from New York, Boston or other eastern points, may put his car on the boat at Buffalo and accompany it clear through to Petoskey, driving through over our new excellent roads to Charlevoix or any other point he desires to reach in the resort region.

Since the completion of the five-mile gravel road between this city and Norwood and the cut-off between Norwood and Eastport, which does away with about six miles of bad detour, we now have a splendid chain of cement and gravel roads linking us up with Torch Lake and the other waters of the Intermediate group. Charlevoix, with its fine hotels, golf course, broad benches and other attractions for the summer visitor, is the logical half-way point on the trip, and so we may, equally with our neighbors, look forward to 1924 with every confidence that it will show a 100 per cent resort season.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE AT LOEB FARM

Vaughan Orvis Loses Coat and Car in Tuesday's Blaze

A bad fire occurred Tuesday morning, at about nine o'clock out at the Loeb Farms, caused by the explosion of a can of gasoline.

The garage and pump house, which stands near the Orvis house, between the house and the big Sequanota barn, was entirely destroyed. Farm Supt. Vaughan Orvis lost his Buick touring car and fur coat in the fire and several of the men lost their dinner buckets and dinners as well. Strenuous efforts were made to save the structure, but to no avail.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL IN RADIO

Hildegard Wilkison Sings To Arizona Fans

In a recent issue of the "Daily-International" (Douglas, Ariz.) appears the following item which we believe will prove of interest to the many friends here of the young lady whose name is mentioned:

"Miss Hildegard Wilkison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilkison of this city and Jack Hild, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hild, both of this city, and who are attending the University of Southern California, will give several musical numbers on Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Broadcasting station of the Times or at the K. H. J. station. Mr. Hild will give violin selections and Miss Wilkison will sing. People of Douglas who own radio sets, may catch these concerts at 9 o'clock here."

Miss Wilkison is the second Charlevoixian who has recently taken part in radio entertainments within the last few weeks. The old town seems to be well represented in all quarters of the globe and its sons and daughters are not accustomed to take a "back seat" for anybody. Hold their own, in fact, with the best of 'em.

SANTA GAVE HIM A RAW DEAL

LAWRENCE JENSEN DIDN'T LIKE XMAS GIFT

Bad Enough to Have Car Burn, He Thought, Without Thief Taking a Hand

It is tough luck to have to stand and watch your fine, new automobile burn up after you have jumped through the curtains to avoid being burned to death; but it is still tougher when you go back to salvage the wreck and find that some vandal had robbed it of its tires, wheels, lights, batteries, wrenches and all other paraphernalia that is of the least value, but that was the "Christmas Gift" that was handed out to Lawrence Jensen, of Detroit, the other day—one-fourth of a mile north of the Miles schoolhouse on the Ellsworth road in the course of his holiday visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guldick Jensen, who reside near East Jordan, and his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jensen, of East Marion.

At 10 o'clock last Friday night, as Mr. Jensen was driving down grade on a narrow, icy road he noticed a fire blazing beneath his feet, apparently coming from the muffler. The flame was large and hot, and he took French leave of the car without the formality of opening the door. When he scrambled to his feet after his fall, the car was rolling down the hill. He grabbed the extra tire, which was attached behind, to hold the car, but the tire came off and the machine went over an eight-foot embankment and through a fence.

After witnessing part of the conflagration, Mr. Jensen went to the home of his parents, and on Sunday morning he and Tom Jensen repaired to the scene of the catastrophe for the purpose of salvage, but naught remained but ruined bits of the new Chevrolet. He was to have driven a party of five Charlevoix county friends to Detroit—the party went by rail.

OFFICERS CHANGE ABOUT THURSDAY

SUPERVISORS NOW CHECKING THEIR ACCOUNTS

Three Retire to Private Life—One Continues and One Changes—The New Members.

Visitors to the court-house yesterday would have observed a more usual stir of activity around the desks of the outgoing county officials. Next Thursday is the day when the gentlemen who have served the people of Charlevoix so faithfully for the past few years continue in the same occupation with fresh authority from their employers, swap jobs, or retire to private pursuits. One new face, that of the genial prosecutor-elect, will be noted (we don't call Charley Novak a newcomer, as he is really an old timer who has been taking a little vacation, that's all).

The ex-treasurer and clerk are busy checking up accounts with the board of supervisors, preparatory to turning their desks over to their successors. The Courier representative interviewed some of them yesterday and endeavored to secure an expression of their future plans and activities.

Sheriff George Weaver was caught in that ever delightful pastime of moving household effects to his new home on Antrim street—the house formerly occupied by A. C. Belding. He made no statement as to his plans for the coming year, other than to intimate that he was due for a little rest, a fact easily conceded by any one witnessing his labors that morning. His successor, Charles Novak, could not be found, but we all know what kind of an administration Charley gave us in the sheriff's office last time—and—bust sed.

Charles Emrey, who transfers this time from the treasurer's office to the clerk's sanctum next door, says the public may look for the same efficient administration of the clerkship that has prevailed in the treasury department since his incumbency of the latter office. We are positive form this gentleman's past performances that this is no idle talk.

M. A. McDonald, register of deeds for another term, had nothing special to say, except that he was engaged just at present with the intricacies of a long-winded mortgage and would probably not come up, except for air, long enough to know when (Continued on page six)

WOMAN TO BE PRESIDENT IN '45

PROPHET SAYS

There is but one intelligence and McNulty is its prophet. Who's McNulty? Why Prophet Jim McNulty, general delivery, Minneapolis, Minn. In a "letter to the editor" Jim's prophecies leap nimbly from weather to women, from baseball to biological change. Jim's prophecies, unlike present-day liars, are 85 per cent perfect. He says so. He takes the wisdom of Solomon and wears it like a bathrobe—completely.

Jim begins: "Now Senator La Follette's new spry will blow up higher'n a kite and will disappear. That grand old Republican party will come back in 1924 and sweep the entire country in a landslide. The states that will go Republican will be—" and he names all the states that go Republican as inevitably as old eggs go bad.

"President Harding is the greatest grand old man that's livin' on earth," he continues. The president is going to "redeem" the country. Old man Normalee, be of the bulging pocket, is going to sling money around like a hurdygurdy monkey with a boxful of pennies.

"Wimmen are going to run this country pretty soon. There'll be a lot of them in the senate. In 1945 there'll be a pretty woman, with fair hair, in the White House as president, and she'll have a baby born when she's there. In 1950, too, there'll be two girls born to every boy, and the men'll be washing the dishes while the women sit and read the papers. Women always had more sense than men. They'll do big things. They don't get water on the brain so often. And there you are."

PATROLLING STATE HIGHWAYS

A proposition which would have the effect of putting the enforcement of the traffic laws on the State's main highways up to the State Police will probably be taken up in the next legislature. No new laws will be required as the law on which the Public Safety Department is now based gives the State Police full police powers anywhere within the limits of Michigan. Neither is the repeal of the laws giving the power of prosecution to local officers likely to be asked. The legislature will however, probably be asked to regard the State Police as the force primarily charged with the enforcement of speed and other traffic laws, and to provide for men enough so that the main highways of the State can be efficiently patrolled.

In the event that the legislature agrees with the plan, a policy will be presented for the State Police to completely take over the patrolling of State highways except in cases where counties support traffic officers and desire to continue to do so, which would probably be very few judging by the number of requests the State Police have for road patrol work.

According to the plans which would be put into operation should the State Police take over the traffic problem entirely, the road patrolling would be done by men who would work under orders from Headquarters in Lansing and would move about the state, paying close attention to a section of the road which need it for a time and then moving on to return without warning to see if the traffic was still driving within reason and with a fair amount of discretion. Inasmuch as nobody but the directing officers at Headquarters would know where the traffic men were working on any certain day, it is felt that a reasonably small force of men would have all the effect of a big force big enough to cover all the roads all the time.

The traffic men would not be simply police officers, but would be equipped and instructed so that they could be of assistance to motorists. They would be furnished with all road information, would know what roads were closed and when they were open could give warning of roads which were not safe for travel at the legal speed limit, could give directions and distances and help in case of accidents or traffic jams.

It is the idea of the Department of Public Safety that if the main highways were all patrolled by State Police officers there would soon be much uniformity in the enforcement of the laws and consequently in their observation. It would be the plan of the Department to warn the less serious offenders on the occasion of their first and possibly of their second offense. But data on every motorist who had been warned and the infraction of the law for which he was warned would be sent to Headquarters and from there furnished to every member of the State Police, so that whenever an officer had occasion to stop a motorist on the road for a minor violation of the law, he would know the motorist's previous record as to violation. Repeated offenses, even if not serious, would naturally call for the arrest of the offenders much the same as repeated violations of the liquor laws sometimes call for a prosecution on a tipping charge.

Another suggestion which has been made to the Department and which is under serious consideration, is a plan whereby sworn complaints of citizens against motor vehicle law violations could be sent either to the Department of Public Safety or to the Secretary of State a certain number of complaints being fixed as sufficient cause for citing a motorist to appear before the Secretary of State and show why his driver's license should not be suspended or revoked.

The theory underlying this proposed plan is that the prosecution of a driver who endangers the lives or safety of others, or who hogs the road or drives away without stopping after being in an accident, is so many times a distinct hardship of the citizen who witness the violation.

PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

Prosperity is a queer thing. It is not acquired by making lots of money. Nor is it acquired by saving lots of money. It calls for balance and proportion as other construction does. A man who undertakes to build his prosperity without recourse to the established laws is as likely to have his life lopped as the man who undertakes to build his house without an architect's advice.

Making money is part of the job. Saving is part. And spending wisely is pretty much of the rest. Spending wisely, however, depends upon sensible records and properly drawn plans.

A bank asks and answers these pertinent questions:

"Why keep an intelligent record of expenditures?"

"1. To show not only how much money you have spent, but what you have received for your money."

"2. To show leaks and unwise expenditures."

"3. To enable you to keep your expenditures within the limits set in your budget."

"4. To have a basis for making any adjustments necessitated by increase in prices or other unlooked-for expenses."

"5. To use in making your budget for next year."

"Why make a budget?"

"1. To have a plan for saving, spending and giving."

"2. To keep before you the standard you have set so you will not be unwisely influenced by your neighbors, bargain counters or window displays."

"3. To provide accumulated funds for large expenses."

"4. To know what you can afford for each class of expenses so that you can enjoy spending up to the limit you have set."

"5. To insure getting the most out of your income."

This does not mean that window displays are not good, nor that the neighbors may never do anything worth emulating. But it is the fellow who follows his hudget wisely one year who next year has the money ready to buy generously from the window display when he wants it, without the guilty knowledge that he is using up the tonsil-out money or charging more than he can pay comfortably next month.

He's the one who has the really prosperous New Year.

SAYS WHITE MAN BLAME FOR JAG

Pale Face Boozes Too Much For East Jordan Squaw

The pale face of today has not changed from the early days of American history when he fed the Indian firewater, and got him into trouble, in the opinion of Mrs. Mary Bigio, a squaw of East Jordan.

Mary was picked up in Owosso last Friday with a laughing jag, and paid a fine of $18.45. She said a white man sold her whiskey.

"White man bad," she grunted as she handed over the money. "He give poor Indian whiskey, make him drunk and have to pay fine."

BAD BLAZE IN NURSES QUARTERS

Fire at Hospital Friday Night in Wall

Fire started in the nurses' quarters at the Charlevoix Hospital last Friday night between eight and half past eight o'clock and but for the timely discovery of the blaze by Mrs. Tom Nowland and the quick work of the nurses and the fire department, at least one life might have been lost and much greater damage done.

A wall radiator set in the partition between two rooms and the overheating of a one pipe furnace were the causes of the near-conflagration, which started in the partition just above the register.

When Mrs. Nowland, who was on her way to her room in the building, entered the hallway the smoke was already stifling and her scream of alarm aroused the occupants of the quarters. One of the nurses was occupying the bathroom at the head of the stairs at the time and had Mrs. Nowland been five minutes later in getting in, this young lady would have had to make her exit through the up-stairs window, as the register is near the stairs and they would have first become enveloped in the flames, had the fire gained more headway.

As it was, when Charley Marshall of the fire department reached the scene, so thick was the smoke that he and his men had to crawl on their hands and knees to reach the blazing partition. Before the arrival of the fire lads under chief Henry Marshall, the nurses had managed to get some water on to the spot and check it so that use of the chemical apparatus brought by the department, quickly got it under control.

While considerable damage was done by the smoke and water in the lower part of the building, the actual repairs will be small and are fully covered by insurance.

IF NOT INVITED—DON'T BE A SNEAK

And Place Yourself in Same Class With "Meanest Man in Town"

We have all read of stunts pulled off by the "meanest man in town"—many of us in some way or other have come in contact with an individual listed in this manner—but we are of the opinion that about the meanest, unscrupulous, haun' dog trick that a bunch of young fellows can pull off, is entering a private home, like a thief in the night, and making away with delicacies prepared—usually after hours of hard, tedious labor by the housewife, for some evening festivity.

This stunt was pulled off at the Faulkner cottage on the north side last Saturday evening. Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, had invited a few friends to spend the evening at his home. Considerable work and expense was incurred in the preparation of the lunch. Home-made ice cream and several wonderful cakes had been prepared, and during the evening the "cuties" (probably uninvited to the affair) stole ice cream, cake and all.

Tea days solitary confinement, on bread and water, might produce a desired effect on a bunch of raff raff of this character. Warning seems to have no effect whatever.

SHIP BULLFROGS TO JAPAN

Large Louisiana Frogs Sent to College of Science of Imperial University at Tokyo.

And now the song and hind legs of the last-throated Louisiana bullfrog have been exported to Japan. Seen the heavy, bass, "belly deep" of the big swampy bottomlands will be heard again, the wistaria vine white "frogs" legs on egg-rod" will be listed on the Japanese menu with tea and rice.

Fifty of the largest specimens of Louisiana frogs were shipped to the College of Science of the Imperial University of Tokyo by the Southern Biological company for breeding purposes. The consignment is the third shipment of frogs to Japan, according to officials of the state conservation commission.

The frogs were forwarded in especially constructed cages and directions were provided the American Railway Express company for their care during the 30-day voyage.

The first shipment of frogs was made in April, 1918, and many offsprings were raised successfully. Here, before frogs used for dietary purposes in Japan have been of a species similar to the small American spring frog, and an attempt will be made to thoroughly establish the large Louisiana bull or chicken frog, which attains a length of eight inches.

His Way.

"I felt kind lost for a spell after I sold the place and came down to live with my niece," admitted the retired farmer. "I missed the familiar tasks, and there weren't enough new ones to keep me busy. The familiar sounds, too, were absent, and at first I couldn't get used to the new ones; the young lady on the left tinkling the piano, the folks on the right running their talking machine, the feller across the street practicing his clarinet, and so forth. They bothered me. But blue-ey I took to going out on the back porch and filling a saw to quiet my nerves. And it always done so; after a good spell of filling the noses of the neighborhood didn't bother me at all."—Kansas City Star.

Miss Gertrude Anniser, of Petoskey, was the week-end guest of Miss Blanche Boss.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ely spent Christmas at the Brosche home at Traverse City.

Mrs. W. G. Patterson left on Tuesday of this week for Flint, where she resumes teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Meech, of Charlevoix, were New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Van Skiver.

Special meetings are continuing at the M. E. church and the house is being filled each night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Meade and daughter, Beverly, of St. Paul, Minnesota, and Miss J. Brosche, of Traverse City, were guests at the Ely home from Saturday until Monday.

Ellsworth boys' 11, S. and Independent basketball teams won both ends of a double header from Central Lake on Tuesday of last week. The high school won by a 19-6 score and the Independents by a score of 36-19. Alden high will play here on the evening of January 12. Two games. Don't miss it.

Cards are out announcing the marriage on December 9th, of Dr. B. J. Beuker and Mrs. Jennie Aardema, which occurred at Bellaire. Mrs. Beuker has resigned her position as operator at the telephone exchange, and the happy couple have started house keeping at the Bertha Harris house, where they are receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

WILDWOOD

L. W. Miller is slowly recovering from his recent illness.

"Uncle Dunk" Crawford has been quite ill of late, but is much improved at present.

The roads are in very good condition at present and cars are very numerous.

Miss Hilda Dunn, of Bellaire, spent the week-end and New Year's day with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson and Lester Hosler drove over to Elk Rapids with a car, on Sunday.

Mrs. Newman Young, of Traverse City, visited her parent, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Emery and son, Charles, of Elk Rapids, were visiting relatives here, the first of the week.

George Cady is in Ypsilanti, where he has a splendid job, and his mother and sister are living in the Parker house for the winter, at least.

Duncan Crawford and family spent Christmas day in Bellaire, leaving little Miss Louise for a visit with relatives, returning home the last of the week.

Our school began Tuesday morning.

Miss Jessie Metz returned to Charlevoix and Miss Sadie Metz to Mt. Pleasant, Monday.

Ernest Duffy was married Christmas evening to Miss Jessie Skelton of Boyne City. Their many friends wish them a happy and prosperous life.

Lawrence Jensen had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon. He was on his way home from East Jordan, where he had had his gasoline tank filled and had turned the corner by the Miles school house, when he noticed that the engine did not seem to be working quite right. Almost immediately it gave two sharp explosions and flames burst from under the hood. He reached for the emergency brake but saw that the car was red under his feet, so he at once jumped through the side curtains clearing the car, which rolled down the bank at the side of the road, missed a fence post and stopped in the field up to the hubs in snow, but without overturning. The cap blew off from the gasoline tank and there was no explosion, but the top of the car was burned. Mr. Jensen had to return to Detroit by rail.

More than $200 were "taken in" at a home talent theatrical performance in a Southern Michigan town last week. And, if we may ask, how many people.

Some one stole the purse of an amateur singer while she was performing in Kalamazoo, but there will probably be no further punishment, if that was her first offense.

Thermometers carried on airplanes flying at Selfridge Field recently have registered as low as 34 degrees below zero, or almost as low as our enthusiasm for winter flying.

Burglars broke into a Hilldale store one night last week and stole 80,000 cigarettes. That wouldn't be so bad, if it didn't make just 80,000 more matches that somebody is going to have to lend.

Residents of Sturgis are reported to be experiencing an epidemic of throat trouble, the chief symptom, we understand, being a sort of a croaking accent when they say, "Just what I wanted."

The man who had been trapping for several weeks along the river about Portland and was arrested on a charge of wife desertion had no idea, of course, that she was going into the business, too.

A resident of St. Ignace is reported to have been taken suddenly ill while attending a citizens' meeting in a theatre last week. And the local orator, we hear, was only just getting well under way, at that.

A resident of St. Ignace claims to have invented a new kind of pipeless furnace. The old kind, that allowed a man's words to escape through the house while cinders were being extracted, was bound to be superseded in time.

The announcement of an automobile manufacturer that he will build a car every five minutes during the coming year reminds us that our own record of rebuilding ours every three minutes, is in danger of lapsing while the car is laid up during this cold weather.

"It has just come to light," says the Kalamazoo Gazette, "that while the grangers were in session passing a resolution condemning John Barleycorn, a number of the hired men hack home crawled through the cellar window and got at the hard cider there in the basement."

The report that thieves at Big Rapids had stolen a car, used it a day or two and then returned it with the tank full of gasoline, is misleading. These men may be gentlemen, but they are no thieves.

The State Department of Health has arranged to broadcast a series of health talks over the radio from M. A. C. "To prevent the ears from freezing," one expert will advise, "stay at home nights and listen to the radio."

Leo Cameron, fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron, of Leveing, had his left hand shattered by a charge from a shotgun Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 26, while hunting near his home. So serious was the wound that the hand had to be amputated—just above the wrist. The lad was taken to Petoskey hospital.

The boy was hunting near Leveing and attempted to catch a shotgun as it slipped from a stump. In the mix-up the gun was discharged and shot shattering the lad's hand.

Presented Boxes and Bundles of Necessities by Elk Lodge

Two families here were made joyful on Xmas of this year, when Mrs. Almon Yettaw and children and the Logan McDowell family were the recipients of boxes and bundles of necessities donated by the Elks lodge of Petoskey, of which L. Van Skiver and E. H. Boss are the only members residing here.

The McDowell family, consisting of the father, mother and eight children, have but recently been released from a three months quarantine, due to pneumonia and scarlet fever. Their Xmas gifts consisted of wool underwear, will stockings and shoes and rubbers for the entire family.

In the case of the Yettaw family, the mother and children received underwear, shoes and stockings, and large dressed chickens, several loaves of bread and a big assortment of toys for the little ones. These families were in hard circumstances due to no fault of their own and the Christmas gifts came as a God-send for which they unite in thanking the Elks lodge and the members of same here, through whose good offices the work was done.

can readily be seen what a tremendous amount of land is devastated every year by this destructive custom.

And it is not alone the trees which we see which suffer. Most of the commercial trees which are offered for sale are only the tops of larger ones which have been slashed out, leaving the balance to the ravages of forest fires or to form a worthless, tangled mass. Dead pine is one of the greatest spreaders of forest fires, for it will burn like so much tinder.

A large percentage of the Christmas trees which we see on the markets are stolen trees, stolen either from our state or national forests or from some private individual. It seems rather strange that the people of Michigan are willing to pay thousands of dollars every year for reforestation of waste lands and the protection of the little remaining timber and then overlook a manton destruction every December of millions of young trees.

There is no reasonable argument for using of green trees for decorations at Christmas. It is simply a commercial scheme whereby a few may enrich themselves at the expense of the state and our future generation. It is because they can turn a free supply into ready money and up until the present they have met with no opposition, enjoying comparative freedom to steal where they pleased.

It is my contention that if the citizens of Michigan were once brought to realize the futility of such a wasteful, destructive practice, they would be willing to give it up. There are, of course, those who are too selfish to be willing to do so, but I believe that there are still enough thinking people left to see the error of this practice.

The Michigan Sportsman, whose policy is and has been, one of sane conservation, has solicited the assistance of the newspapers of Michigan to help in the fight to put an end to this practice. It is hoped that by the following year that some means will be found to put an end to this destructive custom.

Anyone who has spent any length of time in the northern section of Michigan, is well acquainted with the vast areas which are practically devoid of timber. There is still a great deal of the familiar jack-pine; but the commercial timber is growing scarcer each year. Such sights are none too pleasant when we realize that only a few years ago these regions were covered with giant pines. Are we going to allow the few remaining ones, as well as the young pines to be destroyed?

As citizens of Michigan let us wipe out this destructive practice so that our future generations may enjoy that which we could now so easily destroy for a few days' pleasure.

Mr. Scott proposes no definite substitute for the wasteful custom which he denounces so severely, but it is possible that a community tree, with some form of attendant festivities would serve as a "let down" until such time as the present pagan conception of Christmas, with its senseless exchange of gifts and grossly commercial aspect, shall be replaced by the simple commemoration of the coming of Christ—the event on which the festival of Christmas itself is based, but rapidly becoming overshadowed and thrust aside by the mere material features that have been grafted on to it through the years.

GERMANY HAS PLENTY OF FOOD

males seem to have more intelligence than many human beings. I was going from one part of Frankfurt to another one afternoon and when I found that the blind soldier ahead of me was going the same way, I followed him and arrived at my destination safely.

Getting back to the money situation again, he told an incident about the German government starting to make 3-mark pieces out of aluminum. After they had manufactured a goodly number of them, they learned that it was costing fourteen marks to make one and the value was only three marks. When they saw how fast they were losing money, the procedure was halted and paper money came into great prominence once more.

Entertainment in Germany, is on a scale today as high as it ever was. Vaudeville can be seen in the cities at most of the large theaters although the workers barely get enough money to attend shows. Opera is beyond the means of any except the wealthy.

That Germany has a friendly feeling toward the United States is evident. Crippled soldiers who are poverty stricken, mothers whose children do not have even the bare necessities of life and other classes of people look to America to help them—and feel that this country will yet come to their aid.

Take one of Petoskey's Famous Baths (Saville Method), they will make you feel like a new person. Read announcement in other section of this issue.—Adv. 11f.

tions. They expect to spend the winter there.

BARDEN GROOMED FOR STATE POST

Sportsmen Ask Boyne City Man Be Named on Commission

The candidacy of Frank O. Barden, of Boyne City, for appointment on the Michigan conservation commission, is being well received in Charlevoix and Petoskey, and a number of representative citizens are asking Governor Groesbeck to name him to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John L. A. Galster, of Petoskey.

Mr. Barden is one of the leading lumbermen of northern Michigan, and has always been interested in matters pertaining to forestry. He is president of the Michigan Hardwood Manufacturers' association, which has headquarters at Cadillac, and head of the Rotary club of Boyne City.

It is generally believed that the appointment will come to some one in Northern Michigan, and in the northern counties of lower Michigan,
Mr. Barden is the unanimous choice so far.

CAMP FIRE NOTES

On Wednesday, December 27, the Camp Fire Girls had their first ceremonial meeting, which every member enjoyed. We also learned the requirements for a wood gatherer, the first rank in the Camp Fire. Our guardian, Miss Signa Thorsen, conducted the meeting, assisted by our assistant, Miss B. Harrington.

Tuesday, January 2, the Camp Fire Girls hiked to the Loch Farms school and visited. We learned many interesting things about a country school that we did not know before. Mr. and Mrs. Webb, the teachers, took us all through the school.

NORWOOD LOSES AGED PIONEER RESIDENT

Henry Supernaw Died Suddenly Last Week Tuesday.

Norwood district mourns the death of one of its oldest pioneers—Henry Supernaw, who passed away a week ago Tuesday evening, at about eight o'clock.

The end came very suddenly to Mr. Supernaw, who was apparently in the best of health, though of advanced age. He and his wife were sitting at a table playing a game. A pause came in their conversation, and Mrs. Supernaw, looking up, noticed that he was looking strangely. She went quickly to him and found him dead. Dr. McMillan, who was immediately called, pronounced the cause to be cardiac embolus, a form of heart trouble.

The deceased was born in Ellensburg, Clinton county, N. Y., August 20, 1845 and was married on May 16, 1865, to Miss Julia Forkey, also of Ellensburg, where they lived until 1881. On August 21st of that year they came to Norwood and took up the farm on which they were located at the time of Mr. Supernaw's death.

Thirteen children were born to Mr. Supernaw and his wife, five of whom have since died. The surviving members of the family are his wife, three sons; William of this city, Richard of East Jordan, and Albert, of Grand Rapids, and five daughters; Mrs. Walter L. French and Mrs. Jessie Barr, of Minni, Fla.; Mrs. Arthur Meach, of Ashville, N. C.; Mrs. Addie Galloway, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Liddle Merriam, of Grand Rapids.

His father, Albert Supernaw, of Ellensburg, 99 years of age, also survives him; a sister, Mrs. Albert La Burr, of Ellensburg and three brothers; Albert, of Ellsworth and Calvin and Adolphus of Charlevoix. Out of town members of the family at the funeral were Albert and Richard Supernaw, his sons, and Mrs. Galloway, a daughter.

Mr. Supernaw made many friends during his forty-one years of residence in Charlevoix county and was a highly respected member of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M.

Funeral services were held under the auspices of the lodge, at the home of the deceased in Norwood, last Friday morning at ten o'clock, Rev. H. R. E. Quant, of this city, delivering the sermon. The body was laid to rest in the Norwood cemetery.

CAUGHT IN ACT OF ROBBERY STORE
Mentally Afflicted Youth Was On Parole for Like Offense

Elwin Johnson, who lives with his wife and two infant sons on the Bert Fuday farm on the East Jordan road, was picked up Sunday by sheriff Weaver and brought to the county jail here, charged with an attempt to rob the till of Ross Alexander's store, formerly owned by Mosher, of Ironton.

Mr. Alexander had been missing small sums from his cash register for some length of time and, determined finally to catch the culprit, set a man to watch in the store after hours.

Two nights of patient stalking followed and Saturday night Johnson was caught in the store with his hand on the cash drawer.

He pleaded guilty Tuesday morning before Judge Mayne in the circuit court here and received a sentence of from one to five years at Jackson, with a recommendation of one year. He was taken to prison this morning by chief of police, Weikel.

This is an exceptionally unfortunate affair, in view of the fact that the young man was, at the time, on parole for a similar offense committed in 1920. A history of his case would seem to indicate that he is a victim of kleptomania, a well-recognized form of mental disorder that inclines its victims to a life of this sort of crime without the moral sense being in any way involved.

The Courier, therefore, deprecates the occurrence for the undeserved notoriety it has inflicted upon the well-respected parents of the boy and other members of the family, who should have the kindest sympathy of everyone.

Leather Vests, wool lined, made under government specifications, $5 value, we will close them out at $2.98. Benjamin Brown.—Adv. 51 tf.

he left off being an "ex" and began to be an "elect."

Richard Lewis, the retiring county clerk, was too busy to be pinned down to a statement of any kind. Anyway, we know Dick has put in enough honest-to-gosh ticks at the clerk job to be entitled to a long and much needed rest. We would suggest a trip to California, just at this season of the year.

The prosecutor-elect, A. L. Fitch, when seen by our representative, was balancing a weighty-looking legal tome on his knee and seemed deeply engrossed—so much so, in fact, that one would scarcely dare disturb him. The fact, however, that he was so evidently on the job looks good for the future of the office.

The ex-prosecutor, E. A. Ruegger, was not around and therefore no knowledge of his plans. He will probably resume his private law practice.

The new treasurer, Henry Cooper, when buttonholed in the post office last night, said that he expected to give his entire time to his new duties and to this end would resign his present offices of justice of the peace and county agent of the board of charities and corrections.

So next Thursday will see at least a partial change of administration. We Americans in our politics have come to expect great things from a change in personnel. Whether or not this works out generally as we think it should, it is certain that we shall watch the performances of the new officers with consuming interest and exact of the re-elected ones a continued maintenance of the efficiency which was the reason for their return to office. All things considered, we shall probably not be disappointed.

ALL EGGS MUST NOW BE BRANDED
Prosecutions to Be Pushed Against Dealers Who Violate Law

Prosecution of all dealers selling cold storage eggs as fresh eggs will be begun at once, it was announced last Thursday by W. P. Hartman, of the department of agriculture, following complaints indicating numerous violations of the law during Christmas trading.

Hereafter, he declared, dealers will be permitted to sell eggs only as fresh or storage. The law states no recognition of "selected, fancy and extra quality" grades which are often the cold storage product sold at higher prices. The law will be enforced by department officials in all cases where the storage eggs are sold as fresh whether the price is in excess of price for cold storage eggs or not.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

On the first Sunday of the New Year, January 7, we will study the first Psalm or the Guideboard Psalm, under the leadership of Mrs. Earl Johnston.

During the coming year, once a month, a psalm will be considered. The Psalms were the hymns of the Hebrews. They grew out of the experiences of the writers and are the expressions of human longings and aspirations and experiences, written through the aid of the Holy Spirit. Many of them answer to our feelings. Let us learn to know them and love them.

On Thursday evening at the usual hour is prayer meeting. This Thursday, January 4, we will have a covenant meeting. Let every member endeavor to be present and thus start the New Year right.

Green-blackwand, $4 per cord; green, buzzwood, $3.50 per cord; all beech and maple. C. Hansen, phone 227.—Adv. 111 pd.

Our Wish For You
May the New Year be a shining milestone on an endless road to prosperity, tempered with harmony and real happiness. We appreciate the patronage given us the past year. As a whole, Charlevoix residents have been more than loyal to their home merchants. This attitude is deserving of mention. This store as well as others, appreciate the confidence placed in them, and by square, honest dealing, will endeavor to merit. Stand by the Home Merchants and the community will profit by it.

STATE HUNTERS ARE AFTER FOXES

Game Wardens Claim These Animals Are Rapidly Increasing

Alpena county deputy game wardens have returned from Lansing where they conferred with Director of Conservation Baird relative to a campaign against small noxious animals, particularly foxes, which are killing birds in increasing numbers according to reports from the game wardens over the state.

A concerted drive against these animals which are devouring the game birds as well as other species is to be started in a few days. Methods discussed at the Lansing conference are likely to be employed. These are not to be announced until the director of conservation has had an opportunity to confer with other game leaders and tour some of the districts.

The fox has multiplied in this and other counties of the state since the war time price for his pelt was removed. Without this incentive the hunter and trapper has ignored him with the result that he is rapidly propagating, and his increasing numbers are requiring additional birds daily for food.

Particularly at this season, with the landscape covered with snow the fox or other noxious animal is depending entirely upon the bird for substance, and finds the snow of assistance in catching his winged prey.

POPULAR BELVE- DERE GIRL MARRIED

Miss Marian Webb Weds Sampson Rogers, Jr. at Oak Park

We are informed this week of the marriage of Miss Marian Wallace Webb to Sampson Rogers, Jr. which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dayton Webb, in Oak Park, Ill.

Mrs. Rogers is a very popular member of the younger set in our summer colony at the Charlevoix Summer Home resort and is well known to many Charlevoix people.

Her father, George D. Webb, is president of the association and has been a resort here for many years.

The young couple are planning to make Oak Park their permanent home and a cottage is being erected there for their occupancy. We trust that they will continue to sojourn with us during the summer months, as in the past and join their friends in sincere wishes for their future happiness and prosperity.

MRS. WASHBURN'S GRANDDAUGHTER WEDS
Becomes Bride of Naval Officer at Anaheim, Cal.

Miss Luna Emily Wellman, a granddaughter of Mrs. M. L. Washburn, of this city, was married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wellman, at Anaheim, California, Saturday, December 23rd last, to Ensign Dale Quarion, U. S. N., assigned to the superdreadnaught, "New Mexico" of the Pacific fleet. A brother of the bride, Rev. Coe R. Wellman, was the officiating minister. Mrs. Washburn was present at the ceremony.

The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. On their return, they will reside in Los Angeles, where Mrs. Quarion will resume her duties as a member of the faculty at the college of music, University of Southern California, and also at her studio in Anaheim.

The Misses Alta and Opal Harper and Mrs. Will Fuller and children spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newman. Miss Nina Harper called in the afternoon.

A party was given in honor of the Misses Nina, Opal and Alta Harper, Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newman. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harper, Mr. Aldred, of Boyne City, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Snider and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fuller and family. Warm maple sugar and pop-corn were served, after which the party were entertained with songs.

After spending the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. Essie Dodd, Iris returned to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Elzabeth Beattie, in Charlevoix.

While driving to town near Coulter's Saturday afternoon, John Shaw skidded on the icy road into the ditch, crushing his fender. Aside from being a little scared, they were soon on their way again.

Miss Opal Harper, who is teaching school at Gaylord, Miss Nina Harper, teacher near Boyne City, and Miss Alta Harper, who teaches at the Walker school, are spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Harper. They left Monday to their respective schools.

Fair Grove school had their entertainment Friday evening, December 22, the children taking full charge, one of the older boys acting as Santa Claus. They were a credit to the teacher who trained them.

Mr. Peterson, who is living in the Bowen house this winter, states he had the best Xmas he ever had. Santa Claus came from every direction in the disguise of neighbors Glaser, Seroggie and Minier as he was about ready to sit down to dinner. Neighbor Tillotson then appeared and invited him to come over and have dinner at his place. Mr. Peterson feels that he was well remembered.

W. F. Johnson Tells How It Might Be Done, Based on His Personal Experience

More on the sugar beet question, William F. Johnson, of Ironton, again enters the lists, supplementing his previous letter. What he has to say is worth reading, as his personal experience in the sugar beet game qualifies him to speak with authority.

Dear Sir:—I wish to thank you for the courtesy and space you gave my last letter. I was in hopes someone else would take up the subject and let me out of it, but no one seems to care to air out their views in print.

I have, however, received many personal inquiries about my letter, as to why I think Charlevoix could not land a sugar factory and my remarks in regard to the county agricultural agent have caused some comment. I will try to make my letters as brief as possible and take as little space in your valued paper as I can.

I first wish to say that I am not in the employ of any sugar company. What I have to say is from the standpoint of a common farmer, and one who is interested in farming and trying to make a living on a farm, but my former work for the beet sugar companies and my experience with sugar beets has made me familiar with things that the public may not know. Sugar beets in Michigan have proven to be a good crop for any farmer to grow, but, especially are they a good crop for the poor man.

They are called the poor man's friend and this for several reasons; the best reason is because it does not require any capital to finance the growing of beets. No matter how poor a man may be, if he has the ground and is able to work, he can grow sugar beets; one acre or as many as he likes; the sugar company will finance the deal.

It is the surest crop he can grow. He may not get a big tonnage, but he will get beets and when he delivers them they all go; both big and little. Beets will grow rain or shine, cold or hot. They are frost proof, bug proof and blight proof.

Much more could be said about the growing of sugar beets; what plant food they remove from the soil, where it comes from, the value of the tops and crowns for stock feed, etc., but I want this letter to tell you why I think Charlevoix is in a poor way to land a sugar mill.

In all the time that I have been growing sugar beets and in all my work for sugar companies, I have never met but one county agricultural agent who was willing to give his assistance to the farmers in the growing of sugar beets. H. L. Barnum (I use his name without authority) was broad minded enough to see his farmer's needs and work for their best interests. When I was sent to Missaukee county for the sugar company, Mr. Barnum was county agricultural agent there. I went to his office at once and we worked together. Whenever he visited a farmer who he thought ought to grow beets, he told him so and when I took the contract that he did not like, he said so. He kept a list of beet growers (which I gladly furnished him) and took a personal interest in the growing crop.

The result was that we had around 700 acres of beets in Missaukee county that year, harvested a good crop and the farmers were well pleased. The next year, a new agent took his place (a fine fellow, too). That spring, the big beet growers in the southern part of the state organized and struck for more money than the sugar companies could pay for beets. The farm bureau took in the strikers and sent men out to stop farmers from growing. They sent a man to Missaukee county, who at once hooked up with the county agent and held a meeting in my best territory, where Barnum and I had spent most of our time the year before. Same contracts that I had already written were cancelled; those whom I had not yet seen joined the strike.

UNDER NORTH CENTRAL PLAN

MICHIGAN COMMITTEE ADMITS LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Under Their Rules, Graduates May Enter Any College or "U" In Association

Superintendent Hamilton has received a letter from Inspector J. B. Edmonson, stating that the application for North Central accreditation had been passed favorably by the Michigan committee and will come up for final consideration at the Chicago meeting March 15-17.

For those who have never given the subject of accreditation much thought—there are two steps to be considered. There are two forms of accreditation: What is known as University accreditation under which plan graduates are admitted to the higher institutions of the state on diploma; then there is the North Central accreditation which enlarges the boundaries and allows the graduate of the school to enter on diploma any of the universities or colleges in any of the states belonging to the North Central Association. Let us take for the sake of an example a city where a new high school is to be established. The authorities must plan the curriculum so that no teacher teaches more than six forty minute periods per day; there must be a minimum number of classes held in session room where pupils study; there must be plenty of reference books, laboratory equipment sufficient to enable each student in science classes to work individually the experiments necessary for that course.

Teachers must be college trained and as many as possible degreed. The general trend of the school policies must be in line of progression. When the university inspector passes favorably on said school it is placed on the university list.

If the school authorities desire higher standards and more prestige for their institution, they go one step farther and raise their scholastic standards for teacher so each teacher of an academic subject has a college degree, standards of scholarship for pupils are raised and the morale of the institution made the equal of the best schools in the state.

PROBATE COURT REPORTS FOR '22

LOWEST INSANITY RATE IN PAST TEN YEARS

Eighty-nine Cases Commenced Last Year—More Work For Probate Judge Than Formerly

Eighty-nine cases were commenced by petition in the year 1922, and are classified as follows:

Eighteen testate estates, thirty-three intestate estates, twenty-five of which took the regular course of probating and eight were the short course, commonly known as the determination of heirs.

Four guardians appointed for mentally incompetent persons and eight guardians for minors. Eight children adopted into Charlevoix county homes and made heirs of the persons adopting them. Six adult persons committed to the University hospital at Ann Arbor for treatment at the expense of the county and four children sent to the same hospital at the expense of the State of Michigan.

One person committed to the home for the feeble minded at Lapeer. Three persons committed to the Traverse City State Hospital for the insane, and two persons sent to the Psychopathic Hospital at Ann Arbor for observation and treatment for mental derangement bordering on insanity. Two of the six cases were chargeable to other counties, for the reason that they had not resided in Charlevoix county for the statutory period of one year immediately preceding filing the petition, but had a legal residence in other counties in this state, and were chargeable to such counties. In one case the petition was dismissed.

Six cases of investigation for insanity; that is the least number of investigations in any one year for the past ten years. The total expense to the county was $125.87; that is much less expense than any year for the past ten years due to the fact, in part, that two of the cases were chargeable to other counties, and partly to the fact that the investigations were so handled that it was not necessary to provide a caretaker for any of the cases. One proceeding had for the change of name of an adult person and name changed by order of this court.

Inheritance-tax was determined and paid in seven estates, the total amount of said tax being $975.87. This tax, at the present time, becomes a part of the primary school fund, and you are aware, probably, that an effort is being made to change the law in such a way that this tax will be used for defraying state expenses, and the schools supported by direct tax.

The labors of the court in settling estates is increasing. Formerly it was considered the duty of an executor or administrator to gather the assets, pay the debts, and distribute the residue among the persons entitled thereto, at the earliest possible date. The present day tendency is to continue the business of the deceased as a going concern, sometimes almost indefinitely. The Detroit Trust company reports an estate, the principle asset being a shirt waist factory, that has been run as a going concern for several years and is likely to continue to so operate for several years to come.

Report for the Juvenile Division. Forty-three dependent children have been before the court in the regular way for assistance and relief and thirty have been found to be dependent children within the meaning of the Juvenile Court act, and cared for by order of the court. In the other cases petitions were dismissed.

Eight delinquent children have been before the court during the year, five of which were placed on probation, one petition dismissed, one girl sent to the Industrial Home at Adrian, and one boy sent to the Industrial School at Lansing. Those placed on probation have thus far made good, and there is every reason to think that the necessary reformation can be accomplished without placing them under institutional care.

Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

A letter recently received by Capt. Sam Rose, who is president of the hospital board, from Sidney Lowenstein, prominent north-side summer resident, who writes from his office in Chicago, is herewith reproduced and tells its own story:

Mr. Simon Rose, President, Charlevoix Hospital, Charlevoix, Michigan.

My Dear Mr. Rose:—The newspaper publicity that your hospital is getting will certainly do it a great deal of good, and establish it firmly in the hearts of the community.

I have heard it very favorably commented on by the resorters whom I have met from time to time, showing that they are interested in its welfare, even while many miles away.

The organized work that is being done by the women in connection with supplying the hospital needs is constructive, and besides being a great material help, also encourages a more active interest and stimulates the public to lend a hand.

I am pleased to send you herewith a check of the Charlevoix North Side Social Welfare Association for another $1,000.00 installment of its contribution to the work.

With best wishes for the New Year, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

Sidney Lowenstein, Treasurer.

POPULAR TEACHER BECOMES A BRIDE

Miss Kranz, of Lincoln School Weds H. Trimble

Miss Elizabeth Kranz, teacher in charge of room one, at the Lincoln school here, and Harrison Trimble, of this city, were married on New Year's day at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. Kranz, at Alba, Mich.

CHICAGO SURGEON BUYS BIG TRACT

New Holdings Give 5,000 Foot Frontage on Torch Lake

Dr. George C. Amerson, owner and head surgeon of the Garfield or West Side Hospital in Chicago, was the guest at breakfast last Saturday morning of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Oldham, on Park Avenue.

Dr. Amerson was on his way to Torch Lake, where he has recently purchased two tracts of 100 acres each, flanking the property formerly acquired by his father, the late Judge Amerson, on what is known as Lone Tree Point, about six miles out of Alden. This purchase gives the doctor 5,000 feet frontage on the lake. A fine summer lodge for the owner's personal use and a colony of several handsome cottages stand on the original tract.

This little item is but one more proof of the fact that the northwest Michigan region possesses peculiar attractions for the summer vacationist. Men with ample means to establish their residence in any location of their choosing turn to Michigan in preference to other better advertised sections, even the much-vaunted California. Can't we do a little more, in the light of this knowledge, to cooperate with Nature and the splendid advantages she has given us, when other regions with even less to recommend them are so much more ably assisted by their people.

ENFORCE ROAD-SIDE TREE LAW

LAWS TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED IN FUTURE

Future Violations Due to Ignorance of Law Will Not Hereafter Be Overlooked

It is unlawful to cut or injure trees or shrubs within the limits of public highways without a permit from the authorities having jurisdiction over such roads.

State Highway Commissioner Frank F. Rogers, states that the law will be strictly enforced on state trunk line and federal aided roads, over which the State Highway Commissioner has jurisdiction in co-operation with the boards of county road commissioners. Any person, including the owner of the abutting land, who destroys trees or shrubs in the highway without a permit from the highway authorities is guilty of a misdemeanor, under this law, and is liable to a fine or imprisonment or both. If such person has not obtained the consent of the abutting property owner, in addition to a permit from the highway authorities, he is liable to the abutting property owner for damages.

The great majority of abutting property owners along the highways, as well as the general public, are interested in having the roadsides attractive and thousands of trees have been planted and protected by land owners, by public spirited associations, and by the highway authorities for this purpose. There have been some violations of the law, however, by land owners cutting trees along their frontage but Commissioner Rogers states that most of such violations have been due to ignorance of the law on the part of alien tenants or owners who are prone to cut the nearest trees when they need fire-wood, without any consideration for the beauty of such trees.

From the thousands of communications he has received on the subject, Commissioner Rogers feels that the people of the state in general want the roadsides trees protected. The public wants the trees to make the highways attractive and to make travel more comfortable, while to the farmer, the trees are a benefit.

CALIFORNIA A BIRD'S PARADISE

VALLEYS INHABITED BY NEARLY ALL VARIETIES

Harm Done to Fruit by Some Varieties No Companion With Destruction of Insects

Many of us in the eastern states do not stop to consider the differences which have to do with birds and other wild life, between the eastern and western United States, and it may be of interest to have a word upon some of the principle facts about California birds.

We all know that climate and the food and water supplies have a direct bearing upon the migration of birds. In the valleys of California one finds many more birds wintering than in the same latitude in the east, and this may be accounted for by the fact that the food supply continues to be sufficient, perhaps we might say abundant, owing to the mildness of the lowland winters. This does not mean that the same birds will be found in a given locality both summer and winter, for there is much migratory activity.

Owing to the preponderance of the mountain ranges and the superior height of many of them, bird movements among the land birds becomes largely vertical migrations, and these assume great importance. Many birds merely come down from the snow covered mountains to the open valleys. This is especially true of the seed eaters, while others travel east and west as their food supply suggests, keeping usually to their own familiar life zone. North and south migrations take place, of course, in a degree among the land birds, and along the coast the migrations of water birds may be found in full force. At Monterey vast multitudes of birds may be seen passing on their way from Arctic regions to the southern seas, and offer a wide field for further investigation of this most interesting subject.

The question of the food of the land birds is important in California because of the extent of the fruit industry. Certain birds commit more or less depredation to the fruit, notably the House Finch, but so also do the insects and rodents. Birds at times keep down the insect life, and it is a question whether the harm a bird may do by eating fruit in June, is not offset by the good he does the remainder of the year in eating scale insects and other profit-taking pests.

Notable changes have taken place in the bird life of California, with the irrigation and development of the valleys. More and more of the desert land is constantly being reclaimed through irrigation, in this western country. With the coming

AUTO DEATHS SET A NEW RECORD

Long regarded as one of the chief sources of Michigan's prosperity, the automobile, silent, swift and powerful, has definitely emerged in a new guise. Instead of appearing as a vehicle of pleasure its status on the charts of the Michigan department of health is that of a killer more dangerous than typhoid fever.

In 1912, the motor car death toll reached a total of 403, the largest ever recorded and a higher figure than that attained by typhoid fever during any of the past five years.

During the first 11 months of 1922, the toll mounted steadily until it had attained the 477 mark at the end of November, and this in spite of concerted attacks on the part of Grand Rapids and Detroit courts. In that period of less than a year 153 persons were needlessly killed in Detroit and 19 in Grand Rapids by negligent or drunken automobile drivers. With these figures as a basis of estimate, it would appear that the entire count for 1922 will be well beyond 500.

That is more than the mortality lists for measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever or typhoid fever show for the entire preceding 12 months. Since 1909 when the first motor car accident list was kept separate from other accidents, the automobile deaths in actual numbers and in rates have grown consistently. In 1909 there were 49—a rate of 1.7 deaths per 100,000. In 1921 there were 403—a rate of 10.6 per 100,000 inhabitants, and in 1922 indications are that both numbers and rates will be higher than ever.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

Last Friday night Charlevoix played East Jordan in one of the roughest games played in many seasons. All was well until the East Jordan team saw they were going to be defeated and then the rough house started, which has caused Charlevoix to cancel all games with East Jordan until they can again play like men.

Charlevoix likes to play basket ball and play it in a clean way. Next Friday, the 12th, the basket ball team goes to Petoskey.

In a preliminary game Friday, the Charlevoix girls were defeated by the East Jordan girls, 14 to 0. Although the score was one sided, the C. H. S. girls put up a very good game and by the next game will be in condition to make the people sit up and take notice. The freshmen basket ball team was defeated by Boyne Falls, 10 to 4, but there is good material in them for a future basket ball team.

Everybody come Friday night to the debate which will be held at the high school assembly. Charlevoix high school vs. Bellaire. The debate will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock. We have a very good team.

I wonder when that foot ball banquet is coming off.

The Latin students are preparing themes for the annual.

Miss Helen Armstrong visited the junior English class Friday afternoon.

Bible study will be one of the new subjects in the high school curriculum next semester. There will be some new classes taught in home economics. Monday morning in chapel, Miss Cotton and Miss Wilson explained these courses to the high school.

The seniors will serve candy (at a reasonable price) at the debate Friday evening. Bring some extra coppers.

The great junior production, "The Merchant of Venice," which will be given at the Palace Theatre in the near future, is now under way. Sponsored by Miss D. J. Vincent of the commercial department, the play promises to be the cleverest, most up-to-the-minute spectacle staged in this city in the last two years. The hitherto unknown talent of the juniors has come to light (according to D. J. V.) and every effort is being put forth to make the play a rousing success. Tickets will be on sale soon. Another mystery has been uncovered—the "COMING" sign that has been posted in the assembly room has taken on a new aspect; it is a notice of the coming of the stupendous junior production. Watch for it!

The senior class (assisted by the sophomores) will serve a supper, on February 7th. Watch for further announcements.

DINNER IN THE OPEN

During the hot weather there is nothing that changes one's whole attitude toward life in general like a day spent out of doors. When possible, pack the basket and family into the car and go away to new scenes. But if one has a shady nook in the home grounds a meal may be enjoyed out of doors with little planning.

For a regular camping meal roasted potatoes, corn and winners will go well with most people. Steak is delicious, too, cooked on a heavy sheet iron over coals or broiled over the coals with a wired broiler.

Scrambled eggs is another good dish, which can be easily prepared. A hot cheese sandwich is well liked. Butter bread, place a piece of cheese, sandwich fashion, between the slices and brown in butter on both sides. Serve hot with sliced tomatoes, onions and cucumber.

Brown bread spread with butter and chopped green pepper with a little minced parsley makes a nice sandwich.

Potatoes boiled in their jackets may be cooked at home, then fried in butter and served piping hot with small green onions.

There are any number of good salads which are easily carried or the dressing may be carried in a fruit jar and the salad mixed when the meal is ready to serve.

Any pie which carries well always finds an appetite to meet it.

Deviled Eggs.—Cut hard-cooked eggs in halves, put the yolk through a sieve, adding mustard, cayenne, butter, and salt to taste. Fill the hollow, rounding it well, with the mixture. Wrap in waxed paper as they carry better, packed in a shallow box.

Sponge cakes make a delicious dessert. When ready to serve cut off the tops and fill with whipped cream or berries mixed with sugar and whipped cream. The cream and berries may be prepared at home and carried in a sealed jar.

5285 INSPECTIONS PER CAR

The faithfulness of performance so universally remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 1100 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5,285 inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation, either in workmanship or material, is sufficient cause for immediate rejection.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

As The Banker Sees It
Taxation is so pre-eminently the outstanding problem of the fifty-second legislature that the "pet laws aimed to meet all the ills that flesh is heir to" to quote from Governor Groesbeck's message are likely to get scant attention, not so much for lack of merit as want of time. Despite the fact the organization of both houses is ten days ahead of schedule there is a strong likelihood that the session will be as long as usual, so anxious are the law makers to give the question of taxation the careful and conscientious consideration everyone agrees the State's fiscal problems deserve at this time.

Governor Groesbeck Has Strong Message

On every hand there is nothing but praise for the suggestions and recommendations offered by Governor Groesbeck in his annual message. The chief executive lauds the idea of the administrative board adopted in 1920 and says "its utility is no longer a matter of conjecture" and "additional advantage can be derived by extending the scope of its operation." The governor declares "the present status of our finances is most satisfactory", which statement is supported by a financial statement showing a surplus of $10,165,498.50 on December 1, 1922, "after setting aside all trust funds collected for specific purposes," besides wiping out the deficit existing two years ago.

Stands For Lower Tax Rate on Real Estate

The message says, "there is an urgent need for additional buildings at many institutions," and touching directly on the building program at the University of Michigan and M. A. C., adds, "assuming these various requests to be reasonable the securing of the funds to meet them is all important." The governor, however, feels that the state requires a breathing spell, and while gratified with the lower tax levy in 1921 and 1922, declares the tax rate has not yet reached the point where it can logically be said that is a just and equitable distribution of the burden, referring to the oft expressed idea that the real estate is paying a disproportionate amount of the cost of government.

Government Securities Should Be Taxed

It is Governor Groesbeck's idea that exempting government securities from taxation "violates all the rules of economic justice," and he goes further and says, "the present freedom from tax obligations is also wholly unjustifiable." He recommends the placing of all private banks under state supervision and regulation and urges a curbing of the operations of stock salesmen through amendment of the so-called "Blue Sky" law.

The governor declares, "all brokers, employees and salesmen should be required to operate under annual state license, and their books and business inspected periodically for the purpose of preventing fraud and improper dealings with the public."

Special Legislative Tax Committee Reports

The reports of the special legislative tax committee, whose work was complimented by the governor in his message, attracted considerable attention the first day of the session. The report, which is perhaps the most exhaustive ever made by any similar organization in the state, makes many suggestions, a few of which are radical in the changes proposed rather than in intent. The report suggests an annual tax on municipal securities; an annual tax of thirty cents per $100 on mortgage credits, which on the average Michigan mortgage would be a three time increase over the present fee charge; a gasoline tax of one cent a gallon; tax of forty cents per $100 on foreign corporation stock owned in Michigan; the present system for taxing mining property is recommended; some slight changes are suggested for taxing steamships, limit the amount of investment that a person can hold in a budding and loan association, "on the ground that these associations have changed from a semi-civic development organization to a general banking business; that the corporation tax should be amended to do away with the present admitted inequalities; abolishing the tax commission and creating a department with a single head like other state departments. As many of these suggestions will subsequently come before the legislature in bills, these various questions will be covered as they develop.

Prominent Manufacturer After Corporation Tax

Senator Charles R. Slicht, head of the Grand Rapids Furniture Company bearing his name, sent up a bill the second day making an amendment to the present corporation tax law passed two years ago, as an emergency measure. At the time there was what amounted to an implied understanding about the State House that the law would be repealed at this session. The Grand Rapids solon wants the maximum fee of $10,000 eliminated entirely and allow all corporations to pay on the basis of three and one half mills upon each dollar of paid up capital and surplus. The Slicht bill does not, however, change the minimum fee of $50, which many legislators regard should likewise be eliminated along with the peak rate. Despite the fact that many Michigan corporations have dissolved since the law was enacted, the new corporations more than offset the number of concerns getting out of the state's legal reach as it refers to this item of taxation. There are many different viewpoints on this matter and other bills are certain to follow on both sides of the capitol.

Henry and Evans Head Taxation Committee

Senator James Henry, of Battle Creek, in the senate, and Representative Charles Evans, of Tipton, Leelanau county, in the house, head the respective taxation committees and it is clearly within the truth to say no taxation bill will be passed by this legislature that does not have their complete sympathy and approval. Mr. Henry, who is the dean of the legislature in the point of terms served, is perhaps as well equipped to meet these various problems as any man in Michigan. He served Battle Creek several terms as city assessor, and knows the taxation question from all angles.

Representative Evans is a thorough successful farmer, and like Senator Henry, has had ample opportunity to study the tax problems from the practical side and especially from the viewpoint of the agriculturist. Both appointments are everywhere conceded to be strong and capable, and reflects a conscientious effort to give these matters of taxation, careful and honest consideration.

From Farmers View

A crusading army of senators and representatives, many of them astir their hobby horses, and their pockets bulging with pet bills destined to solve all the economic and political ills of this good old Wolverine state, invaded the State House last January 3rd and opened the 52nd session of the Michigan legislature.

A small army of newspaper men and a few lobbyists simultaneously appeared, while close on their heels came the inevitable horde of clerks, stenographers, sergeants, coat room keepers, document room keepers, pages and other retainers.

Formal organization was soon completed, committees appointed, rules adopted and actual work begun. Every effort is being made to "speed up" the work of the legislature this year and to get started without the usual exasperating and costly delays.

"Junkets," or legislative committee visits to the several state institutions will be undertaken immediately so that they may act promptly on the appropriation requests.

All appropriation work this session is expected to be greatly simplified over that of previous years because of the very careful and comprehensive work which has been done by the State Budget Commission and the State Administrative Board under the direction of Gov. Groesbeck.

Present indications are that agriculture will receive very respectful and careful consideration this session. This is partly because the farmers are better organized than ever before and, through their Federated Legislative Committee representing the State Farm Bureau, the Grange, the Gleaners and the Affiliated Farmers' Clubs, are planning an aggressive program of agricultural legislation and partly because the solons, city as well as rural, realize that agricultural interests have been hard hit of late, have been burdened with far more than their share of taxation, and must be granted relief for the future prosperity of the whole state.

One of the most important developments of the week was the delivery of Governor Groesbeck's inaugural message to the two Houses.

It was with no little pride that is often caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever.

Michigan's chief executive proclaimed the present solvency of the State, saying, "The state treasury has been 'dug out of the mire of debt and is now on the dry ground of solvency,'" but he went on to add that "a comprehensive fiscal plan should now be formulated for our future guidance which will preclude further deficits—adequately provide for public requirements and assure a distribution of the burden over a period of years."

The governor declared that real estate now bears a disproportionate share of the burden of taxation and recommended the abolition of tax-exempt bonds and a far more complete taxation of tangible property.

Highway costs demanded a large portion of the executive's attention. He suggested that automobiles in general, and especially trucks and busses, should contribute more toward highway maintenance.

Governor Groesbeck struck a popular note when, in summing up the state's financial condition, he said, "It is evident that the state requires a breathing spell in the matter of further appropriations."

Dissatisfaction with our present taxation system was brought to the attention of the law-makers on the opening day when Senator Slicht of Grand Rapids, offered an amendment to the present corporation tax law, removing the $10,000 maximum tax and providing that the big corporations should pay the straight three and one-half mills tax. Senator Slicht said that one hundred corporations paid the maximum tax ($10,000) in 1922 and that to remove this maximum and tax big corporations on the same basis as the others would nearly double the revenue from the Corporation Tax and mean an addition of $4,000,000 to the state's revenue.

The second crack at the Corporation Tax law was taken by Rep. John B. Corlies, of Detroit. His bill would remove the $10,000 maximum limit, lower the minimum from $50 to $25, and reduce the rate from three and one-half mills to one mill.

Senator Bernie L. Case of Ithaca, believes that repeal of existing laws is preferable to drafting new ones, for on the second day of the session, he introduced a bill to repeal the law passed last session creating a revolving fund for county drains and another bill to repeal the law, also passed last session, which provides for the annual gathering of agricultural statistics by the supervisors at the time of taking their annuual assessment of property in the spring. This law has been in operation one year and its results have proved very satisfactory. Operation of this law has made available for farmers, county agents, farmers' cooperatives, extension workers and railways valuable information never before obtainable in regard to crop acreages and production, number of the various kinds of livestock and other agricultural statistics.

A bill to give married women equal rights with unmarried women and men in making and enforcing contracts was introduced by Sen. Condon, of Detroit. He explained that similar bills are to be introduced in the legislatures of thirty-six states in the country and that this measure is the first of a series of measures being sponsored by women's organizations all over the country, having for their purpose, the establishment of economic and industrial equality with men. Another bill, also introduced by Sen. Condon, makes it a misdemeanor to interfere with or interrupt a religious service or ridicule by caricature or imitation any minister, preacher, priest, rabbi or other church dignitary.

Majority Stockholders Ask That Business Be Resumed

Stockholders representing over $25,000 of the subscribed capital of the Title Guarantee & Casualty company attended an informal meeting held in Petoskey last Thursday afternoon.

Director R. F. Sloan, of this city, explained the exact condition of the affairs of the company, and a general discussion followed regarding the advisability of resuming business. Insurance Commission Hands desired the feeling of the northern Michigan stockholders on the matter, and the result of the meeting was that he was advised that the stockholders in this vicinity are unanimous for resumption of active business.

On Friday a committee composed of H. M. Duff, executive officer of the Michigan securities commission, Insurance Commissioner Hands and five large stockholders, formulated a plan for a vigorous continuation of the affairs of the company. This plan will be submitted to a mail vote of the stockholders, and, if approved, will result in the company going ahead under new officers.

for their food products, for wind breaks and above all, for their protection to the birds that destroy their insect enemies. There is a widespread demand for the planting of roadside trees and the State Highway Department is planning this work in such a way as to be a benefit to the abutting lands as well as an added attraction to the highways. However, where there are sufficient trees of the proper varieties now growing there is no necessity to plant others and a great deal of money can be saved to the people of the state by proper protection of the existing roadside trees, both large and small.

It is recognized by the highway department that in some places it would be a benefit to remove certain roadside trees on account of their being too close together, diseased or unsuitable varieties and this would be taken into consideration when permits are applied for. However, Commissioner Rogers states that in all cases where it is desired to cut roadside trees, application for a permit must be made to the proper highway authorities. On state trunk line and federal aided roads, such applications should be made to the State Highway Commissioner; on county roads to the Board of County Road Commissioners and on township roads to the township authorities.

Il. J. Timmer is "on the job" again at the warehouse, after a forced vacation of two weeks, recuperating from burns he received.

Il. Himebauch and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Balch visited with Miss Emily Himebauch, who is staying at the home of Elmer Donaldson, at Charlevoix.

Miss Dorothy Hosler, who has been employed at the Phelps Marketing association, picking beans, left Tuesday afternoon of last week, for her sister's home near Bellaire.

Mrs. Elsie Boes, of Ellsworth, accompanied John Timmer to Phelps, Thursday of last week and was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Klooster during the afternoon and evening.

Ye scribe notes, with interest that John Shaw of East Marion, skidded on the ice into the ditch, crushing his fender. Would like to ask Mr. Shaw to present himself for inspection to see where he carries his fender. We presume the correspondent meant the fender of a car, and seeing the item was written a few days after New Year's day, will excuse him (or her) this time.

It has just been learned that Mike Saganek spent Christmas with his family here. Mr. Saganek has been gone for over a year and naturally his family were all very much pleased to see him. He returned to his unknown whereabouts on Tuesday morning after Christmas, boarding the train at Ellsworth.

ALDEN HIGH TO PLAY ELLSWORTH

Boys' and Girls' Teams to Come Friday Evening

Both the boys' and girls' basketball teams of the Alden high school will be here on Friday evening of this week for games with Ellsworth high and two good games are looked forward to.

The Alden boys hung one over on our boys at Alden a few weeks ago, but the home boys have made a great improvement in their playing since then and will be out for revenge on Friday night. Don't miss these games.

Arrangements have also been made for a game here one week from Friday night, between the Ellsworth girls and Traverse City high, claimants of the northern Michigan championship. This will be a game where the expenses will be high, and it will be up to the basketball fans to turn out in force and boost for the home team. There will be a preliminary game of some kind. Don't forget the date, Friday evening, January 19.

The European situation remains unchanged—probably for lack of "change."

KLOOSTER & SON HAVE SOLD OUT

WELL-KNOWN CONCERN WILL CHANGE HANDS THIS WEEK

August, Henry and Margaret Van Der Ark and Bernie Klooster Are New Owners

One of the biggest business deals made here in recent years was closed on Monday of this week, when Klooster & Son sold their general store business here to August, Henry and Margaret VanDerArk and Bernie Klooster, who will take possession as soon as inventory is completed, which will be taken on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, the store being closed on these days.

A rather peculiar co-incidence of this deal is, that it was made just thirteen years to the day from the time the store was purchased by Klooster from F. H. Skow.

The new owners are by no means an inexperienced lot, as two of the new firm, namely Bernie Klooster and Miss VanDerArk, are employees of the store, the latter having been employed there for over eight years, while the former has worked here off and on since childhood and been a steady employee for the past three years. August VanDerArk, another member of the new firm, has had several years experience in the retail store business and we predict an unqualified success for the new firm.

Geo. Klooster and son, Koo, the retiring owners, have not yet decided on their future course of action, but it is in the wish of their many friends that they may see their way clear to remain in the village.

PASTOR'S MOTHER DIED SUDDENLY

MRS. AUGUSTA FROOK ILL BUT A FEW DAYS

Rev. Floyd and Rev. Roy Frook Suspend Evangelistic Meetings On Sunday

A temporary cessation has been caused in the special meetings at the M. E. church here, due to the death on Sunday afternoon, of Mrs. Augusta Cecelia Frook, mother of Rev. Floyd Frook, pastor of the M. E. church, and Rev. Roy Frook, the evangelist in charge of the meetings.

Deceased, whose home was at Cadillac, had been ill but a few days and her death was unlooked for even by her immediate family. She had been visiting at the home of her son here for the past two weeks.

She is survived by four sons, Joseph, of Lansing; Roy and Benjamin, of Cadillac; and Floyd, of Ellsworth, and five daughters, Mrs. Shine, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Paulson, of Traverse City; Mesdames Maxwell and Laurent, of Cadillac, and Miss Ida Frook, of Cadillac, as well as two sisters and one brother living outside of the state.

The body was taken to Cadillac on Monday, and following funeral services, will be taken to Paris for burial beside the body of her husband.

The entire family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

Our store will be closed for inventory on Wednesday and Thursday, January 17th and 18th. Klooster & Son.—Adv. 2-11.

Rev. Struik at M. E. Church
The pulpit at the M. E. church was filled on Sunday evening by Rev. Struik, of the Holiness church, who kindly consented to close his church for the evening and the announcement was made that services at the M. E. church would be continued, starting on Thursday evening of this week.

If I knew you and you knew me—
If both of us could clearly see,
And with an inner sight divine
The meaning of your heart and mine,
I'm sure that we would differ less
And clasp our hands in friendliness;
Our thoughts would pleasantly agree
If I knew you and you knew me.

If I knew you and you knew me—
As each one knows his own self, we Could look each other in the face
And see therein a truer grace,
Life has so many hidden woes,
So many thorns for every rose;
The "why" of things our hearts could see,
If I KNEW you and You KNEW me.

UNDER NORTH

Charlevoix High School has been on the university list since 1902 and in 1914 won North Central accreditation, but two years ago failed to measure up to one of the important standards of the association and was "struck" from the list of North Central schools, but still remained on the university list.

This year a concerted effort has been made to have the school re-accredited by the North Central Association and the letter referred to at the beginning seems to be very good evidence that the chance in the final meeting should be very good.

We believe the public to be interested in the school and glad to be enlightened on any measure that may be of mutual interest.

GROWS ORANGESTree Belonging to Dr. Protar Is 35 Years Old

Some time ago, we printed an account of a lemon tree, raised in Charlevoix, bearing lemons as large as grapefruit.

Now comes the story of an aged Russian doctor, named Protar, who has successfully grown oranges on the Beavers. Several local people who have visited the old gentleman have seen the tree and tasted the fruit picked from it in their presence.

The bush-like plant that performs this wonderful stunt is kept indoors during the winter and blooms on the porch during the summer months. It stands about four feet in height, is set in an earthenware crock and is claimed by its proud owner to be thirty-five years old. The fruit, though small in size, is of excellent flavor.

Promises Well

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church and Societies was held Tuesday, at seven-thirty, P. M. An unusually well-arranged statistical report was given by the secretary and treasurer of each of the various societies.

It was gratifying to find that, although the past year's activities had entailed an unusually large financial outlay, every department showed a balance on the right side of the ledger.

It was still more gratifying to learn that the result of the every member canvass for 1923 showed nearly fifty per cent increase in the number of subscribers and a corresponding increase in the amount subscribed. The outlook is for a good year ahead.

STUDY CLUB
GIVES A FEASTShakespeare Society Entertains The Dickens Club

On the afternoon of January 6th, the Shakespeare study club of this city celebrated "Twelfth Day" by giving a banquet in honor of the members of the Dickens Club, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Crane, on Park Avenue.

The house was most beautifully decorated with smilax and potted plants. Gold candle-sticks and candelabra, containing purple candles, adorned mantles and tables. The tables were wonderful in their beauty. Each contained a gold and purple candle, surrounded with smilax, cut glass, silver and hand-painted place cards, made by Mrs. Earl Young.

The refreshment committee, Mrs. Robert Padlock, Mrs. A. F. Bridge, Mrs. F. W. Mayne, Mrs. A. L. Fitch and Mrs. Ira Adams, supervised the serving of the forty-one who partook of a feast such as is seldom equalled in variety and excellence, each of the six courses having its own particular quality.

Mrs. Crane, president of the Shakespeare club, made a witty speech, the result of which was the choosing of Mrs. W. H. Miller and Mrs. A. A. Swinton to be considered as personages of great honor for the remainder of the afternoon.

After the tables were removed and chairs arranged, a charming program was given under the direction of Miss Nita Mayne. The first number was a piano solo by Mrs. George Wantz, of St. Louis, Missouri. Mrs. Wantz was heartily encored, showing the sympathetic appreciation of the quality of her music. A delightful play, under the title of "Suppressed Desires," was the crowning feature of the afternoon. This play was impersonated by Mrs. Franklin Sears, Mrs. Robert Bridge and Mrs. Constance Gaskin, a charming two act drama, with each character at her best. Mrs. A. A. Swinton entertained the company with music that appealed to the hearts of all.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong gave an interesting report of the Federation of Women's clubs, which she had attended as delegate, at Flint.

This ended the pleasures of "Twelfth Day," each departing guest feeling a sense of gratification at having been present at the choicest entertainment ever given by the Shakespeare Study Club.

CALIFORNIA A BIRD'S PARADISE

of the orchards, alfalfa fields, green pastures, and streams of running water lined with willows, has come also a much increased number of bird species. The Horned Larks and Burrowing Owls, who love the desert wastes, have gone, and in their places are the wonderful California Meadow Larks, with their lovely and almost continuous song, the Brewer Blackbirds, Mockingbirds, Gold and Purple Finches, Phoebe, Towhees, Killdeer, Golden Crowned and White Crowned Sparrows. In the winter the Robins come down in flocks from the mountains. They are not the familiar dooryard bird of the east, but in the west they nest in the mountains and, seem timid when down in the valleys.

Deforestation has also had its effect upon bird life. Kinglets, Woodpeckers, and Thrushes have disappeared from some localities, with the forests, and have chosen other locations, while birds which like the clearings and mixed growths have taken their places.

Various changes have come about in other directions by the draining of swamp lands, but the effect of territory so treated has been small compared to the territory effected by irrigation.

Birds must find their natural habitat. I have been impressed by the lovely birds music one constantly hears in these valleys of California. Here, as elsewhere, the need is for bird protection, for the ruthless hunter stalks about in his unthinking desire to kill. Fortunately laws already made are finding now better enforcement through an awakening interest and better knowledge of bird life.

DISCUSSED AT COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION BANQUET

Good Speaking And Good Food Characterize Business Men's Gathering

Last Wednesday evening, January 10th, the Charlevoix Commercial Association held a banquet and business meeting at the Masonic temple. A fine supper was served by the Eastern Star ladies, after which the order of business was taken up. Minutes of the last meeting were read and four new committeemen appointed. These were S. M. Rose and M. A. Levinson to the Civic committee and A. J. Usher and Ira Adams to the advertising committee.

The working committees of the association, as they now stand are as follows:

Executive Committee: Chairman, Dr. W. W. Mitchell, J. L. Crane, F. E. Cartier, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, R. F. Sloan, Robert Bridge.

Industries Committee: Chairman, Archie Livingston, H. A. Craig, A. F. Bridge.

Civic Committee: Chairman, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, S. M. Rose, M. A. Levinson.

Advertising Committee: Chairman, Fred E. Cartier, A. J. Usher, Ira Adams.

Members of the Industries committee and chairmen of the Advertising and Civic committees were appointed at four special sessions of the Executive committee, the appointments to fill the vacancies on the last two committees being left until the meeting of last Wednesday.

Spirited discussions of the various matters which are (or should be) close to the heart of every Charlevoix followed, some being matters that have come up at previous meetings. A. C. Belding introduced a new feature in the shape of a proposition to offer to the state, during the summer months, the use of our high school building for a summer normal. This action, Mr. Belding argued, would in a way obligate the state to more particularly consider Charlevoix when selecting a site for a new normal college, which, the speaker said, was badly needed in the northern tier of counties and would undoubtedly, in the not-distant future, be built at some point within this county, as the most logical and favorable spot, and, as he said, why not in Charlevoix.

Among other interesting speakers were Dr. Armstrong, L. P. Adams, Mayor Burgeon and R. F. Sloan, C. W. McPhail, of Ludington, formerly of the banking firm of McPhail & Richardson of Ellsworth and Central Lake, and now largely interested in a number of banking institutions throughout the state, was the guest of the evening and made a short address. Much amusement was caused by the evident determination of the president, Dr. Mitchell, to turn the meeting over to the Scotch. The doctor mentioned his Scottish antecedents to emphasize and explain a point of economy he was making, and then upon Messrs. Armstrong, Sloan and McPhail in turn arose and admitted their own intimate connection with the land of seones and thistles. The chairman then was bracketed, however, by the major who very decidedly stated that he was not Scotch.

I. P. Adams made a spirited plea for action in the matter of forming a organization among the business men of the town to develop the unused limestone lands lying at our doors, looking to the erection of a cement plant, to which he pledged his financial as well as moral support. W. T. Patonice informed the members of the association that his effort to secure the Ferry road house had been successful, and that the building would probably be used for some purpose before very long but that nothing had been definitely decided as yet.

Various other interesting matters were discussed, among them a plan to stimulate the building of small, medium priced bungalows along the shores of Pine lake, on property to be acquired for that purpose, to serve as an attraction for the resort, of moderate means who are not now coming to this locality in any considerable numbers.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet, Friday, January 19th, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Nassau Burns, 204 Mason Street. All ladies of the church are urged to be present at this meeting.

The Historical Society will meet January 19th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bridge. The program for the evening is as follows:

Music—Ney Smith.
"Present Day Revolution."—Ira Adams.
Reading—Miss Jessie Metz.

BASKET BALL HONORS GO TO US

CHARLEVOIX BEATS PETOSKEY BY 15 TO 14

Big Crowd Present to Witness Spectacular Game of the Season—Many Go From Here

Charlevoix High-school basket ball team proved itself a strong contender for the district championship by winning from Petoskey last Friday night in an exciting battle—score 15 to 14. The victors completely outplayed the Petoskey team in every department of the game in the first half. Dagwell, Charlevoix center, was the main cog of the offense. The quintet from Charlevoix had little difficulty in penetrating Petoskey's five man defense and Dagwell found himself all alone beneath the basket time and again. Our boys used the Wisconsin closed formation style of play, working the ball down the floor with great speed, and also had a powerful defense under their own basket.

Petoskey players exhibited a noticeable weakness in basket shooting, getting plenty of short shots, but missing most of them. They caged two or three long shots, however. Petoskey players appeared over-confident in the opening half and failed to show their accustomed speed, especially on defense. At the end of the opening half, the count was Charlevoix 9, Petoskey 5. In the second period, Petoskey scored 9 points to 6 for Charlevoix.

Petoskey scored first, with three foul baskets and Hoffman then caged a long basket for the only Petoskey points counted in the opening half. Four field goals and one foul shot put Charlevoix to a Petoskey play with snap and determination in the second half but could not overcome the handicap of the disastrous first quarter.

In the preliminary game, the Petoskey second team won 30 to 0 from the Charlevoix sophomore team. Speltz, of Boyne City, was the referee. The crowd was the largest of the season, a big delegation of Charlevoix fans going over to cheer the home team to victory.

MARION TOWNSHIP LOST A PIONEER

Mrs. Mary Edson Passes At Extreme Age of Ninety

Mrs. Mary E. Edson, a resident of Marion township for the past forty years, died last Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Ingalls, death coming as a natural cessation of the faculties at the extreme age of 91 years, after a long illness. Mary E. Herkimer was born in Syracuse, N. Y., December 17, 1831 and was married to William P. Edson in that city in 1850. They lived for a time in Oberlin, Ohio, coming to Charlevoix in 1877, where they resided until 1883, when they moved onto a farm in Marion township. At the time of her husband's death, in November, 1889, she came to live with her daughter, Mrs. Ingalls, with whom she has made her home the past twenty years.

Besides her daughter, she leaves an adopted son, William Henry Edson, of Ashland, Ohio. Mrs. Edson was an Episcopalian and a faithful member of the parish in Oberlin, Ohio. The funeral was held from the house last Monday, Rev. C. A. Rice conducting the services, after which the remains were laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

LODGES MEET IN JOINT SESSION

Petoskey-Charlevoix Three Linkers Exchange Visits

Last Wednesday evening, a party of about twenty Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from the Petoskey Lodges met in this city with Charlevoix members for a joint installation. A good program and an oyster supper were greatly enjoyed. Andrew Ross and Grace Genelt were the installing officers. Friday night, about thirty of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Charlevoix attended the Petoskey installation in turn.

The get-together spirit was much in evidence and relations of the best of good fellowship and brotherly feeling were fostered by these two enjoyable meetings.

WAR HERO CITED FOR GALLANTRY

Lieut. Dean C. Scroggie Receives Posthumous Honor

A recent Grand Rapids paper carries the following:

A citation for gallantry in action was announced by the war department Friday for Lieut. Dean C. Scroggie of Charlevoix, a dispatch commander near Exermont, France, October 8, 1918, by reorganizing two platoons that had been twice attacked and led them across a plain swept by artillery fire in an assault upon an area infested with hostile machine guns. The citation says in this assault he was wounded fatally.

Lieut. Scroggie was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Scroggie of this city and a graduate of the Charlevoix high school. He had many friends here, to whom the news of his death came as a sad shock and a keen regret, tempered in some degree by the heroic sacrifice he made for the cause of liberty.

SPORTSMEN ASK LAW CHANGES

URGENT PASSAGE OF ROD CENSE AND OTHER LAWS

Huge Losses Suffered by State Under Old Bounty System Is Disclosed.

A variety of changes will be proposed in Michigan game laws by the Congress of Michigan Game associations, it was decided at the annual convention held in Flint last week. The proposals favored by the commission are:

Extension of one month in the rabbit season in the lower peninsula to February 1; passage of a rod license, requiring all fishermen to take out a license; legislation to require lumbermen to burn brush left from lumbering activities; class quail as a song-bird; let the present fish laws stand, excepting to close the season on black bass January 1.

Permit taking home the unused portion of camp deer, which according to present statute, is left in the woods to spoil; prohibit use of spear on inland lakes; prevent disturbing of live trees for the purpose of taking raccoon; protect bear the same as deer; against planting any more rainbow in inland waters.

Marquette was named as the next meeting place of the congress. It was decided the convention should be held there Nov. 8, 1923, allowing lower peninsula sportsmen to combine the convention trip with their annual hunting trip.

E. C. Voght, of Escanaba, was elected president; M. F. Blair, of Owosso, vice-president, and F. B. Huston, of Escanaba, secretary and treasurer. Members of the executive board are: R. J. Frisk, St. Johns; W. A. Pomeroy, Flint; L. Swift, Houghton; C. D. White, Lakeview; and Clarence Randall, Ishpeming.

After hearing of alleged frauds amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars, in conduct of state bounty laws of former years, delegates tabled a motion, condemning present methods of predatory animal control.

The investigator informed the sportsmen that since Michigan first paid bounty on wolves and predatory birds, dating from 1870, the taxpayers had been forced to meet bounty claims, totaling very close to $1,250,000. The speaker discussed how the alleged frauds had grown from little petty checks to the thousands.

From 1870 to 1897, Michigan paid out but $5,312 in bounties. That was for wolves only. The legislature of 1897 added lynx, wildcat, fox, hawks, owls and weasels to the bounty list, and, in 1919, the legislature added woodchucks and crows to the list of predatory things.

From 1898 until 1922, the taxpayers had to meet a bounty tax totaling approximately $1,250,000.

From 1898 to 1921, when the old system was overthrown, Michigan had paid $20,814 for wildcat bounties, $14,309 for lynx $6,141; for fox, $90,981; for hawks and owl bounties, $132,722; weasels, $91,683; for crows, and $424,321 for woodchuck bounties. The crow and woodchuck bounties were in force but about two years and had reached at total that made the sportsmen gasp.

MARRIAGE A SURPRISE TO FRIENDS

Verl Crandall and Miss Peterson Wed In La Crosse

Verl Crandall, of this city, has surprised his friends here by entering into a state of matrimony with Miss Tilmia Peterson, of La Crosse, Wisconsin.

Full details of the happy event have not yet reached us, but we have learned that the young couple were married at the bride's home in La Crosse and are now spending a short honeymoon in Milwaukee.

Mr. Crandall, who has been employed for several years at the fish hatchery in this city, has applied for a transfer to the new hatchery which the government is building in La Crosse and as a man has already been appointed to take his place here, will no doubt shortly be established in the Wisconsin city where he and his bride will make their home.

The Courier joins their many friends in best wishes for happiness and prosperity in their future life.

W. C. T. U. MEETS AT ARNOLD HOME

MEMORIAL CONDUCTED FOR LATE MRS. MCPHERSON

Officers Were Elected and Committees Appointed at This Regular Meeting

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting, Friday, January 12th at the home of Mrs. Charles Arnold, on Dixon Avenue. The afternoon was well taken up with the business of the society. The beautiful memorial service of the organization was conducted by Mrs. Lois Campbell in memory of Mrs. McPherson.

The following officers, superintendents and leaders are to serve for the ensuing year:

President: Mrs. Silas Alcox; First vice president: Mrs. Lois Campbell; Second vice president: Mrs. George Kelderhouse; Third vice president: Mrs. William Kibbe; Fourth vice president: Mrs. Louis Bourissau; Fifth vice president: Mrs. Henry Jacobs; Secretary: Mrs. Frank Metcalf; Treasurer: Mrs. Brayton Saltontall; Cor. Secretary: Mrs. Lelah Simmons.

Evangelistic Department: Mrs. H. Harsh, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Quant. Flower Mission: Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. B. L. Harrington and Mrs. William Kibbe.

Prisons, Jails and Juvenile Court: Mrs. Charles Novak and Mrs. George Kelderhouse.

Christian Citizenship and Legislation: Mrs. Lelah Simmons and Mrs. Belding.

Press and Publicity: Mrs. E. E. Cross.

S. T. L. and Law Enforcement: Mrs. Brayton Saltontall.

Bible in the Public Schools: Mrs. R. B. Armstrong.

Program Committee: Mrs. McMillan, chairman, Mrs. Harsha, Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Alcox.

Leader of Circle No. 1: Mrs. Louis Bourissau; No. 2: Mrs. A. J. Usher; No. 3: Mrs. M. B. Hooper; No. 4: Mrs. E. W. Coulter.

After the business session, a program consisting of the following numbers was given:

Mrs. S. A. Correll sang a song entitled "Victory." Mrs. F. C. Partidge also favored the assembly with a musical number and Mrs. E. L. Willey told of the work of the W. C. T. U. in her home town in Wisconsin.

On account of the lateness of the hour, the report of the national and world's W. C. T. U. convention, held at Philadelphia, which was to have been given at this time, will be made at the February meeting. The spring primaries will also be an important feature of this meeting.

The meeting, Friday served as a house warming for Mrs. Arnold, it being the first to be held in her new home. About thirty-five members were present and a social time and not lack supper were enjoyed.

"SHANTYTOWN" NEARLY WENT UNDER

Sunday's Warm Winds Played havoc With It

Round Lake must have been spiritually in tune with the biblical character who built his house upon the shifting sands when Sunday's strong northeast wind and the current it aroused threatened to swallow up their little shanties and the equipment they contained.

Sufficient warning was afforded, however, so that no damage was done before the fish-shanties could be removed to the shore, although Monday morning the lake was fairly two thirds cleared of ice and the surface still remaining was a treacherous, water-soaked sheet that threatened at any moment to break up under the steady pressure of wind and water.

The ice in Round Lake, never safe, has been weakened this winter by a stream of water kept running in one of the larger boat houses along the lake shore, designed to prevent the ice from forming around the boat that is housed there. Fishermen, skaters and others should be more than usually careful about trusting themselves or their property upon it.

School Board

At the last meeting of the Charlevoix School Board, A. F. Bridge resigned from the board and Lee Smith was elected to fill the vacancy until the school meeting in July.

PETOSKEY OFFICIALS

Securities Commission Cancels Their Stock In Transportation Co.
On This Account

Officers and directors of the Petoskey Transportation Co., a concern associated with the Petoskey Portland Cement Co. and formed to provide a fleet of lake vessels for conveying the product of the latter's mill, are in trouble with the Michigan Securities commission just at present.

John L. A. Galster, secretary and treasurer of the offending concern, John B. Johns, its president and general manager, and A. R. Moore, A. B. Kline and George W. Ulrich, directors, are charged by the state authorities with selling a considerable portion of the common stock of the company at a commission in excess of the 15 per cent allowed and also with converting a considerable portion of the excess commissions—some $6,400.00—to themselves.

Twenty thousand one hundred shares, held in escrow by the securities commission in the names of the implicated officers of the company and consisting of four certificates of 5,000 shares, each and one certificate for 100 shares, have been cancelled by order of the commission and replaced in the treasury of the transportation company for the benefit of its stockholders. This action followed an examination of the company's books by auditors of the state.

The shares so cancelled were issued to the five men named as promotion stock and for this stock they paid but 25¢ a share. It was placed in escrow with the state treasury at the time the sale of the treasury stock was authorized.

Proceedings have also been commenced against the F. A. Savall Company, a Grand Rapids brokerage house, through which the sale of the transportation company's stock was effected. The officers of the brokerage firm are cited to appear on Thursday, January 18th, before the commission, to show cause why their license as registered dealers, in stocks, bonds and other securities in Michigan, should not be revoked. This action is based on an exhaustive examination of the company's business in Grand Rapids for a number of years back made by the commission's auditors simultaneously with their probing of the transportation company's transactions.

FIRE SIGNALS SHOULD BE LEARNED

May Be Means of Saving Life and Property

There seems to be quite a bit of misunderstanding among Charlevoix residents regarding the interpretation of the signals blown on the new siren whistle at the time of a fire. For this reason, we are giving here a schedule of the signals and trust that it may be carefully read and remembered by everyone.

The first up and down run of the whistle (as it is blown at noon) is the general fire alarm, calling attention to the fact that there is a fire somewhere, and preparing us for the special ward signals to follow.

After the general alarm, every complete up and down screech of the siren is one count. Check off the high notes only, as this is easier in counting the ward numbers than to consider the upper and lower register of the blast as one count. For instance:

Once up after general signal—1st ward.

Twice up—2nd ward.

Three times up—3rd ward.

Four times up—4th ward.

Five times up—5th ward.

Six times up—6th ward.

The following will make clear the territory covered by each ward:

1st ward—All north of channel.

2nd ward—Bridge St., channel to hill, west to State street.

3rd ward—All west of State St., south to top of terrace.

4th ward—All south of terrace and east to State St.

5th ward—State St., east to Alice.

6th ward—All east of Alice St., south to city limits.

Cut this article out and paste it up somewhere where it can be referred to at a moment's notice. It may be the means some day of saving life and property.

them was an instance from life, Mr. Turner certainly succeeded in driving his message to the desired point and it is one that the students should think about, not only once, but many times.

Charlevoix High School debated with Bellaire High School at Charlevoix Friday evening. Because the judges who were to be here failed to arrive on time, a traveling salesman from the Charlevoix Hotel judged the debate. The question was well handled on both sides, each team showing splendid training and marked ability. Charlevoix lost the debate, but we are not discouraged about that. "A better day is coming by and by."

In one of the latest played games of the season Charlevoix High School (trimmed Petoskey High School 15-14 Friday night at Petoskey's floor. From the very beginning to the finish the spectators were thrilled at the dash shown by the lighter Charlevoix players. In the last three minutes of the contest Petoskey threw a line field basket put them one point in the lead 14-13, but immediately with lightning speed Dagwell, Charlevoix's stellar center caged a pretty goal which gave Charlevoix the game. This is the first time Charlevoix has beaten Petoskey on Petoskey's floor. Harbor Springs played Charlevoix Saturday night at Charlevoix and were beaten 17-12. Although our team was the victor they did not show the usual pep on account of the game the night before. Next Thursday Charlevoix plays Traverse City here. Everybody come as this will be one of the best home games of the season.

Monday afternoon Albert Wildfield read to the students the constitution of the student council, drawn up by members of the faculty and students, after which class meetings were held for the purpose of adopting the constitution and electing representatives to the council. Representative classes were eighth grade, Vincent Madison and Keith Wagener.

Freshmen, Hennie Baldwin and Gilbert Sallomstaal, Sophomores, Thelma Rannay and Charles Dagwell, Seniors—Kay Gaskin and Richard Sallomstaal. The Junior representative will be elected later. Faculty representatives are Mrs. Rose, Miss Catton and Mr. Blakeslee.

The two Latin classes—and the Eighth Grade English class, have contributed money to buy two extra pages in the High School Annual for work done in their classes.

Remember the Senior Supper, Feb. 7th, in the Methodist church. Miss Catton went to Albu Friday to act as judge for the Albu-Boyne City debate.

Miss Catton (dwelling on book cataloging) "To what group does Cooper's 'Sp' belong? Aired."

And as to "Merchant of Venice," the great Junior spectacle, it is progressing in fine shape. A new assistant is to be added to the directing staff, R. Blakeslee. The date for the first showing of this "play of a million laughs" is set for sometime the latter part of February. Watch for it.

WIDEN OUT YOUR SLEIGH RUNNERS

And Keep the Roads Open For Winter Driving

A movement has been started, possibly originating with the rural carriers of the city and receiving support from automobile owners generally, to induce the farmers of the region and others owning sleighs narrower than the standard automotive trend of 56 inches, to change them to conform to this width.

The importance of this change cannot be overestimated, when you consider not only the benefit to the city autoist, the deliverer of the merchant and the forced ruin of the factor in his errands of mercy; but to the farmer himself who is, in most cases, a car owner. The length of the driving season could be extended almost indefinitely, this way; for many of the main roads opened up, and communication between town and country maintained at almost any time pitch throughout the long winter.

A car that quickly becomes stalled in a few inches of high snow can make the heaviest drifts or grades if the wheels fit the track, even though the road be neither ploughed nor rolled. The chances in the sleighs, necessitated would be of slight expense. Rollers and beams would have to be lengthened and wagon neck yokes used.

Something of this kind was successfully attempted two years ago in Traverse City, when the Grand Traverse Auto Company offered to alter the sleighs of the first ten farmers driving into town for that purpose, free of charge. The response was gratifying in the extreme. We do not believe that Charlevoix farmers would be behind their Traverse City brethren in answering the appeal. Let's try it.

George Kelderhouse left a week ago Tuesday morning for South Manitou Island, after spending a ten day leave of absence from the life-saving station there, with his family in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix hospital received some nice gifts of fruit and other supplies on New Year's day, for which the staff and management desires to thank the donors most sincerely.

Clayton Eschelman, formerly of the Courier staff, left last week for his home in Central Lake. He expects to go shortly to the southern part of the state, where he has accepted a position.

Salesmen in town this week—Jim Belan, of National Biscuit Co.; George H. Webster, of Burnham & Stoeppel, and John Ames, of Armour & Co., all from Traverse, and Peterson, of Petoskey, the groceryman.

William Wallace drove through Monday, to Flint, Detroit and other southern Michigan points, his chief objective being the Independent Oil Dealers' Ass'n. convention at Jackson. He telephoned back from Big Rapids that he was out of the snow and that everything was O. K.

Mrs. James Nowland, Clare Nowland and Raymond Nowland started out Saturday morning to walk to Petoskey. Their intentions were good, but when they got to Burgess they found the flesh weak though the spirit was willing and, after eating their dinner there they returned to Charlevoix.

William H. Lawry, D. C., of Chicago, has taken over temporarily the chiropractic practice of Dr. John H. Albert, who expects to be absent from the city for some two or three months. Dr. Lawry, who comes excellently recommended, will occupy the offices in the post office building, now devoted to that purpose.

Ernest Hutzler, keeper of the North Manitou light house, and wife, have come to Charlevoix to live for the winter months, at 204 Huribut Avenue. Mrs. Hutzler is a daughter of Mrs. Phoebe B. Schaffer and a sister of Mrs. Albert Harwood, of Atwood, Mich.

SAVES THE FERRY SEED HOUSE

W. E. Parmelee Secures Temporary Option

Plans for the demolition of their seed warehouse here, put into effect by D. M. Perry & Co., last week, were interrupted by the action of W. E. Parmelee, of this city, who has secured a seven day option on the property and is now endeavoring to obtain financial assistance among the local business men with a view of saving the building to Charlevoix for use as a future factory site.

This was a very public-spirited act on the part of Mr. Parmelee, as, if his efforts prove unsuccessful, he stands the loss alone. The building is in excellent condition, with an unusually strong foundation, sound roof and siding facilities on the P. M. tracks unsurpassed by any other location within the city limits. It would be nothing short of crime to allow this splendid factory building to be destroyed and we sincerely trust that Mr. Parmelee will be able to secure the desired aid in the matter. Now is our chance to show some of that co-operative spirit of which we love to expatiate at our various public gatherings.

PEARSON DRAWS IMPORTANT POST

Northern Senator on Conservation and Road Committee

Senator William J. Pearson, of Boyne Falls, who represents the seven north counties, including Charlevoix, in lower Michigan at Lansing, was allotted generous committee assignments by Lieutenant Governor Read at the opening of the Michigan legislature last week.

Senator Pearson drew places on both the important conservation committee and the highway committee, as well as being named on the military affairs and institutions for blind and deaf. He was also appointed chairman of the committee on supplies and expenditures.

With the storm brewing on conservation matters, and good roads one of the big questions before the legislature, the assignment on these two committees made the Boyne Falls statesman are pleasing to those who have followed his previous record in legislative matters.

Typical of Mr. Hines "Come on in, the water's fine." Such is the caption of a card received from F. C. Hines, who with his wife is spending the winter in California. Well, have a good time, Frank. Maybe some day, when our ship comes in, we will be able to spend the winter in the sunny south or west. But remember, old man, go slow on expenditures. We want you back in Charlevoix this summer.

CHARLEVOIX POULTRY WINS AWARDS

Hiller and Guild Entries Take Blue Ribbons

Charlevoix entrants got first prizes at the poultry show at Grand Rapids last week and it may be found, when the reports are all in that they won other honors, in a class of 1850 birds.

E. J. Hiller's exhibition Barred Rock cockerel carried off the blue ribbon. He had two other cockerels and a cock bird entered, but has not heard from them as yet.

Arthur Guild got first award in the Utility class on his White Wyandotte hen. He also had other entries which may be found to have won awards when the returns are in.

Last week's show was the biggest ever held in Michigan and one of the biggest in the United States, so Messrs. Hiller and Guild have a right to crow over their winning birds.

NEW POSTMASTER IS G. W. WEAVER

Former Sheriff Appointed For Charlevoix Office

George W. Weaver received a telegram last week from Washington, stating that his appointment as postmaster at Charlevoix was confirmed by the Senate on January 1th. He will not take office, however, until the receipt of his formal commission from President Harding, which he expects to get some time this week.

The term is four years. Mr. Weaver succeeds his son-in-law, T. G. Finucan, who has efficiently performed the duties of this office for the past term.

SUGAR PLANT POSSIBLE HERE

The result was that I could only get about 300 acres of beets that season. Most of them took potatoes instead of beets. Potatoes sold from 90 cents to $1.00 that fall, but the big prices of the previous year could not be forgotten and they took a chance and held them until spring, when thousands of bushels went in the dump. The poor man that took beets that year paid his taxes and interest. The poor man that held his potatoes was that much poorer.

The next year, the acreage, through the efforts of the same strikers, was again cut down and it is very doubtful if the sugar company will, again, go to the expense of working that territory.

Now, if you please, what was the effect of all this on the farmers, bankers and business men in Missaukee county? The greatest part of that 700 acres of beets was what is called labor beets; that is, labor was furnished by the sugar company to do the hand work and it furnished the finances until the close of the season.

There were about seventy laborers from Texas—some called them Mexicans. They were not. They talked Spanish, but they were American citizens. There were also employed twenty-four Slavish laborers and others from different cities. They had to eat and wear clothes. The sugar company guaranteed all their bills. One Slavish family paid a bill at a certain store of over $300 for food alone.

Does it not appear to you that something like this is worth a little boasting? Do you know, merchants and business men, that about this same thing is happening in Charlevoix county? No? Well let's see.

The first year I grew beets for the Holland-St. Louis Sugar company, there was a pile of beets forty rods long and a stone's throw wide at their weigh-station in Charlevoix. I do not know their acreage. I should say 300 to 500 acres. There was a good deal of labor used here then, also. This year there were less than seventy-five acres and no labor employed. Does it look as if Charlevoix were in a good way to land a sugar mill? Does it look as if this situation would attract a sugar factory?

Charlevoix lost one sugar factory because her merchants and business men went to sleep on the job and the farmers did not know what they were losing until after it had gone. If we want a sugar factory—I say, really want one; let's do something towards getting one. Charlevoix has the dirt and grows the finest quality of sugar beets in the state and should grow 1,000 acres of beets. Do this for a few years and then sugar men will sit up and take notice. Enlist your county agricultural agent and set him to work and, if he won't work, get one that will.

When the mischief-makers, give him a ticket back to whence he came. Talk beets and boost for them. Come to me with your contracts and I'll sign up, for until we can show something worth while, there is no use talking sugar factory, and we are surely not moving in that direction now. But, whether we and a sugar factory or not, don't let us lose sight of the great importance to Charlevoix of the sugar beet crop.

Sugar beets and the dairy business go hand in hand. If we can get a cheese factory, we still want sugar beets. Beet growers can get dried pulp direct from the sugar factory today at $38.50 per ton. One hundred pounds of dried pulp is equivalent to 2,000 pounds of wet pulp, or at about $1.90 per ton for green pulp.

Then, take into consideration the difference in handling and feeding frozen pulp. It is much better to get the dry. Dried pulp will not deteriorate with age and can be kept for almost any length of time.

I believe a county agricultural agent should be big enough and broad enough to consider all of the farmer's needs and not just a certain class. If the farm land around Charlevoix is especially fitted for growing sugar beets, it should receive as much attention and interest as the potato crop. Should the fact that our county agricultural agent is hooked up with the Farm Bureau and with the beet-growing strikers of southern Michigan rob Charlevoix and us farmers of one of our best and most important crops?

Mr. Editor and fellow citizens—I know full well just what a letter of this kind will mean. It means that I will, at once, be classed as a knocker by the Farm Bureau element, the strikers and the county agricultural agents. But, I don't see why I should be called a knocker any more than those who are trying to kill one of our greatest agricultural crops, and drive the sugar industry from our state. You are the judge. I thank you.

William F. Johnson.

WEIGHTY POINTS ON ALFALFA HAY

Some Important Factors Cited
That Help to Determine Market
Prices of Product.

SIZE AND WEIGHT OF BALES

Inspection Service Varies Considerably at Different Centers—Few Bales of Off-Grade Hay Will Meet Grade of Car.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

While supply and demand are the principal factors which determine the market price of a product, there are a number of other factors which may be of considerable importance to the individual producer or shipper of hay. Size and weight of bale, character of inspection existing at prospective market, grading and the manner of interpreting the grades are among the more important of these factors, say marketing specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture.

Size and Weight of Bale

The preference for bales of a certain size and weight is so marked in some of the important markets that premiums ranging from 50 cents to $2 per ton are paid for bales of the size and weight desired. Bales may be roughly classed as small, medium and large in size. The small and medium sizes are sometimes designated as one-quarter and one-third bales. The small bales are made in a perpetual press and are 14 or 16 by 18 inches, variable in length but usually about 36 inches long. Medium bales are also made in a perpetual press and are 17 or 18 by 22 inches and about 36 inches long. Large bales are usually made in box presses and are about 19 by 23 by 46 inches.

The weight varies considerably, even though the bales are of the same size, as hay is pressed under varying conditions and by bidders having a wide range in tension. According to the department's marketing specialists hay should be pressed sufficiently tight that the wires will hold well, and so that the required weights can be loaded into cars. Difficulty is experienced in some sections in loading cars to the minimum weight, because the hay is pressed too loosely.

The character of the inspection service varies considerably to different markets. Besides the various methods now generally designated as warehouse, car-door, plug and bale inspection, there is a difference in applying the grades. Some inspectors give the entire carload the grade of the poorest quality of hay found in it. Other inspectors endeavor to apply an average grade.

Some of these practices are hardly fair to the shipper, but so long as they exist the shipper must meet the situation in the best manner possible. Uniform loading is probably one of the most important methods of obtaining satisfactory grades.

Mixed Cars Unsatisfactory.
In some sections the alfalfa meadows are allowed to stand until they contain a large quantity of weeds and grass. In other sections other grasses are sown with the alfalfa for hay. When loading any mixture the greatest care should be exercised to have the hay loaded into any one car all of the same degree of mixture. This suggestion applies also to hay of different quality because of bleaching or damage.

Many shippers make the mistake of thinking that a few bales of off-grade hay will not hurt the grade of a car but will be accepted along with the good hay or at only a small discount. Unless the market is very strong the hay usually will be accepted only at a heavy discount, and frequently the whole car will be rejected. If the car is accepted it will be taken only at the price value of the poorest hay found in the car.

For best results in marketing alfalfa bureau of markets officials caution shippers:
To ship bales of size and weight desired by buyer.
To ship grade desired and not to include hay of other grades or mixtures.
To insist upon official inspection certificates which show the actual grade of the hay in the car if cars are officially inspected by regular inspectors located at important markets.

Protecting the Pig Crop.
Give pigs special care after they have received double treatment against cholera. Through lowered resistance in this time they may get sick.

LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE

In every family there are certain formulas for foods which are cherished and handed down from mother to daughter. We don't grow some food combinations but there are others which grow old and are early year "put up" for the winter. Here are a few worth noting:

Sliced Green Tomato Pickles.—Slice a peck of well developed green tomatoes, also slice one-half dozen good-sized onions. Put a layer of the sliced tomatoes in a large kettle or jar, sprinkle with salt and add a layer of onions, repeat until all are used; a cupful of salt will be sufficient for this amount. Let them stand overnight. In the morning drain, add one quart of vinegar, one cupful of brown sugar, two sticks of cinnamon and a tablespoonful of cloves tied in a bag and cooked with the vegetables; when tender but not mushy, put into a small stone jar, pour over the vinegar and when the pickles are cold add one-half cupful of grated horseradish and a tablespoonful of mustard seed. If the roots are too small to grate put them in whole. Cover with a weight and keep the jar well covered. These pickles are best for serving with meats if not too sweet.

Tomato Catsup.—Take three dozen ripe tomatoes, three red peppers (but one), six onions, all chopped fine. Add two teaspoonfuls each of cinnamon, mustard, and one of cloves, all ground. To three cupfuls of vinegar add one cupful of brown sugar and three tablespoonfuls of salt. Cook all together for two hours, very slowly, then put through a sieve, reheat, bottle and seal.

Spiced Peaches.—Take three pounds of sugar, three cupfuls of good vinegar, one ounce of cloves, two sticks of cinnamon, hold all together, then add seven pounds of ripe firm peaches. Let them heat through slowly, then when tender remove to the jar and hold the strap until quite thick. Pour boiling hot over the fruit. Cover tightly and tie a cloth over the jar. It is not necessary to seal them.

Keeping a Secret and Keeping a Secret Going

A wag one remarked that a man can keep a secret and a woman can keep a secret going.

A business man can not keep secret the merits and virtues of his service or merchandise and keep going—unless it be that he keeps going "broke."

Suppose Mr. Business Man happens to be a baker. He makes bread. It is good bread. It might not be good business for Mr. Business Man to take a quarter page in The Courier and, for example, say in his advertisement: "Geezer's Bread is Never Crummy."

No, not that!

Suppose Mr. Business Man were a clothier. It would be bad advertising for him to use a half page to say that "clothes don't make the man." It would be better for him to quote the line: "The apparel oft proclaims the man."

On the Bowery a man's clothes are known as his "front." On fifth avenue they might refer to a man's clothes as his garb.

A wise-cracking advertiser on the Bowery might get added value out of advertising his "frontage," but a Fifth avenue merchant could hardly and with propriety advertise his "garbage."

The most important thing in advertising is steady, constant hammering if only in a few inches.

The Courier has many successful advertisers who use small advertising space. Look through the paper today and see who they are.

The Courier's great, big family circulation is what makes Courier advertising pay.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' View

Prospects are bright that some much-needed legislation of a real constructive character will be enacted by the present session of the legislature. The law-makers have shown a spirit of getting down to business this year. Carefully prepared bills covering a wide variety of subjects have made their appearance in surprising numbers. Sixty-eight bills were dropped into the hopper during the first six days of the session.

Taxation reform continues to occupy the center of the stage, however. Governor Groesbeck focused the attention of the law-makers on this issue in his inaugural message and the submission to both Houses of the official report of the "George Lord Committee," the special legislative committee that has studied Michigan's taxation problems, for the last two years, coupled with the receipt by the legislature of the official budget for the next two years, has kept the taxation question foremost in interest.

All forces admit that some fundamental changes in Michigan's taxation system will, without doubt, be enacted, but there is no such uniformity of opinion in regard to the exact character of these changes. No one disputes that real property has borne an altogether disproportionate share of the burden and that in a state as rich and prosperous industrially as is Michigan, enough money could easily be raised to meet the state's requirements without making the burden onerous for any individual or industry, if the right systems and rates of taxation were employed.

Michigan people pay $60,000,000 a year for cigars and tobacco, and another $60,000,000 for cigarettes.

If part of our Wolverine citizens pay $120,000,000 for the gratification of an acquired habit, could not all of her citizens somehow "serimp" along and raise one-eighth or one-sixth that amount and provide the $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 necessary to meet the state budget if the burden were properly divided? Rep. Charles Evans, of Tipton, a member of the Lord commission and chairman of the House Committee on General Taxation, is of this opinion and announces that several bills to carry out this object will be presented this session.

The first of these proposed tax reform bills, which have been prepared by the "legislative tax commission of inquiry," as the Lord committee is officially termed, has already been introduced by Rep. Aaron Miles of Big Rapids and provides for an annual three-mills tax on mortgages. It is estimated that passage of this bill would raise the annual revenue from mortgage taxes from about $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. Previous attempts to amend the laws pertaining to mortgage taxes have met bitter opposition from real estate interests in Michigan, and there is every indication that the legislative tax commission's recommendations will encounter some serious opposition from the same source.

Taxation of foreign securities (paper based on security located outside of Michigan) at an annual rate of five mills is provided by a companion bill sponsored by Rep. Peter Lennon of Genesee. Under our present laws, a very small proportion of our bonds, foreign or domestic, are ever discovered. In fact, last year, but $65,229.97 was derived from this source. The Lennon bill has "teeth" in it and gives the State Tax Commission full and detailed power to bring all bonds (which are not specifically tax exempt) from their hiding places and make them contribute to the economic needs of the State.

In both of these taxation bills it is provided that the revenue would be divided half and half between the county and state. A similar bill has been proposed to tax bank deposits two mills, to be collected through the banks. It is computed that this source alone would yield $1,000,000. Investigation has developed that the annual revenue derived from taxes on all the steam boats of the state is only $14,000, although these boats are valued at many millions of dollars. Consequently, a bill has been introduced by Rep. Minge of Cheboygan to repeal the specific tonnage tax passed in 1911. If no new law is enacted to take its place, repeal of the 1911 act will place the steamships on the ad valorem basis and greatly increase the revenue from this source.

Appropriation bills for practically all of the state institutions have already been introduced, establishing a record in this regard. In most cases the amounts asked are more than were approved by the State Administrative Board and the requests are scheduled for a severe pruning at the hands of the legislative institutional committees.

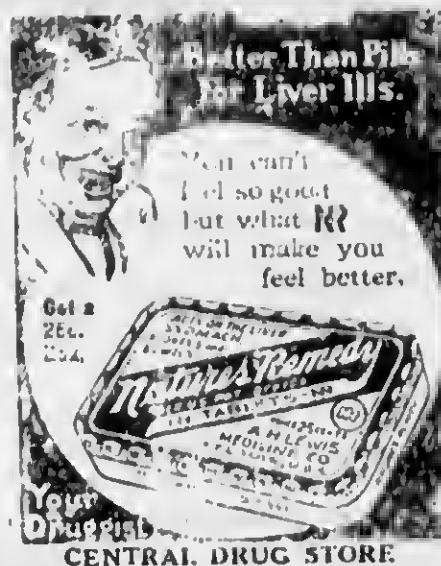

"Junkets" were the order of business over the week-end. An adjournment was taken from Thursday until Tuesday to allow the law-makers to investigate and pass on the financial needs of the State's educational, penal and corrective institutions, its homes for the unfortunate, its many fish hatcheries, and its other varied interests.

A Michigan edition of the "Truth in Fabric" measure again made its appearance in the lower branch of the legislature. Rep. Walter Heize of Iron Mountain introduced a bill which is entitled, "A bill to provide that cloth, clothing, garments, furs or wearing apparel composed in whole or in part of wool, cotton, silk, shoddy, rubber or leather, or being an imitation, shall be labelled as to kind and amount of material therein contained when said manufactured articles are offered for sale, trade, or barter." A similar bill aroused considerable interest last session, but was defeated.

Other bills by Rep. Heize would limit the salary of Aldermen in all cities of the fourth class to $300 per year and give Boards of Supervisors power to pass upon and suspend temporarily or permanently, mothers' pensions granted by the Judge of Probate in the county.

In an effort to speed-up the work of the legislature, Rep. Vincent Dacey of Detroit introduced a resolution requiring that all bills be introduced before March 16, except in case of emergency, and that the legislature should complete its labors by April 13 and adjourn "without day" May 7.

"Home Rule" for counties has again made its appearance. A proposal for an amendment to the state constitution to allow for home rule for counties having more than 150,000 population, (Wayne and Keal, was introduced by Senator Condon of Detroit.

Rep. Wm. O. Lee of Port Huron, Civil War Veteran of the House, introduced a bill to prohibit the shipment of unsanitary empty containers in which poultry, animals or ice cream had been shipped.

Every child is declared to be the legitimate child of its natural parents and as such is entitled to support and education, to the same extent as if it had been born in lawful wedlock by a bill presented by Senator Condon of Detroit, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and referred to his committee.

NORWOOD

Morris Henry and H. Pierce were Saturday visitors in Ellsworth.

Henry Wood, of Charlevoix, was a caller in our vicinity last Thursday.

Mrs. Cora Willis, our school teacher, was a week-end visitor at the H. Pierce home.

Word was received here of the The Bud Hull family have moved back to Charlevoix, after spending the past three months living in the G. V. Nash house.

death of Henry Black, an aged resident of Charlevoix and grandfather of Mrs. Joe Hollecheck, of this place, which occurred last Sunday.

The Stafford families were pleasantly surprised last week when Hermond Stafford, a son of Delta Stafford, of Sanburn, Iowa, arrived unexpectedly for a few weeks visit.

The community of Norwood was shocked to hear of the death on January 7th, of Rev. Frook's mother. She was her children's most efficient helper, cheerful and hopeful. She made friends wherever she went, and was an active church worker, always faithful, but it was in the home life that her virtues shone forth with peculiar lustre. Her children called her blessed. The Rev. Frook and family have the heart-felt sympathy of the community.

"No fairer flower ever grows;

Leslie Everts was a business caller in Charlevoix, Monday.

N. P. Griffin was a caller in Ellsworth Saturday morning between trains.

Geo. Klooster, of Ellsworth, called on his brother, F. R. Klooster, Friday last.

Dr. McMillan is attending little Esther O'Neill, who is quite ill with the "flu."

Mr. and Mrs. John Boss, Jr., and family spent Sunday at the home of F. R. Klooster.

Jack Klooster, of Ellsworth, visited over night Thursday of last week, at the home of F. R. Klooster.

Howard Griffin left Monday morning for Valance, Mich., (which is in the southern part of the state), where he has employment on a farm.

George Drost returned home Saturday morning, from Battle Creek, where he went about three weeks ago seeking employment, but was unsuccessful.

Dr. Armstrong was called to the F. Mascho home, Friday morning and again Sunday, to attend Mrs. Chas. Mascho, who has been quite ill, but at the present writing is improving.

Dr. Becker, of Ellsworth, was called to the C. Vandenberg home Sunday evening, to attend their children, Elsie and John, both being quite ill with la grippe and pneumonia.

Reita and Archie Balch returned home Wednesday of last week from Detroit, where they have been employed for the past two months.

Mrs. Ecklund left for her home in Chicago, Tuesday morning, after spending a month with her sons, Ernest and Fabrian—Ecklund—and families.

Miss Edna Mason, of Petoskey, was called to her home here, Friday, on account of the illness of her sister, Mrs. C. Mascho. She returned to Petoskey Monday.

Verso Gardner, of Bellaire, stopped off between trains in Phelps, Friday of last week. Mr. Gardner is a brother-in-law of Mr. Griffin, and was on his way to his home in Bellaire, after spending a week in Petoskey with his wife, who underwent an operation at the Petoskey Hospital, Tuesday of last week.

We don't know just what some folks mean by "service," but when you go to the station to catch the train, and get there just as the train is whistling for the station and you haven't a ticket nor any money to buy one with, and have a number of articles to check as baggage, and the ticket agent, expressman, baggage-man, (all in one), is doing his best to explain things to you, and the train pulls in and you really do not know what to do, the conductor says "can't something be done," (the all in one man) steps up and loans you the price of your ticket, and the conductor stops the train to pick up some more of that baggage which the baggage-master has refused to take because it isn't baggage. Why? We call that service, don't you? And we don't believe you can get any better in Chicago or Ellsworth. If so, you'll have to show us.

State of Michigan
The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix. In Chancery.

In the matter of the application of a majority of the directors of the Beaver Island Transportation Company.

At a session of said court for the County of Charlevoix held at the City of Charlevoix on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1923.

Present: Honorable Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge.

Upon the filing of the petition of Harry L. Oldham, Grace L. Oldham and Lisle Shanahan, a majority of the directors of the Beaver Island Transportation Company, with the accounts, inventories and affidavits thereto, and upon reading the same, it is hereby ordered that all persons interested in such corporation, whether creditors, stockholders or otherwise, show cause, if any they have, why such corporation should not be dissolved before the Honorable Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge for the County of Charlevoix at the City of Charlevoix in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1923.

It is further ordered that notice of this order be published in the dics 25c.—Adv. 3-11, for three weeks successively, this being the principal place of conducting the business of the said corporation.

Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge.
Lisle Shanahan, Attorney for Petitioner, business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

JODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

Winter never fails to bring this car renewed praise.

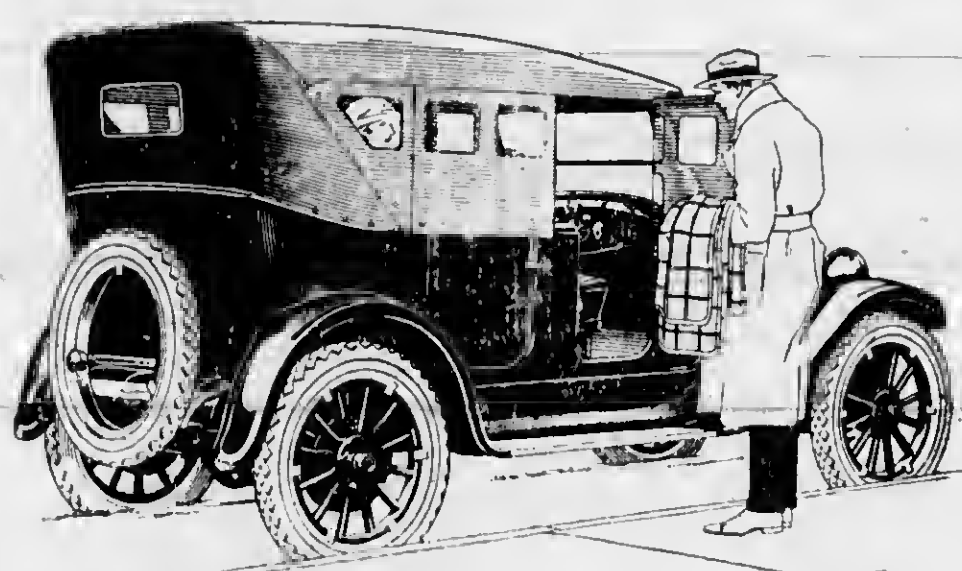

It is because the starting system and carburetor seem to be almost immune from cold weather troubles. The response is prompt, even on the coldest mornings.

The cord tires, with their safety tread, are also particularly desirable in winter. They not only act as a safeguard against skidding, but greatly reduce the possibility of having to change tires under disagreeable weather conditions.

Close fitting curtains, which open with the doors, enable the owner to drive in comfort the whole year round.

LEAVES TO ENTER DRUG BUSINESS

T. George Finucan And Family Go To Grand Rapids

T. George Finucan, postmaster in this city for the past eight years, leaves with his wife and little son, Tom, Jr., the latter part of this week or the first of next for Grand Rapids, where Mr. Finucan intends to enter the retail drug business for himself at the corner of Hall St. and Madison avenue.

Mr. Finucan has been a resident of Charlevoix for the past thirty years and both he and his wife have made many good friends who will be sorry to see him leave the city, while at the same time they rejoice in his success. His administration of the local post office has been exceptionally able and has caused him to be rated high in the estimation of our people.

Mr. Finucan will probably finish checking out of the local office this week, when he will turn his affairs over to his successor, George W. Weaver, and leave shortly thereafter for his new work in which the Courier wishes him all possible success.

AGED PIONEER HAS PASSED ON

Henry Black Died Sunday At His Home Here

Henry Black, aged resident of Charlevoix county for nearly half a century, passed away at his home 206 West Upright Avenue, in this city last Sunday.

Mr. Black was born in Dumbarton, Scotland, December 16, 1843—seventy-nine years ago. In early manhood he followed the trade of a carpenter, being apprenticed to a shipbuilder for five years and was engaged in this work up until the time he left for America. In 1864, he was married at Liverpool, England, to Miss Elizabeth McLay, of Dumbarton, where the couple made their home immediately following their marriage. In 1873, he and his family came to America and located in Philadelphia, Pa., removing to Dundas, Ontario, the following year, where he entered into business with his brother.

The family arrived in Michigan in the April of 1877 and settled on a farm in Marion township, where they lived until about eleven years ago, when they came to this city.

Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Black: Mrs. Bud Hull, Mrs. Glen Wallin (who died in 1895), Jeanette, Walter and Will—all of Charlevoix, and Henry, of Ellsworth. There are twenty-three grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren, who with his children and the sorrowing widow survive him.

Mr. Black was a member of the M. E. church and the Marion Center and Charlevoix granges. The funeral was held Tuesday at the church here. Rev. Quant, officiating. The remains were taken to Brookside for interment.

GUILDS HEARS FROM HIS PRIZE FOWL

Marion Man Wins Eight Awards On Six Entries

To have sent seven white wyandottes to the recent poultry show at Grand Rapids and have eight awards to six of them in a field of 1850 was the pleasurable experience of Arthur Guilds, Marion township, Charlevoix county, poultryman whose chief aim is to raise a beautiful fowl that will produce.

A hen, a pullet and a cockerel each took down a first prize; a hen and a pullet each captured a second, and in the standard class, for beauty and utility, a hen took fourth and a pullet fifth. Still another award, a third, went to a cockerel.

Mr. Guilds has been in the poultry business only three years. He obtained his original stock from his uncle, L. T. Guilds, of Rockwood, Ontario, who has been in the business 22 years and has an international reputation as a raiser of prize poultry. The nephew produces part of his fowl by incubator and part from settings, and aims at quality, rather than quantity, having raised only 1300 last year. His friends are congratulating him on having made a prize record better than any known to have been obtained by any other producer in this section of the state. One of his hens made a trap nest record of 211 and another of 201 eggs last year.

IRON "STRUCTURE OF CIVILIZATION"

Monthly Publication Discusses Natural Resources of America

How important iron is to mankind and what a prominent part it has played in the advance of civilization is discussed in the first issue of an elaborate series of monthly folders to be published by the Charlevoix County Bank.

The bank officials call this a "Natural Resource" series, since each month some of the natural resources, which have made America rich, is to be discussed. The first issue describes, in interesting fashion, the way the early Puritans encouraged the forging of iron and the consequences.

This, however, is but one of the many interesting stories regarding the development of the iron industry in the United States. The bank chose iron as the subject of the first of its "Natural Resource" series, because it is in reality "The Structure of Civilization."

At the present time, eighty-five per cent of the iron produced in the United States comes from the Lake Superior region. Much of it is transported down the Great Lakes and thence by rail to the great steel centers. For example, Gary, Indiana, located as it is on Lake Michigan, gets most of its ore direct by water.

The bank's monthly publications will be elaborately illustrated and in a popular way, will discuss the natural resources of the United States. The subjects will include: "Nature's Cook Stove and Candle," (natural gas); "The Bounty of the Sea," (fishing); "Growing Ropes and Spinning Yarns," (cotton); and fourteen others. The material is now nearing completion, and the first folder will be mailed this month.

HUNGER LENT WINGS TO HORSES FEE!

Noon Whistle Started Them On Reckless Run

Elmer Ingalls, the dairyman, left his team unhitched when he went into the postoffice Monday noon.

They were somewhat restless and anxious to get back to their warm stalls and the blast of the noon whistle furnished the excuse that the hungry and spirited nags had been wishing for.

Away they went, for the full length of Bridge street and up over the south hill, at a tearing pace, until about in front of Orlovski's store a bystander checked them. No damage was done and the whippers were brought back to their owner, finally to wind their way homeward in a more orderly fashion.

MASONIC BUILDING ASSOCIATION MET

Regular Election And Pot Luck Supper Were Features

Tuesday evening, a meeting of the Masonic Building Association was held in the hall, presided by a fine pot luck supper.

The association elects nine trustees to care for its finances, three of this number retiring each year to be replaced by election. Lyman Benson and Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson were chosen to succeed themselves and Robert Bridge selected as third member for the ensuing term.

Charles See was made chairman of the board and Mason Rose, member of the auditing committee, both to succeed themselves.

The finances of the association are reported to be in excellent shape, a fact which is naturally very gratifying to the members.

NEW HEALTH CRUSADE IN SCHOOLS

Proceeds From Xmas Seal Sales To Assist This

Proceeds from the 1922 tuberculosis Christmas seal sale will be used, in part, in many counties, to establish in the local schools, the Modern Health Crusade, a system of health training conducted by the Michigan Tuberculosis association, in cooperation with the state department of public instruction and health.

Applications are now coming in to the state Tuberculosis Association from county tuberculosis societies, for the services of Miss Olive G. Turner of the staff of the association, in the organization of new crusades. Miss Turner is at present working in St. Clair county, and will be sent to other counties as rapidly as her work can be arranged for.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"Greathearts of India" will be the topic studied in B. Y. P. U. next Sunday evening, January 21, at six o'clock. The scripture lesson is found in Mark 10:15-19. Alice W. Chew will lead.

India has for centuries made a romantic and sympathetic appeal to the world. Her spices, gold, gems and rich fabrics lured the early navigators to brave unknown dangers in their quest. Her vast resources became a reservoir from which the merchants of Europe drew immense wealth. Yet in the midst of wealth gaunt poverty lurked, famine stalked abroad, destroying hundreds of thousands; ignorance blighted and stunted the lives of millions; superstition terrorized and caste oppressed human beings, whom God had made for himself.

To such a country William Carey turned sympathetic eyes and heart and opened the door for the thousands who have followed his lead in carrying the Gospel to India's three hundred and fifty millions.

Come to B. Y. P. U. and learn about our missionaries and their work from the stories told of the Indians who have come in contact with the Gospel.

WOODS WORKER HURT NEAR PELLSTON

Thrown Under Wheels of Train While Attempting to Get Off

John Harding, 34, of Mancello, Michigan, woods worker for Findle & Jackson, near Pellston, lost his right leg almost crushed off and his left leg crushed and bruised Wednesday of last week in an accident at the mill at Pellston.

Fellow workmen declare he endeavored to get off a logging train and in some way his clothing caught.

He was thrown down and it is believed one of the wheels of the train struck him. The bones in his right leg were splintered and crushed and the leg nearly severed. A part of the bone was splintered together and hope is expressed that the foot can be saved. The injured man is at Petoskey hospital.

Grand Traverse County Bar Association and Board of Supervisors Endorse Farm C. Gilbert For Circuit Judge

To the Voters:

It is with great deal of satisfaction that Grand Traverse County takes notice of the announcement of Farm C. Gilbert as a candidate for Circuit Judge at the Primary Election to be held March 7, 1923.

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Gilbert was a candidate for the office which he now seeks. The present judge has held the office ever since and has been loyally supported by the people of this entire vicinity. Don't you think it is fair to have a change now?

Mr. Gilbert is a candidate again for this office, and is eminently qualified by experience and ability for this position. Will you lend your support and help us nominate him for this office?

Respectfully yours,

GRAND TRAVERSE COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION

Supervisors Also Endorse Him

The Board of Supervisors of Grand Traverse County convened for their January session in the Court House at Traverse City, pursuant to adjournment on Monday, January 8, 1923, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., and drafted the following:

"Resolution"

Whereas Farm C. Gilbert, of this city, is a candidate for Circuit Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit:

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of Grand Traverse County that we regard him fully qualified for that office and we hereby endorse him for this position.

Moved and seconded that the resolution be adopted. Carried.

D. F. Hoxie, Chairman.

Sprague Pratt, Clerk.

WORKING FOR NEW LEGISLATION

FARM BUREAU BACKS SEVERAL GOOD MEASURES

B. O. Hagerman's Report of First Quarterly Meeting Features Important Matters

County Agent H. O. Hagerman has submitted a report of the county farm bureau's first quarterly meeting of the year, which contains a number of items of vital interest to our farmer-readers and indicates the good work that the bureau is doing in this region.

"At the first quarterly meeting of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau held at their office in Boyne City, Saturday, P. M., January 13th, considerable real business was transacted.

One item, which is perhaps of the most interest to the entire class of farmers, was a resolution adopted by the board favoring the following legislation: This resolution will be sent to the Michigan State Farm Bureau whose legislative department is using all available means and bringing all available pressure to bear upon the legislature.

State income tax.
Doing away with the present exemption from taxation enjoyed by many hands and other securities.
Favoring the taxation of all intangible property on the same basis as real property.

Favoring a gasoline tax of 20 per gallon to finance highway development and maintenance without a real property tax.

Favoring a tax on busses and trucks for a similar purpose.
Favoring a maximum tax rate on real property.

Favoring a land certification law which would enable non-residents of the state to invest with greater safety in Michigan's undeveloped lands.

Favoring a resolution that the state should encourage reforestation on Michigan's idle lands not suited to agriculture by the reduction of tax thereon.

Favoring a resolution that we use our efforts to prevent the passage of a bill which has been introduced to repeal the law providing for the gathering of agricultural statistics by the supervisors at the time of the making of the annual assessments on property in the spring. (Note: This law was supported by all the farm organizations of the state when it was enacted two years ago. It was in effect during 1922 and the results justified the wisdom of the legislation creating it. Figures obtained are not used in any way for tax purposes. Reports of individual farms are kept strictly confidential. Operation of this law stabilizes prices because the issuance of false and misleading reports by speculators is discouraged.)

Favoring the passage of a bill soon to be introduced to prevent the state of "filled milk." ("Filled milk" is milk from which the butter fat has been removed and replaced with some other fat, such as coconut oil, etc.)

Favoring that we urge the "Truth-In-Fabrics" bill.

A further resolution was adopted and copies of which will be sent to our United States senators, Townsend and Cawson, favoring the "Truth-In-Fabrics" bill. This bill, as you all know, is very similar to the Pure Food and Drug act. The "Truth-In-Fabric" bill demands that all fabrics be labeled as to the percentage of virgin wool, shoddy or cotton. This is also being urged by each State Farm Bureau in the union. It has been reported favorable by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, and will probably be considered by the Senate during this month.

C. B. SHELDON A LUCKY FISHERMAN

The record fish as to size and weight so far this season was captured Monday by C. B. Sheldon in the waters of Pine Lake.

Mr. Sheldon was fishing off shore near the old D. M. Ferry seed house, Monday, and caught a fine specimen of what is termed northern Michigan "pike," weighing twenty-three pounds.

Several large pike have been caught through the ice in recent years, but the one caught Monday by Mr. Sheldon holds the record as far as we can learn.

TRAVERSE LOSES FINE THEATRE

Lyric Burned To The Ground in Early Morning

Northern Michigan's finest moving picture theatre, the Lyric, which has been the most successful of its kind in the Traverse City, caught fire from defective wiring near the front of the building, and was well on its way to destruction before the blaze was discovered. Below zero temperature made the work of the firemen extremely hazardous and difficult. Mrs. E. J. Miller, of Chicago, a guest of manager Frank Anderson and wife, who live in apartments over the theatre, found her escape cut off by the flames and had to be carried to safety down a fire ladder.

This theatre was one of a chain of moving picture houses owned and operated by Fitzpatrick & McElroy, of Chicago. It was entirely remodelled and redecorated only a few years ago and contained an exceptionally fine pipe organ, valuable paintings and expensive fittings. The money loss is estimated at seventy-five thousand dollars, but the loss to the people of Traverse will be hard to estimate, as the high grade of pictures shown and the musical treat that was a feature of each performance formed one of the city's chief attractions.

CATTLE ON FEED INCREASE

MICHIGAN HAS 5 PER CENT MORE THAN LAST YEAR

And Thirty Per Cent More Sheep— Figures Not Far From Normal Though

There were 25 per cent more cattle on feed on January 1 in the corn belt states, and five per cent more in Michigan, than on the same date last year, according to the estimate issued by Verna H. Church, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics and John A. Doelle, Commissioner of Agriculture. All states show an increase over one year ago, and those west of the Mississippi river indicate a larger percentage of increase than on December 1. On the other hand, the states west of the Mississippi are set off heavily during December and show a smaller increase in percentage over last year than they did on December 1. The previous reports of increased feeding and the advancing price of corn tended to curb the purchasing of more feeders in the western states.

In Michigan, the cattle now on feed weighed, when put on feed, as follows: 1,000 pounds and up, 15 per cent; 750 to 1,000 pounds, 42 per cent; less than 750 pounds not including calves, 35 per cent; baby beef, 7 per cent. For the corn belt as a whole, the respective percentages for the above weights were 20, 30, 29 and 21 per cent. These averages are considerably less than one month ago due to the heavy marketing of short fed cattle in the west, which were heavy when placed on feed.

The movement of stocker and feeder cattle from 43 markets into the 11 corn belt states, from August 1 to December 1, 1922 totaled 2,226,000 as compared with 1,415,000 in 1921 and 1,358,000 in 1920. The number shipped into Michigan for the same months in 1922 was 32,136; in 1921, 27,069; and in 1920, 28,950.

The reports of corn belt feeders indicate that 11 per cent will be marketed during January, 14 per cent in February, 15 per cent in March, 14 per cent in April, 12 per cent in May, and 34 per cent after June 1. Michigan feeders reported as follows: 22 per cent in January, 11 per cent in February, 19 per cent in March, 11 per cent in April, 13 per cent in May, and 24 per cent after June 1.

Sheep and Lambs on Feed
Michigan holds an important place among the feeding states, and reports an increase of 30 per cent in the number of sheep and lambs on feed as compared with one year ago. Illinois and Wisconsin report an increase of 20 per cent; the corn belt states east of the Mississippi an increase of 10 per cent.

SUGAR BEETS FOR STOCK FEED ONLY

WICKERSHAM FAVORS POTATOES AND CHERRIES

Charlevoix Farmer Sees No Profit In The Successful Beet When Made Main Crop

We have something different at this week for our readers on the beet-sugar industry. Arlo Wickersham, in a very interesting letter to the Courier, takes issue with the conclusions of the past few weeks and we reproduce his letter in full: The Charlevoix Courier.

Dear Editor:—Having read both articles in the Courier by Mr. William F. Johnson, pertaining to the sugar beet industry, I feel that some sort of reply should be made. Permit me to say, by way of introduction, that I know William F. Johnson as a conscientious God-fearing citizen and as good a neighbor as ever lived on an acre, but his ideas and mine do not coincide in the least—so far as how to make money at farming is concerned.

Can we compete with Cuba, where they get eight to twelve crops of sugar cane from one planting and do not have to cultivate after the first year? We can not. Can we grow sugar beets at five, six or seven dollars a ton and make more than a bare living at it? We can not.

Mr. Johnson did not stop to figure that, at the present price of potatoes, they are worth more per ton than sugar beets. Last year, my potato crop averaged seven tons per acre and, at digging time, the price was eight dollars per ton. Would I have been any better off to have grown beets instead of potatoes?

Now, suppose the potato prices had been up to the average of the past ten years, which is about sixty cents per bushel, or twenty dollars a ton. If I grow sugar beets, I am sure of from five to seven dollars a ton, but no more. If I grow potatoes, I am sure of as much as beets are worth and I have a very good chance of getting twenty or thirty or even forty dollars a ton.

The sugar beet industry has been tried and found wanting and, inasmuch as it has been buried and the ruins of the old factory dedicated to its memory, so there let us let it rest in peace.

Perhaps the sugar beet should have a small place in our crop routine, but that it makes an excellent feed for dairy cows. Had Mr. Johnson devoted the time to dairying that he has put into sugar beets, I am confident that he would be the proud owner of a big red barn full of sleek Jerseys and as fertile and productive an eighty as lies out of doors, instead of that which he now calls his farm. We don't blame him because he hasn't the big barn. He could not make money enough growing beets to build it. In short, he has been on the wrong track and it is my sincere hope that he and his sugar-beet followers will wake up and get on the right road, which, to the best of my judgment, is the spud and the dairy cow.

Let us go for a few minutes into the land of dreams. Did you know that the western shore of Lake Michigan, from Muskegon to Charlevoix and within a half a dozen miles of the lake, is conceded by America's most eminent horticulturists to be the best location in the United States for sour cherries? Did you know that crop failure in well-kept orchards is unknown? Let us suppose that there were ten thousand acres of cherries within the county about Charlevoix and that they were all of bearing age and that a hundred pounds were picked from each tree (which is not above the average).

Last year, the wholesale price was about six dollars per hundred pounds. One hundred eight is the number of trees per acre. Get your pencil and figure how many millions of dollars this would bring into Charlevoix. Would the San Joaquin valley of California have anything on us for beauty and prosperity?

This is only a dream, but they are making this dream a reality down at Traverse City. Do we dare let Traverse City get ahead of us?

With the hope that these few remarks will assist in our efforts for a more prosperous and more beautiful Charlevoix, I remain,

Always For Charlevoix,
Arlo Wickersham

MONUMENT MARKS ITS BIRTHPLACE

CLIMAX SAW START OF R. F. D. SERVICE IN MICH.

One of First Experimental Routes in U. S. Began in 1896—Now Nation Wide Institution

The Detroit News, for Sunday, January 21st, carries an interesting account of the early beginnings of the rural free delivery system in this state. The importance of this great branch of the postal service, of which the Michigan system is one of the earliest established parts, fully warrants the reproduction of this article in our columns.

"Piling stones for memorials is a custom older than civilization. Particularly has this been practiced by agricultural peoples. But it is doubtful if a stone-pile ever was erected of greater significance in connection with the progress of rural folk than the monument of a hewn stone which stands at the principal street intersection of the village of Climax, Michigan.

Here, in 1896, was established the first rural free delivery mail service in Michigan, and one of the first few of such routes provided in the United States by appropriation of Congress. The original appropriation was of $50,000 and was regarded as purely experimental. The purpose was stated to be to carry mail daily over fixed routes to people who would otherwise have to go a mile or more for their mail. It was required that the route must be kept in good condition, unobstructed by fences; that there must be no unbonded creeks or streams not fordable at all seasons; and that service should be given to 100 or more families along a route of at least 24 miles.

The first carriers on the Climax routes were Lewis A. Clark and Willis L. Lawrence. They furnished their own means of locomotion and were paid $25 a month each. Mr. Clark bought a new bicycle and on this he carried mail more than 20,000 miles.

It is recalled that at that time the farmers were receiving so little mail that the carriers were able to take it in their coat pockets. A few letters and an occasional weekly newspaper or circular made up the daily batch of mail. The enormous loads now carried by the rural routes are a striking testimony of the worth of the service and its influence on rural life.

In the spring of 1917, J. H. Brown, of Battle Creek, who had been influential in the establishing of rural mail service at Climax, conceived the plan of erecting the monument on the corner from which the mail carriers first started. The co-operation of the entire community was enlisted, and stones were brought in one each from 239 farmers served by the mail routes then in existence. These were built into the monument. The shaft stands more than 10 feet high, is 6 feet square at the base and 3 feet square at the top. It is surmounted by a United States flag, a cluster of electric lights, and markers indicating directions and distances to neighboring towns. On the western face the monument bears an inscription in bronze: "The First Congressional Appropriation to Try the Experiment of Delivering Mail to Farmers' Homes was Secured Through the strenuous efforts of the National and State Granges in 1896. The Amount was $10,000. This Tablet Erected by Michigan State Grange, 1917."

The curious history of one of the stones used in the monument is that it was brought to Michigan from Maryland by William Harrison, son of Judge Razel Harrison, who was the first white settler in Kalamazoo county, in 1830. "Uncle Billy," as he was affectionately known, built the first cabin in Climax and employed the historic stone to hold layers of pork under brine in the family pork barrel. For this use the stone served continuously 87 years in this family, until it was dedicated in the monument as the contribution of the Harrison farm. It is pointed out by the residents of Climax as "The Pork Barrel Stone."

Parents of Lieut. Scroggie Receive Advice of Citation

We mentioned last week the citation by the War Department of First Lieutenant C. Scroggie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Scroggie, of this city. Since then, we have received a letter, written by the Adjutant General of the United States, referring to the parents of the dead soldier, notifying them of the honor and recognition of the distinguished services in its behalf. This letter we reproduce below:

Mr. William Scroggie, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dear Sir: Under the provisions of the act of Congress approved July 9, 1918, your son, First Lieutenant Dean C. Scroggie, Company L, 28th Infantry, will be cited posthumously in War Department General Orders for gallantry in action near Exermont, France, October 8, 1918, and an official copy of the citation is enclosed herewith.

This citation is for gallantry in action, and authorizes the issuance of the Silver Star decoration to be placed on the ribbon of the Victory Medal awarded your son. The Quartermaster General of the Army has been directed to forward such a star to you, as the next of kin.

Robert C. Davis,
The Adjutant General.

HOLD ROUSING UNION SERVICE

MINISTERS ADDRESS W. C. T. U. MEMBERS SUNDAY

Effects of Prohibition for Past Three Years Pointedly Discussed—Law Enforcement Stressed

From the press correspondent of the W. C. T. U. comes the following:

"The union service, held in the Congregational church last Sunday evening, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was well attended and was a very enthusiastic meeting from start to finish.

"What three years of prohibition have meant to our country, in an economic way, in a social way and in a moral way, was very ably discussed by Rev. H. R. E. Quant, Rev. C. W. Long and Rev. William Eldredge.

Rev. Herman Burns told in a few very pointed remarks what a saloonless nation meant to the rising generation and he voiced the sentiments of many parents when he said, 'Thank God, there are children in our midst now who never have seen a saloon and we hope they never will.'

This meeting was a great inspiration to all who have the righteousness of the nation at heart and especially was of great encouragement to the W. C. T. U. workers in the local union. The spirit of unity and cooperation is an impetus to the work for the new year just begun.

The union is very grateful to the ministers of the different churches who joined so heartily in this service; to Rev. Charles Rice for the inspiring devotionals, to the Cecilia choir for their splendid music and to Miss Cotton and Miss Cross (Continued on page eight)

FIVE NEW CLASSES WILL BE STARTED

Second Semester at C. H. S. Opens February 5th

Superintendent of Charlevoix schools, Charles Hamilton, is about to try out a scheme that he thinks will have the effect of attracting the boy or girl, not now attending school, but who desires to specialize in some one of the subjects offered under his new plan and at the same time make up back work of the regular course.

Beginning a week from next Monday, which marks the opening of the second semester, entirely new classes will be started in the following subjects: Algebra I, Business Law, Penmanship, Interior Decorating, and Bible.

These classes are open to all students of the high school who, for any reason, are not now attending but wish to resume their school work and make up for lost time, entering any one of the five classes mentioned above and satisfactorily recovering the ground lost in the other subjects required to be studied during the first semester of the school year.

FAMOUS FILM STAR PASSES OUT

"WALLY" REID LOST HIS FIGHT WITH DEATH

Thousands Mourn Screen Idol Who Struggled Gallantly Against Terrible Odds

Charlevoix film fans join the rest of the nation's theatre-going thousands in mourning the loss of Wallace Reid, whose tragic personal history and brilliant professional career were abruptly ended last week by that grim, implacable director of the human drama—death.

Reid died Thursday afternoon at a Hollywood hospital. He suffered a relapse three days prior to the end, and was unconscious during that period. His wife, son and an adopted daughter were at the bedside.

The news that Reid was fighting a battle with death as a result of drug addiction came as a shock to the film following public six weeks ago.

"His wife, known on the stage as Dorothy Davenport, revealed the details of the lone fight, the coarseness had waged to rid himself of the drug habit acquired, she said, as a result of illness following a blow on the head during an accident while on 'location.'

His fight against drugs, fought in a mountain camp, was followed by his return to the lot to start a new picture. But the shock had been too much for his system. He suffered a breakdown complicated by symptoms of influenza and an intestinal ailment.

He was taken to the sanitarium where, for days, his life was despaired of. Then a turn for the better came and until he suffered the relapse three days ago it was confidently expected by Mrs. Reid and his host of friends that he had won the fight for life and eventual health.

During his illness, Will Hays, 'czar' of the movies, visited him at his sick bed and wished him good cheer. It was said at the time that this gracious act on Hays' part had served to greatly buoy up the spirits of the stricken film favorite.

Other than the formal announcement made by his employers, the Famous Players-Lasky studio, and the fact that his wife and children were at the bedside when death ended the three-day coma into which he had fallen, no other details were given out.

Reid was famous for his 'speed' pictures. He appeared in numbers of light melodramatic comedies in which the 'speed' element was featured. His automobile pictures in which he drove racing machines brought him fame and fortune.

Reid's jovial smile was one of his best assets on the screen and he was peculiarly adapted to roles portraying the young up-to-the-minute American type.

THREE IS WEEK'S DEATH TOLL HERE

Grim Reaper Has Been Busy in This Vicinity

Death and sickness seem to have been the order of the week. Mrs. Edward James, who lives on route one out of Charlevoix, died Sunday night at the hospital after a long illness. The body was taken to Vassar (her old home) Tuesday for burial.

Mrs. Isabelle Cowgill of Hulbert Avenue, died yesterday at her home as a result of a cancer. The funeral will be held tomorrow at Brookside.

W. T. Fanning, for many years a well-known resident of this city died Tuesday night at the home of his daughter in Flint, as the result of chronic heart trouble. Plans for the funeral are not definite as yet, though it is probable that he will be buried at Stanton, Mich., his old home, beside the body of his wife.

Further particulars will be available next week.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Minnie Miller is again in school. We are sorry to hear that Bertha Martin is still on the sick list.

Mrs. Liberty was ill last week, but we are glad she was able to be in school again in two days.

The senior class has finished the study of economics and is now beginning civil government.

The eighth grade has finished reading "Wild Apples." Ask Beatrice Wickland what she thinks about it.

Mrs. Wride's room is planning on giving a short program next Friday, that day being Michigan day.

The school wishes to thank Mrs. Harris for the books she gave us. If anyone else has any books to dispose of, the school library is a good place in which to put them.

Political Announcement

To the Electors of Antrim County.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Schools, on the Republican ticket, at the coming primary election, March 7th, 1923.

Having served you, as Commissioner, for one term, I shall let my services speak as to my qualifications.

If elected, I shall give the office my undivided time and attention in the future, as in the past.

I shall appreciate your support, March 7th.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

The substitution of gas for coal as a fuel for heating houses within a few years is predicted by members of the chemical department at the U. of M. The substitution has already been so far carried out, of course, that it only remains to get the gas.

While Michigan has more state parks than New York, writes Edward E. Evans, of Ogemaw, in scenic beauty and historic interest our system is as the huckleberry to the watermelon. "The entire public park system of Michigan, exclusive of the military reservation, in less than 6,000 acres in extent. The military reservation contains about 15,000 acres. The state-owned parks of New York contain nearly 2,000,000 acres, in which more than 1,700,000 is in the Adirondack park. Ninety percent of this vast area is forested and it contains many thousands of acres of virgin pine, spruce and hemlock. Michigan is the proud possessor of one state park containing 200 acres of virgin pine and other timber."

The Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, In Chancery.

In the matter of the application of a majority of the directors of the Beaver Island Transportation Company.

At a session of said court for the County of Charlevoix held at the City of Charlevoix on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1923.

Present: Honorable Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge.

Upon the filing of the petition of Harry L. Oldham, Grace L. Oldham and Lisle Shanahan, a majority of the directors of the Beaver Island Transportation Company, with the accounts, inventories and affidavits thereto, and upon reading the same, it is hereby ordered that all persons interested in such corporation, whether creditors, stockholders or otherwise, show cause, if any they have, why such corporation should not be dissolved before the Honorable Frederick W. Mayne, Circuit Judge for the County of Charlevoix, at the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1923.

It is further ordered that notice of this order be published in the Charlevoix Courier once in each week for three weeks successively, this being the principal place of conducting the business of the said corporation.

Frederick W. Mayne,
Circuit Judge.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

The Farmers' View Point

The outstanding problems confronting the legislature at this stage of the session are: First, how much money shall they appropriate for the various state institutions, departments, boards and other public purposes? Second, what taxation systems shall be devised to raise this revenue? Practically all the appropriation bills are now in and are being carefully considered by the institutional committees of the house and senate. In this regard, the lawmakers are from two to four weeks farther along than they were at this time two years ago.

Big Grist To Grind

During the first nine days of the session three times as many bills were introduced as during the corresponding period two years ago. Eighty-seven bills were introduced in the house, 55 in the senate, 142 in all as compared to 46 two years ago.

So far most of the real work is being done by individual members and the numerous committees. Little is accomplished in the brief formal sessions except to introduce bills. The sessions continue to adjourn from Thursday until Tuesday of each week to allow the Institutional Committees to investigate the financial needs of the various state institutions and prepare recommendations.

The Ways and Means committee, to systematize its work, has adopted an iron-clad schedule this year. It expects to have all the appropriation bill and institutional committee reports by February 1. With these reports in hand it will tackle the task of passing on requests totalling many millions. The members of the Ways and Means committee certainly have a job before them. They are taking it seriously.

Even more perplexing than the matter of how much state money to spend is the problem of how to raise this revenue. Benjamin Franklin's famous saying that "Nothing is sure except death and taxes" never was truer than today. Four more tax schemes were introduced during the week. The first of these measures provides a three mill tax upon state and municipal bonds. This bill was introduced by Rep. C. Jay Towne of Jackson and is aimed to prohibit the issuance of tax-exempt securities by the state and municipal government.

It is in accordance with one of the planks of the Michigan State Farm Bureau's legislative program which has recently been established as a result of a state-wide legislative questionnaire.

Offer Gas Tax

The far-famed gasoline tax bill made its long-expected appearance in the house on Thursday, January 18. It was introduced by Mr. Joseph Warner of Ypsilanti and provides for a tax of two cents a gallon on all gasoline sold within the state except such as is sold for resale. Friends of the measure estimate that this tax will produce $7,000,000 annually. This revenue would be turned over to the State Highway department. Two-thirds of the money would be used for the payment of the principal and interest of the State Highway bonds, while the balance would apply on current highway costs. The retailers would be required to report their sales and turn in the revenue for each month by the 15th of the following month. Failure to do so promptly would subject them to a fine of an additional ten percent while any willful violation of the law would be punishable by a fine of $1,000 or six months in jail. State authorities would have access to the books of oil companies at all times.

A radical increase in the state inheritance tax and provision limiting the amount that may be inherited by one person or corporation to $1,000,000 is proposed in a bill sponsored by Senator Hugh of Grand Rapids. The tax rate is made progressive depending on the size of the estate and varies according to the nearness of the relative to whom the bequest is made.

A poll tax of $5 a year to be levied on each male citizen of legal age was proposed by Senator E. Wood of Detroit. The revenue would be divided equally between the county and township, village or city and he devoted to highway and street maintenance. A fine of $25 be provided for those who fail to pay this tax.

Christmas. Only about half of them have been coming and these not very regularly on account of the weather this week.

We have been reading "Hills Stories," and a book on "Courtship" for opening exercises since vacation, and enjoy both very much. Before Christmas we read "Down Spider Lane," by Mary Dickerson Leasley.

The seventh and eighth grades are going to begin studying "Snow-bound," by Whittier, just as soon as they can get their classes. They will study reading instead of physiology on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

It is expected that a number of the pupils here will be able to begin work on the new grade for next year several months before school is out. If they cover half the next year's work this year, no doubt they will cover two grades next year easily.

January, for bad quite cold, February, clear but much colder, and March a little colder but quite fair, is our weather prediction. According to the first three days of January, so will the first three months of the year be. The storm came January 11th, but was not very cold. That means snow the eleventh month or next November.

The third grade have finished their Blodgett readers some time ago, and have a real good start in the Elson Runkle reader. That they have mastered practically all of the difficult words can easily be recognized by listening to them read. They are studying geography afternoons instead of reading, now.

PHELPS

C. Blanchard was a business caller in Ellsworth, Saturday morning between trains.

John Timmer spent Sunday in Pichs, Michigan.

W. T. Lamsell and son, Niley and George, are hauling their fifth car of kiln wood.

Leslie Klooster spent Saturday in Ellsworth, the guest of his cousin, George Klooster, Jr.

Miss Hazel Mascho, who attends normal in Charlevoix, spent Saturday with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Griffin and family were dinner guests Sunday, at the Chas. Stevens home.

Alva Faltensberger returned Monday, from Petoskey, where he spent a week with friends and relatives.

Leslie Everts has accepted a position on the Elmer Ingalls farm and is busy moving into the house recently occupied by Clarence Meigs and family. Mrs. Everts, who is our school teacher, will board at the H. I. Francisco home.

Ed. James and daughter, Blanche, have the heartfelt sympathy of their friends and neighbors in the bereavement of losing their wife and mother. Mrs. James was liked by all who knew her, and will be sadly missed by her friends and relatives, having passed away Sunday night in the Charlevoix Hospital, death being due to a complication of diseases.

Take one of Petoskey's Famous Baths (Saville Method), they will make you feel like a new person. Read announcement in other section of this issue.—Adv. 141.

EAST MARION

Mrs. Nelson Lindley is on the sick list.

William Cellner visited Alvin Cunningham, Sunday.

Mrs. R. Klooster visited Mrs. Ed Cunningham, Thursday.

Arthur Guild stopped at White Wyandotte cackled to Watfield Knives, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Klooster spent Friday at Breezy Point.

BARNARD

Heard winter weather.

Mr. Mills is slowly recovering from his recent illness.

A baby girl arrived on Monday to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Potter.

The G. G. Sunday school class met for a social time with Dorothy Smith, on Saturday, January 13th.

Dr. G. DeLonge, of Zeeland, Mich., will preach at the South Barnard church January 28.

John Boss, Sr., has been staying with his son, Lawrence, for a few days.

Margaret Potter will entertain the young people's Sunday school class Thursday evening, January 25.

On account of last week's storm, our mail carrier could not get through, and some of our news is somewhat stale perhaps.

Recent news from Margaret Smith says she is having a fine time in Los Angeles, with the thermometer at degrees in the shade. Just a little different than Michigan weather.

The Ladies Aid meeting at Mrs. Burns' on January 10th, was attended by a fine crowd of members and friends. Among the visitors were Rev. and Mrs. Quant, Mrs. Edmund Shapton and Mrs. George Sands. They adjourned to meet with Mrs. Joseph Clark the second Wednesday in February.

The death of Mrs. Edward James occurred on Sunday evening at the Charlevoix Hospital. The remains will be taken to Vassar for interment. She leaves her husband and five children to mourn her loss.

They reached here about three P. M. on their way to Bayne City.

Mrs. N. E. McGonigle and E. J. J. Rich, of Saginaw, are here for an indefinite visit at the home of R. R. Bellinger, on Bridge Street.

Miss Ed. Eshelton, of this city, was taken to the hospital Sunday morning for medical treatment. She is still in a serious condition, showing but slight improvement.

Miss Maggie Colter, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandele, and other friends in Detroit, for the past few weeks, returned Tuesday afternoon.

The Royal Neighbors met last Friday night for a business and social session at the home of Mrs. D. J. Eshelton. Luncheon was served and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Eshelton, both local men, have leased the Arthur Zipse saw mill, located near the city electric lighting plant, and will start to do custom sawing during the spring months.

Captain Peter McCafferty, master of a tug owned by the Danham Towing Co., of Chicago, is in town this week, commencing a two months' tour of absence to be spent with his family here.

W. L. Peters and wife returned Wednesday morning from Ann Arbor, where Mrs. Peters underwent an operation at the University hospital. No operation was found to be necessary.

A. A. Squire, known locally for many years, is attending the regular monthly meeting of Michigan State Telephone Company plant employees there, which is to be held Thursday morning at nine o'clock.

Mrs. Leon Summer, of Chicago, and her sister, Mrs. John Eshelton, who were in town Sunday evening with some of the local people, and brought to the Charlevoix hospital a document.

In our account of the proceedings of the Charlevoix Commercial association last week, we omitted the name of George W. Priest as member of the advertising committee. We regret that Mr. Priest and our readers will accept our apologies for this oversight.

Horace Pischner, of the Beavers, who was brought to the hospital here some four weeks ago, suffering from a severe condition over the eye, caused by a flying chip that struck him while chopping wood, is much improved and returned this morning to his home on the island.

The Mary Brewster Circle of the Charlevoix Commercial association met with Mrs. Robert Bridge last Friday; the next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dan Schwartz next Friday and the next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Eshelton next Monday. All these organizations are sewing for the hospital.

Wednesday, John Myers, janitor of the high school, was taken to the hospital suffering with what was at first thought to be an attack of the lungs, but examination showed it was less serious and he is now improving under treatment.

Students of the schools raised a purse to defray his hospital expenses.

Mrs. Edward James, who lived on route No. 1 out of this city, died Sunday at the hospital here, where she has been since December 30th, suffering from heart and kidney complications. Her husband and one of her four daughters will accompany the remains to Vassar, her old home, where they will be laid to rest.

George LaBlanc took the mail over in his boat to the Beavers Tuesday morning and whatever freight could be loaded, subject to shipper's risk. The ice is eight or nine inches thick in St. James harbor and extends from there to the point. To the north and east are great floes of ice, waiting only for a wind in the right direction to shut the island off completely.

Mass Meeting Thursday Night At Court House

A free meeting at the court house, to which everyone is invited (particularly telephone subscribers) will be held Thursday evening at seven thirty o'clock, under the auspices of the Michigan State Telephone Company.

O. A. Solomon, local manager for the company, states that this meeting is one of a series of telephone demonstrations that have been staged at different points throughout the state for the purpose of enlightening telephone users in regard to the service and to help them to get the most possible benefit from the telephone.

A local operator will be on hand to demonstrate how local calls are handled and a long distance operator to illustrate the various steps taken by the operator in placing a long distance call and connection. Two reels of pictures will be shown at this meeting and a few slides, which will illustrate some interesting points in connection with the company's work. It is hoped that a large number of people will be present to witness this demonstration.

crease of 14 per cent; corn belt states west of the Mississippi, 11 per cent; and the western irrigated region, 10 per cent. For the country as a whole, the number on feed January 1, 1922, exceeded that of January 1, 1921, by approximately 30 per cent. This compares with an increase of 20 per cent on December 1, 1922 over December 1, 1921 as given in a previous report. This increase is due to the enlarged feeding operations that took place during December over much of the feeding area.

The number of sheep and lambs shipped into Michigan for feeding purposes during the four months from August 1 to December 1, 1922, was 219,337, as compared with 111,114 in the same months in 1921, and 203,679 in 1920.

The expressed intention of corn belt feeders was to the effect that, of those on feed January 1, 15 per cent would be marketed during January, 23 per cent in February, and the balance in March or later. The movement out of the irrigated region will not become of consequence before February 1, and is expected to be fairly uniform. Michigan feeders anticipate an approximate movement of 10 per cent in January, 36 per cent in February, 16 per cent in March, and 8 per cent after April 1.

While the total number on feed is much greater than one year ago, yet, it should be remembered that feeding last year was greatly restricted, owing to the unprofitable outcome of the previous year's operations, and the difficulty in securing funds to finance the business. It is probable that the total number to be finished and marketed during the first four months of 1923 is not far from normal, and not much greater than the volume that moved in the corresponding months two years ago.

SEVERES HER TONGUE IN BAD FALL

Little Oldham Girl Still Suffers From Painful Accident

A week ago Saturday, little "Betsy" Oldham, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Oldham, met with a very painful and unusual accident at her home on Park Avenue, from which she has not yet fully recovered.

The little girl, made an attempt to slide down the banister of the front stairs, head foremost, for the benefit of some of her playmates who were in the house with her at the time and slipping, in some way, fell from the top of the railing to the floor beneath, almost cutting her tongue in two, so that the injured member barely hung by a thread.

Drs. Armstrong and Mitchell were called at once and an anesthetic administered, while several stitches were taken in the tongue. The latter is now healed and the stitches removed, but the little sufferer still continues to run an abnormally high temperature which the doctor is unable to explain and which is naturally a source of great worry to the distressed parents.

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Charlevoix resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

L. H. Wheeler, retired engineer, 807 Bridge St., says: "My kidneys were weak and I had to get up three or four times during the night to pass the secretions, which contained sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and a few boxes, which I bought at Metcalf's Drug Store, cured me up in great shape. Doan's are a good kidney remedy and I am glad to recommend them."

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

"What Are the Rightful Claims of Our Church Upon Us?" This topic will be discussed at our devotional service next Sunday evening. Mr. Peaslee will be the leader. Read Hebrews 10:19-25.

Has the church any claim on us? What has it done for us?

What country today has any system of education worthwhile where there is no Christian church?

The great orators were inspired by the church and its messages, and it is estimated that we have 100,000 Christian hymns. Do they mean anything to us? We may thank the church. The principles of Democracy are the principles of the Bible and the church. The church has been the custodian of the glad tidings of Jesus. Through the church, and through the church alone, men have come to know Christ. Do you know Christ? Thank the church. Has then, the church any claim on us? Think this over and come to B. Y. P. U. next Sunday.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The Charlevoix high school basketball team suffered its first defeat last Thursday night when the fast Traverse City squad scored 17 points to Charlevoix's 16. Probably it was the fastest and best game of the season, but we can not help regretting being on the short end of the score. The Traverse fellows were surprised and pleased with the school spirit shown by the students and remarked that Charlevoix has the true sporting blood in its veins. The Charlevoix high school team would like to compliment the Traverse City team on their playing, for they are the cleanest playing and hardest fighting bunch that Charlevoix has come up against so far this year. Very few fouls were called on either side, and that is as it should be, for as the number of fouls committed decreases, the game approaches nearer to perfection and can be called real basketball.

Traverse was beaten by Petoskey Friday, 18-20. Who now—Traverse City, Petoskey, or Charlevoix?

A certain amount of restlessness seems to pervade our session room. Probably a case of "overjoy" at the approach of examination week. Rather a feary feeling, though.

An announcement on the front board, which says that "Bill" Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" will arrive in Charlevoix soon, depends for its fulfillment on the Charlevoix high school debating team, for the "Merchant of Venice" is to come here via the St. Lawrence route.

Mr. Morgan lectured at the Palace Theatre Tuesday night on "Success with Ease," and with many instances and a keen sense of humor, made us all believe that we can succeed in life—with work as the keynote of that success. So popular was Mr. Morgan with the students of our high school, that Mr. Hamilton invited him Wednesday morning to speak to his Algebra class, augmented by the presence of the dignified English IV seniors. Come again, Mr. Morgan!

Mrs. Will Marshall is in charge of the first grade room this week.

Remember the senior supper February 7th.

Charlevoix will debate with Gaylord Friday night at Gaylord. This time we have the negative side of the question.

The General Sales Manager of that Company, comparing the work of a modern telephone salesman with that of one of the old school, writes:

"In 124 days the telephone salesman called on 4,628 merchants, 4,522 of them by telephone, averaging 37 calls per day.

"The old school salesman made 3,750 calls in 216 days, less than half of them by telephone, and averaged only 18 calls per day.

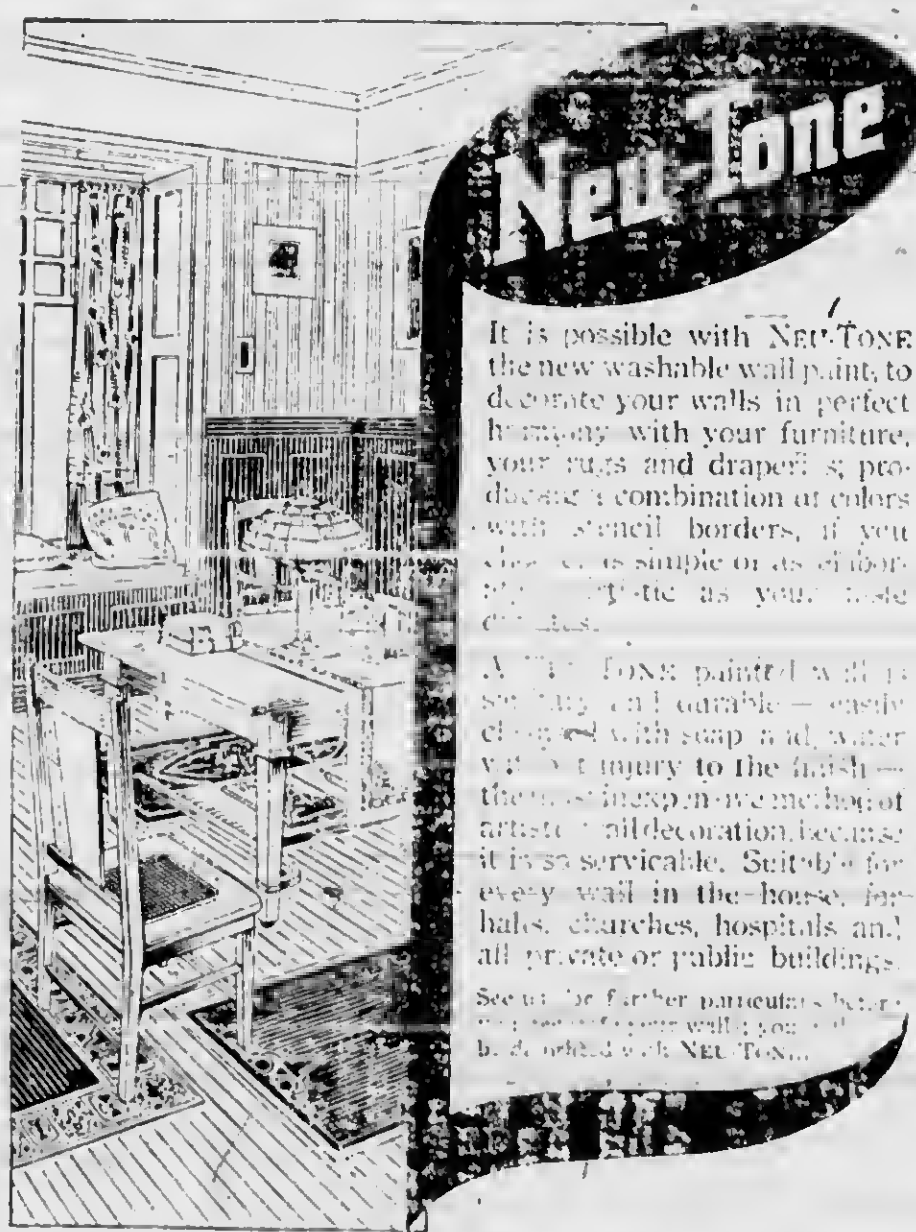

"The average daily sales of the man who sold by telephone were two and one-half times those of the member of the old school."

NEW REGULATION TOOK EFFECT JANUARY 1ST

Imported Stock Must Show Clean Bill of Health Before County Will Admit

Following is a letter received by the County Agricultural Agent B. O. Hagerman, relative to the tuberculosis work in the state.

This letter was from B. J. Killham, State Veterinarian.

The latest developments along these lines are toward a "Modified Accredited Area" plan. The idea of this plan is that livestock shipped from an accredited area of this kind will receive a premium over the regular market prices when shipped to certain livestock markets. Following is the letter:

"With a view to complying with the Modified Accredited Area requirements, the following regulations, signed by the Commissioner of Agriculture, Director of Animal Industry and State Veterinarian, have been drafted to cover Antrim, Charlevoix, Eaton, Emmet, Gogebic, Grand Traverse, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Kent, Livingston, Shiawassee, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties, Michigan.

"It is ordered that after January 1st, 1923, the importation of cattle into Charlevoix county, Michigan, is hereby prohibited, except when such cattle are accompanied by a certificate indicating that the cattle are from a fully accredited herd or have been subjected to an approved tuberculosis test applied by an accredited veterinarian within sixty (60) days of importation. Exception will be made in the case of cattle for immediate slaughter (to be slaughtered within ten (10) days), and steers, provided such cattle are kept separate and apart from the other cattle until slaughtered or removed from the county.

"No cattle shall be offered at any public sale in Charlevoix county, Michigan, for breeding or dairying purposes, except when such cattle have been subjected to a tuberculosis test approved by the State Department of Agriculture and found to be free from any contagious or infectious disease.

Will you not kindly call the attention of all concerned to this regulation?

Assuring you that we shall greatly appreciate any assistance you may be able to give, I am

Very truly yours,

B. J. Killham,

State Veterinarian.

Following are some of the facts unearthed by the Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication Committee of Michigan.

Do You Know?

That the annual loss from tuberculosis in livestock in the United States is between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000?

MICHIGAN LABOR SAID TO BE DRY

That little support will be given by organized labor of Michigan to the program of the American Federation of Labor to work for a beer and light wine amendment to the Volstead act, is indicated in a survey of state leaders by the Michigan Anti-Saloon League.

The movement recently announced from Washington is seen by many in Michigan to be the work of the brewery labor class of the American Federation and not to represent even in strong union states the general sentiment of organized labor. That the various union branches in Michigan are well satisfied with prohibition and are aware that a beer and light wine amendment would mean practically returning to the old order of booze and saloons, is indicated in expressions from labor leaders of this state to Anti-Saloon League officials.

"Beer and light wine will mean the making of every home a saloon," declared W. V. Waltman, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League. "The drys would rather see the saloon return than to have beer and wine sold freely without limit or restriction. A chemist would have to test every bottle and keg, such is the reputation the wets established for themselves in the old days. This will probably result in one or more laws being thrown back again without consideration and determined to put a stop to the old laws of regulation."

U. S. Bureau Statistics Show Ten Million Dollars More Valuation Than in 1922

Michigan livestock on the farms January 1, had an aggregate value of $147,563,000 according to the estimate released by Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics and John A. Doelle, Commissioner of Agriculture. This represents an increase of nearly $10,000,000 over the valuation one year ago.

The value per head was higher and the number greater of all classes except horses. For the United States as a whole, there was a net gain in all classes except horses, but a falling off in the value per head of horses, mules and milk cows.

Horse: The number of horses in the state shows no material change since last year. There has been an increase in the number of colts in some localities and an apparent decrease in others. During the last few years there has been a decline in numbers due to the increased use of tractors, trucks and automobiles but that decline seems to be halted, temporarily at least, because of the slight expansion in farming operations as a result of the readjustment following the war period, and because of lack of finances for the purchase of these machines. The estimated number of horses is 594,000 and the average price per head of all ages is $92.00.

Mules: The number of mules remains around 6,000 head although there is an apparent increase of two per cent over last year. The average value per head is $99.00.

Dairy Cows: Not only is there an increase of one per cent, over last year, in the number of milk cows on farms, but the value per head shows a slight gain, being $55 as compared with $53 last year. During the two years of financial stress farmers have found one of their best and most regular sources of income through the dairy herd. The steady increase in industrial population is also a factor, by increasing the demand for dairy products. The estimated number of milk cows is 977,000.

Other Cattle: The number of other cattle has increased from 576,000 to 611,000 during the year. Better prices for meat has stimulated the industry, and more feeding cattle have been brought into the state from the outside. The average value per head is $24.50 as compared with $21.80 last year, $29.00 two years ago, and $41.60 three years ago.

Sheep: Better prices for both mutton and wool have caused many sheep owners to increase their flocks and many other farmers to start small flocks. A large number of sheep and lambs was shipped into the state during the early winter months, and it is estimated that there were 30 per cent more on feed on January 1 than on the same date one year ago. The estimated total number of sheep of all ages in the state is 1,171,000 with the prospect of a further increase during the next twelve months. One year ago, the number on farms was estimated at 1,115,000. The average value per head is $8.40 as against $5.20 on January 1, 1922.

Swine: There has been a greater increase in swine than of any other class, the gain amounting to eight per cent. The total number is placed at 1,135,000. More breeding sows have been kept and a larger number of young pigs were born during the fall months than one year ago. The average value per head is $12.50; one year ago it was $11.30.

LIVES INSTANTLY SNUFFED OUT

ELK RAPIDS SHOCKED BY DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Men Engaged in Moving Cottage Come Into Contact With High Voltage Wire

The Elk Rapids Progress of January 25, contains the following account of one of the worst accidents occurring in that vicinity for years, in which two of its well known citizens meet instant death by electrocution:

"One of the worst accidents of years visited our village early Thursday morning when Charles Mikesell, 40 years old, and Saverly Hooper, 32 years old, were instantly killed by coming in contact with a high voltage wire while engaged in moving a cottage from this village to Elk Rapids."

"Mr. Mikesell had purchased two small buildings here and was moving them to his property in the Elk Rapids. Mr. Hooper was engaged with others in moving the buildings. Both men were on the roof raising wires and guy lines to clear the building. The building was just across the bridge at the electric power house in the village but the voltage wires were high enough to clear the building but by some inexplorable cause, Mr. Hooper lost his balance or by mistake reached impromptu and when seen had hold of the high voltage wire. The operator at the plant took note of a ground and pulled the switch, but in the meantime Mr. Mikesell seeing the condition of his helper, jumped to his assistance only to receive sufficient voltage to electrocute him. Assistance was soon on the ground but both men were beyond human aid."

"Mr. Mikesell was a road contractor with residence at Rapid City, Mr. Hooper was a farmer living near Williamsburg. Both men were held in high esteem and their untimely demise has brought sadness to their many friends."

A HOSPITAL FOR COLORED VETS

FINEST OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD

New Institution at Tuskegee, Ala., Now Nearly Completed—Will Have 600 Beds

The new United States veterans' colored hospital at Tuskegee, Alabama, the finest of its kind in the world, is rapidly nearing completion, it was announced today by Col. Charles R. Forbes. The work is being done by the United States treasury department, which has reported that the hospital should be completed between February 10 and February 25.

The plans call for a capacity of approximately 600 beds—302 for tuberculosis patients and 294 for neuro-psychiatric patients. The sum of $2,250,000, was allotted by the treasury department for the construction.

A commanding officer is soon to be selected to take charge of the station. The medical personnel will be white. The staff nurses, aides, and dietitians will be colored.

The medical officer selected to take charge of this hospital will be from the reserve corps of the U. S. Public Health Service; and will be of southern birth and one who thoroughly understands the negro question.

The colored people of Tuskegee and the superintendent and staff at Tuskegee Institute are giving the government officials their hearty cooperation and are expecting one of the finest hospitals in the service.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the position of Commissioner of Schools, of Charlevoix County, and will appreciate the votes of all who see fit to honor me with the same.

PEARSON OFFERS IMPORTANT BILL

Would Keep Ousted Officials From Being Soon Re-elected

State Senator William J. Pearson, of Houghton Falls, believes that persons removed from office for malfeasance while in office should be barred from office holding for a period of three years from the date of removal, and has introduced a bill to that effect in the state senate.

This measure would further permit the governor to appoint a judge of probate from outside the county where the official on trial is located to hear the case. A stenographic report of the hearing in complete form would be required, a copy of it to be filed with either the prosecuting attorney or the attorney general, as the case might be, and by such official to be transmitted to the governor for his use in final determination of the matter. The county interested would be required to pay the outside probate judge $10 a day and all expenses, and also the cost of the stenographic work.

The Houghton Falls legislator has a faculty of finishing anything he starts, and in Lansing circles it is freely predicted the bill will be enacted into law.

"PROGRESS" CHANGES

ITS OWNERSHIP

George W. Perry Resires After A Long Career

Our contemporary, the Elk Rapids Progress closes a chapter in its history with the retirement of Geo. W. Perry, for nearly eighteen years its editor and manager.

Mr. Perry is terminating his newspaper career on account of continued ill health, following a very serious accident that disabled him last winter. He and Mrs. Perry, who was active with him in the operation of the Progress, will remain in Elk Rapids where their interests lie, as for so many years, and where good friends surround them.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Preston, formerly of Northport, are the new owners of the Progress, and, as Mr. Preston is a printer of long experience, the publication will doubtless continue in the prosperous condition it has enjoyed in the past and grow in its influence in the benefit of the community.

HARDY VARIETIES
GROW BEST HERE

PEACH CROP DEPENDS ON SELECTION OF KIND

The Elberta Best for General Commercial Planting in This State

Success or failure in Michigan peach growing is often determined directly by the varieties which are grown, according to Prof. R. E. Loree, of the M. A. C. horticultural department. Even when trees are grown on ideal sites and under the most favorable cultural conditions, yields and returns are often disappointing if the varieties are not wisely chosen.

Making selections from catalogue illustrations and descriptions is probably responsible for more errors in choice of varieties than any other factor, says Prof. Loree. Many varieties are listed in nursery catalogues, and while all undoubtedly have some desirable qualities, many have serious faults which are often overlooked.

Hardiness is an important factor to consider in making selections for Michigan growing, because of the susceptibility of many varieties to injury by winter cold or late spring frosts. Quality, size, color of fruit, season of ripening, vigor, and productivity should also be taken into account.

A special list of varieties recommended as most desirable for growing in Michigan has been prepared by the M. A. C. horticultural department. These have been selected with particular reference to hardiness and the ability of the trees to produce good crops of quality fruit wherever peaches can be grown. The varieties are listed in order of their ripening season.

For general commercial planting in the state, the Elberta is the only variety recommended. For local markets, Prolific, Engle (Engle Mammoth), South Haven, Elberta, J. H. Hale, and Salway are named. The list for the home orchard includes: Dewey, Early Michigan, Engle, Hill's Chili, Gold Drop, and Lemon Free.

FERTILIZER SAVING POSSIBLE

MICHIGAN FARMERS COULD SAVE $300,000

An Expert Claims This Would Follow Exclusive Use of Standard Products

That Michigan farmers who purchase fertilizers could effect an annual saving of $300,000 by using only the high grade or Michigan standard fertilizers instead of low grade or low analysis materials, is the statement of Dr. M. M. McCool, head of the soils department at the Michigan Agricultural College.

"Lack of standardization and the use of low analysis fertilizers have resulted not only in an unnecessarily high cost of plant food to the farmers, but also in less efficient use," says Dr. McCool. "The cost of manufacturing and handling a given amount of plant food in high analysis fertilizers is less than it is for those of low analysis."

"The Michigan farmer should purchase fertilizers on the basis of their plant food content, rather than on a cost per ton basis. A standard fertilizer is conceded to be one which contains fourteen or more per cent total available plant food."

"Last season one fertilizer company placed on the market more than 100 brands, which did not vary greatly in their analysis or plant food content. As a matter of fact, the brands were of only 23 different analyses. The lack of information on the part of the farmer was made use of in selling these goods."

"If the farmer would make a study of the composition of fertilizers, which is easily done through the county agents or the college authorities, there doubtless would be only a relatively few fertilizer brands sold in the state."

A list of fertilizers which have been adopted as standard together with information concerning their use under different soil conditions for all crops, has just been published by the soil section of the Michigan Agricultural College experiment station, and is known as Circular Bulletin No. 544. It may be had on request.

ROAD BUILDING

PLAN FOR FOREST HIGHWAYS

Secretary Wallace Approves Program Involving Outlay of Approximately $10,000,000.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

A program of national forest highway construction involving an outlay of approximately $10,000,000 for 1,170 miles of road in 23 states has been approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. This program will be financed largely from the forest highway fund provided by the federal highway act. About $5,000,000 will come from this source, $1,000,000 from other national forest road appropriations, and the balance of $3,900,000 will be contributed by states and counties.

The work provided for is as follows:

States	Proposed Expenditure	Miles
Alabama	2,063	15
Alaska	336,850	55
Arizona	1,911,500	120
Arkansas	145,736	32
California	1,248,127	60
Colorado	627,000	106
Florida	21,170	14
Idaho	1,204,928	107
Montana	606,431	22
Nebraska	9,964	75
Nevada	196,709	31
New Hampshire	25,284	8
New Mexico	423,000	64
Oklahoma	6,732	3
Oregon	7,220,899	210
South Carolina	2,173	6
South Dakota	61,899	7
Tennessee	1,600	1
Utah	292,104	66
Virginia	2,509	4
Washington	769,691	50
West Virginia	1,400	20
Wyoming	294,150	29
	$10,000,000	1,170

The funds and mileage are for forest roads of primary importance to states, counties, and communities. The program was recommended to the secretary by the forest service and the bureau of public roads. It is to be carried out in cooperation with the states.

An Improved Road in Bear Creek Canyon, Colorado.

road of public roads will supervise the construction work, and it is expected that a large number of the projects will be completed this season.

Practically all the roads to be built are parts of the state or county highway systems and will therefore in most cases connect with and extend the system of federal aid highways covering the whole country. In some cases the new construction will provide roads through mountainous regions of the national forests hitherto penetrated only by pack trails.

In addition to the major road projects, about $5,000,000 will be expended by the forest service on minor roads and trails required primarily for the protection and administration of the national forests.

NIGHT TRAVEL WEARS ROADS

More Destructive to Highways Than In Daylight, According to Recent Experiments.

The experiments being conducted on the Bates experimental road show that night travel is more wearing on highways than is day travel, according to Clifford Older, chief highway engineer.

The road expands in the day, according to Mr. Older, and the center becomes convex. The heat is absent at night, and the road assumes a concave shape, the edges curling up and forming a slight hollow in the centers. From these discoveries it is deduced that heavily loaded vehicles traveling alone on the edge of a road way have a tendency to cause it to crumble.

The testing of the Bates road was begun late in March and is still under way. It was delayed for a time by the floods.

Boom for Good Roads.

A road program that will place Kansas among the leading road building states of the nation was urged by F. J. Heckle of Topeka, manager of the Kansas Automobile Owners' association, in an address to the state conference of officials of chambers of commerce.

Tennessee Road Work.

Tennessee has inaugurated a federal aid road-building program involving the expenditure of $8,000,000 for 281 miles of roads in 20 counties.

GIVE PIGS PLENTY EXERCISE

Animals Given Pasture Range and Plenty of Exercise Will Be Sturdy and Healthy.

Pigs that are shut in small, dry yards do not do as well as those that have pasture range. A pig that has plenty of exercise may not be quite as fat as his shut-in relative but he will invariably be much sturdier and healthier.

Lack of Protein

The lack of protein causes animals to shed their hair late in the spring, and causes them to fatten slowly during the early pasture season. The feeding of straw likewise causes this condition.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

Weekly Legislative Report

The legislative threshing machine is under full motion. Shelves of bills are still being fed to it in liberal quantities, "the not at the break-neck speed of the first three weeks of the session. Only 32 new measures appeared last week, bringing the present total up to 174.

All parts of the machine are now in operation. Chaff and undesirable material is being blown away by the various committees and the committee of the whole and the sound grains of constructive progress are being enacted into law. Each of the houses has already finally passed its first bill, but, of course, no bill has as yet received the final O. K. of both branches.

The legislature held but three sessions last week, continuing its policy of week-end recesses from Thursday until Tuesday. The Upper Peninsula members of the House, headed by Rep. MacDonald of Houghton, fought the week-end recess strenuously, but were finally defeated 36-30, being outnumbered by down-state law-makers who desire to get home and attend to their private business. The Upper Peninsula members must persevere remain in Lansing and so chafe under the seeming delay.

Democrats Assail Groesbeck

Democratic campaign pledges to attempt to curb the absolute power now possessed by the Governor culminated in the introduction in the House on Tuesday by Rep. George M. Long of Pompeii, democrat, of a bill to end the Governor's authority to veto acts of the State Administrative Board. The clause which Rep. Long wishes to strike out states: "In no case shall any order be issued under this act without the written approval of the Governor." Only 5 of the 100 members of the House are democrats, however, and their plans do not appear to be getting very far. The state affairs committee of the House, to whom the bill was referred, has already voted not to report the bill out, and it is generally conceded that the measure is "dead."

Hasty and secret marriages would be prevented by the provisions of a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Dykstra of Grand Rapids. The bill would require that the parties contemplating matrimony would first be required to secure a "declaration of intent to marry." This declaration would be filled out in detail with names, ages, residence, parents and occupations of the applicants and posted publicly by the county clerk for 21 days and published weekly for three successive weeks in a local paper before the marriage license could be secured. The license must then be secured within the next three months or the "declaration of intent" becomes void.

Rep. Vincent Dacey of Detroit offered a bill to make the posting of a registered letter to supervisors a formal service in the case of special meetings. It is claimed the present method of serving personal notice of special meetings is expensive.

Bovine T.B. Considered

The importance of the campaign for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis in Michigan was emphasized in the House on Thursday when three bills bearing on this subject were presented, two by Rep. Eugene Kirby of Covert, and one by Rep. John Holland of Bessemer. The first of Kirby's bills provides an emergency appropriation of $200,000 to be paid out of the general fund of the state to cover existing claims and finance the work for the rest of the fiscal year.

In order to decrease the cost of the bovine tuberculosis eradication campaign and allow for carrying it out on a larger scale, the other Kirby bill slightly reduces the amount of state reward. The amended section would read: "In case of tuberculosis cattle, whenever the commissioner shall direct the killing of such cattle, it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to appraise the animal or animals condemned, and the owner or owners thereof shall receive from the State a sum equal to one-third the difference between the appraised value of each animal so destroyed and the net value of the salvage thereof; provided, that in no case shall any payment by the state be more than $25 for any grade animal nor more than $50 for any registered purebred animal." This would be in addition to the federal award. The present maximums are $100 each for registered cattle and $35 for grades. The Kirby bill also would pave the way for county cooperation by authorizing supervisors to name veterinarians to cooperate with the state commissioner of animal industry. Thirty-six Michigan counties already have made such provision.

The Holland bill would require the State to recompense the farmer for all condemned cattle at full appraised value. This would greatly increase the cost to the State and it is believed that the House Committee on Agriculture, to whom it was referred, are not at all favorable to it.

Eastern Time Sought

Eastern time twelve months a year would be established in Michigan by a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Orvy Hallett of Ann Arbor.

A bill which would extend the power to suspend automobile drivers' licenses to magistrates and judges and provide for the impounding of the cars of traffic law violators was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Geo. Condon of Detroit. Under the present law, the power to suspend licenses rests solely with the secretary of state and the court is only able to recommend that the license of an offender be suspended.

The impounding feature of the bill gives the court the right to order the car driven by the violator to be stored, for not less than ten days, and not more than one year at the defendant's expense. The bill also provides that licenses may be revoked if the court decides that the person holding it is physically or mentally incapable of driving an automobile. One provision of the bill states, "Reckless driving, as referred to in this act, is defined as the operation of a motor vehicle on the public highways of this state in such a manner as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or the safety of any property."

Commercialized gambling in Michigan will receive a severe jolt if a lengthy and comprehensive bill introduced in the Senate by Sen. Borski of Detroit is passed. The bill declares any form of gambling to be a felony punishable by $500 fine, six months imprisonment, or both. Making bets or pools and keeping gambling houses are specifically prohibited, while racing forms, betting tickets, and all gambling devices are declared to be public nuisances.

A two cent gas tax proposal was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Atwood of Newaygo. This bill is identical to that presented in the House by Rep. Warner of Ypsilanti.

SLEIGH WIDENING IS PROGRESSING

Big Concerns As Well As Individuals
Heeding The Call

Some public spirited citizens headed the plea in our issue of January 17th, and widened their sleighs, or else had done so before. This is good as far as it goes, but it must be remembered that unless everybody follows suit, little good will be accomplished. A narrow sleigh means one runner on a hard footing and the other plunging through loose snow.

Frank Bird keeps the road open between his place on the Boyne City turnpike and Boyne City on one hand and Charlevoix on the other by hauling cord wood to Charlevoix and hay back to Boyne City. He has wide runners.

The East Jordan Lumber Company have widened out all their sleighs and have been keeping the roads open in and around East Jordan for some time. Loebs Farms have done likewise and the results are already gratifyingly noticeable.

Once this comes to be a general practice, the convenience and saving in time and money will make the farmers of this region wonder why they never thought of doing it before. Rapid transportation will be one of the big features of 1923 all over the world and we can start the ball rolling here by keeping open lines of communication with the outlying districts in winter as well as summer.

ICE CUTTING STARTED MONDAY

O. D. Hammond and Heise & Yettaw Putting Up Their Supply

The annual ice harvest started Monday of this week. Cutting has commenced opposite the Inn and the Bellevue on Pine Lake. The big cakes are nearly twelve inches in thickness and exceptionally clear. The yield so far promises well for Charlevoix's 1923 supply.

O. D. Hammond has secured the usual number of contracts with the city's heaviest consumers of ice, including the hotels, fish packing concerns and the dealers, with the exception of Heise & Yettaw, who put up their own supply. Their men and teams, as well as those of Mr. Hammond, are now engaged in the work.

STATE MUSIC CONTEST STARTS

He became professor at the conservatory. For three years he was director of the National Conservatory in New York. Thereafter, he lived and composed in Prague.

Dvorak's compositions, which include choral works, operas and fine symphonies, are characterized by striking rhythms, varied and contrasting effects and the use of themes in the style of the folk tune.

The Humoresque
This is a short piece in 11 flat major. It gained popularity thru its use as a violin number and although used for other instruments, still remains a favorite for strings. The theme in this composition changes twice, the second time to a different key. At each change in theme, there is a marked change in the tempo. Hence the title, meaning caprice, whimsical.

Sir Edward, William Elgar was born in Broadhurst, England, June 2, 1857. He succeeded his father as organist in St. George's Cathedral, Worcester. Elgar made his debut as a composer in 1890. He has written many oratorios, including the world famous "Dream of Gerontius," many cantatas, orchestral compositions and innumerable minor works. He is rated as one of the most distinguished of living composers.

Salut d'amour (Love's Greeting) is a graceful rhythmic melody employing one theme through several variations.

Department of Conservation
Notice fixing the time and place for a public hearing under Act 2, of E. A. 1917 as amended.
State of Michigan,
County of Charlevoix, ss.

Petition having been filed with this department, signed by twenty-five residents of the County of Charlevoix, asking that a time and place be fixed for a public hearing to determine the advisability of prohibiting the taking of fish by the use of a spear in the streams of that county, as now provided for by law, because of the threatened depletion or extermination of fish in the waters of said county.

Therefore, I, John Baird, Director, Department of Conservation, do hereby designate and fix the said time and place for said public hearing as follows, to-wit: Said hearing will be held at the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, on the Thirtieth day of January, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, which hearing may be continued or adjourned for such time as may be deemed advisable by said Director to afford all persons interested an opportunity to be heard in regard to the petition.

Given under my hand and seal this 29th day of January, 1923.

JOHN BAIRD, Director
Department of Conservation.
Owing to a change in plans, the above meeting will be adjourned to be held at the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix, on the Sixth day of February, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, other provisions of this notice to stand as originally written.

SUFFERED A RE- LAPSE AND DIED

Arthur LaBlanc, Weakened By Long Illness

Arthur LaBlanc, son of Mr. and Mrs. William LaBlanc, died very suddenly at the home of his parents, 314 Mason Street, last Saturday morning.

LaBlanc, who was twenty-four years of age and married, had been working in Marquette, Michigan, for a taxicab company. For several weeks prior to his coming to Charlevoix, he had been hovering between life and death in a Marquette hospital, with typhoid fever.

About three weeks ago, he was discharged from the hospital there, as convalescent, and came with his wife and baby daughter to St. Ignace, where he had a sister who was ill. His wife, with the child, stopped off there to take care of the sister and LaBlanc came on to Charlevoix to visit his parents.

The early part of last week, he caught cold and this coming upon him in his weakened condition after the fever resulted in his collapse and death. Saturday morning he was up and around the house at six o'clock. His strength suddenly gave out and at nine A. M. he passed away. Dr. Armstrong, who had been called on the case, had repeatedly tried to get the young man to go to the hospital, but he had steadily refused and was obstinate in declining to take medicine prescribed for him. It is possible that his life might have been saved had he consented to take proper precautions.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Mary's R. C. church here and the body placed in a vault at Brookside for later interment in the cemetery of the church.

Friends of the young man raised a substantial contribution to defray the expenses of his illness and funeral, officials of the taxicab company for whom he had worked in Marquette sending a check for $25.00 for this purpose.

Do not miss those wonderful values in winter wear. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 5-12 pd.

LID DOWN ON CAR LICENSES FEB. 1

No Cars Allowed On Road Without 1923 Plates

No licenses will be shown after Feb. 1 toward auto owners who have failed to secure certificates of title or their 1923 license plates, says Secretary of State Charles J. DeLand.

"Every application received by the department prior to Jan. 1, has been placed in the mails and there is no excuse for every car owner in Michigan not being in possession of the proper certificate of title, he said.

"Auto owners after 17 months of neglect and refusal to comply with the law regarding auto titles claimed loudly for their certificates of title and expected the department to mail them the day after their applications were received, never stopping to think that nearly 70,000 such applications were received in the last ten days of December.

"It was to give these people, delinquent as they were, time to receive their titles from the department that I requested the law-enforcing officers to respect the 1922 license plates until Feb. 1.

"I am now asking law enforcement officers of Michigan to properly enforce the Michigan license law after Feb. 1 and to allow no auto on the highway that does not display a 1923 license plate, as the blame for not having them at this time is the fault of the car owner and not of the state of Michigan itself."

The regular meeting of the Child Conservation League, held jointly with the school session, which is due February 2, 1923, has been postponed until February 9th, on account of the lecture course.

CELEBRATES HIS SIXTH BIRTHDAY

George Kelderhouse, Jr., Gives His Friends Enjoyable Time

Fourteen little friends of George Kelderhouse, Jr., helped him to enjoy a very happy birthday on Saturday, January 27th, at his home here, it being the sixth anniversary of his young life.

The afternoon was spent in playing games and at four-thirty o'clock refreshments were served, after which the little guests departed for home, leaving many nice gifts with their happy little host, as tokens of their esteem and friendship. All reported having a very enjoyable time.

"Forty-niners" Meet

On Saturday last the "forty-niners" gathered at the home of Mr. James O'Brien of this city, to help him celebrate his seventy-fourth birthday. A delightful dinner was served, after which the afternoon was spent in talking over pioneer days and singing favorite songs. Guests in departing expressed hopes of being able to repeat the occasion.

LEWIS A. CONVIS.

Lewis A. Convis discusses Russia, Siberia and Poland from knowledge gained by personal observation and conscientious study. He tells of those countries, their people and their problems with special regard to conditions and questions in which America is vitally interested, from both the domestic and the international standpoint.

For more than a decade Mr. Convis has been a close student of Poland and Russia, and he has had intimate contact with Polish and Russian peasants and upper classes both in America and Europe.

His years of study have made him thoroughly at home in the fields of Russian and Polish literature, art and music; and his interpretations of the soul of the Slavic race are vital, interesting and challenging. All of his addresses are replete with stories of his personal experiences, and as he speaks his hearers are transported to the heart of the countries he discusses. His audience lives among these people, shares their hopes and aspirations, and feels the impact of the motives and impulses that shape their actions.

Mr. Convis has lived not only among the Poles and the Russians, but among the Kergis, Mongols and Burjats; has traveled extensively in Japan and China and has been in Straits Settlements, India, Arabia, Egypt, Spain, England, Denmark, Germany, Czechoslovakia and France.

His experiences with the famous Polish Legion are particularly illuminating. He was in Warsaw during the Bolshevik drive and witnessed the magnificent defense of the Polish people made of their capital city.

The introduction of a stringent anti-pistol law by Sen. George Cannon of Detroit. The bill defines a pistol as any firearm having a barrel eighteen inches or less in length, and would require every person to secure a license from a judge, a police chief or sheriff, before he can carry a pistol except in his own home. It also requires all dealers in pistols to be licensed. Any person convicted of any crime will be liable to five or ten years extra sentence if it is proven that he had a pistol in his possession when the crime was committed. This extra sentence would be doubled for a second offense. Another provision of the bill would make the fact that a man was found armed with a pistol prima facie evidence that the crime for which he is on trial. Under the terms of the bill, it is a felony for a dealer to sell a weapon to a minor or an unqualified alien.

The railway labor union's pet project, the so-called "Full Crew" bill, made its usual appearance in the Senate. It was introduced this year by Sen. Frank L. Young of Lansing. Friends of the measure forecast that it will be enacted into law without fail this session despite any opposition the railroads may offer. The Young bill provides a minimum of 6 men for freight trains of 50 cars or over, 5 men for shorter freight trains, 5 men for passenger, express or mail trains of 5 or more cars, 4 men for such trains of shorter length, and 3 men for yard crews.

Two more railroad bills appeared in the senate during the week. Both were introduced by Sen. Augustus Gansser of Bay City. One requires railroad companies to equip their engines with automatic fire box doors and the other requires that automatic bell-ringers be installed on all locomotives.

A decrease in the University of Michigan mill tax from three-fifths to three-eighths of a mill was proposed by Rep. Walter Henze of Iron Mountain who declares that the present rate is yielding the university three million dollars annually which is more than the Legislature intended because the equalized valuation of the state has been considerably increased during the past year.

Old Friends Appear
The "Port District" constitutional amendment which was defeated at the general election last November was revived when Rep. Dacey of Detroit introduced a similar constitutional amendment in the House. This amendment is of special interest because of the probable construction of the proposed St. Lawrence waterways improvement. Its companion measure the so-called "Excess Condemnation" constitutional amendment, also defeated last November, was presented to the House of Rep. Culver of Detroit.

The much heralded Ku Klux Klan investigation resolution of Rep. James Burns, the twenty-three year old boy law-maker of Detroit, was presented to the House on Wednesday and promptly referred to the rules and joint rules committee where it will probably find a peaceful pigeon hole. The Burns resolution would require that an exhaustive legislative investigation of the Klan should be made and a report submitted by April 1, 1923.

Sen. James Henry of Bay Creek, the dean of all the law-makers, has introduced a bill to provide for the reorganization of circuits having Michigan. This measure would abolish the forty circuits now existing and create ten circuits having from one to four judges for the rural circuits and twelve judges in Wayne. Sen. Henry declares that the present system has been outgrown and a re-districting would promote greater judicial efficiency.

From the Bankers Standpoint
Despite the discussion and protests there is one piece of legislation recommended by Governor Groesbeck and the special taxation committee that is just as certain to pass as it reaches a roll call. That is the gasoline tax. There will probably be some few exemptions as it applies to gas users but the general idea is certain to prevail, which makes the opinion of Senator W. M. Connelly, the recognized highway lender of the legislature, of importance.

Building Policy is Settled—Funds Must Come

"We have a definite program for the ensuing two years," said Senator Connelly, "which includes and which is comprised of very necessary and essential projects for connecting up and completing our state trunk line system. The budget involves considerable money to do this, and we could not possibly raise the entire amount by additional tax on busses and trucks, as it would be too burdensome. The other alternate, if not a gasoline tax, must be a continuation of a property tax. The state is growing under the present property tax and almost demands a shifting of the burden. There are some thirteen states now operating under a gasoline tax and they are thoroughly satisfied with it, and have no intention of reverting to a property tax for highway expenses. The advantage of a gasoline tax over a fixed license fee on motor vehicles is that the vehicle pays, through a gasoline tax, in exact proportion to its wear and tear on the highways."

Big City Argument Answered

"It is true that a large number of motor vehicles are operating largely within city limits, but it is also true much city property is now taxed for highway purposes that has practically no interest in the highways outside of the cities. On the other hand, about ninety percent of all the traffic on the rural highways is traffic emanating from the cities. The motorist in the state now operating under a gasoline tax have made no complaint and are satisfied that it is a just tax. Most of the motorists in this state are making no complaint against this tax. The complaint comes largely from a few of the motor car manufacturers, or their representatives, claiming that this tax discriminates against the motor car industry."

Motor Vehicles have Created Situation and Must Pay

"I claim that the motor vehicle has created the necessity for our highly improved highways and they must pay for these highways. And if I can be shown a more equitable method of taxation for highway purposes than a gasoline tax, I will appreciate this enlightenment. This gasoline tax does not relieve property entirely, as the state only pays a portion of the cost of constructing and maintaining the trunk line highways. The counties are obliged, under the Aldrich Act, to raise their share of this cost, and this fee is raised by a property tax in most of the counties, so that property is not escaping entirely."

Rural School Men are Active

The rural school men all over Michigan are taking no chances with the recommendation of the special tax committee to divert the primary school money to the general fund. As a matter of fact, no one seriously thinks the suggestion has a chance. E. V. Root, school commissioner of Van Buren county, a leader in rural educational circles has prepared an interesting table for purposes of comparison. The Van Buren educator says "If this fund were diverted to the general fund of the state it would raise the school tax in the larger cities on the average one mill, in cities of 5,000, two mills; in villages of around 1,500 from three to four mills and in the smaller villages even more. A plan of this kind would raise school taxes in the rural districts from 25 to 75 per cent. What do you think of the proposal change?"

Commissioner Root has Interesting Cost Table

"School costs in Michigan are practically standardized," says Mr. Root, "that is they depend largely upon valuation. Given a valuation and there is a corresponding tax rate. Now wealth gravitates to the larger industrial centers, hence they have lower tax rates while maintaining a more expensive school plant."

"Anything To Wear" Motto of Russian Boys Who Face Death from Lack of Clothes

"Anything to wear" will be the motto of these three Russian boys during the coming winter months. Their condition is typical of that of millions of little Russian children, most of whom have come through the summer without shoes and seldom with more than two garments. And they face the prospect, according to reports which field workers of the American Relief Administration have made to Herbert Hoover, head of the organization, of being unable to go out doors to the A. R. A. kitchens which have fed them warm meals for a year or more. "As fuel is almost impossible to get, most of the homes will be heatless, adding to the peril the children face, say the reports for they try to go out in this scorching clothing they will be exposed to illness and death from the elements."

The Russian winter is as severe as that of the northernmost United States and Canada, and this has made the problem doubly pressing. For the Russian markets have little clothing available, and the supply that is for sale is held at prices far above the reach of the average workingman. Overcoats cost more than a year's salary. Some of the organizations allied with the American Relief Administration have sent clothing for distribution in Russia, but these contributions, big as they are, have been "only a drop in the bucket."

To overcome these conditions, the American Relief Administration has initiated a Clothing Remittance system operating in every way like the now famous Hoover Food Remittance. The Clothing Remittance costs $20, and each clothing package contains sufficient material for a suit or dress and four suits of underwear for man or woman or two children. The items include 4 2-3 yards of 56-inch 20-ounce dark blue wool cloth; 4 yards of 36-inch black cotton lining; 8 yards of 27-inch flannel; 16 yards of unbleached muslin; and buttons and thread to make up the garments. When the money is received at A. R. A. headquarters, 42 Broadway, New York, delivery of packages purchased without designated consignees, will be distributed among the most needy cases, many of which are beyond description.

Delivery of clothing packages is undertaken to any given address in Russia. The sender receives a direct receipt from the Russian who gets the clothing.

Boys, Mister Martin Has Gone Fo' a Little Journey

The late Bert Williams, famous colored comedian, was one of America's most whimsical characters. Williams numbered among his intimate friends everybody of consequence on Broadway. For years, he afforded delight to friends by frequent allusions to "Mister Martin."

Mister Martin was his good geni, a guide and councillor that he had developed out of his imagination. If, when writing a song, inspiration failed him, he would remark: "Mister Martin is out." If anything at all went wrong, he would say: "Mister Martin has gone fo' a little journey."

Shortly before his death a friend said to Williams: "Bert, who is Mister Martin?"

His cryptic reply was: "Mister Martin is Mister Martin. Everybody has a Mister Martin."

GIRLS WIN IN A HARD FOUGHT GAME

Defeat East Bellaire Quintet By 7 to 4 Score

The Ellsworth basketball girls won the hardest fought game of the year when the Bellaire girls held them to a 7-4 count on the Bellaire floor, last Friday night.

The first half ended 5-0, and was hard fought all the way. At the start of the last half Bellaire scored two field baskets, bringing the score up to 5-4, where it stood until with less than three minutes to go, Evelyn Ruis scored two more points for Ellsworth with a perfect shot on a hard chance.

The boys game was a rather one-sided affair with our boys on the short end of a 15-35 score. Both games were refereed by a Traverse City official, who gave excellent satisfaction.

BALANCED FEEDS MAKE MEAT

With Suitable Rations and Careful Supervision Farmer Should Make Hogs Pay.

There is no place on the farm where it will pay the farmer for keeping his winter-eye peeled, and his thumb-tank active, as when he is feeding his domestic animals. Balanced rations will help to turn coarse feeds into high-priced meat products, but along with balanced rations must go balanced personal supervision. With both, the farmer who can't make money raising hogs in these days has something to learn.

Cherry Sherbet.—Take a cupful of cherry juice left from a can of cherries, add the juice of half a lemon, a cupful of sugar and a pint of thin cream. Freeze as usual.

Brook Trout Baked in Cream.—When the fisherman gets tired, if ever, of fried or boiled trout, butter a baking dish and lay a well dressed trout in it. Cover with rich sweet cream, heat slowly in the oven, then cook until brown. Season late in the cooking so that the cream will not curdle with the adding of the salt.

Peach Pie.—Bake a pastry shell and when cold fill with thickly sliced peaches mixed with sugar. Cover with whipped cream to which sugar and almond flavoring has been added.

Krimmel Tort.—Put one-half pound each of slabs and walnuts and a quarter of a pound of lard through the meat chopper, add three tablespoonsful of bread crumbs, the yolks of six eggs beaten and stirred in, then the whites beaten stiffly and folded in, in one-half cupful of sugar. Bake very slowly in layers; put together with whipped cream.

A delicious sauce to use for fillings for cakes or sauce for various dishes may be prepared in peach season and if kept in a cool place will be good long into the winter. Peel ripe peaches removing any spots or blemishes, put through a colander or ricer and mix with equal parts of sugar. Put into chilled sterilized jars and seal. Place in the ice chest or on the stone floor of a cool cellar. This makes excellent fruit for a shortcake. It is too sweet a lot of lemon juice or a little sour apple may be added when using the fruit.

Always keep in mind that the De Laval Milker has been designed to please the cow. The cow cannot change her temperament to suit the milker.

Your cows have always been milked with an alternating action similar to that by which the De Laval will milk them. This is the logical and proper way of milking. It permits of rest and massage between each period of extraction, while the milk is drawn in an even, continuous flow.

The De Laval improves on even the best hand milking by making the periods of extraction and rest absolutely uniform.

TOWNSHIP SUPERVISORS AND CITY ASSESSORS FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS COLLECT FIGURES

They Were Compiled in the Office of the State Department of Agriculture in Cooperation With The U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics

The following agricultural statistics for the crop season of 1922, in Charlevoix county, were collected by township supervisors and city assessors. These figures were compiled in the office of the State Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics and constitute the first agricultural statistics taken under state authority in many years. Such corrections, additions and revisions as may seem necessary have been applied to the county totals. The Federal Census figures for 1919 are given for comparative purposes. Similar figures for all counties of the state will be contained in the Annual Crop Summary.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

A new semester has begun. It reminds us of New Year's Day and we wonder how long our good resolutions will endure. Probably until we have our yearly siege of spring fever. Mr. Hamilton and a promising young speaker of the seventh grade offered us on Monday morning, a very fitting program for the beginning of the semester. Mr. Hamilton read to us from the Book of Psalms, and Paul Sloane, of the seventh grade gave a summary of the life of William McKinley, finishing with a timely warning to all young men. He showed us what few of us had realized before, that President McKinley might have recovered from his fatal wound if he had not undertaken his strength with the use of tobacco.

Mr. Hamilton received a letter from Mr. Morgan, lecturer, expressing his appreciation of the welcome and courtesy shown to him by Charlevoix. It says to be good when company comes.

We are all happy now, for the two great trials have been passed through. We are no longer haunted by blue books and we have had our class pictures taken. Mr. Priest, of-ficiated at the latter performance.

The debate between Charlevoix and Gaylord has been cancelled because of illness in both teams. Charlevoix team No. 2 will hold its first out of town debate at Central Lake, in the near future.

The high school and a few of the Boy Scouts have collected $1.00 for Mr. Myers' funeral, while he is in the Charlevoix hospital. It is a very little thing, but it shows that we are all united in our sympathy for the family.

remember how many nights I have left the assembly open until six, while we finished our "last minute" themes and note-books. Let's make it a $100.

Our bulletin board announces the fourth annual basket ball tournament to be held at Petoskey, March 23-24. This is for schools of class B and C.

The next number of the lecture course occurs on February 2nd, at the Palace Theatre. Lewis A. Convis lectures on Russia and Siberia.

Now that a date has been set for the Junior play, the cartoons on the bulletin board exhibit more action. "Don't be late," is the principal theme. It may be meant to laugh at play practice and not for the "cavewomen" in the play. But they'll see it all at the Palace Theatre on March 2nd, 1923.

Mrs. Rose—"Why are you still in a magazine?"
Bright Pupil—"I'm getting my history notes."
Mrs. Rose—"Ah! Yes! A magazine covereth a multitude of sins."

We have a new pupil enrolled in high school, Ester Powell. Miss Powell is taking a special course in commercial subjects.

Sophomore-Senior supper. In keeping with the new high school spirit being shown this year is the cooperation of the Sophomore class with the Senior in the latter's attempt to put out a high school annual. To raise funds to help support it, the two classes are giving a supper at the Methodist church, Wednesday, February 21st. There is a chance for our friends to see the high school, as the saying goes, "Till all is in the Charlevoix hospital. It is a very little thing, but it shows that we are all united in our sympathy for the family."

FATHER AND DAUGHTER DIE

tario, Canada, May 17, 1848, and came to this country when a mere boy, settling in New York state. He was married there to Miss Alma Ormiston and came to Michigan with his family in 1872, locating in Ionia, where he lived until 1885, when they moved to Stanton, residing there until Mrs. Fanning's death in 1905. Since that time, he has made his home with his children, and for the past fourteen years has been a citizen of Charlevoix, staying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Bergeson.

Besides the late Mrs. Haight, Mr. Fanning was the father of five children, all of whom are now living; a son, W. A. Fanning, of Salem, Oregon, and four daughters: Mrs. Arthur Bergeson, of this city; Mrs. Linus S. Parmelee, of Flint; Miss Helen Fanning, of Ionia (who made her home with Mrs. Haight) and Mrs. Frank Kephart, of Traverse City. There are two brothers: M. E. Fanning, of Virginia, Minn., and P. R. Fanning, of Riverside, California, and a sister, Mrs. Ned Kykle, of Redvers, Saskatchewan; also a number of grandchildren.

Mrs. Haight was born in Ionia, June 24, 1878, and when but five years of age removed with her parents to Stanton, where the family resided until she had finished her education. She was a teacher in the Charlevoix public schools at one time and also taught for four years in Ionia. On August 7, 1906, she was married to Chandler J. Haight, of that city, who survives her. She also leaves two sons, William, aged 15 and Chandler, 13 years old and one daughter, Helen, six years old.

The Holy Name Society will give a pedro party and luncheon, Tuesday, February 6th, at seven-thirty P. M., at St. Mary's school.—Adv 511

WELL-KNOWN WOMAN PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Isabelle Covey Dies At Age of Fifty Years

Mrs. Isabelle Covey died at her home on Upright Avenue, January 23, 1923, as the result of a cancerous growth of long standing. She was fifty years of age.

Isabelle Hostler was born in Antrim county, Michigan, January 28, 1873. Her husband, Thomas Covey, who survives her, is now recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia and heart trouble at the Charlevoix hospital.

She left no children. There are two sisters: Mrs. Lewis Dufore, of Ellsworth, and Mrs. John Murphy, of East Jordan, and four brothers: Joseph and George Hostler, of Belaire, and Alexander and Henry, of East Jordan. There are a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Covey was well liked and respected here and will be sadly missed by her many friends as well as the relatives. She was a member of the W. R. C., a Royal Neighbour, a Rebecca (in Lansing) and a faithful member of the Baptist church here.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon, January 25th, at two o'clock, from the home of the deceased on Upright Avenue. Rev. Charles Rice, of the Baptist church, officiating. Interment was at Brookside.

Frank Provost Fatally Stricken Says Telegram Received

Mrs. Mary Provost, of this city, received a telegram Friday morning, stating that her son, Frank, who has been in San Jose, California, for some time was seriously ill. An hour or so later came another telegram stating that he had died that morning at five o'clock, and that the funeral was to be held Monday, at ten o'clock in the California city. No further particulars are as yet available.

Frank was the youngest son of Mrs. Provost and was thirty-two years of age. Their loss will be keenly felt by the sorrowing mother and the many people who knew him here.

AEROPLANE

AS FIRST AID

FLYING SHIP CARRIES DOCTOR TO BEAVERS

Large Gale, Desperately Injured And Cut Off From Medical Aid
By Leo Fines

An unfortunate accident, which occurred Saturday afternoon, has been attended with circumstances so remarkable as to have aroused the interest of the entire region hereabouts.

Jesse Cole, youngest son of Garrett Cole of St. James, is struck on the head by a "jammer" that tipped over while he was being hoisted, causing, as is believed from what information can be gathered at the present writing, a severe fracture of the skull. A telephone message received from the island at 11:15 after noon today, states that the young man is still living, but has a high fever.

News of the accident was immediately telegraphed to the sister of the boy, who lives in Chicago, with the information that the doctor was available and that help would not reach the injured boy from outside on account of the broken and treacherous ice surrounding the island. The sister got in communication with Dr. Armstrong here on Monday, asking him if he would make the trip in an airplane, providing that no other means of communication was open. The doctor assented and the Chicago relatives of the boy got into immediate communication with Commander Spatz of the Selfridge field, an instrument flying station lying just outside of St. Charles, who sent a plane yesterday. This machine got as far as Gaylord yesterday morning, where it developed engine trouble and was forced to land in deep snow, from which it was found impossible to free it in time to proceed to Charlevoix. Word of this reached the Commercial Association here, who again got into communication with the Selfridge field and a second plane left there this morning. Between seven and eight o'clock arriving in Charlevoix at ten o'clock having completed the run of 241 miles in just two hours and forty minutes, at the rate of about one and a third miles per minute.

Their landing place on the ice of Pine Lake, near the Bellevue hotel and Summer House Association grounds, was marked, by request of the flying corps commandant, with a huge cross of black baling paper secured to the ice at a favorable spot. The plane, whose official number is D141B, of light bombing or observation type, is commanded by Lieut. L. St. Redith, who has with him as mechanic, O. R. Schuch. Both men are attached to the First Pursuit Group, now stationed at Selfridge field. An attempt was made last night to prepare the hospital flying boat, which is designed for air ambulance service and has compartments for two patients besides the driver and mechanic. Such, as it happened, was the condition of this machine that after working all night on its repair, the attempt to use it on the long trip to Charlevoix was abandoned on the D141B substituted. This plane is a two seater, but certain changes were made enabling a third passenger to be comfortably carried.

When the D141B arrived here this morning, the lieutenant in charge found that Dr. Armstrong was in Central Lake, having been summoned there at an early hour in an emergency case. It was therefore necessary to await his return on the morning train. He reached here shortly before noon and on the stroke of twelve, before the last note on the fire siren had died away, the big bird could be heard humming high above the town on the start of its fifteen minute run to the Beavers, a distance of twenty-two miles.

A telephone message received here shortly before one o'clock, stated that the doctor had been safely landed on the ice opposite the injured boy's home, about twelve miles south of St. James. Dr. Brown, a Levering physician, is also attempting to make the trip from Cross Village by dog stage, to offer his assistance to Dr. Armstrong. There is some doubt, however, owing to the condition of the ice at this point, as to his getting through. It is expected that the plane will return some time this afternoon.

Late afternoon in Charlevoix, the plane returned from the island at 2:45 this afternoon. The patient was found to have a fracture of the base of the skull and was being unconscious for two or three days. Dr. Armstrong hopes that he would have a better chance if left at his home, with the doctors for his care, than if he were crowded into the plane and brought here on which at best would be a mighty cold ride.

The party landed, contrary to the original plan, on the ice of Lake George, with a small island body of water about a mile from the home of young Cole. The doctor and lieutenant were alone in the plane, as the mechanic had remained here in Charlevoix in order to make room for the patient. They made their way to the house by a logging road, a team having been placed at their disposal.

The trip from here to the island, a distance of about twenty-two miles, was made in 15 to 20 minutes. The return here was made in good time and with no mishaps. Lieut. Meredith expects to take his machine back to Selfridge field late this afternoon.

HIGH PRAISE FOR HOME YOUTH

JACK SUPERNOW HONORED IN COLLEGE PAPER

Olivet Echo Carries Editorial Commendation in Terms of Warmest Respect for Graduate

The wise saw: "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." Does not hold in the case before us, for Jack Supernow, well known Charlevoix boy, whom the Olivet College Echo editorially praises in the article we reproduce below, was and is held in high esteem among his fellow-townsmen and friends here. Everybody likes Jack who knows him and it is with pride that we are able to publish the exceptional item taken from the November issue of the interesting little paper published by the college of which Mr. Supernow is a graduate.

"THE MAN"

"You are gone, but not forgotten," might have been written aptly for one Man who left Olivet's campus last year with a B. S. degree—Jack Supernow.

For he was a Man with everyone. His actions proved that his ambition was to serve the school and fraternity during those four long years. He cherished the institution's welfare and endeavored to promote the best interests of those who surrounded him. He was fair to every activity with his own and other societies and, moreover, fair with the college—never "per fas et nefas."

It would do no harm for older men on the grounds to try to emulate this personality. It may be said of him that he was the potent force to bring about better relationship between societies. He proved his ability to inspire those with whom he came in contact, offering sympathy and invaluable advice in times of need. As speaker of his fraternity, he established a group which was very near utopian, raising the standards of morality to the highest degree.

We hope that what he began in the way of linking the fraternities together with a chain of friendship will be carried on by the future speakers; that the bonds will not be cut asunder because some leaders couldn't be Men."

CELEBRATED HER ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Miss Edna Marie Brown Entertains Her Friends

Miss Edna Marie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brown, gave a party in celebration of her eleventh birthday to about twelve of her young friends at her parents' home on Bridge Street last Saturday afternoon.

Dainty refreshments were served and a cake with candles was one of the enjoyable features of the affair. In the evening, all went to see the late Wallace Reed in the "Dietator" at the Palace Theatre.

Why Does Charlevoix County's Tax Burden Steadily Increase

Where Will It End?—First of a series of Articles on This Vital Subject.

A glance at the reports of doings at Lansing, where the state legislature is now in session, shows that the subject of taxes is again standing out in the foreground as the great topic of interest. How far we have gone on the road of taxation is revealed by the startling figures of Auditor General Fuller, who reports delinquent taxes for 1921 of $1,725,048, a sum in excess of the total state tax for the year 1891. This means that the taxes which people found themselves unable to pay in 1921 amounted to more than the total amount of money required to run the state in 1891.

This failure to pay current taxes indicates the way in which the tax burden is becoming a hardship beyond the means of the people to endure. Add to this the many cases where people have been compelled to borrow money to pay taxes, and we have an appalling situation. The legislature may find some way to relieve conditions in a measure, but it is doubtful if a way may be found that will avoid the inevitable, which is, that no matter how the money is raised the people will have to bear the burden in the end.

We do not claim to be an authority on taxation, but we have a lurking notion that one of the most effective ways of avoiding excessive levies of money is to cut down expenses and stop incurring obligations that cannot be afforded. As applied to the state expenses, the ordinary taxpayer has little chance to get the facts. It probably would be necessary for the investigator to first arm himself with a compass and a shotgun in order to get past the cordon of state officials and employees now on the pay roll at the seat of politics in the state capitol. After that he would find himself in a sea of figures in a craft that didn't draw enough water.

Doubtless it would be better judgment for him not to take in so much territory, and confine himself to conditions at home where the water is not so deep. Locally, he would find that the delinquent taxes returned to the county treasurer in 1922 amounted to the appalling sum of $41,917. In one city in this county the returned tax was the sum of $29,819.82. In a single township the sum was $5,498.21. In the township of Marion, calculated to be one of the best, if not actually the best township in this county, the returned tax was $3,573.19. What is wrong here?

It cannot be said that the township officials are at fault because a very small part of this tax is used for township purposes. Let us look at a few items of cost. In the county poor fund we find total disbursements of $20,159.87, with a credit of receipts from the poor farm of $1,320.87, leaving a total expense to the taxpayers of $18,839.00. We are not saying that this expense was unreasonable in amount, for we must take care of our poor, but it looks large. With the increasing tax burden, the indications are that it will become larger.

The school tax is, of course, one of our heaviest taxes, but we shut our eyes and pay when it comes to the welfare of our children. We may have something of interest on this subject later.

Another heavy tax is the road tax. This is a large subject. The autoist, which means nearly everybody, demands good roads. He is an expensive customer, too. We understand the coming year's operations in road building will exhaust the balance of the $350,000 voted in this county. What we will do after this money is spent is a problem. We are informed that Cheboygan county has suspended road building operations entirely.

The cost of maintaining our courts, exclusive of justice courts and not including many minor expenditures, amounted in 1922 to $5,160.60. This does not include salaries of county officers. The jurors fees, mileage and meals, and witness fees alone amounted to $4,200.10. A tidy sum for the tax payer to dig up after he gets his 15 cent potatoes dug.

As we are pushing our pencil to see just how we can manage to keep our taxes from being returned delinquent, we feel inclined to investigate a number of things, and in looking into them we naturally are inclined to place the blame on those officials or employees who have the power to incur the expenses and opportunity to keep them down, or at least within the limits of the people to pay.

This is a serious business and we are in a serious situation. There is no use in dodging facts. If the present legislature can find a way, very well and good, but in our judgment, it is up to the people to attend to their business.

Unite Charlevoix and Emmet?

Under the provisions of a reapportionment bill, recently introduced in the legislature by a Detroit member, Charlevoix and Emmet counties would be united in one district.

whereas both counties now have separate representation. In Lansing, however, it is believed that the proposed reapportionment has little chance of being enacted into law.

The Woman's Relief Corps will give an all-afternoon innit and supper at the Charlevoix Hardware company for benefit of American Legion, on Saturday, February 17th. Hot soup and good lunch at noon. Advs. 6-11.

DESTROYED BY MIDNIGHT BLAZE

Commercial House at East Jordan Burns to Ground

The Commercial House at East Jordan, a two-story wooden structure, operated by William T. Jordan, was destroyed by a fire which broke out in the early evening of Monday and burned to the ground.

Causes in the building at the time were found to be in their night clothes, leaving the stove and a lamp. They did not know and hurried from the upper floor, leaving behind them their clothes and valuables. A strong northwest wind was blowing, with a near zero temperature.

The volunteer fire department and a hard struggle to keep the adjoining buildings from going also, as the flames spread so rapidly through the doomed hostelry.

The Hite drug store near by was badly damaged by water but practically untouched by the fire. The offices of Dwight Wilson, attorney and Mrs. Grace Barwell, city treasurer, also suffered heavily from water damage.

APPRECIATE SEED SPOBS

G. R. HERALD COMMENTS ON GIFT TO FARM BOYS

Charlevoix, and Emmet Lauded For Encouraging Indiana Lad To Be Farmer

The following editorial appeared in a recent edition of the Grand Rapids Herald:

"Potato growers of Charlevoix and Emmet counties are doing a dual service in their Christmas gift of certified seed potatoes to the boys of Indiana. While creating a new vision in the minds of the boys of the Hoosier state that Michigan certified seed are the finest potatoes for planting grown, at the same time this gift will encourage young America to stick to the plow and the cultivator."

"It requires not a little foresight to appreciate the value of this gift, a car load of seed potatoes to be distributed by the county agricultural agents among the boys' clubs of Indiana. There can be only unanimous approval of this gift to the donors. The potatoes will be planted by lads who have five to ten years of life's road to travel before becoming of age equal to the task of farming for themselves. But Michigan is going into the business of growing certified seed potatoes on a permanent basis. The growth of Charlevoix and Emmet are looking into the future. These boys, planting the best Potosky Russet seed potatoes, will reap crops which will convince them that there is pleasure and profit in farming—possibly so when the seed is certified by the growers of Michigan. When they reach maturity and look about for a choice of a vocation, farming is going to exercise a strong appeal and Potosky Russet seed certified in Michigan will be remembered."

OLD EVELINE RESIDENT DIES

Sid Hayden Passed Away After a Short Illness

Sid Hayden, seventy years of age, died January 25th, at his bachelor home in Eveline township, six miles west of Boyne City, near Hayden Point.

Mr. Hayden was born near Lansing, but moved to this county fifty-one years ago, and has for all those years been a respected citizen of Eveline township, where he owned and operated a farm. Being one of the old settlers, he watched our county grow from a more or less wilderness into one of the most prosperous counties in the state. Not alone did he witness this growth, but he was in many ways responsible for portions of that progress.

Mr. Hayden was ill for about two weeks prior to his death. He is survived by two brothers, John W. and Sam, both being residents of Eveline township.

The funeral was held Monday, with interment in Advance cemetery.

The Congregational Missionary Society will serve a lunch at President's drug store, Saturday, February 10, from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. Adv. 6-11.

MENDELSSOHN AND OFFENBACH

GREAT COMPOSERS DISCUSSED THIS WEEK

Their Best Known Works—The "Spring Song" and the "Barcarolle" Familiar To All

The Music Memory course, subjects for this week include that of the best known composers, Felix Mendelssohn and Jacques Offenbach, and a discussion of what are perhaps their best known and most beloved works.

Last week one of the gamblers on the season's list was left out through error—Handel's Hallelujah Chorus. Those interested will kindly make note of this change.

Felix Mendelssohn

The life of Felix Mendelssohn strikes one because of its remarkable activity, begun at a very early age. The son of a wealthy banker, he was born at Hamburg on February 3, 1809. As the French occupied Hamburg in 1811, it was necessary for the Mendelssohn family to move to Berlin, where Felix received his first training from his mother.

At the age of eleven, Felix was composing with extraordinary rapidity, producing sixty pieces during the first year of composition and the next year he was writing opera. The Mendelssohn family had established the custom of holding musical festivals in the dining room of their home on alternate Sunday mornings. The music was rendered by a small orchestra under the direction of Felix. For each of these festivals the boy had some new composition. Thus, at the festival on his fifteenth birthday, a private performance of his first three-act opera was held.

At the age of sixteen, his father took him to Paris, where he met Rossini and Meyerbeer. With these men he worked and discussed of music as if it was their equal in experience.

When only a little over seventeen, he completed "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream," which met with success immediately. During 1829 the composer made his first of ten trips to England, where "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" was produced. On this occasion the director of the performance left the entire score in a coach on his return from the theatre; but Mendelssohn wrote another from memory without a single error.

In 1837 he was married to Cecile Jemannuud, whom he took on his first concert tours.

In 1843, he opened a college of music. He was associated with Liszt on concert tours. The latter part of his life was spent in Leipzig.

The Spring Song
This fitting melody is always a favorite. It describes one of the composer's happiest moods and is a masterpiece of joy and lightness.

Jacques Offenbach

He was born at Cologne, June, 1819 of Jewish parents; came to Paris as a youth, and in 1833, entered the class of Professor Vassini at the conservatory. He then entered the orchestra of the Opera-Comique. Afterwards, he became conductor of the orchestra at the Theatre Francaise.

He composed sixty-nine pieces and 143 acts in twenty-five years. He never hesitates to repeat a good phrase, or to break a rule if any purpose is to be served by it, but his faults are much concealed by the bustle, gaiety and extravagance of his effects.

The Barcarolle, from his opera, "Tales of Hoffman," is the number by which he is perhaps best known. This composition is in the boat-song, 4-6 measure, representing the melody of the sailor's song in the soprano part, the wave accompaniment in the bass. The contralto voice closely follows the soprano, at times harmonizing, at other times alone.

U. of M. Alumni Organize

A Charlevoix branch of the University of Michigan Alumni Association was formed in Charlevoix on January 31st of this year. There are eleven graduates now living in Charlevoix and the organization elected the following officers: President, Robert Bridge; Vice President, Dr. P. H. Wilkinson; Secretary and Treasurer, F. R. Blakeslee.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Doris Richardson is expected at her home here Tuesday, to spend a week and assist in the care of her brother, Cecil.

Dr. McMillan and his driver, Clifford Genette, of Charlevoix, were Sunday dinner guests at the Rev. C. W. Howell home.

Muriel Hewitt, who has been confined to her home on account of a swelling on her eye, is better again and is back in school.

Charlevoix visitors from this section Tuesday, were, Ida Dice, Chas. Wisner, Bert Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and John Darlinghouse.

We have just learned of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parsons, of Ellsworth. They were former residents of near Norwood, and their many friends here join in extending congratulations.

Mrs. Blanche Stoddard spent the past week in Charlevoix, caring for her mother, Mrs. Henry Vandusen, who has been quite ill, but is reported as much better at this writing. Mrs. Stafford returned to her home here, Tuesday.

Friends of Cecil Richardson were grieved to hear of the serious accident which occurred by him last Wednesday, when a log rolled onto him, breaking his leg, while he was helping his father and brother in cutting some wood timber. Dr. McMillan is the attending physician.

ALFALFA IS TO BE FEATURED

TWO-WEEKS DRIVE STARTS IN GENESEE COUNTY

As Dairy Feed, It Will Be Subject of Extensive Campaign Starting Feb. 5th.

The Michigan dairy and alfalfa campaign, after an inactive period of two months, will get under way for the coming year on February 5 when a two-weeks drive starts in Genesee county. The campaign work, which is sponsored by the extension staff of the Michigan Agricultural College in the interests of better farming in the state, has already reached nearly a dozen counties and will be carried to many more during the next few months.

More than 3,000 farmers attended campaign meetings held in Clinton, Kent, and Washtenaw counties last fall, according to a report made recently by the college authorities. District or "barn yard" meetings were held on 240 farms in these counties.

The value of alfalfa as a soil builder, as a high producing forage crop, and as a means of cheapening milk and beef production on Michigan farms is brought out in the special campaign drives. Increased acreage and better handling, with resultant added prosperity for the districts, have followed the campaign already held, it is said.

The dairy end of the drives brings out the need of increasing the average production of cows in state herds by better breeding, feeding, and handling. The cow test and the bull associations are given as definite means of bringing about greater efficiency in the dairy industry.

Other county campaigns already scheduled for this spring include: Grant—Feb. 14 to March 2; Macomb—March 5 to 16; and Livingston—March 19 to 30.

VETERAN'S BUREAU

In a letter to Colonel Charles R. Forbes, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Roy C. Lovinggood, a patient at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital 74, Gulfport, Mississippi, writes: "For thirteen months I have been a patient in hospital 74 here at Gulfport. The treatment that I have received here has been characterized by service and satisfaction and the results have been beneficial. I attribute much of this benefit to the Occupational school. I have not only received valuable instruction which has already proven a benefit to me in business, but the daily mental exercise that I am given has helped to restore my mental faculties, especially the faculty of concentration, which was seriously impaired as a result of service in the World War." In closing his letter to Col. Forbes, Lovinggood says, "I am steadily improving and feel that I am indebted to the hospital school for the upward start to normal health."

Under an announcement from the office of the director of the Veterans' Bureau, no new claims for vocational training will be acted upon by the bureau. Under the Vocational Education Law, the time set for filing claims with the bureau expired on December 16. Claims pending with the bureau prior to or on December 16 will be considered. This does not affect claims filed for compensation.

Six additional Veterans' Bureau hospitals were established during the calendar year of 1922. Three of these hospitals are for tuberculosis patients and have a total of approximately 1,142 beds. Two hospitals, with a bed capacity of 705, are for neuro-psychiatric patients and one hospital is for general cases and can care for 165 patients. In addition to the new hospitals, there were added to existing hospitals under the bureau, throughout the year a total of 1,072 new beds at different hospitals, 300 of which were for neuro-psychiatric cases and the balance for tuberculosis patients.

At the present time there are under construction or being planned 15 new hospitals, totalling 5,059 beds, of which number, 1,878 beds are for tuberculosis, 2,931 for neuro-psychiatric and 250 for general cases. In addition there are under construction at four existing U. S. Veterans' Bureau hospitals new modern hospital units, which will provide for a total of 1,268 beds, of which 1,068 will be for neuro-psychiatric. This excludes such hospital beds as were opened during the calendar year.

As the new veterans' hospitals throughout the country, made possible by appropriations from Congress under the first and second Landley Bills, become available, the veterans' bureau is closing as rapidly as possible, hospitals which are undesirable. A great many of the hospitals which the bureau acquired by executive order in April of last year will be discontinued. Nine of the custodial type hospitals built during the war are satisfactory as permanent institutions for obvious reasons. Many of the other institutions which the bureau is operating as hospitals were remodeled hotels, which have themselves to hospital purposes only because they were the only places available. These and other more or less suitable institutions were all leased, and in the case of the really good hospitals, which were leased, the owners are now clamoring for their return to be used for their own hospital purposes. Since early spring, the bureau's hospitalization schedule, with patients in hospital, has shown a steady decline for all classes of patients.

With forty students of the Oregon Agricultural College competing in a fruit judging contest, Charles I. Adams, vocational training student in horticulture recently won first place in the contest. Adams was awarded a silver loving cup.

Roy Gano, also a trainee won second place in the same contest. Adams and Gano were placed in training at the Seattle, Washington, office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau and chose the horticulture course at the Oregon Agricultural College.

Plans are being worked out by the employment section of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau of District No. 13, Seattle, Washington, for invading the lumber industry of the Great Northwest with rehabilitated world war veterans, it has been learned today from Col. Charles R. Forbes, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

It is not expected that the plan will be put into operation before the coming spring when the timber activities are started. This will mark a new departure in employment fields for the bureau. The rehabilitated veterans will enter into all phases of the work, from logger to meat cook.

Notwithstanding the winter's unemployment situation in the northwest, the Seattle office of the Veterans' Bureau is taking care of the current training graduates. There are but eight graduates who have not been placed.

Do not miss those wonderful values in winter wear. Benj. Brown—Adv. 5112 pd.

HENS IN GOOSEBERRY PATCH

Fowls Will Do Much Toward Clearing Out Fruit-Worm From Under Trash in Garden.

One gooseberry insect we have with us that isn't easy to control is the fruit worm. It doesn't often become a serious pest but occasionally it has been known to take a whole crop. The worm eats into the partly grown berry and feeds on the pulp. Hand-picking is still the method used to hold this worm in check. Poultry ought to be turned into the gooseberry patch after the fruit is picked, as the hens will do a lot toward clearing the worms from under the trash. Poultry and fruit are a good combination when run right.

LIVE STOCK FLY REPELLENT

Care Should Be Exercised to Prevent Getting Mixture Too Strong, Causing Hair Shedding.

When mixing a repellent to put on the live stock to keep the flies away, care should be taken to prevent getting too strong a mixture. If any cause shedding of the hair. The following mixture has been found by the United States Department of Agriculture to give good results for a short time where applied lightly but thoroughly: One gallon of fish oil, two ounces of oil of pine tar, two ounces of oil of pennyroyal and one-half pint of kerosene. The horses and milk cows will appreciate some preparation.

RAISING FOWLS ON INSECTS

Good Plan for Farmers in Grasshopper Infested Regions to Use Turkeys and Guinea.

Turkeys and guinea fowl are voracious insect eaters. Would it not be a good plan for farmers in the grasshopper infested areas of the West to buy, rent or impact at the birds of these breeds they possibly can, instead of poisoning the crops?

To the Electors of Charlevoix County

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the position of Commissioner of Schools of Charlevoix County and will appreciate the votes of all who see fit to honor me with the same.

TO THE LETTER

France has crossed the Rubicon, so to speak, and the world stands against at such temerity.

Britain and the United States will withdraw their troops as a rebuke to the pugnacious Frenchmen. It is all right to withdraw American soldiers; the pitiful corporal's guard left at Coblenz has been there all too long, but with Britain it is different. She is a party to the Versailles treaty and should be bound by it as well as France.

Matters seem to be coming rapidly to a head in Europe. The opposition press are blaming the Harding administration for all the follies and dangers now menacing the peace of the world, while numbers of the Republican press are uttering stage whispers about certain shortcomings on the part of the Washington administration. Some Republican papers are with the French with both feet, so you pay your money and take your choice.

Why is it wrong for France and Belgium to demand what is justly their due? Why is it wrong to cross into Ruhr and secure the coal and other fields until Germany comes to her milk?

The Germans refuse to stand by the Versailles treaty, France is simply using force to compel the Teuton to pay his just debts, all of which may hasten the catastrophe of renewed war. If Germany is as helpless as she professes, France will have easy sailing. On the contrary, if the Germans have been acting the lie all along, then the world may be taught another lesson in the matter of trusting to German promises and German honesty.

Britain, however, is acting the part of a coward in the whole matter and shows ingratitude of the worst kind in her desertion of France and Belgium at the crucial moment. It was known long ago what amount the Germans must pay by the middle of January, yet the quibbling and halting policy of England served to encourage Germany to continue their arrogant default.

Should the fires of war again flick the hills and plains of Europe, England will not be blameless. It is not the fault of a large party in the United States that we are not embroiled in the new troubles which are threatening the peace of Europe. The word honest comprises more than any other word in the language, and it is because the central empire of Europe has never had any regard for that all-comprising word that she is seeking to create new trouble along the Rhine.

America's policy is to stand back and look on. There seems to be a considerable sentiment among our people to interfere with, advise against France doing her duty in the premises. If the French were to follow the advice of Britain and many Americans she would by so doing withdraw her claims for reparation, turn her back on her own robbed and murdered people and become the jellyfish of European diplomacy. Thank God, France and little Belgium are made of sterner stuff. Knowing their rights they dare maintain them, even at the expense of war.

Wheddling words, compromise and politeness are no more admirable in a nation than in an individual. France stands up to her agreement; Britain and Germany do not. Which, then, should we sustain and admire?

Compromise now will lead to no end of trouble in the future. Bend to the will of the enemy, let the Germans down easy, with 4 per cent payment of their just debts, and where will it end? The Teuton has no respect for his plighted word. Just a scrap of paper. Once he gets excused from a part of the indemnity assessed against him and then good-bye all.

No, good men of America, France is doing nothing to be blamed for, nothing to wonder at, nothing but what her sense of honor inspires her to do, and every freedom-loving man and woman in America ought to rejoice at her courage in the right as God gives her to see the right.

If all this leads to war, let war come. Better to come now than one year or ten years later. If this settlement is just, why should it not be made? Be just before you are generous is the proper policy to pursue, and that is what the sons of Lafayette are doing today in their raid into the Ruhr country.

Germany has played with the patience of a magnanimous enemy long enough. When patience ceases to be a virtue, the time for action is at hand.

Mistakes have been made, too many incoherencies in the final settlement of the troubles growing out of the world war. That France should insist on her rights, even to the point of war, is not inconsistent; nor is it unrighteous. She knows the Germans better than we do. Her despoiled homes, her crowded public buildings, the millions of people at the feet of a brutal Kaiser are not forgotten, nor has France asked for half that should be demanded by the Teuton and considered for results made by the Germans upon her millions of assaulted women and orphaned children.

It is inexplicable, the stand Britain is taking in this matter. She is leaving her liability to carry out agreements alone. This is not courageous. It is not manly, nor is it just. There will come a day when those who sneer at France for her present course will wish they had shown more charity than they are doing today.

It is admirable—the stand France has dared to take.

It is evident she means to hold the enemy country to the letter of the contract, and in doing this she is showing the courage of her convictions. It should be borne in mind that it is barely possible that America owes her position today as a world nation to the generous aid of France when a friend was sadly needed. The French at Yorktown made good, and helped the continentals humble the power of Britain, so that the surrender of Lord Cornwallis on that occasion was the beginning of the end which led up to the independence of the United States of America.

This is no time for shedding tears over the imagined wrongs of Germany.—Michigan Tradesman.

THE EASY MARK

Because of the careless manner in which many persons invest their life-long savings, large losses have been sustained by those who have been "hooked" by unscrupulous salesmen who had in mind their commission only, and not the solidity of the investment they represented.

Over one-half million dollars annually is "burned up" in this manner and all that remains for the unfortunate investor, is a scrap of valueless paper.

Babson, the statistician, has laid down the following excellent recommendations, which every investor would do well to take as a guide:

Choose Your Dealer.—Buy from established brokers and investment houses, of good reputation, or through your local bank. As in everything else, the character of the men behind the concern is your protection.

Buy Outright.—You are not identified as the owner of a specified bond until you have paid for it. In event of the dealer becoming financially embarrassed, any other course leaves you subject to loss as a general creditor.

Be Wary of New Promotions.—

These invariably meet with unforeseen contingencies. Remember that 95 per cent of new companies end in failure. Recognize that bonds issued wholly on property "to be constructed" are not tangibly secured. Funds for new enterprise should be supplied chiefly by those who can afford to back up their commitments with new money, if necessary. Limit your risk by taking seasoned issues.

Reject "Hurry-up" Calls.—The "one-call" or telephone salesman is a development of recent years. Remember there's a big broad market every day. Ignore the "last chance" argument. The mistake is not often made of pricing a new offering under the market. When this does occur you are not generally urged to buy quickly.

Learn the Facts.—Every good bond dealer regards careful investigation as his best publicity. It helps to establish both a satisfied customer and a good "secondary" market. Insist on complete information.

Save and Invest.—All the thousands of investment lists we have ever seen were started with savings. Did you ever hear of anyone who made a "killing" and kept it? Regular savings is just as much a necessary charge against personal income as depreciation is to the corporate income account.

Diversify.—Protect yourself against unforeseen catastrophes and the differences in trend of business conditions by a broad selection from both a geographical and industrial point of view.

THE ADVICE GIVER

The pathetic eagerness with which Europe pleads for a little word of helpful advice from the United States is equalled only by the pathetic alarm with which Europe receives any little word that is offered her.

The apparent inconsistency will puzzle Americans of the honest type, who are fairly busy with their own affairs and have not had time or impulse to study those of Europe. Scarcely a week passes but some distinguished representative of the old world begs, with tears in his voice for the United States to show a chummy spirit, to extend to Europe the blessing of a word or two of sound advice.

At least, that is the construction generally placed on the appeals for cooperation. It scarcely can be anything else. The people of Europe do not want to be thought pan-handlers; they can't be asking for a hand-out, they are proud old races of warrior kings with a history of national triumphs extending back to the days when heretofore was a pug.

They want us to chat with them, to help them to exercise their muscularity which disinterestedness embodies; to be the calm and confident friend when hot, adventurous blood threatens peril to peace; they want some sound, practical lessons on "how I made my first million." Or do they? Just as soon as the United States takes Europe at its word, or words, and hands out a package of common sense, Europe goes cold and assumes a stony, sometimes' acrimonious, but always pained. It appears not to be what they wanted. There is a silence with confused mutterings heard in the background. Yet it is the competition that was sought and as at Lausanne, the very soundest advice this country could give, or to which Europe can listen.

Here appears the great obstacle between the United States and Europe in any approach to palship. The advice this country gives is always along a line exactly opposite to the practice of Europe; hence there is nothing this country can say that will be easily listening for Europe. Yet along a line exactly opposite to the practice of Europe, following its own advice, is prosperity; while Europe, traveling in the other direction, is not. Perhaps the cynics are right, and what Europe means by cooperation is not good advice and moral authority, but her permanent acquisition of "The Road to Ruin," with the United States acting as "angel" for the show.

You may be thankful you are alive, but for other people?

MARINE LETTER CARRIERS WANTED

Two Million Pieces of Mail Handled In Year 1921

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for the position of marine letter carrier for duty at Detroit, Michigan, the receipt of application to close on February 12, 1923. Applicants are not required to report at any place for examination. The position pays $2100 per annum.

The Marine Delivery Service on the Detroit River, which is operated as a part of the system of the Detroit Post Office, was begun on June 17, 1895. The service was designed to afford vessel owners and captains a means of vessels a service approaching as nearly as possible to the advantages in the use of the mails that are enjoyed by persons on land.

In 1921, this service handled approximately two million pieces of mail to and from boats, including important messages from headquarters of steamship companies, weather reports, more than 4,000 telegrams, 3,500 special delivery letters, and the usual miscellaneous mail matter. So far as is known, this is the only mail service of the kind existing in the world.

An average of 125 boats pass daily to which and from which mail is delivered and collected.

Applications may be secured from Mason H. Rose, secretary of the local board of examiners at the local postoffice.

WHAT IS FAIR IS RIGHT

There should be a limit to the favors one man may ask of the people.

When one man has held a public office a quarter of a century, is it anything more than fair and just that he should step aside and give another equally as good a man a chance. If not, then but three men may aspire to such office in a century—ONE HUNDRED LONG YEARS.

Charlevoix County has given the present Circuit Judge political preferment for twenty-five years. The Judge has monopolized our share of the patronage of the people of the Thirteenth Judicial circuit during that long period. All others have stood aside for his benefit. Who is to decide upon the time when he has had enough—the People, or the Politicians?

Parn C. Gilbert is known throughout the state as an able lawyer, honest and outspoken in his convictions, of high standing and respected in his community. He has every right to aspire to the office of Circuit Judge and has the right to the consideration of every voter in the district without regard to geography, or any other consideration.

A CHINESE PRAYER.

Visiting an American state legislator, a Chinese gentleman, lately named William Hume, who is professor of history in Peking university, was asked to open the session with prayer. Professor Hume thereupon offered up this petition:

"O God, Father of all nations, our fast-chosen America, as the land in which to experiment with a political democracy, to be an example for the adoption and adaptation by other people in other lands.

"Help these lawmakers to make America the finest land in the world to live in, not for the sake of comfort or luxury, but because it is the place where men can do and serve most. Help them to make America the greatest nation in the world, not in the sense that other nations may fear her most because of her power, but in the sense that she has loved the most because of her gentleness; not in the sense that she has the most of the most, but in the sense that she gives most and serves best."

That prayer, given forth out of the hearts of two good men, was a fine example of the American spirit as well as that of the fathers themselves.

IF EDITORS ALWAYS

TOLD THE TRUTH.
Only a short time ago, the editor of the Michigan Courier, says an exchange newspaper, grew tired of being called a liar and announced that he would tell the truth in the future, and the next issue of the paper contained the following items:

John Smith, the latest merchant in town, made a trip to Bozville on Monday.

John Adams, our grocerman, is doing poor business. His store is dirty and dusty. How can he do much anyway?

The Reverend Green, minister of last Sunday night on charity. The sermon was puny.

Dave Hutchins died at his home Tuesday. The doctor said it was heart failure. Whiskey killed him.

Married Miss Evelyn White and home Lily, last Friday, to the Baptist parsonage by the Rev. Jones. The bride is a very ordinary young girl who does not do any more than most of the other girls in town, and who is not much more than a common thing.

Bob, aged ten years, six months, died 15 days. Deceased was a mild-mannered youth with a mouth full of whiskey. He came here in the night with another man's wife and joined the church at the first chance. He owes several dollars for the paper, his meat bills, and you could find singing "Jesus Paid It All" and anything himself. He was buried in an asbestos casket and his friends threw palm leaf fans into his grave as he may need them.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Charlevoix People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first.

But if you find it from the kidneys, that serious kidney troubles may follow.

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will be glad to know the following experience.

"The statement of a Charlevoix citizen, Mrs. Elvin Johnson, 803 Bridge St., says: 'When I had kidney trouble, my back was stiff and lame and I had a great deal of sharp pains caught me in the small of my back. I had a great deal of headache and my kidneys acted irregularly. Don's Kidney Pills were recommended and after using them, I was cured in a fine way.'

HARBOR SPRINGS TO HOLD HIGH REVEL

February 10th is Date of Big Winter Sports Program in Resort Town

Much talk has been heard here, lately and unofficially, about a "winter carnival" in Charlevoix and vicinity of a winter resort season. While we have been talking about it, Harbor Springs has not.

Winter the following account, clipped from a recent issue of their local paper:

"Harbor Springs has this the appearance of a winter resort. Hundreds of skiers and ice hockey players are here, and the town is a very attractive appearance and will greatly to the beauty and interest of this line store."

The event will consist of eight days, two classes starting noon for children, young men, and women; men and women and old times; skiing, tobogganing, motor sled and automobile races, sled and skate races.

The program will begin with yacht races in the morning at nine thirty. The sports will be completed by five o'clock, p. m. From seven until midnight there will be ice dancing at Joffe's. James Kirkwood will sing in "The Great-Large" song.

A special feature of the program is a special feature of the program, from 10 to 11 p. m. a two reel "Gladys" comedy will also be shown.

Gladys is invited to come and live in the North. Her husband, a young man, will be a young and three years old. A crystal palace will be another attraction. Being your skating boots, and spend the day in Harbor Springs, February 10.

Of course, the weather man may be of some help to say about this ambitious program, but it is a well-substantiated fact that "fortune favors the brave" and the enterprising spirit of Harbor Springs may lead ahead with confidence.

BOYNE HAS SOAP PLANT STARTED

Manufacturing Expert Partner With Local Man

In a recent issue of the Bozville Journal, it was stated that a soap plant had been started in Bozville.

"I think God is doing it," said Frank God of Detroit, on the first day of the soap plant. "I have been in the soap business for many years and I have never seen anything like this before."

The products are "Lido" and "Naptha" soap for the hands, and "Naptha" soap for the face, a laundry product. Both are marketed in cans.

Both the factory in this city, which already has two factories operating in Canada. When the right man appears, his meat bills, and you could find singing "Jesus Paid It All" and anything himself. He was buried in an asbestos casket and his friends threw palm leaf fans into his grave as he may need them.

Now if Charlevoix could secure an industry of two of this type it would help a lot. We have been an exclusive resort town for so long that we shall need to work gradually into the manufacturing attitude and the small, live industry is just the thing to awaken enthusiasm and confidence in our ability to put bigger things over.

HARDWARE CO. OPENS NEW DEPT.

Attractive Improvements In Store New Under Way

Extensive alterations are being made this week at the store of the Charlevoix Hardware Company.

The central portion of the main floor is to be devoted to the display of electrical supplies. To this end four pillars have been erected at the four corners of the central square of show cases and these pillars will be connected with a grille work, having a broad base, in which various sizes and styles of light fixtures and bulbs of different sizes and colors will be installed and wired up so that it will be possible to demonstrate their workings and the quality of the light produced. The center show cases will carry only electrical goods.

The carpenter work is being performed by Arthur Richardson and the painting by Robert Miller. The changes are being completed and the electrical department will present a very attractive appearance and add greatly to the beauty and interest of this line store.

Competent electricians are employed for outside work and repairs and, in keeping with the store's general policy, prices will be kept at a reasonable level, consistent with the quality of the work performed.

COMES TO WORK AT COUNTY BANK

Kaye H. Butters, Former Resident, Takes Position Here

Kaye H. Butters has accepted a position with the Charlevoix County Bank and assumed his duties on Tuesday. He has had considerable banking experience and comes to Charlevoix well recommended. Mary Charlevoix people will remember his father, who was one of the members of the Charlevoix County Bank, from 1895 to 1900.

Kaye Butters is a student from the University of Michigan in 1922 and, since graduation, has been employed as a teller in the First National Bank of Detroit. During his four years at the university, he acted as assistant cashier of the People's State Savings Bank at Pellston, through the summer months. In 1917, he was teller at the People's Savings Bank in Traverse City.

TRAVERSE WINS SECOND GAME

Friday Evening's Game Was Thirty in Nine

Last Friday evening, Charlevoix's basket ball squad went down to defeat for a second time, before the onslaughts of the visiting Traverse City team. This time to a score of thirty to nine. Their last victory was a tight one, 22 to 18.

Charlevoix has had players found some gratifying improvements in the Agony there. It is thought of the Traverse City squad of basketball players, they have expected at the end of the game, they were playing at the end of the game.

HOLD FIFTEENTH ANNUAL BANQUET

SHAKESPEARE CLUB CELEBRATED SATURDAY EVENING

Affair Held at Seven-Thirty at Hotel Charlevoix Proved To Be Delightful Event

The fifteenth annual banquet of the Shakespeare Study Club occurred on Saturday evening, February 3rd, at the Hotel Charlevoix at seven-thirty o'clock, the members of the club, with their husbands or other invited guests were ushered into the dining room, keeping step with a violin and piano number played by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge.

The scene was one of great beauty, the lights were burning low. The tables, four square, surrounded a court of potted ferns and palms, in the midst of which was arranged a subdued light, draped with smilax. Festoons of smilax were draped from the lights above to each corner of the court, the table decorations being of smilax and daffodils, gold candles, cut glass and other accessories.

The waiters were Miss Marguerite Swinton, Miss Margaret Fitch, William Paddock and Norman Shumham. There were forty-one seated at the tables. The feast was most excellent in every respect, consisting of ambrosia with wafers, oysters with brown bread sandwiches, celery, olives and gherkins, roast turkey, dressing, giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, Hubbard squash, early June peas, cranberry jelly, parker house rolls, butterfly salad, cheese wafers, chocolate roll, candies, nuts, orange straws, coffee, and favors.

The program followed; Mrs. J. L. Crane gave the president's greeting in her ever gracious manner. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge played two numbers on violin and piano. Also a trio by Robert Bridge, Edward Edwards and Dr. Mitchell Venn the Emidium, and Professor Philip McCavity, impersonated by Mrs. Irving Hallett and Dr. Mitchell entertained the company by telling amusing things concerning certain individuals always complimentary.

Dr. Mitchell and Robert Bridge pleased the company with a comic musical number which provoked a storm of laughter. Mrs. Armstrong gave a resume of the work done by the club in a quiet manner, for the general good of the community, mentioning several projects for the future.

The two selections of music now prominently before the public—"Humoresque," by Anton Dvorak, and "Salut d'Amour," by Sir Edward Elgar, were rendered by Miss Phillis Auld, after which the curtain was drawn for the play, "Suppressed Desires," a Kreudian comedy with the following cast of characters: Henrietta Browster—Mrs. Franklin Sears; Mabel (Henrietta's sister)—Mrs. Constance Gaskin; Stephan Brewster—Mrs. Robert Bridge. The play was a wonderful success.

This closed the splendid program of another successful and happy banquet given by the Shakespeare Study Club to the husbands of its members.

TRAVERSE MAN HAS GOOD IDEA

Knight's Reformation Scheme Reclaims Idle Land

The following clipping taken from the Grand Rapids Press sets forth a new scheme to be submitted to the state reforestation department.

"A plan for making the waste acres of Michigan pay for their own reforestation, is suggested by a Traverse farmer, K. T. Knight and backed by the Grand Traverse board of supervisors and the Rotary club, will be taken to the state conservation commission, and possibly the legislature, by Representative E. O. Ladd of Old Mission. The plan as proposed by Mr. Knight, provides for the taking over by the state of all idle acreage, which it may put under fence and selling grazing permits to stockmen. The presence of stock on the land, Mr. Knight contends, would return much of the humus burned out of the soil by countless fires and bring it back to a point of fertility that trees would grow thriflily. This would lead to a greater precaution against fire. In addition, the money received from grazing permits would allow the state to carry out a reforestation program wherever this was taken advantage of."

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmer's Standpoint
A barrage of bills and yet more bills have been filed across the reading clerks' desks in both Houses during the past week. The representatives have added 55 new measures to their dockets while the more conservative members of the upper chamber have presented 32 more bills to be considered. The total for both Houses has now reached 261.

Committees have held numerous sessions, the most important of which no doubt being the joint public hearing held in the senate chamber Wednesday evening before the Senate and House Taxation Committees at which the Sligh Bill to amend the Corporation Tax Law by removing the minimum and maximum limit was discussed.

Reapportionment Fight Looms

Reapportionment of state senatorial and representative districts is one of the highest issues at present, bills calling for such redistricting having been introduced in both branches by Wayne county members who are seeking to nearly double their representation. Up-state counties and rural districts generally will receive far less representation than at present if these bills are enacted. The fight is now being waged in the reapportionment committees of the two houses.

Marriage and divorce is as usual a fruitless subject for the bill-framers. One bill provides that divorces shall not be issued until the parties have been married at least a year. In any case an interdictory decree shall be in effect one year before an absolute divorce is granted.

One eugenic measure provides that no marriage license shall be issued in the state unless both the contracting parties submit certificates from registered physicians declaring that they have no communicable disease or other physical or mental defects which under the existing laws are defined as bars to marriage.

A raise of pay for the Lieutenant Governor from $800 to $5,400 per year is proposed by Rep. Howell of Saginaw, who would make the Lieut. Governor a member of the State Administrative Board in order that he might be in close contact with every detail of state affairs so as to be able to promptly and effectively assume the Governor's position, should emergency require.

Capital Punishment Proposed

Strange as it may seem, the death sentence is a very live issue in the legislature just at present, two bills having been introduced providing for capital punishment. One was introduced in the House by Rep. Clarence G. Pitkin of Muskegon, and establishes the electric chair by direct legislative enactment. The bill would not allow the death penalty in cases where the conviction was wholly upon circumstantial evidence and in all cases would give the judge the alternate power of imposing life imprisonment. The other capital punishment measure is supported by Sen. Arthur E. Wood of Detroit, and calls for a referendum on the question at the 1924 November election.

The coal situation is receiving legislative attention. A resolution to require government operation of anthracite coal mines was defeated in the House but later reconsidered and placed on the table, and a resolution urging Congress to pass an embargo on exportations of coal until such a time as American domestic and industrial needs are supplied was proposed by Rep. Walter Henze of Iron Mountain.

A $35,000 appropriation to make effective the 1921 law allowing state aid to counties for combating grasshoppers was presented by Rep. John E. Gillett of Rapid City.

As supplementary to his two-cent gasoline tax proposition, Rep. Joseph Warner introduced a bill to license distributors and dealers of gasoline and another regulating gasoline inspection.

New conditions bring new problems and now both Houses are considering bills to regulate aeronautics over land or water and to prevent aeronauts from infringing on the rights of property holders.

Highway Laws Numerous

A two-year vacation in regard to the issuance of more highway bonds by the state is proposed by Rep. Peter Lennon of Genesee, who seems to agree with the sentiment expressed by the governor in his inaugural message to the legislature that the state requires "a breathing spell" in the matter of further expenditures. Plans of the state highway department, it is announced, call for an issue of $10,000,000 worth of additional bonds this year.

State control of motor trucks and vehicles operated for profit beyond city and village limits is proposed by Rep. Wm. O. Lee of Port Huron, who would place such vehicles under the strict supervision of the public utilities commission. The bill requires quarterly statements of gross earnings and fixes the license at 5 per cent of the earnings for vehicles with pneumatic tires and 7 per cent for vehicles with solid tires. In the first quarter of the year the amount of the regular automobile license fee would be rebated to the owner. Half of the revenue raised by this law would go into the Primary School fund and half into the highway improvement fund. Ten tons is specified as the maximum gross weight of any such vehicle.

A leading Detroit dully in commenting on this bill stated, "Most of the special provisions are based upon sound consideration of the public's rights, but all of them will, of course, be open to debate and improvement, while the general principle upon which the bill is founded is beyond dispute."

On the following day, Rep. Lee introduced a second bill dealing with this subject. This bill would tax commercial trucks operating outside incorporated municipalities $35 annually for five-passenger cars and $5 for each additional passenger. Trucks with pneumatic tires would be taxed upon a sliding scale set at $65 for a truck from two and one-half to three tons, up to $165 for a seven-ton truck and trailer at $10 a ton. Solid tire vehicles would be taxed from $150 to $275 yearly, depending on weight, with $15 per ton for solid tire trailers.

Rep. Rowe of Camden would require the State Highway Department to provide for the construction, maintenance and repair of all trunk line highways and bridges at state expense.

Movie Fight Renewed

Movie censorship, defeated by the last two legislatures, has been revived. Sen. Geo. O'Conor of Detroit, has introduced a bill which creates a board of review to censor all films and specifically prohibits a long list of scenes which must not be approved by the censors.

A constitutional amendment has been proposed by Rep. Wm. L. Case of Benzonia, to provide "That no regular session of the legislature shall continue for more than ninety consecutive days unless such extension of time is agreed to by a two-thirds vote of the members elect of the Senate and House of Representatives."

Appropriation of whatever sum of money is needed to pay the remaining soldiers' bonus claims was introduced by Sen. Augustus L. Gansser, of Bay City. It is estimated that approximately $2,500,000 will be required during the next two years to meet the bonus claims that are as yet unpaid.

Among the minor measures introduced during the week are:

Rep. Edward R. Carter, Glaston—Stipulating certain specifications for railroad cabooses.

Rep. David Butler, Port Huron—Appropriating $50,000 for each of the next two years for the state fair managers.

Rep. A. M. Nevins, Dexter—Rebating 75 per cent of the automobile license fees for machines used in the mail service exclusively.

Rep. Floyd Rowe, Camden—Prohibiting adulteration of vinegar.

Rep. Chester A. Ferris, Detroit—Preventing any person from registering at any hotel or lodging house under a false name.

Rep. Wm. P. Stranch, Durand—Requiring manufacturers of ice cream to be licensed and giving the State Commissioner of Agriculture power to revoke such licenses for failure to obey his regulations.

Rep. Wm. O. Lee, Port Huron—Prescribing a standard oath for all school teachers.

Rep. Robert MacDonald, Houghton—A complete reclassification of the state's labor and workmen's compensation laws.

Sen. Walter J. Hayes, Detroit—Requiring private banks to incorporate and come under the supervision of the State Banking Department. This is in accordance with the administration's policy announced by the governor.

DIFFERENT WAYS FOR GIRL TO MAKE MONEY

Poultry, Dairy or Garden Are Good Suggestions.

Parents Should Encourage Young Woman to Establish Herself as Semi-Independent Member of the Farm Family.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When a city girl feels the need of money—her own money, to pay for the things girls imagine they must have these days—she goes to work in an office, a store, or a factory, according to her education and opportunity. In the country a girl, with much the same longings for nice things and "good times," looks to the poultry yard, the milk house, or the garden for her spending money. If her parents are the right kind if they are intelligent enough to help her and encourage her in her work, she will soon establish herself as a semi-independent member of the family. If, as often happens, the parents are not disposed to have such goings-on, and there is no home-demonstration agent, no girls' club, no extension work of any kind in the community, the country girl goes to the city and the farming regions have lost one more potential home and family.

No doubt exists in the minds of men and women of large experience in the extension work carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with state agricultural colleges that the economic appeal is the entering influence needed in getting their clubs or bureaus started in rural regions. Once the young people have learned a way to earn money the desire for the things it will buy asserts itself, and home betterments and improved living conditions follow naturally.

Down in Arkansas a girls' canning club started a contest to determine which of the members could produce the most tomatoes at the least expense, and with the lowest percentage of waste. Anna Surgo, on the Mount Valley route, near Hot Springs, grew 3,140 pounds of tomatoes on one-tenth of an acre, at a cost of $31.40 and net returns of $100. With the same expense her sister, Fannie, grew 3,020 pounds and had a net return of $107.80. Ada Rosmond grew 2,803 pounds, costing $27.42, with a net return of $70.60, and Ruby Waddell, at Bonnerville, had 3,070 pounds, costing $29.91, with net returns of $68.

America's Food and Medicine May Go for Naught if Russians Cannot Secure Clothing

"If Russia's children, and adults as well, are to be saved from death this winter from exposure—after the charity of America has brought them through the famine of last winter, they must be supplied with clothing." This is a consensus of opinion of the American Relief Administration staff in Russia, from Colonel Haskell down to the inspectors, according to their reports to Herbert Hoover, head of the A. R. A.

From every part of Russia where the A. R. A. has been feeding children and adults, and has been instituting sanitation and medical service and inoculations to save literally millions of lives, the story is the same—that the children lack even the bare essentials of underwear, shoes, stockings or outer wear, with which to protect themselves against the rigors of the Russian winter. And the need of aid in this direction for adults, too, is indicated by statements of recently returned workers, who state that in cases where Russian employees have been given a blanket for extra services the blankets have almost invariably been made into overcoats. Literally millions of children, say reports, have no shoes—an item which in itself may make it impossible for them to go to American Relief child-feeding kitchens. Free shoes and stockings have been provided for 250,000 children who are absolutely without footwear, but the whole problem is beyond the reach of any general funds now available.

The American Relief Administration, to meet this emergency, has put into effect a Clothing Remittance, functioning in every way as does the now world famous Hoover Food Remittance. For twenty dollars, sent to the A. R. A. at 42 Broadway, New York, the following articles, or their equivalent in value, will be delivered to any designated person in Russia: 4 2-3 yard fifty-six inch twenty ounce dark blue wool cloth; 4 yards of thirty-two inch black cotton lining; 8 yards of twenty-seven inch flannel; 16 yards of unbleached muslin; 8 large black ivory buttons; 16 small black ivory buttons; 16 small white bone buttons; 2 spools No. 30 black cotton thread; 2 spools No. 40 white cotton thread.

One package will clothe one adult or two children all winter, and remittances ordered for general relief will be used for neediest cases, thousands of which are near-breaking.

Boys, Mister Martin Has Gone Fo' a Little Journey

The late Bert Williams, famous colored comedian, was one of America's most whimsical characters. Williams numbered among his intimate friends everybody of consequence on Broadway. For years, he afforded delight to friends by frequent allusions to "Mister Martin."

Mister Martin was his good geni, a guide and councillor that he had developed out of his imagination. If, when writing a song, inspiration failed him, he would remark: "Mister Martin is out." If anything at all went wrong, he would say: "Mister Martin has gone fo' a little journey."

Shortly before his death a friend said to Williams: "Bert, who is Mister Martin?"

His cryptic reply was: "Mister Martin is Mister Martin. Everybody has a Mister Martin."

FIRES CAUSE PROPERTY LOSS

S. P. BAAR FAMILY LOSE THEIR CLOTHING AND FURNITURE

Sparks From Chimney Cause Roof Fire at Beuker Home—Losses Covered By Insurance

Fire caused from sparks or from a defective flue completely destroyed the Lewis Hansen house on the Ellsworth-East Jordan road, on the edge of town, on Sunday afternoon. The loss to buildings and contents, estimated at about two thousand dollars, is fairly well covered by insurance. The building was owned by Frank Russell of Chicago, who purchased it last fall and expected to use it for a summer home, but was occupied at present by S. P. Baar and family.

No one was at home when the fire started and when help arrived it was too late to save the building, so an effort was made to save such contents as could be taken out. These efforts were fairly successful on the first floor, but everything upstairs was destroyed, as were the fruit and vegetables in the cellar. Among the property lost was a great amount of clothing, in fact, all except what was being worn by the family at the time.

Nothing has been heard to date as to what steps Mr. Russell will take as to rebuilding, but it is hoped that the house will be replaced.

Volunteer fire fighters were called to the residence of Mrs. Kathryn Beuker, when fire was discovered in the roof at the rear part of the house, evidently caused by sparks from the chimney. Luckily, plenty of help was on hand, and the blaze was extinguished with a loss of about fifty dollars, which is covered by insurance. Prompt and efficient work by volunteers was all that saved the building and to them, Mrs. Beuker expresses her deepest thanks.

DEATH COMES VERY SUDDENLY

Mrs. George Heller Striken While at Work Monday

Mrs. George Heller, a resident of this place for the past twelve years, died very suddenly early Monday morning of this week at the home of George Liberty, where she had been employed for the past few months.

Deceased had been in poor health for the past year, but during all that time had been able to be about. At about three a. m. on Monday, she was taken seriously ill and passed away within five minutes after summoning the inmates of the Liberty home.

Very little is known here concerning the date and place of her birth, as she has no relatives in this part of the country. An effort is being made to get in touch with the Eastern Star lodge of Findley, Ohio, of which she was formerly, at least, a member.

LOCAL GIRLS WIN FROM KALKASKA

Administer First Decisive Defeat to Visiting Players

Showing superiority in every department of the game, the Ellsworth basket ball girls won from the fast Kalkaska team on Friday evening, by a 30-15 score. The game was the result of a challenge to any girls team in Northern Michigan, issued by the Kalkaska girls and published in the Grand Rapids Herald a few weeks ago, said challenge being accepted by the Ellsworth girls.

The score of 30-15 hardly tells the relative ability of the two teams. As at the end of the first half the count showed 18-5. At the start of the second half, the home girls eased up and during the first ten minutes of play the visitors scored eight points more, while the home team was satisfied with two field baskets, and at the two minutes intermission the score was 22-13. During the rest of the game Ellsworth made a runaway with four field baskets, while the best the visitors could do were two points on free throws.

The visitors came here with a record of eight wins, one tie game and no defeats for the season, and their loss here was a hard one to take.

Ellsworth has been trying all winter to get a game with Traverse City high, who however, have so far side-stepped all negotiations.

The next regular game here will be with East Jordan, who plays here February 16th. Don't forget the date.

Talk.

Nineteen billion conversations were carried on over American telephone wires last year. Telephone companies having figured this out, also find that the distance covered by these messages was 45,000,000,000 miles. Six million messenger boys, working nine hours a day, would be required to deliver all the messages that pass over the telephone wires. Forty-six years ago there was only one telephone belonging to Bell, his inventor. It was a crude device compared with the phone you use today. Perfection comes rapidly in our age. Do you remember when you had to turn a crank to attract central's attention?

Growth of the Telephone.

If the telephone calls that were put in last year in the United States alone had been scattered evenly about the earth, every person in every country would have been seven times to the phone—every one of India's troubled millions, of China's and of Africa's, and of the almost countless others in every other land. The wires used in the United States would span the distance of the moon 100 times—would circle the earth 1,000. The army and navy of the United States together number about the same as the employees of the Bell Telephone system.

Tramps.

The age of the average tramp before the war was fifty years. Now it's thirty-two. And the 1922 model tramps ride on auto trucks instead of freight trains. This information is from the report of a New York welfare association with a name as long as Barnum's Cardiff grant. The association is seeking a way to reduce the number of tramps. Quickest way is to give them the jobs they seek. Second, and impossible, is to kill the wanderlust that exists in every human, a psychoanalytic complex, reaction from the dull grind of civilization.

RISK LIVES ON ROUGH ICE

LEVERING M. D. AND PARTY IN GALLANT ADVENTURE

Dr. J. B. Brown and Mail Carrier
Gibson Travel Forty Miles in Sleighs to Reach Beavers

Coincidental with the successful relief trip of Dr. Armstrong, made by aeroplane to the Benvera last Wednesday, was the equally hazardous attempt of Dr. J. B. Brown, Levering physician, to reach the island in an effort to check the ravages of the "flu" or grippie epidemic which has been claiming its victims there for the past two weeks.

Doctor Brown was summoned there by islanders, who defied the thin frozen surface of the lake a week ago last Tuesday morning and reached Cross Village that night. They telephoned the doctor at Levering and he was on hand Wednesday morning, ready to make the trip.

He started out with Guy Cole, a fisherman at Cross Village, in a sleigh drawn by an Indian pony. With them was another sleigh, carrying William Gibson, Beaver Island mail carrier, and a pile of mail that had accumulated at Cross Village since the island has been shut off from the world by the freezing of the lake, all communication with the main land, except by wireless and cable, having been at an end since the last trip of the mail boat out of Charlevoix, some weeks ago.

The distance in a straight line between Cross Village and the island is 26 1/2 miles but, because of a twelve mile strip of open water intervening, the ice voyagers were obliged to journey forty miles. This stretch of open water extends from Hog Island to Cross Village and Brown's party was forced to encircle it.

They told a story of peril. At times, the hollow sound made by the sleigh runners indicated that they were travelling over treacherous paths. But always the drivers, versed in this dangerous mode of travel, swerved to thicker ice, which they seemed to sense. Fortunately for them, the weather was fairly clear and they were not obliged to undergo the extreme danger that a snowstorm would have presented.

The party made the crossing in record time, arriving at St. James at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday. The usual time is about fourteen hours.

Upon arrival at St. James, Dr. Brown made the rounds of the sick families, finding six families ill with the grippie. He drove from the village into the surrounding farm region and to the lumber camp caring for the sick there. He reports the island unusually clear of sickness for so open a winter and that the main trouble, except for a few chronic cases, is severe colds. The physician will not attempt to call at Garden Island where a few Indian families reside or at High Island where a colony of 70 members of the House of David organization, a branch of the Benton Harbor colony, is lumbering. A party of these Israelites came to St. James Wednesday, February 7 by dog team from High Island.

IF SHE CAN LICK HIM SHE MUST KEEP HIM

A woman who is capable of giving her husband a black eye is not entitled to a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty, Judge Jesse H. Root of Monroe ruled recently in dismissing the bill of complaint in the divorce case of Mrs. Hazel Mens, of that city, against William Mens, a wealthy Dundee township farmer.

Mrs. Mens set up that she was obliged to do heavy farm work which she said constituted extreme cruelty. Regarding this the court said: "To any one who heard the testimony of Mrs. Mens on the witness stand it must have been apparent that she possessed a mind of her own; that she had spunk and spirit and was not afraid to stand up for her rights, nor unable to hold her own in a fist combat. Indeed her boast on the witness stand was that she could give her husband a black eye any time she wanted to. One who was able to do such things cannot in the opinion of this court be compelled to do hard farm work."

The Judge concluded his decision with the advice that Mrs. Mens return to her husband, that each pay half of the costs of the divorce proceedings and that Mrs. Mens's mother refrain from interference.

land for provisions and reported no sickness on High Island. One Indian child died last week after a two-day illness but all others are O. K.

The House of David colony is cutting logs on High Island and next spring will cut them in their small saw mill, which will cut about 30,000 feet a day. The lumber will be shipped by schooner to Benton Harbor. Members of the colony have little to say regarding the loss of their schooner two years ago with several lives. The loss does not appear to be deterring them from continuing their lumbering operations or sending out other small ships. The colony is well stocked with food and has lately received a supply of salt. It is said to be in good shape for the remainder of the winter.

Beaver Island is also in good shape for the winter season, unless spring comes too late. Should that be the case, there will be no shortage of many things. At present there is a good supply of fresh meat from the farmers' herds of cattle, flocks of sheep and chickens. There is a good store of canned goods, plenty of apples and potatoes from the big crop the last season. Flour and other cereals are also on hand in good quantities. The islanders came near waiting too long for their winter supply of salt and for several days in early January housewives were feeding their families with saltless (continued on page three)

CAME TO BANKS 50 YEARS AGO

LATE JOHN McELROY WAS A PIONEER SETTLER

Hewed Out a Home for Himself in The Wilderness and Raised a Family Of Three

The whole community was saddened when the news of the death of John T. McElroy was heard Monday morning, February 5, 1923.

Mr. McElroy had been ill for several days, but was not thought to be seriously ill until the end came at three o'clock Monday morning.

His death was a sad blow to the bereaved family, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad hours of grief.

John T. McElroy was born in Port Huron, Michigan, on the 17th day of March, 1864. He lived in Port Huron until he was seven years old; then moved with his parents and brother, Joe, and sister, Maggie, to Charlevoix county, where they settled on a farm for one year. At the expiration of this period, the family moved to the old homestead, in Banks township, Antrim county, where Mr. McElroy resided for over fifty years, or until the time of his death. He helped to clear up the land, and change the wild forest into fertile acres. Through hard work and faithful industry he made a good home for himself and family.

He was married March 4, 1896, to Miss Nellie M. Stevens, of Marquette township, Charlevoix county, Michigan, and to this union were born three children: Milford L., Helen M. and Margaret J., all of whom were with him at the time of his death.

He leaves to mourn their loss, his faithful companion, his son, Milford, his two daughters, Helen and Margaret; one little grandson, George R. McElroy, several cousins and a host of friends, who deeply regret his death.

The funeral was held Thursday, February 8, at 10:00 a. m., with a short service at the residence and the funeral service at the Marion Center town hall, conducted by the Rev. Floyd Frook, of the M. E. church in Eliavorth. Interment was made in the Brookside cemetery, where he was laid to rest beside his father and mother, who preceded him several years ago.

Initiatory Work and Supper
Charlevoix Encampment members are planning on a big time for Saturday evening of this week. Initiatory work in the Royal Purple degree will be given, to be followed by a supper. Several members have been taken in during the "winter months" and the lodge is in a prosperous condition. Members are urgently requested to be present Saturday evening.

Anyone wishing lath or potato crate material sawed, please have it on the ground at 504 Newman Street before March 1st. R. F. Dowdy, Adv. 6t-2 pd.

CHAS. DICKENS' "GHOSTS" PARADE

LOCAL CLUB STAGES NOVEL
COSTUME AFFAIR

Spirits of Sam Weller, Mr. Pickwick, and Others Flit Through
"Peacock Inn"

For some years it has been the custom of the Dickens' Club to commemorate in some way the birth of Charles Dickens. This year it took the form of a costume party of characters taken from some of the various stories of the great novelist.

The members assembled at the home of Mrs. Mary Cooper, at 1 p. m., last Saturday, and here the characters which had been studied and met in story marched across the improvised stage of the famous Peacock Inn to talk over old times and repeat their interesting anecdotes. Deft fingers, attic lore and improvisations succeeded in presenting the following:

Mrs. Bardwell—Mrs. Mary Cooper.
Mr. Peggoty—Mrs. Sadie Faulkner.
Peggoty with Little Davie—Mrs. Alice Miller.

Miss Elite—Mrs. Agnes Smith.
Sam Weller—Mrs. Marie Fessenden.

Dot—Mrs. Minnie Wood.
Tilly Slaw Boy—Mrs. Catherine Rose.

Jenny Wren—Mrs. Winnie Finucan.

Pickwick—Mrs. Blanche Wood.
The Marchioness—Mrs. Ione Craig.

Sarah Gamp—Mrs. Marjorie Livingston.

Mrs. Pott—Mrs. Julia Campbell.
Mrs. Quilp—Mrs. Edith Wilkinson.

Madame Beauclerk—Mrs. Marion Partridge.

Micawber—Mrs. Mildred Ochs.

After exchange of greetings and scrutinizing of costumes (for in some instances it was necessary to look twice to see whom the costumes covered) Pickwick, ever ready for another meal and another bottle of ale, with Sam Weller close behind, led the way to the heavily laden table of English style. For it was veritably heavy. On its old fashioned red cloth was an array of antique silver and china set in true English fashion, presenting a decided contrast with the modern American board. Even the proverbial bottles of ale were at each place, antiquated even more by being called Adam's Ale for these prohibitory times.

The guests on this occasion were Mrs. Theodore Kirchner of Saginaw and Mrs. Henry Cooper, both honor members of the club.

The following typical Dickensian menu was enjoyed and Sam Weller was kept so busy waiting on table that he scarcely had time to eat: Cream Asparagus on Toast, Knuckles of Ham, Baked Potatoes-Apple Sauce, Hot Cross Buns, Pickles, Preserves, Relishes, Tarts, Cruller, Plum Pudding-Hard Sauce and Black Tea. Various pictures were taken of the table and groups of characters which will be put in the archives of the club. The Memory Music contest numbers were also enjoyed at this time.

In behalf of the club, Mrs. Cooper presented our departing member, Mrs. Winnie Finucan, with a gift as a token of our friendship and a reminder of her friends here.

The latter part of the afternoon was devoted to a more serious study of the Messiah, by Handel, under the direction of Mrs. Wilkinson. The program followed: Short sketch of Handel's life, history of the Oratorio. The selections on the victrola were: "Comfort Ye My People," "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," "O Thou that Teilest Good Tidings to Zion," "Hail Shall Feed His Flock," "Come Unto Him," "Ho—Was Despaired," "Why Do the Nations So Fervently Rage Together," "Hallelujah Chorus," and "I Know My Redeemer Liveth." Those parts for which no music was available were read, making the study as complete as possible.

Thus ended the festivities of Dickens' anniversary and everyone exclaimed with Sam Weller, that it was "werry, werry nice."

NEW PRIMARY FUND MEASURE

BETTER DISTRIBUTION OF MON-EYS ITS AIM

Meeting of School Board Representatives Called for February
17th At Lansing

Archie C. Belding, Charlevoix County school commissioner, has issued the following call to the school boards of the county to send representatives to the meeting to be held at the Capitol building in Lansing on Saturday, February 17th, for the purpose of discussing the new primary school measure, successor to the now happily-defunct "diversion" bill.

Charlevoix, Mich., Feb. 13, 1923.
"School Boards of Charlevoix County, Mich.,

Dear Sirs:—The following is a copy of a letter received from the Superintendent of Public Instruction. It is very important that representatives from every board of education of the state be present to discuss this question which so strongly affects our pocketbooks. We were told at our Manton meeting that a new bill was being drawn up, which would base the distribution of the primary money upon the tax rate, number of scholars and length of school year. This would practically eliminate Detroit from the distribution and might exclude Flint, Grand Rapids and a few other places. Half of the children of the state are now in Detroit. This would mean that the poorer districts would receive nearly double their present amount from the primary fund, and that the poorest ones would get more than twice the sum now received. We must get back of this meeting by being present Saturday morning or this just plan of distribution will be snowed so far under that it will never reach the legislature. Act now for the sake of your pocketbooks and the rural education of Michigan.

Yours truly,
A. C. Belding,
Lansing, Feb. 9, 1923.

To Superintendents, Commissioners,
Board of Education, and Those Interested in Education:

The proposition to divert the primary school money is dead. I doubt if anyone would even consider introducing the measure. There is, however, another proposition to which I wish to call your attention. The proposition is the plan to distribute the primary school fund in accordance with the needs. I have repeatedly promised the school people of the state that nothing would be introduced with the approval of the department until the proposition had been submitted to you for your approval. To that end I am asking you to attend a meeting of the leading educators of the state to be held Saturday morning, February seventeenth, nine a. m., in the assembly of the new capitol building. At this time the new proposition will be explained and the attitude of this department on this proposition will be determined.

Faithfully yours,
T. E. Johnson,
Supt. Public Instruction.

STROUDS ENTER TAIN REBEKAHS

And That Wonderful Chicken Supper—Oh, My!

Friday afternoon a sleigh load of Rebekah Circle ladies and their husbands journeyed to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stroud, near Horton Bay, where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Platt Webster and Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Gordon Kirby.

After a short business session the ladies sewed for a member having sickness in the family and the men folks played cards and inspected the stock and farm in general.

Mrs. Stroud then invited the visitors to a chicken supper that was a chicken supper! The tables groaned under the load of good things and everyone groaned when they left the table. Cards and music were the features of the evening and at a late hour the homeward drive was started after giving three rousing cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Stroud, as entertainers.

Ladies of the M. E. church will serve a supper, Wednesday evening, February 21st, at the church parlors, from 6:30 o'clock until all are served. Bill 35c—Adv. 7-11.

BOARD OF HEALTH WINS COURT FIGHT

Ingham County Circuit Judge Sustains Ruling.

Can a local board of health exclude unvaccinated children from the public schools when, in the opinion of the board, smallpox is threatening to become epidemic in the community? Judge Ireland W. Carr of the Ingham county circuit court, decided last week that it could when he issued a writ of mandamus compelling the Lansing board of education to carry out such an order issued by the city board of health.

Members of the board of education had decided that the order was unnecessary and an attempt on the part of the board of health to dominate the city's educational system. They therefore directed school teachers to permit unvaccinated children to attend school.

The board of health asked that Judge Carr issue a writ of mandamus compelling the board of education to obey the non-admittance order. After hearing both sides of the argument, Judge Carr decided that the board of health was acting within its legal authority and issued the writ.

Unsatisfied with this decision, the board of education has taken steps to carry the case to the supreme court of Michigan for final decision.

Hospital Auxiliary's New Stunt Taxes You According to Your Embroidery!

The work committee of the Hospital Auxiliary are sending to each organization little aprons, with the following verse:

"To raise some money is the plan
Of all our humble workers.
To help our hospital all we can,
We hope there'll be no shirkers.

Around your waist a measuring string
Please place, but not too tightly.
It is not well to wear tight things.
For they are noticed slightly.
And for each inch a cent please place
Within the apron pocket;
'Twill bring a smile upon our face
To wrench it from its socket.

And back to Levinson's store please send,
As quickly as you may;
And many thanks to you, my friend.
To help us in this way."

Each apron has a pocket for a contribution. The committee will receive contributions at Levinson's store, Saturday, February 17th, and it is hoped that many will be returned. Other societies, whose meetings come later, will be given an opportunity and those aprons will be received February 24th.

The M. E. Ladies Literary and Sewing Club met last Thursday and made three dozen pitcher caps and nearly one thousand surgical dressings. The Shakespeare Club and the Barnard Ladies Aid Society will each give an afternoon soon. The W. C. T. U. will work at their next meeting and the O. E. S. club, the Rebekah ladies, the W. R. C. and the St. Mary's Altar Society will each work in their turn.

INCOME TAX DE- PUTY TO BE HERE

Will Assist Local People in Making Out Returns

Deputy collector of internal revenue, W. S. Darling, will be in Charlevoix, on February 24 and 26, 1923, with headquarters at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, to assist taxpayers in filing 1922 income tax returns. Deputy collector Darling is the accredited representative of the government in executing and receiving such returns.

This will be the only opportunity afforded a taxpayer to have his return prepared by a deputy collector here, as on account of the large amount of work to be performed, a deputy collector will visit each town in his zone but once.

CASE OF POTATO VS. SUGAR
BEET CONTINUED

Former Contributor Explains His Position in the Matter—Gives Pertinent Figures

A former contributor to the beet sugar forum that we have been running in the columns of the Courier, for the past few weeks—William F. Johnson, sends in more on the subject for this week's issue and explains his attitude in the matter and the split in which his former communications were written. The letter reads:

"Editor, Courier,

Dear Sir:—It has not been my purpose in writing these articles to your paper to criticize in any way my neighbor farmers in regard to their way of farming.

I think I would be foolish, indeed, if I undertook to tell anyone the best way to make money on their farm. I have only, in an honest and fair way, tried to point out the great importance of the sugar beet crop to Michigan and Charlevoix. If I have made a failure as a farmer, I am sorry, and if others have made a success I am glad of it. Yet this does not alter, in the least, the true facts in regard to sugar beets.

My brother, Wickersham, asks some questions and then answers them himself. I do not wish to dispute his claim and, yet, a fair thinking man must wonder how it can be that Michigan has successfully manufactured sugar for over twenty-five years and that thousands of farmers in Michigan have made themselves independent growing sugar beets. This is not my claim—it is actual facts. They can easily be proven.

Those of you who have read my letters to the Courier will remember what I said in regard to every dog having his day. I admitted then and I do now that for the last few years in Northern Michigan potatoes have shown a larger cash return per acre than have sugar beets, but that this is one year when sugar beets were a winner.

We do not, as a rule, figure potatoes in terms of tons. To the most of us, this would be somewhat bewildering and does not give us a fair example of comparison. It also unfair to use any one man's crop for an example to go by. For instance, Mr. Merriam had over fifteen tons of beets per acre this year. Let's see—fifteen tons of potatoes would be 502 bushels per acre—some crop! But, you say, this is an exception. I agree with you—it is (in northern Michigan) but it also shows the unfairness of comparing one man's crop.

I have before me the figures on the average potato crop for the past ten years. Those of you who will (Continued on page 2)

PITY THE POOR LIT SEA GULL

This is the time of year when the sea-gull, our feathered scavenger of the lakes, protected from the hunter by Uncle Sam and the poor culinary value of his flesh, "needs a friend."

Barred from his natural supply of food by the iron barriers of Jack Frost, this bird is hard put to it to make flesh and feathers meet, so to speak. Many of them can be seen, flying far inland in search of scraps of toothsome garbage thrown out by the housewife and so bold do they become that they will many times roost within easy reaching distance of a person, apparently unaware that anyone is near. It is a common sight to see one perched on the roof of a house.

They are really, badly "up against it," though, at this season of the year and steps should be taken to secure for them a sufficient supply of food to carry them over until the waters are once more free.

Just as a suggestion, suppose that everybody save their table and kitchen scraps and that the city cooperate in the work by sending a wagon around at frequent intervals to gather up the stuff to be fed to these helpless creatures at various points on Pine, Round and Michigan Lakes, convenient to the collection routes. The sea-gull does yeoman service in keeping the shores and waters of our lakes clear of decaying animal and vegetable matter and it is a wise provision of the government that puts them under its protection.

JOHNSON ANSWERS WICKERSHAM

look at the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, of January 20th (page 3) will find this. The average of potatoes for the past ten years is 98 bushels per acre. Mr. Wickersham quotes a price at digging time this year of about 25c per ton (too high, I think). This would make an acre of the average potato crop bring $24.50 per acre.

The average tonnage of beets per acre has always been about eight tons. Growers of beets during 1922 received $7.12 per ton. We have been reliably informed that the price this year will be seven dollars, or better. This calls for $56.00 per acre for beets or two and one seventh times the price of potatoes. Now, take into consideration the tops and crowns for stock feed, as compared with potatoes; the chances you take with frost, bugs, blight, underzize, scrub, sunburn, wire worm, fork wounds and the difference in the price of the seed and where do you come out?

Now take the average price per bushel of potatoes, as given by Mr. Wickersham for the last ten years—average crop, 98 bushels, average price, 60c and you have $58.80 per acre. This leaves $2.80 per acre for your beet tops and crowns for stock feed and they are estimated by our best authorities to be worth $15.00 per acre.

But, you say, I don't grow 98 bushels per acre of potatoes. Very true, but someone grows much less than that. The same is true with sugar beets. Some that call themselves good farmers have almost completely failed with beets. This should not condemn any crop and, above all, we should not judge others by ourselves.

I cannot imagine two industries that are more foreign to each other than potato raising and dairying. Yes, I think my brother is right—they make excellent feed for dairy cows and any farmer can keep at home enough for his own use, if he wishes.

In all that I have written, I have tried to be absolutely fair and honest. I do not use any one firm or farmer as an example of failure or success. The figures I have used are as near right as I know how to get them. I would not like to be called a knocker in any way, but I believe in sugar beets and must boost for them or lie down. Again, I thank you.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

Who owns your pocketbook? Come to B. Y. P. U. at six o'clock and find out. The topic to be considered is "Stewardship of Substance"—leader, Mrs. Geer. Read Genesis 4:9; Mal. 3:10 for the scripture basis of the study.

"Giving never graduates into generosity until it learns sacrifice and self-forgetfulness."

How shall I give? Prayerfully—offer a prayer over everything you give to the Lord. Cheerfully—nobody wants a grudging gift.

Proportionately—as the Lord has blessed you. Regularly—feeling is no gauge for giving. Sometimes people feel pretty tight.

Honestly—deal honestly with God.

To the Electors of Charlevoix County

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the position of Commissioner of Schools of Charlevoix County and will appreciate the votes of all who see fit to honor me with the same.

IMPORTANT NEED FOR MORE TREES

Three-Fifths of Primeval Forests Have Been Cut Away, Says Forester Greeley.

SUPPLY OF WOOD NECESSARY

Despite Fact That Many Substitutes Have Been Devised Demand for Timber Continues to Grow—Much Land Is Idle.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Timber depletion has now reached a point in this country where three-fifths of the primeval forests are gone and where 61 per cent of the timber that is left is west of the Great Plains.

Col. W. B. Greeley, chief forester, forest service of the Department of Agriculture of the United States, recently told the members of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Liberal use of American forests was a necessary part of the commercial growth of this nation, Colonel Greeley believes, but reforestation should have been practiced, if not from the start, at least in late years. There is an abundant area of forest land in this country to support all industries, and a liberal supply of wood is most necessary to the people of this country.

It was thought that, like the European countries, we would use, when our civilization was older, but one-third or one-half as much wood per capita as we did in the early days. But this rule does not affect the American people.

The older the states and communities in this country grow the more timber they seem to require in one form or another.

Demand Continues to Grow.

Many substitutes have been devised for wood, and yet the great demand of the country for timber continues to grow. More wood is used in construction today than before the discovery of concrete, and more wood is used in building railway cars than before the steel or partitioned car was developed. This is apparently true in nearly every industry.

Abundant and widely distributed forests have meant to the United States homes for the masses of the people beyond the standards of any other nation. They have placed newspapers and magazines on the average family table. They have created good largely to social and industrial conditions which promote democracy and constructive energy rather than discontent and destructive social forces based by hard and comfortless conditions of life.

The billions of $1,000,000 acres of forest land, an area increased by 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 acres annually, destructive logging and still more destructive forest fires are the factors at work to increase the timber shortage.

Land Enough if Kept Growing Trees.

The exhaustion of American timber has not come about because the forests have been used so freely but because of the failure to use forest-growing land. In a nutshell, the problem is that the United States is cutting wood out of its forests three or four times as fast as it is being grown. Much of the land on which timber stands or has been cut off will always be forest land. It is ample to grow all the wood needed for the use of the people of this country and for export trade in lumber and products manufactured from lumber, if the land can be kept at work growing trees. Timber for the future is simply a matter of putting idle land to work.

Every reasonable encouragement should be given to the landowner to grow timber on his own account in the ways best suited to his own purposes, but by some means or other the public must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture do not lie idle. The regulations imposed must be reasonable and equitable. Obviously the owner of the land cannot do it all. The public must aid him in increasing the hazard of forest fires and must recognize that the present methods of taxing forests in many regions are equivalent to taxing a farm crop twice a week during the growing season.

NEGRO SWINDLE IS UNCOVERED

SYNDICATE HAS PLAN TO TAKE CASH FROM COLORED FOLKS

Department of Agriculture Uncover
Move to Send Big Number Northward.

Colored gentlemen who are easily fascinated by the roll of the "bones," might have played their favorite pastime with short funds, had not the department of agriculture stepped in and uncovered a stupendous land swindle in the process of maturity, by means of which a negro syndicate laid plans to relieve colored folks of their excess "kale" with one pass.

Rev. Austin Moore, a negro preacher, is head of the syndicate, so the literature says. The syndicate is called the North American Homestead Syndicate and has headquarters in Chicago, Ill. Rev. Roscoe Walker is corresponding secretary. Memberships, if cash is paid, may be had at $9 each. Otherwise they are $10 but just as binding and sure of benefits as those sold for the cash.

Like a page from fiction is the arrangement of the prospectus and in it the writers play upon all the credulity of the colored folks. The prospectus says:

"This is a reliable, industrial, economic financial and godly institution. If you want better location, environment, conditions in general in a place where freedom, liberty and justice are meted out to all, see us. We have in the state of Michigan 50,000 acres of uncultivated land and thousands of acres of cultivated land, with high class farm houses and everything ready for occupants to enter, also beginning a new town four miles north of Manistowic, Mich., on the Pennsylvania railroad and state highway road for motors, etc. People live here 80, 90 and 100 years of age strong and active.

"The climate is wonderfully agreeable, any one can easily become acclimated for the air is light and balmy; flowers bloom in winter; in many places we have no frost at all. The altitude is high, such complaints as malaria, hay fever, asthma, bronchial troubles, etc., cannot exist. The water is the best in the country, in many places it is 98 per cent pure without filter or purifying, the beautiful little clear rivers run like arteries through the body. Springs gurgling forth from the hill sides, the most wonderful lakes in the world of which there are 5,000 in the state and all abound with great multitude of fishes that can be caught anywhere in these lakes.

"One can easily make an independent living here. The agriculture department of this state has worked out the adaptability scheme and have found that this land will produce corn, potatoes, peas, beans, sugar beets, cabbages and many other vegetables not mentioned and all kinds of berries and fruits. New-comers here earn in summer from $10 to $15 per day gathering huckleberries and fruits. Michigan has all kinds of factories and the man that can do the work, regardless of color gets the job. Men make $100 per day catching muskrats. Many have gotten rich on catching foxes; there is no way to keep the industrious person from making good.

"Taxes are not high here. Chickens, butter and eggs, sheep, cattle, hogs and all kinds of wild game are plentiful. One can live 75 per cent cheaper and 90 per cent easier than any other place in the United States known to the writer.

"Producers have nearby shipping points on railroads and steamers to the second and fourth largest cities in the world. Chicago and Detroit are known as the world's greatest markets for produce, 75 per cent of all the automobiles made in the world are manufactured in Michigan. Michigan has the best roads in the country, you find a state highway road every mile going in any direction. Fifty million dollars are designated annually for the upkeep of these roads and this does not come out of the tax payers' pockets, but is paid out of the automobile licenses."

SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF Ironton Grange

Official Gleaner Publication Comments on Activity

The following articles, clipped from the Gleaner Forum of a recent issue, comments on a recent Gleaner meeting held in Ironton, and we reproduce same for benefit of local members of the organization:

"The Gleaner assembly and lecture hour demonstration at Ironton recently was a distinct success.

The work was under the supervision of Mrs. Emma Cole, of the Lecture Bureau, and Henry Coblenz, of Ironton, handled the membership campaign.

There was a splendid class of candidates on the floor, and in the "follow-up work" many more have been written which shows the rich harvest which may be garnered in the trail of the Lecture Bureau workers.

The following is the program which was held in the hall at Ironton, with Mrs. Emma Cole, as chairman.

The opening, Introduction, Obligation and Closing ceremony by the officers of Ironton Arbor was a good school of instruction and much enjoyed by all.

The Dramatic Degree by the gentlemen of Eveline Arbor was, in their hands, a degree worthy of the name. The candidates say it was a "Dramatic Degree" with all the "dramatics" included.

The Lecture Hour which followed was most of the most enjoyable events in Gleaner history.

Everybody joined in the opening song, "America." Mrs. Cole was at her best in some very appropriate opening remarks.

The male quartette of Eveline Arbor captured the audience with their numbers.

Mr. Henry Coblenz, one of the most loyal members and Field men in the jurisdiction, told some very good stories.

Edward J. Little, District Supervisor of the central and northern districts gave a very comprehensive address on the order and its principles.

Mrs. McDonald and daughter Mr. Ferris and Mr. Siles, of Eveline Arbor, made the hit of the evening in their clever farce "The Physical Torture Club."

Mr. Black, of Quality Arbor, entertained with a vocal solo which pleased the audience and he was obliged to respond with an encore.

"The Tramp's Last Journey"—by Scott Gibson, of Fife Lake, was another much enjoyable number.

The program closed with a roaring farce, "The Black Vamp," by four members of Eveline Arbor. Everybody said it was "immense," and so ended a program which, though long, was still short because every minute had been enjoyed.

The ladies of Ironton Arbor had charge of the refreshments and the tables "groaned" under the weight of good things.

foods. The supply boat from Charlevoix braved the ice floes and gales Jan. 12 and brought several hundred pounds, enough to last until spring.

The six hundred residents of the island, however, are without oranges, bananas or green stuffs. They will have none of these until navigation opens next spring. They get plenty of fresh fish.

"The one thing we long for most," said Captain Bennett of the U. S. Coast Guard station on the Beavers, last week, "is the movie." We are a "movieless land," and depend for entertainment mainly on card parties and dances. More decks of cards are worn out here than on any other similar island in the world.

"We have church service in the Catholic church and our village school gives home talent entertainments. Yes, we have lots of fiddlers and plenty of real Irish jigs. These island fishermen are great on dancing and card playing. No one dies from 'insanity caused from loneliness.'"

AID THE KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Charlevoix Citizen Shows you the Way to Avoid it.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in kidney trouble over 50 years, have been tested in thousands of cases.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, act now. Dropsy or Bright's disease may set in and make neglect dangerous. Read this Charlevoix testimony:

John McCall, 110 E. Upright Ave., says: "My kidneys were weak and irregular in action and were so sore as could be. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often have to grasp something to keep from falling. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they completely and permanently cured me of the trouble."

STATE OVERSTOCKED WITH POTATOES

125,296,000 BUSHEL IN WARE-HOUSES JANUARY 1.

Farmers in Central Live Stock and Dairy States Feeding Them
To Farm Animals

The quantity of potatoes in the 35 late potato states on Jan. 1 of this year is estimated by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics to have been 125,296,000 bushels, or 29.7 per cent of the total production of those states. These figures include those for sale for local consumption as well as those available for shipment, but do not include the stocks necessary for family consumption on the farms where produced nor those retained for seed. One year ago the stocks amounted to 90,023,000 bushels and two years ago, 107,991,000 bushels.

Of the total stocks on hand this year, Michigan held 13,169,000 bushels, or 10.5 per cent, which represents 34.8 per cent of Michigan's crop. The holdings in other leading states in bushels and percentages of total crop are as follows: Maine, 8,922,000 bushels or 41.5 per cent; New York, 12,232,000 bushels or 32.8 per cent; Pennsylvania, 6,586,000 bushels or 25.1 per cent; Wisconsin, 16,106,000 bushels or 39.6 per cent; Minnesota, 17,912,000 bushels or 41.1 per cent; North Dakota, 5,346,000 or 30.6 per cent; South Dakota, 1,313,000 bushels or 16.5 per cent; Nebraska, 2,919,000 bushels or 25.0 per cent; Colorado, 8,030,000 bushels or 43.5 per cent; and Idaho, 6,682,000 bushels or 42.0 per cent.

A little more than 90 per cent of the total merchantable stocks, or 114,078,000 bushels, are located in 19 surplus producing states. This is the largest volume of stocks on hand of any January 1 in the last ten years, and being the largest crop ever produced probably represents the largest holdings on record for that date. It is further estimated that 85.0 per cent of those stocks are in the hands of farmers and only 14.2 per cent in the hands of dealers, showing that dealers are holding a smaller percentage than in any year during the last decade.

These holdings on farms are due, in considerable part, to a shortage of cures rather than any disposition to withhold the crop from the market. This shortage was extremely acute in the middle and far western states. With the prevailing low prices and the great distance of many of those states from the large consuming markets, it is probable that considerable quantities will not be moved. In the central live stock and dairy states, many farmers are feeding them to live stock, so that shipments are likely to fall below expectations. On the other hand, all labor in cities is fully employed and able to buy its full requirements of this staple food. Beans are relatively high in price, and reduced consumption of that commodity will tend to increase the consumption of potatoes.

Statistics show that about five per cent of the American people are thrifty. The remainder own automobiles.

Don't envy the man who knows more than you do. He may know a lot that he ought to forget.

WHAT IS FAIR IS RIGHT

There should be a limit to the favors one man may ask of the people.

When one man has held a public office a quarter of a century, is it anything more than fair and just that he should step aside and give another equally as good a man a chance. If not, then but three men may aspire to such office in a century—ONE HUNDRED LONG YEARS.

Charlevoix County has given the present Circuit Judge political preferment for twenty-five years. The Judge has monopolized our share of the patronage of the people of the Thirteenth Judicial circuit during that long period. All others have stood aside for his benefit. Who is to decide upon the time when he has had enough—the People, or the Politicians?

Parm C. Gilbert is known throughout the state as an able lawyer, honest and outspoken in his convictions, of high standing and respected in his community. He has every right to aspire to the office of Circuit Judge and has the right to the consideration of every voter in the district without regard to geography, or any other consideration.

Games were played and a general good time enjoyed, following which came dainty refreshments and a huge cake bearing the hostess' name in sugary letters, surrounded by nine candles. "Fluff," Miss Kathleen's knowing pet poodle, who does a lot of funny stunts, was on his best behavior and delighted the little guests with his comical antics, always, however, with his pink "weather eye" open for the cats.

The guests departed at five-thirty, wishing their hostess many happy returns of the day and assuring her that they had enjoyed a glorious good time. Miss Kathleen was the recipient of many nice gifts as tokens of the esteem and affection in which she is held by her little playmates.

PELLSTON WINS FRIDAY'S GAME

Charlevoix Loses To Tune of 19 to 5

Pellston high school trimmed Charlevoix at basket ball Friday evening at Pellston, the score board reflecting the count 19 to 5 for the home team.

Charlevoix held Pellston to a 3-3 tie in the first quarter, but at the beginning of the second sub-division the Pellston tossers struck a fast gait and counted 7 points, while holding their opponents scoreless, the half ending 10-3.

The last half Charlevoix counted but 2 points, while Pellston continued to sink the pill for nine more. Hewitt, of Pellston, negotiated several long distance field baskets from difficult angles.

Treloar, of Petoskey, officiated and handled the game well.

Annual Masquerade Ball

Charlevoix fire laddies will hold their annual masquerade ball the evening of Thursday, February 22, Washington's Birthday, at the Bank Hall. Four prizes will be given away for the best costumes among the masqueraders and the best of local talent in the music line has been procured. Funds derived from this social event will be turned over to the shoe fund. Let's go.

Farewell Reception

The Ladies Aid of the Congregational church gave a farewell reception Tuesday afternoon, to Mrs. T. George Emery, who leaves with her son next week for their new home in Grand Rapids. The affair was held at the Beathon home on the north side. Mrs. Louise Elston presented Mrs. Emery with a gold piece and poetical directions for its use, making a little address of farewell, after which refreshments were served. About forty people were present.

Notice to Marion Tax-Payers

I will be at the Charlevoix County Bank, for the collection of taxes for the township of Marion, Saturday, February 17th, and February 24th, from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., and at home the balance of the week.

HEWITT HOME BURNS AT NORWOOD

Property Loss Over $1,000 in Excess Of Insurance

The home of Dr. C. W. Hewitt and wife at Norwood burned to the ground early Monday morning, the fire catching in the roof and attic from a defective chimney.

No water was available short of the lake and a high wind was blowing, so efforts to form a bucket brigade failed. Most of the furniture in the lower part of the house was removed to a nearby barn, but a fire radio outfit and other articles were completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1,000.00 to $1,500.00 in excess of insurance. The house was a modern one with all improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt and daughter, Marjorie, who are staying with friends in Norwood, will come to Charlevoix next week, where they will be the guests of Rev. and Mrs. Quant until such time as the Metcalf house on Park Avenue, which they have leased, is ready for occupancy. Dr. Hewitt says he will rebuild in the spring.

THEIR TRAIN GETS STUCK IN DRIFT

A party of telephone office employees from this city had a rather trying experience last Thursday afternoon on their way to an employees convention at Traverse City.

The delegates from Charlevoix, the Misses Mabel Partridge, Alice Adams, Marva Cooper and Mr. H. J. Johnston, took the afternoon train from here, which makes Elk Rapids on its way to Traverse. About three miles out of the Rapids, the train stuck fast in a snow drift and there they stayed until a rig could be secured to drive them back to Elk Rapids. They finally reached Traverse City, a half a day late for the meeting.

Dies In California

Garfield Myers, a brother of Fred Myers of this city, died in a sanitarium in San Bernardino, California, last week, after a long illness brought on by an accident which he suffered in the navy some years ago. Besides his wife in San Bernardino, and his brother, he leaves a son, Clyde Myers, who lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Myers, on Antrim street, in this city.

Epworth League

The Epworth League of the M. E. church held a social last Monday evening at the church parlors, at which fifty members were present. Ice cream and cake were served and the evening was much enjoyed. Another meeting will be held in the near future.

"CAPPY RICKS."

Peter B. Kyne, who wrote "Cappy Ricks," spent his spare time several years ago along the San Francisco waterfront, acquainting himself with the rare types of humanity peculiar to that locality. There he met an old sea captain with a keen sense of humor, who always insisted on having his own way, right or wrong. Around this weather-beaten old sea dog Mr. Kyne wrote the "Cappy Ricks" stories which found favor with millions of readers of the Saturday Evening Post.

"Cappy Ricks" was dramatized and presented on Broadway with Tom Wise and William Courtenay in the leading roles. It is one of the cleanest plays on the American stage, and has had a most successful run.

The play deals with high finance on the high seas. It is characterized by wholesome atmosphere and keen character types, carrying a delightful love story and a fund of pathos. In it there is not a dull moment.

"Cappy Ricks" will be presented here by a New York cast organized and coached by William J. Keltz, manager of the Redpath Bureau's New York City production department.

None of the rural carriers ventured out on their routes this morning. Reason enough!

Will Heise has been on the sick list all this past week. He is suffering with neuralgia.

Albert Staley returned from the Hardware Dealers convention at Grand Rapids, Saturday.

Capt. John Roen and wife, Nels Birdhal, Capt. Graham and Sam Halverson left last week for Chicago.

Miss Blanche Oliver, teacher of music in the local schools, visited in Central Lake over the week-end.

George H. Webster, of Traverse City, representative of Burnham & Stoppel, was in town on business, Tuesday.

Miss Dora Adams, chief operator at the Michigan State Telephone Company's office, spent the week-end in Central Lake.

Clinton Cooper went to the Charlevoix Hospital Sunday for a critical operation for hernia. His condition at this writing is reported good.

Mrs. James Gaskin, Sr., who went to the hospital Saturday last, suffering with neuritis, has improved slightly.

Will Gates, electrician for the Charlevoix Hardware and Electric Company, was in Petoskey Tuesday, on business.

William Myers of Grand Rapids, Standard Oil repair man, is here this week doing some repair work on the tanks of the local station.

Charles Zeidler, who has been dangerously ill at his home on Sheridan avenue for several days, is now reported as being slightly better.

Ray Faulkner, who has been ill at his home with the grippe since last Wednesday, is now improving and expects to be out again in a few days.

Albert O'Brien went through town Tuesday afternoon, with a real load of logs. Must have given some of the old timers who saw it a peculiar thrill.

William Finucan, who is connected with the Michigan Mutual Liability company at Grand Rapids, was in the city Monday, on business and visiting relatives.

Kaye Butters, new member of the County Bank force, left for Pellston Saturday night, to spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Butters.

George Gladus and James Parsons made a three day trip to Bay City, Detroit and other southern Michigan points last week. They returned Saturday afternoon.

The Misses Ida and Lillian Henders spent Sunday with their parents at Ironton. They walked all the way over the ice of Pine Lake and part way back.

George LaBlanc bought out his brother Joseph's interest in his fishing outfit Tuesday. This includes two gas boats, dock and dock house on Round Lake and quantity of nets, tackle, etc.

Mrs. Nellie McGonigle and children, who have been spending the past month at the home of R. C. Bellinger on Bridge street, will return tomorrow to their home in Saginaw.

Owing to the extreme inclemency of the weather, the regular meeting of the Episcopal Ladies Guild, which was scheduled for this afternoon, will be postponed until a week from today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Usher leave Thursday for Ithaca, Michigan, to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. L. L. Altenberg, who died suddenly in Miami, Florida, late Sunday evening.

"Steve" Hamschew left last week, to spend a two-week's vacation from his duties at the Booth Fisheries Company, visiting friends and relatives in Detroit, Flint and other southern Michigan points.

Mrs. H. P. Hansen, of Cheboygan, Mich., who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Priest here, attended last week the banquet of the Shakespeare club of which she is a member.

The members of Mr. Belding's and Mrs. Quant's Sunday school classes of the M. E. church will hold a social gathering in the church parlors Monday evening of next week, at seven-forty-five.

Fred Richter, of Traverse City, well-known representative of Buby & Sons Company, wholesale hardware house of Detroit, was in town Monday and Tuesday of this week on one of his regular trips to this city.

H. E. McElroy and daughter, Patricia, returned Friday morning from Kalamazoo and other southern Michigan points, where they have been spending the past two and a half weeks on business and visiting relatives.

Mrs. Dan Bucot and children leave Thursday for Flint, where they will join Mr. Bucot, who has employment there. She has rented her house on East Lincoln avenue here, to R. C. Korth, who expects to move there shortly.

Mrs. Murion Green, an employee of the Charlevoix Hotel, went to the hospital last Thursday, suffering with rheumatism, caused by infected tonsils. These were removed Friday and she expects to return to her work tomorrow.

Eva Morse, of Central Lake, little daughter of Otto Morse, was brought to the hospital Thursday last, for an operation made necessary by an injury to her leg, caused by a fall some three weeks ago. She is getting along in good shape.

Illness in the post office force has caused considerable doubling-up. Orson Everts has taken Ray Faulkner's route and his place has been taken by his brother, Floyd Everts. And Markham is substituting for Clinton Cooper, while the latter is recovering from his recent operation.

The Charlevoix Commercial Association holds a banquet and meeting tonight at the Odd Fellow hall. The Rebekahs will serve the supper. It is probable that at this meeting the feasibility of applying to the state for the location of the new state prison here will be fully discussed.

A boys' chorus has recently been organized in the M. E. church. Its membership numbers fifteen to twenty boys, who are quite faithful in attendance. Meetings are held every Wednesday night. Much interest is shown and we may expect some good music from them soon.

Superintendent of schools, Charles Hamilton, was called away very suddenly last Thursday morning by the death of his father, who lived at Pickford, Mich., in the upper peninsula. The cause of death was acute indigestion. Relatives in Canada and California were notified and the funeral was held Saturday. The superintendent returned Tuesday to this city.

PIONEER LUMBERMAN PASSES

GARRETT V. NASH, DIED SUDDENLY IN ARKANSAS

As Member of Firm of Guyles & Nash Ran Store and Lumbered in Norwood Many Years

Old residents of Norwood and this city were saddened last week at the news that Garrett V. Nash, old time resident of Norwood and well-known throughout the county, was dead at his home in Nettleton, Arkansas. The end came last Thursday at seven p. m., after a short attack of heart trouble, with which Mr. Nash was afflicted. He was ill only two days.

The remains were brought to this city Monday, accompanied by E. G. Nash, of Manitowoc, Wis., a brother of the deceased, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from the N. A. Shores residence on Dixon avenue. The Masonic Blue lodge formed in a body at the hall here and marched to the house where they performed the Masonic rites over the body of their late brother. Rev. H. R. E. Quant assisted the Masons in conducting the services, after which the remains, accompanied by the members of the lodge and friends and relatives of the deceased, were taken to Brookside and placed in the receiving vault there.

Mr. Nash was born in Medina, N. Y., in 1849. In his early manhood, the family removed to Janesville, Wis., where he lived until 1880, when he came to Norwood as partner in the lumber firm of Guyles & Nash. This concern cut timber and maintained a general merchandise store there for a number of years. Mr. Nash was also later heavily interested in timber lands and the lumbering industry at Jonesboro, Ark., residing during this period at Nettleton, a nearby town, where he was living at the time of his death.

During his operations at Norwood, Mr. Nash was married to Miss Helen E. Meach, of that township. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Charles Parker, of Ridgewood, N. J., and Edwin G. Nash, who is professor of English at Dartmouth college, in Hanover, N. H. Both were present at the funeral of their father.

Several years after the death of his first wife, Mr. Nash was married to Mrs. Sophia Shauver, in Nettleton, Ark., who, in company with her son, Fred Shauver, came here for the funeral Monday. Edwin G. Nash, member of the firm of Nash & Nash, attorneys, of Manitowoc, Wisconsin, who accompanied the body to this city, is a brother of the deceased, as is his law-partner and brother, Lyman G. Nash, who was unable to be present yesterday. There is also a sister living—Mrs. George Case, of Portage, Wisconsin, who was also made to come to Charlevoix. Darwin F. Meach, of this city, is a nephew of the deceased.

HAS OPENED NEW AGENCY

Forrest Fowler to Handle Full Line of Insurance Here

While the cement plant and the prison are still unknown quantities, comes the gratifying announcement that we are to have a new insurance agency here, which goes to show that, at least in some small measure, "every day, in every way, we are getting better and better."

Forrest Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fowler of this city, a young man well-known and liked by those who know him, has already made favorable connections with a number of reliable insurance companies and will shortly open an office in the front of the building at No. 113 Bridge street, now occupied by his father's Maxwell service station and repair shop. Mr. Fowler, senior, will continue to occupy the rear portion of the building, as at present.

Mr. Fowler plans to devote his entire time exclusively to the insurance business. He will handle a full line—fire, life, automobile, casualty, liability, tornado, burglar, plate glass, etc. The keynote of the new enterprise will be real "personal service." Mr. Fowler feels that the insurance business is broad enough and of sufficient importance to the community to warrant the launching of his new venture in a field where it has, up to this time, been carried on more in the nature of a side-line. We confidently predict its success, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Fowler has had quite an extensive experience in the insurance line.

DIED SUDDENLY IN SOUTHERN CITY

Mrs. Ida L. Altenberg Stricken by Apoplexy Late Sunday

Word was received Monday forenoon of this week by the editor of the sudden death of Mrs. Ida Altenberg, mother of Allan T. Jeffery, 1212 State street, at Miami, Florida, where she was spending the winter with her son and family.

No details have been received other than that at about seven-thirty Sunday evening Mrs. Altenberg was stricken by apoplexy, and died shortly after eleven the same evening. The remains will be brought to Ithaca, Michigan, her old home, on Friday of this week, and laid to rest in the family lot.

Deceased was the mother of Allan T. Jeffery, and a sister of Geo. M. DuBois, one of the owners of the Courier. She had spent several summers here at the home of her son and brother and in early October of last year accompanied her son and family to Miami, where they intended spending the winter.

She was seventy-five years of age, and leaves to mourn their loss, two sons, Harry, of Springfield, Ill., Allan T. of this city, and two brothers, Edward DuBois, of Alma, Michigan, and George M. DuBois of this city.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this way in expressing our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and words of sympathy shown us during our recent sad bereavement. Also for the beautiful floral tokens.

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint Daily legislative sessions are beginning to prove increasingly interesting to the gallery audiences. Bills which have been receiving careful committee attention are now being hotly debated on the floor of the senate and house.

"Day by day in every way" life becomes more and more complex for the law-makers. Pressure from varied sources is continually being brought to bear for or against pending measures. Telegrams and letters pour in liberally. Lobbyists are on the job.

Committees are increasingly busy considering the great mass of proposed legislation which is accumulating. Sixty new bills were added to the docket during the week, bringing the grand total of pending measures up to 321.

Eugenic marriage, long time bonds versus short time bonds or the "pay as you go" policy, and the eight-hour day have been leading topics

First Bill Passes Both Houses

The legislature has passed its first bill and sent it to the governor. The measure which received this distinction would not otherwise have received very wide publicity for it is not an extremely important or popular one. It merely provides an amendment to an existing statute which forbids the throwing of stones or other missiles at railway trains. It was introduced by Rep. Robert MacDonald of Houghton and includes locomotives, freight trains and motor vehicles under the protection of the act.

The first bill to suffer defeat on the floor of the senate was laid to rest with appropriate ceremonies Monday evening. The measure proposed to make it a misdemeanor to disturb a religious service or to ridicule or caricature a minister or other church dignitary in any theatrical act or motion picture. The bill is said to have been aimed at a recent picture in which Charley Chaplin impersonated a minister of the gospel. The vote on the bill was six yeas and eighteen nays. Eight senators were absent. The law-makers feel that respect for the clergy should be spontaneous and voluntary, rather than forced by law.

Agricultural Census Repeal Up to the House

Monday evening the senate passed by a unanimous vote Sen. Bernie L. Case's bill to repeal the 1921 law providing for the taking of a simple crop acreage and livestock census by supervisors. Thus the whole proposition of agricultural statistics for Michigan has been passed on to the House of Representatives where sentiment is rather evenly divided over this issue. Just at present the Case bill is being considered by the Agricultural committee of the House.

The restoration of Michigan cheese to popular favor with the big buyers and the consuming public through standardization of the product is proposed by Sen. Norman B. Horton. He would establish a definite fat and moisture content for cheese and provide for proper labeling.

Prospects are bright for legislative support for the program of bovine tuberculosis eradication in Michigan. The agricultural committee of the House has reported favorably the bill to provide a $200,000 emergency appropriation to pay back claims and finance the campaign for the rest of the year and also the measure to slightly reduce the state award on condemned cattle to conform to the federal statute.

The mounting costs of state highway construction and maintenance is a fruitful source of legislation consideration at present. The outstanding proposal along this line to appear during the week was presented by Rep. David H. Butler of Postoria who would call a halt in the payment of state rewards for local highways for two years.

Long Time Bonds Attacked

Bonding unborn generations is not approved by Rep. David H. Butler of Postoria, who would limit the maturity of school district bonds to fifteen years. The last legislature increased the time limit for complete amortization of such bonds to thirty years.

Repeal of the law requiring vehicles used on public highways to be a standard fifty-six inch gauge is proposed by Rep. Orvy Hulett of Armada.

Rep. Peter Lennon of Genesee would require school districts to have a combined valuation of at least $2,000,000 in order to consolidate to establish an agricultural school.

8-Hour Day Defeated

One of the hottest battles of the week centered around the 8-hour day for workers in mines, mills, quarries, or factories. A proposal to include farm labor was denounced as a "joker" and could muster but two votes among the eighty-nine representatives present.

Farm enemies of the bill said that its passage would make it harder to get help on the farm. Other opponents charged that the real purpose of the bill was to get the time and a half for overtime provided by the measure. The bill was finally defeated 71-17. Last session it received but eight votes.

The right of the State Administrative Board to exercise "general supervisory control over the functions and activities" of the University of Michigan Agricultural College and State Normal College would be nullified under terms of a bill, sponsored by Rep. John P. Espie, of Clinton county.

The Espie bill is the second effort to counteract the present centralization of government authority. The first bill was introduced by Rep. George M. Long of Gratiot county, and proposed to abolish the governor's veto power in connection with acts of the administrative board. It was put to sleep in the state affairs committee.

Rep. Edward G. Read of Richland, one of Michigan's leading sheep feeders, introduced a bill in the House to exempt feeder sheep and lambs from the provisions of the present law requiring dipping for all sheep brought into Michigan.

The life of a boot-legger at best is beset with many difficulties, but Sen. Wm. L. Case of Benzon, would add to their troubles by declaring them guilty of manslaughter if any of their liquor results in death of the drinker thereof.

Senate Practices Economy

Retirement pensions for our justices of the Supreme Court who are receiving the paltry sum of $10,000 a year were frowned on by the Senate, who defeated such a proposal 15-7.

The Dacey bill to make registered letters legal notice of special meetings of boards of supervisors passed the House without opposition.

There is every indication that parliamentary battles and debates will continue. The capital punishment bill was reported without recommendation by the Judiciary Committee of the House, but the motion prevailed to place it on the general orders for consideration by the committee of the whole.

Sen. Arthur E. Wood of Detroit, introduced a bill raising the fee charged for the issuance of notary public commissions from $1 to $5. This measure, according to Sen. Wood, is to serve the double purpose of cutting down the number of notaries in the state and adding to the state's revenue by the increase in the fee.

Sixty Bills Introduced

Among the sixty new bills to appear during the week were the following:

Rep. Anron Miles, Mescota, providing licenses for taxidermists and prohibiting the shipping outside the state of any mounted specimen without authorization of the conservation department.

Rep. Charles Culver, Detroit, making provision for referendum vote on county bond issues under certain conditions.

Rep. William E. Rasmussen, Montcalm county, requiring motor trucks engaged in passenger carrying business to slow down to five miles an hour in approaching railroad crossings except interurban crossings within corporate limits. The five mile limit would apply to the last one hundred feet of the approach.

IT STARTS PROMPTLY. IN THE COLDEST WEATHER

The behavior of Dodge Brothers Motor Car on zero days is a fair example of its fitness the year round.

You turn the switch, step on the button, and the motor starts—without undue noise or delay.

The reasons are readily understood:

The coordination of the power plant is well nigh flawless. The slightest impulse sets it in motion.

The battery—6-cells, 12-volts—is unusually large.

A high-vacuum carburetor so thoroughly vaporizes the gasoline that it ignites instantly under the spark.

The electrical system is remarkably efficient and cuts to a minimum the usual voltage loss between battery and starter.

Finally, the starter, itself—an admirable example of its kind—is directly united with the engine by a chain drive which is always in mesh—a fact having much to do with the promptness and quietness of its action.

Should a Bank Loan Money for Advertising

by FESTUS J. WADE

President, Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis.

When we strike at advertising, meaning of course, efficiently applied advertising, we strike at salesmanship, and the heart of business. For the banker to do anything to retard business right now is suicide.

When the merchant pulls down his shingle and waits for business to come to him in a buyers' market, we laugh at him, and call him a poor business man.

When he is forced to cut down one of his best methods of selling because his banker considers advertising an unnecessary item of expense and refuses an otherwise deserved loan purely on that principle, it is my humble opinion that we should laugh at the banker, and feel sorry for the merchant.

Don't mistake my meaning. It is a basic banking principle that a loan must be well secured, and a firm cannot borrow merely because it is a big successful advertiser. But the fact that it is a believer in advertising and wants to use a portion of the money for that purpose should never stand in its way when it calls on the Bank's credit department.

FARM LIVE STOCK

BABY BEEF MOST PROFITABLE

Young Animals Give Greater Return Than Older Ones—Can Be More Economically Fatteened.

The plan of "baby beef" has been in existence for many years. At first it was to some extent a term of reproach, but any stigma attached to it long worn off, and it is now part and parcel of modern farming.

Baby beef is early maturity in concentrated form. An animal that loses its early flesh may yet be finished at a fairly early age, but it will never make baby beef. The latter, in addition to early maturity, must combine quality, finish and tenderness of flesh. There are many cattle that cannot be fattened early; breeding will play its part in this as in other things.

Experiments carefully planned and carried out have demonstrated that young animals will give a greater return in beef for food, and can, therefore, be more economically fattened than older ones.

The advantage is from 25 to 50 per cent in favor of the younger animal. This is quite sufficient margin to balance many who have not yet essayed baby beef to try it. It has another advantage in being ready for the market at any time, and can be sold off if trade is good or held back if prices are low. There is a quicker turnover, a greater profit, and a better chance for the farmer.

WOOL AND MEAT FROM SHEEP

Animals Require Very Little Grain and Are Valuable in Destroying Noxious Plants.

An average high grade sheep can produce a fleece weighing from five to six pounds, and raise a lamb weighing 80 pounds in a year. If one acre of land can live without a single mouthful of grain, sheep forage crops and permanent pastures will carry the sheep the year round. Sheep have two important advantages over other classes of live stock. They require practically no grain and they destroy brush and bushes.

MINERAL MIXTURES FOR HOGS

Wood Ashes, Salt and Lime Increases Appetite for Feed and Improves Health.

Hogs crave something in addition to the feeds given to them. When fed mineral mixtures containing ingredients such as wood ashes, salt and lime, they not only seem better satisfied, but have a greater appetite for their feed and the general health is improved.

MIGHTY GOOD FEED FOR HOGS

Oats Are Recommended Where Scattered on Clean Floor—Barley Also Is Favored.

Oats is a common crop on most farms, and oats is a mighty good feed for hogs. It is better not to feed it in a self-feeder for brood sows, but to scatter on a clean floor all the sows will eat up quickly. Barley is also good for swine and may be soaked and fed whole.

Scours and Thumps. Scours and thumps are among the dangers which are apt to beset the young pig during the first few days of its life.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

House bill No. 13 has been passed at Lansing, making it unlucky for any one who throws a rock at a freight train, trolley car or motor vehicle.

It has been suggested that some of the country papers in communities where the gripe is prevalent, watch their chance, and run a big feature story on somebody who is well.

One of the most amusing sights of the season is the father, who tried to beat the train to the crossing last summer, telling his son how foolish it is to coast down a hill in front of a street car.

An Indian who died at Harbor Springs a few days ago, says the report, "was the oldest Indian in this part of the state. He did not know how old he was." Presumably, though, there were some who knew how young he wasn't.

In an effort to curb motor law violations, the regular police force at Flint has been increased by 300 reserves. Maybe it is the size of the police force that Flint people have in mind when they sound the slogan "150,000 by 1925."

News gatherers of Reading always on the job. "The editor and wife," says the Reading Hustler, "hereby challenge five other couples in Reading or vicinity in a series of 60 games of cribbage. First applications received will be taken in the series."

A Muskegon manufacturer, who has spent $30,000 in fighting a judgment of $10,000 for damages, has finally paid the $10,000. You can't blame the lawyers, though, as they would no doubt gladly have taken $10,000 more to save him the amount.

A young woman at Chelsen had her ankle burned and her silk stocking ruined when her escort dropped a lighted cigarette into the top of her gash. Men are asked to be careful and not throw cigarettes, cigars or rubbish of any kind into these receptacles until the fire on them has gone out.

Vesper services at the University of Michigan, which were discontinued 25 years, are about to be re-established, according to a report from the U. of M. As we recall, this is the twenty-fifth time, but the authorities seem to feel that they can't be about to be re-established too often.

Autrim county farmers raised 133,745 bushels of certified seed potatoes in 1922, and nearly all of this quantity was sold to one county in Pennsylvania. This was 46 per cent, of the certified seed potatoes raised in the state. The farmers obtained an average of 70 cents per bushel above the market price. Three-fourths of this crop was raised in Chestonia, Star and Warner townships.

Jess Haskins, who was employed at Autrim Iron Co.'s camp 4, near Mancelona, was seriously injured last Friday forenoon, when a log loading jammer tipped over and fell upon him, breaking several ribs, one of which was thought to have punctured his liver, besides other injuries. A logging train happened to be at the camp when the accident occurred, and Haskins was brought to Mancelona and taken to the Cadillac hospital on the afternoon train. He is a man about 45 years old.

You may think you have all the troubles in the world, but unless you have bought a second-hand car you've really missed most of them.

Cheer costs nothing, and perhaps that is the reason why so many people never hang onto it.

The De Laval is the natural way of milking

Always keep in mind that the De Laval Milker has been designed to please the cow. The cow cannot change her temperament to suit the milker.

Your cows have always been milked with an alternating action similar to that by which the De Laval will milk them. This is the logical and proper way of milking. It permits of rest and massage between each period of extraction, while the milk is drawn in an even, continuous flow.

The De Laval improves on even the best hand milking by making the periods of extraction and rest absolutely uniform.

HANDEL AND PONCHIELLI

TWO GREAT COMPOSERS AND THEIR WORKS

The "Hallelujah Chorus" From The "Messiah" and "Dance of the Hours"—"La Gioconda"

George Frederick Handel was born in Germany in 1685, and died in 1759. Unlike Mendelssohn, his musical desires were not encouraged, his father absolutely refusing to let his small son have music lessons, and Handel, did his practicing on a little old spinet up in the attic.

He wound rags around the strings so that the sound of his playing could not be heard downstairs and by the time he was seven he had managed to learn to play quite respectably. Later, his father realized that the boy's talent could not be quenched and allowed him the lessons he so coveted.

His greatest success as a composer was gained in oratorios, and probably the most famous of these was "The Messiah," from which the "Hallelujah Chorus," comes. An oratorio is a musical setting of a bible story, and "The Messiah" deals with the life of Jesus. The first time that it was given before King George of England and an immense audience, the king was so thrilled at the wonderful music of the "Hallelujah Chorus" that he rose to his feet and the great crowd of people with him. Since that time it has always been customary for the audiences to stand during the singing of that chorus.

Ponchielli was an Italian who lived from 1834 to 1886. He wrote many operas popular in his day and one, "La Gioconda," from which the duet "Dance of the Hours" is taken.

The main theme following the introduction is one which catches and holds attention and is easily remembered, and the entire piece is delightful.

TRAINMAN FALLS BENEATH WHEELS

Boyer Falls Man Almost Instantly Killed by Train

Tony Petoskie, brakeman on the Cobbs and Mitchell logging railroad out of Boyne Falls, was fatally injured Tuesday morning of last week, and died at noon the same day at Boyne Falls.

Petoskie was working with a logging train switching cars near camp 49, and had given signals to the engineer for handling the equipment and then jumped from the moving car to throw the switch. He slipped when he struck the ground and fell under the trucks, which crushed his left shoulder. A special run hurried the injured employee to Boyne Falls where he was given every attention by Dr. Conkle, but to no avail. Petoskie was 24 years of age, single and had been in the employ of the company for about 4 years.

Another fatality occurred earlier in the week, when Sidney Bullis, log scaler for Cobbs & Mitchell dropped dead while in the act of resuming log scaling at the same camp, 49. Bullis had eaten a heavy dinner and toppled over dead at his end of the skidway.

CHARLEVOIX GIRL WED IN DETROIT

Miss Ethel Sanford Becomes Bride of Derrel H. Brainerd

The Courier is in receipt of a clipping from a recent issue of an Adrian (Mich.) paper, announcing the marriage of Miss Ethel Sanford, well-known former rural school teacher in this county and resident of Charlevoix, which took place on Saturday, January 27th last. We reproduce the item in full below:

"A wedding of much interest to Adrian folks took place in Detroit Saturday afternoon when Miss Ethel Sanford of Charlevoix became the bride of Derrel H. Brainerd of Detroit, formerly of Adrian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Brainerd of 121 North Locust street. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. W. E. Bowyer in the Warren Avenue Baptist church. They were attended by Miss Vada Sanford of Detroit, sister of the bride, and Cecil Vaughn of Minnata, Ohio, where Mr. Brainerd formerly made his home.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd came to Adrian where a wedding supper was served at the Brainerd home on Locust street. They are remaining as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brainerd this week.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanford of Charlevoix. She has been employed for some time as a stenographer in the offices of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company in Detroit. For three years Mr. Brainerd has been taking government training through the United States Veterans' Bureau in the Detroit Commercial College where he is to graduate March 31. On returning to Detroit they are to make their home at 703 Putman avenue."

Mrs. Brainerd received her high school and county normal training here and taught for some time in the Charlevoix and Emmet county rural schools.

WERE MARRIED IN MILWAUKEE

Ernest Galloway and Miss Baker Wed January 31st.

We note that Ernest Galloway, former resident of Charlevoix and student in our schools, now of Milwaukee, Wis., was married in that city on Wednesday, January 31st, to Miss Claire M. Baker, also of Milwaukee.

Mr. Galloway graduated from the Charlevoix High school and Charlevoix County normal in 1921 and is a graduate, as well, of the Milwaukee Normal school. He is at present a graded school principal in Milwaukee, where the young couple will make their home. They expect to visit Charlevoix next June, to spend the summer.

The Courier joins the many friends of the groom in this city in wishing for himself and bride a happy and prosperous married life.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER DIE FEW HOURS APART

Charles Zeitler's Daughter, Hurrying to Father's Side, Killed in Shocking Accident

Charlevoix neighbors and friends of the Zeitler family were shocked and grieved to learn last week of the double sorrow with which they were visited in the death of Charles Zeitler, husband and father, followed so closely by the untimely death of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Zobel, in Illinois, while she was on her way to the bedside of the dying man.

Mr. Zeitler, who has been failing since New Year's day, took a sudden turn for the worse Thursday night and his son, John, got in touch immediately by telephone with his sister, Mrs. Zobel, advising her of her father's serious condition. She was, in turn, to notify her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Britz, who lives at Minuea, her husband being proprietor of a road house near Channahon, suburb of Joliet.

The last train for Chicago until Friday morning had left when Mrs. Zobel received her brother's message, so her husband hired a taxi and at about ten o'clock Thursday night, Mrs. Zobel started, with her 5 year old adopted daughter, Anna, picking up Mrs. Britz at the court house in Joliet, where the latter was waiting after a hurried drive from her home in the country. The accident occurred an hour later. At Lemont, a place about eleven miles out of Joliet, the car in which the party was hurrying to Chicago to make connection with the train for Charlevoix met an express truck, coming in the opposite direction. According to the story told by the truck driver, he was travelling south at a speed of about fifteen miles an hour. The taxi, northbound, was coming at about twenty miles an hour. The concrete highway north of Lemont was covered with the snow and ice of the recent storm and deeply rutted. The truck driver said that the taxi was running in one of these ruts and that when Norman Maxwell, the driver of the taxi, tried to turn out of the rut, the rear wheel of the taxi, caught in the icy wheel track, kept the car squarely in the path of the oncoming truck. The driver of the truck claims that he was over on his side of the road as far as he could get and when he saw that Maxwell was unable to get his car out of the rut did his best to stop the truck, but without success.

Just before the crash came, the taxi had swung partly out of the track and was skidding broadside to the approaching truck. The heavy vehicle tore into the light car in its path, ripping off the left rear wheel of the taxi. The top of the cab was torn off and hurled to the side of the road. Maxwell and the two women were thrown out to the left. The child was tossed out to the right, apparently, and was uninjured, except for minor bruises, although the little girl was picked up thirty feet from the place where the cars struck.

Mrs. Zobel's neck was broken and she died instantly. It is believed that a wheel of the truck passed over Maxwell's head, as it was crushed beyond recognition. Mrs. Britz suffered a fracture of both hips, according to attending physicians. Cook county officials took charge of the body of Mrs. Zobel and that of Maxwell and the injured woman was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, in Joliet, where it is said she has a fair chance for recovery, with the prospect of being a partial cripple for life, however.

Mrs. Zobel was forty-three years old. The little girl, Anna Zobel, who so miraculously escaped injury, was an adopted child, Mrs. Zobel having no children of her own. Her funeral was held Sunday in Joliet.

Friday afternoon the father, Charles Zeitler, passed away at his home on Sheridan street at a quarter to three o'clock. Mr. Zeitler was born April 27, 1853, in Kenosha, Wisconsin. He was married there on August 2, 1877, to Miss Theresa Stetzelinger and came to Michigan in the same year, settling at Ironton. In 1903, he moved to Charlevoix, where he lived up to the time of his death last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeitler were the parents of nine children, seven of whom are now living—four daughters and three sons: Mrs. James Votruba, of East Jordan; Mrs. Nicholas Britz, of Minuea, Ill. (injured in the accident); Mrs. Joseph Haney, of Lansing, Mich.; Miss Rose Zeitler, of Charlevoix; and Andrew, John and Frank Zeitler, all of Charlevoix. Besides Mrs. Frank Zobel, who was killed in Thursday night's accident, there was another daughter, Ida, who died in infancy. Three brothers, Henry, Barney and John Zeitler, of Kenosha, Wis., and two half brothers, Nicholas and Pete Stilb, of Racine, Wis., survive the deceased, and there are fourteen grandchildren.

Charles Zeitler was well known and much respected in this community. He served the county as supervisor of the second ward of Charlevoix for thirteen years and held the office of treasurer of Eveline township, while living at Ironton twenty years ago. He was a member of the St. Francis Society for the past twenty-two years. The Petoskey chapter of this society, in which he held his membership, attended the funeral in a body. Mr. Zeitler was also a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's church here.

The funeral was held Tuesday at ten a. m. from St. Mary's church. Rev. Fr. Wegener, assisted by two other priests from Petoskey, celebrating the solemn high mass for

ANOTHER WHACK AT RAILROADS

PROPOSED BILLS WOULD HURT TRAIN SERVICE

Senate Bills 62 and 72 Likely to Work Harm to Resort Schedule Here

The following item from the Michigan Tradesman is worth a careful reading and it is hoped that a majority of our readers will express themselves to their representative and senator in regard to it, as suggested in the last paragraph of the article. This is evidently a piece of class legislation and is likely to work harm to our resort train schedule next summer, if passed. A vigorous expression of opinion to those entrusted with the decision of accepting or rejecting it will help to lessen, in a measure, our burden of expense.

President Frank H. Alfred, of the Pere Marquette Railway, calls attention to the public to two bills which have been presented to the Michigan Legislature for enactment, which, if passed, will not only do great harm to the railroads, but will also perhaps, result in the cutting down of train service, particularly on the branch lines where earnings are lean, because of the encroachments of the motor bus and motor truck as competitors. Senator Young has introduced Senate Bill 62, which is known as the "Full Crew Law." This bill provides for an extra flagman on all trains, involving an additional expense of at least $1,500,000 for Michigan transportation users. While the measure is promoted supposedly in the interests of safety, railway experts see in it a source of additional hazard, inasmuch as the responsibility will be divided further than obtains at present.

"There is another side to the issue: In the event of a railroad strike transportation by rail would be completely 'roped and hog tied' for it provides that no flagman shall be employed without at least one year's experience. In discussing this situation attention is called to the situation which developed during the outlaw switchmen's strike. It is contended that had this law been in effect at that time, not a ton of coal could have been transported. The bill virtually makes a 'closed shop' of the railroads.

"Senator Ganer's Senate Bill No. 72 is another measure that is proposed and to which exception is taken. This bill calls for the installation of automatic fire doors on all locomotives. In many cases, it is pointed out, the work of making the alterations would be such as to involve such expense that a number of locomotives would be preferably scrapped. As the users of transportation have to 'pay the shot,' Mr. Alfred requests the people of Michigan to see that these bills are killed. He suggests that a letter opposing the measures be sent to the State Senators and State Representatives protesting against these measures."

Circulation counts—we have it.

A Circuit Judge As An Industry

Our attention has been called to a recent article appearing in a local newspaper in which the circuit judgeship is declared to be an INDUSTRY of a community, and insisting that as such the office brings a certain amount of profit to the place which has the headquarters of the "industry." Of course, we cannot always account for the opinions and tastes of men. Some have strange viewpoints and others make ill-considered statements without figuring out just how they will sound when put in cold print. But this statement is the most astonishing thing we have seen in many years. A Circuit Judge as an industry. A thing to be bartered for, to pay a bonus for perhaps, anyway to be striven for and gained if possible, no matter what the price may be.

We have always supposed, and supposed everybody else felt the same way about it, that a Judge of a court was removed from every consideration of commercialism, prejudice, influence, and so far as possible, from politics. That the MAN stood far above the OFFICE. We supposed that the people of a judicial district were expected to select for its Judge the best fitted, most reliable, fairest-minded and upright man to be found in the district. We had the idea that this policy would give the greatest security and protection to persons and property, and give every man an equal right before the law. We find that we were wrong. That the office should go to the man whose residence gave him the most votes. That we should look to it that a selection is made that will bring the most TRADE to the town. Trade first and man afterward.

We are wondering just how much "trade" the farmers around Charlevoix will get by having a Circuit Judge living in town. Possibly some visiting lawyer stopping at a hotel might drop around to the farm and borrow some apples if it happened to be a real nice day, or perhaps the farmer might see a cloud of dust in the road as some Traverse City lawyer speeded past on his way to see the Judge in Charlevoix, but that would be about the extent of it, so far as profit is concerned. We are wondering, too, just how much "trade" our neighboring cities in the county would get out of the INDUSTRY at Charlevoix.

Is there no better argument than this to influence our decision next March? Shame! A thousand shames.

COMM. ASS'N MET WEDNESDAY

IMPORTANT STEPS TAKEN BY THIS BODY

Matter of New Prison Up For Advise—Harbor Dredging Needs Were Acted On

A meeting and banquet was held at the L. O. O. F. hall last Wednesday evening, at which the members of the Charlevoix Commercial Association and a number of the townspeople not members met for the discussion of several vital matters having to do with the future welfare and prosperity of Charlevoix. The supper served by the ladies of the Rebecca lodge was a most excellent one.

Among other matters, the much-talked-of proposition of soliciting the state to establish at a point near this city, the contemplated new state prison, which is to be built somewhere in the northern Michigan region, was brought up. Discussion of this matter finally crystallized itself into a motion to the effect that the industrial committee write to a number of the leading resorters and ascertain their opinions on the location of a prison here. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that it would be best to go very slowly in the matter of this kind, especially in the light of the possible development of our nearby lime deposits by private enterprise.

The matter of clearing the channels at the entrance to Round and Pine Lakes was also the subject of mention on the part of the association. It seems that stones and rocks crumpled from the abutments have accumulated in the channel until the officially registered fourteen feet depth has been reduced to about twelve. Last season much trouble was experienced on this score and many freighters scraped bottom on their way in and out of the harbor. Each time a heavily laden vessel passes conditions get worse, due to the fact that the scraping keels roll the stones into piles.

The work of the sand sucker is unavailing to remedy this situation and a bucket dredge is necessary if the barber mouth is to be kept clear. This calls for an additional appropriation from Congress for this purpose. Appropriations of this nature are based upon actual freight tonnage passing in and out of a harbor over a year's period. Where there is a custom house, each vessel must report the tonnage of the freight they carry.

While there is a custom house official here, most of the freight traffic through our port originates at East Jordan and Boyne City. There are no customs officials at either of these places and consequently no report is made to the government, as the vessels pass through Charlevoix without reporting. Consequently Charlevoix gets credit only for the small amount of freight tonnage originating here, which falls by a large margin of being sufficient to warrant additional appropriations for the dredging of its harbor. If we desire to keep this port open for vessels of deep draught, something must be done without much further delay.

To this end a motion was passed instructing the civic committee to communicate with the various industries shipping and receiving freight by water at East Jordan and Boyne City requesting them to make sworn report of their yearly tonnage to the government engineer's office in Grand Rapids, to further this improvement, which is no less to their benefit than ours. This is a real constructive move and the association is to be congratulated if they are able to secure the much needed appropriation by this means.

Attendance Held Up

Charlevoix schools were not as hard hit during the recent flu or grippie epidemic as some others, according to the statement made, this week by Supt. Charles Hamilton. The kindergarten dropped to 83 per cent in attendance. Difficulty in getting in from the country districts lowered the high school attendance slightly. In the training room, only one per cent of the scholars were absent. The other grades showed a drop of about two per cent, which is better than might be expected under the adverse circumstances of bad weather and sickness.

CHARLEVOIX BOY OWNS TWO HOTELS

Pierce W. Blanchard Now Chicago Business Man

Another boy, born and raised in this county, is upholding the honor of the region and its reputation for producing "winners" in a rather remarkable career as a hotel man in Chicago.

After retiring from government service in 1918, during which he worked as electrical draughtsman for the emergency ship-building board at Washington, D. C., Pierce W. Blanchard purchased the Hotel Michigan and the Farmer's Inn, at 1163 Halstead Street, Chicago, from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Blanchard.

Six months later, he purchased the Empire Hotel, at 4157 S. Halstead street, Chicago, then sold out all three small hotels and purchased the Greenwood Hotel, at 1035 E. 47th street and now has recently purchased the Strathmore Apartment Hotel at 1410-12 Hyde Park Boulevard, the two hotels together comprising 210 rooms. Mr. Blanchard and his wife make possession of the Strathmore Hotel on March 1st, while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, leave Charlevoix on February 27th to take charge of the Greenwood Hotel, having disposed of their country property here.

CAR FERRY SANK AT PIER

DRIFTED BACK TO PORT. LEAKING AND COALESS

Crew of Ann Arbor Transfer No. 4 Save Themselves by Wild Scramble Across Ice

Last Wednesday afternoon, just at the entrance to the channel of Frankfort harbor, the Ann Arbor car ferry, No. 4, succumbed to the ferocity of the elements and sank; her crew and officers, numbering thirty-two in all, narrowly escaping with their lives.

The big ferry boat left Frankfort Tuesday with a heavy cargo. That night, in the height of the storm, the crew had on board broke from their fastenings and one box car, loaded with automobiles, went overboard. Another car followed the first one before the rest could be made more secure.

With ice continually gathering on her hull, which was leaking badly, she drifted aimlessly all Tuesday night. Wednesday morning, the crew were able to get their bearings and headed the disabled craft back to Frankfort. When just outside the harbor, her fires died down for lack of coal and she drifted against the pier-head and sank, partially blocking the channel. The officers and crew managed, with great difficulty, to make their way over the ice near the harbor mouth to the shore. This sinking is the first reported Lake Michigan casualty of the recent storm.

That ocean traffic suffered equally with that of the lakes is evidenced by reports that were received by radio and telegraph on Thursday, coming from various points on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Four ships were driven ashore or in distress on the Oregon and Washington coast early February 15, as a result of storms or from other causes.

The steamship Tuscan Prince, a big freighter, bound from San Francisco to Seattle, was reported by radio as ashore and breaking up.

The coastwise lumber carrier Santa Rita struck a reef near Tatoo Island, off the Washington coast Thursday morning.

The steamer Nika, enroute from Washington ports to San Francisco with lumber, lost her propeller off Umatilla Rocks late Wednesday, February 14 and was to be picked up by tugs Thursday.

The motor ship Coolcha, which went ashore Wednesday at Albert Head, on the Pacific coast, drifted back on the rocks where she may be a total loss.

The Italian steamer Moncenisoio was reported as sinking 150 miles off the New Jersey coast, according to S. O. S. calls intercepted at Boston Thursday.

Another message said the ship Cartlaka was stemming full speed to the rescue and was then 77 miles away.

BEETHOVEN AND MAC DOWELL

COMPOSERS DISCUSSED IN THIS WEEK'S CONTEST

"Minuet in G" and "To a Wild Rose" Are Perhaps Their Best Known Compositions

Beethoven (Ludwig Von) (Fahn Bate-hoh-fen) born in Bonn, Germany, was of Dutch descent. Like many composers, he showed remarkable talent at an early age. At 17 he was sent to Vienna to study, being supported by a court grant, but he returned to Bonn for a time. At 21 he went to Vienna and that remained his home for the rest of his life. He is said to have played for Mozart and he studied with Haydn. In his youth he was more distinguished for his piano playing and improvisation than for composition. In his later years he lost his hearing completely, but his written notes conveyed tones to his mind as clearly as written words convey ideas to the average person, total deafness did not prevent him from composing.

Haydn and Mozart had brought the sonata and symphony to a well-balanced form, so Beethoven was free to use that as the foundation of his more deeply expressive and romantic music and to enlarge and modify it as his own manner of writing required. That is the form in which most of his works are cast. His management of instrumental parts was far in advance of any other orchestral writing of his time.

Beethoven's life began in the formative age of the end of the eighteenth century and ended during the romantic movement of the early nineteenth, his work showing the influence of both periods. More than any composer he combined emotional and intellectual elements in his music and his deep religion and love of nature both are expressed in it. Beethoven and Johann Sebastian Bach stand unchallenged as supreme in the world of composers.

Beethoven wrote one opera, two masses, one oratorio, some songs and a large quantity of unsurpassed piano sonatas and chamber music of all kinds, as well as nine great symphonies.

Minuet in G

A minuet is a stately dance of the eighteenth century. It is written in three beat measure. This minuet in G moves thru the first theme daintily by means of thirds and sixths. The second theme is more forceful with slightly quickened tempo, blending again into the first theme toward the close. Artists such as Heifetz, Kneister and Elman have left nothing to be desired in the handling of this exquisite melody.

MacDowell (Edward Alexander) was born in New York. Among early American composers he occupies easily the first place because of his striking originality. He is the first and so far the only American born musician who developed an individual style so pronounced that in his mature works he can be confused with no other master. Directness, freshness and vitality constitute the charm of MacDowell's music.

While he wrote for orchestra as well as for piano and for voice he is a poet whose exquisite fancies find their happiest expression in the smaller forms. Without doubt his genius reached its most complete and convincing expression in his piano works. His songs are short but exquisite melodies.

He studied music in France and Germany. When he returned to America he soon fled from the noise of the city and found refuge in his log cabin in the woods near Peterboro, N. H. There in communion with the forest he loved, he composed much of his best music. In 1896 he accepted the chair of music at Columbia University in New York.

He was not the man for an academic life. He found his creative faculties restricted there. These conditions and nervous strain hastened the composer's unhappy end. His loss to American music was greater than easily can be computed.

CORRESPONDENCE

HAYES

W. D. Ham and Miss Irene Triplet made a business trip to Charlevoix, Saturday.

Andrew Wassacum, who has been very sick with pneumonia for the last four weeks, is slowly recovering.

Everyone seems to be having the flu. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ferguson both have it. Lee Scott is doing their chores.

Robert Minier is sick with the flu. Will Hair and Michael Glaser are helping with his chores.

Mrs. Henry Hair has fully recovered from her sickness of two weeks ago. Possibly it was the flu, everyone seems to be having it.

Rosy Black was the only girl that was in school at the Fair Grove district February 14. There were six boys, mostly the larger ones of the school.

The 14th of February was a day that will long be remembered by the rural districts. Mail carriers failed to get through only those who had to go venturing out.

The secretary of North Bay Arbor received word last week from W. S. Atwood that Mrs. Atwood was very sick at their home in Benton Harbor. Another letter came Saturday, February 17, stating that she was much better.

CLARION

Mrs. Anna Geyer is quite ill at present.

Mrs. John Ketchum returned Tuesday, from Boyne City.

The St. Valentine box social was postponed because of the storm.

Miss Leath Green returned Sunday from Boyne City, and resumed her school duties on Monday.

Mrs. Kate Flashman left Tuesday, for Moline, where she will make her home with her son, Charles C. Flashman.

A few friends braved the inclement weather and met at the home of Mrs. Lula B. Younce on Wednesday, in honor of her birthday. A pot luck dinner was served at noon.

Word has been received here of the death at Finlay, Ohio, on Sunday, of Mrs. Eliza Frank, for many years a resident of Walloon Lake. She has not been well for several years, and since the death of her husband several years ago, has spent her summers at Walloon Lake and her winters with her sister at Finlay, Ohio.

NORWOOD

John and Anna Jones of Charlevoix, were Sunday visitors at the home of their parents here.

The L. A. S. met Wednesday, February 21st, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Mayne, of North Norwood.

Mrs. Ed. Jones and son, Bert, left Monday, to visit relatives in Grand Rapids, Detroit, Lowell, Port Huron, and Moline. They will be gone four or five weeks, after which Mrs. Jones will return home, and Bert expects to remain in Detroit for an indefinite time.

Harold Stafford is planning to move his family to Charlevoix, in the near future, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford were raised in Norwood and have spent the greater part of their lives here, so will be greatly missed.

Dr. Hewitt has moved to Charlevoix with his family, where they will spend the remainder of the winter. We are very sorry to lose them from our community and the sunny face of their daughter, Muriel, will be greatly missed from our school.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schreiner, former residents of near Norwood, are greatly shocked and grieved to learn of the death on January 12th, of their only child, Dorothy, aged six years. Their many friends and neighbors here join in expressing their sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Pierce and family were the happy recipients this week, of a box of oranges direct from the sunny south. These were shipped by Mrs. Albert Holmes, of Port Orange, Fla., and are very juicy, sweet, and delicious. Don't you wish you had one?

BARNARD

Emerich Olach was taken to the hospital on Saturday, for treatment. We are glad to report that most of the sick people are recovering.

On account of Wednesday's blizzard, we were without our mail for two days.

School was closed for two days last week on account of the storm and lack of coal, which was due to the condition of the roads.

Rev. Frook did not get through to Barnard for church service on Sunday, due, we suppose, to the bad roads.

The Ladies Aid met on Thursday, instead of Wednesday as was announced. Only a small crowd was present and some work was accomplished for the hospital. A fine time was reported by those present.

EAST MARION

William Guilds, of Charlevoix, visited Louis Snider, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Einwachter visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stover, Sunday.

PETOSKEY PLANS CARNIVAL TOO

SUCCESS OF HARBOR SPRINGS ENCOURAGES NEIGHBOR

Schools Will Close and Stores As Well While Parade and Sports Are In Progress

Close on the news of the success of the Harbor Springs winter sports carnival, held on Saturday, February 10th, comes the announcement that Petoskey is planning an ice carnival for Washington's birthday, February 22nd, to which all northern Michigan is invited.

The committee in charge has arranged events for downtown, at the ice rink and on the hills in the City park. Enough events are listed to keep everyone entertained all afternoon. Handsome prizes are to be presented to the winners of the various events.

The schools of the city will be closed for the afternoon and business places will take a half holiday in order that everyone in the city may enjoy the sport.

In the early afternoon there will be a great parade through the business section of the city. Plans for the parade are being made.

Following the parade will come the other events downtown. There will be a dog race in which dog teams from Petoskey and nearby places will race for honors and for cash prizes. After the dogs have run themselves tired enough to be quiet the ski obstacle race will be pulled.

When these sports are finished the crowd will be taken to the city park where the skiing races and ski jumping will be held. Snowshoe races of various kinds will also be held in the city park. There will be at least eight prizes offered in the skiing events and at least four in the snowshoe races.

At the ice rink, corner of Howard and State streets, the ice events will be held. The first will be a backward race for youngsters between the ages of 12 and 16 and another race for the people over 16 years old.

A 200-yard dash will then be held. Eight prizes are offered in both of these events. Relay races, fancy skating and pull-away races will wind up the program.

(Political Advertising)

To the voters of the 13th Judicial Circuit.

The opponents of Judge Mayne are making an issue of the probating system as applied by him in this circuit.

That we might know the facts we have examined the statutes, the State and county records and find the system as practiced is in accordance with the law and is productive of good and is economical and should be continued and extended for the following reasons:

1. It makes better men and women.
2. The prisoner who is vicious or a menace to society is not placed on probation.
3. It is economical.

We are raising by taxation to maintain our state prisons at Jackson, Ionia and Marquette annually over $1,000,000 and including our industrial school for boys at Lansing and home for girls at Adrian nearly $2,000,000 a year.

The budget for the next two years as approved contains a very material increase for the first three named institutions over the amount stated. It costs us to cure for each person committed to prison per year the following sum: The Jackson Prison, $397.53; The Ionia Prison, $344.83; The Marquette Prison, $410.44; Industrial School for Boys at Lansing, $547.54; Industrial Home for Girls at Adrian, $608.06.

In addition to the above, every person sentenced imposed carries the following additional items of expense: Clerk's fees, Sheriff's fees, traveling expenses of sheriff and prisoner (four tickets and hotel bill) and a court trial amounting to about $200.

The total cost for the first year is $550.00 and upwards. The actual time served will equal or exceed 1-2 years to two years under each sentence and the minimum expense will be $700.00. This sum is saved to the people under the probation system.

The general rule is that a person who stands trial and is convicted by a jury will not be probated. The aggregate saving in expenses under the probation system in this circuit based upon the actual number probated, covering a period of eight years last past, will exceed $20,000.00 per year.

We respectfully submit these facts for your consideration. A study of the facts we believe will convince any fair minded person that the probation system as practiced in this circuit, is a success.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT:

In the person of Parm C. Gilbert for nomination for Circuit Judge at the Primary Election to be held Wednesday, March 7th, we have a fine, Christian gentleman, an able and active lawyer of many years' experience. He has been trying cases in all the Courts of Michigan for thirty-five years and he is eminently qualified for the position. Mr. Gilbert is also a successful business man and his opinions on civic, industrial and community matters are earnestly sought as a guide to future activities, in state, county, city, manufacturing and home affairs.

All the attorneys of his home county have endorsed his candidacy, and there is no disposition on the part of anyone to discredit Mr. Gilbert, especially among those who know him best.

In a spirit of fairness, after some thirty years, we feel justified in asking your support at this time for our candidate, Parm C. Gilbert, of Traverse City, for Circuit Judge at the Primary Election, Wednesday, March 7th, 1923. Do not fail to exercise your right of the elective franchise and the result will be acceptable after all of the votes are counted.

Gilbert for Circuit Judge, Publicity Committee.

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint

The past week has been characterized by suppressed excitement, the continued postponement of headline issues, and, in the House, by prolonged debates on disputed measures.

Capital punishment easily ranked first in popular interest, though no final action was taken along this line by either branch of the legislature.

The Pitkin death penalty measure in the House survived some mild attacks and was advanced to third reading. An amendment was carried to forbid the death penalty if the jury is divided or the conviction is wholly on circumstantial evidence. A proposal by Rep. Floyd M. Rowe, of Hillsdale, to submit the bill to the voters for a referendum was defeated. There is every indication that there will be a stiff fight when the bill comes up for final passage on third reading.

The capital punishment measure in the Senate is in the form of a constitutional amendment proposed by Sen. Arthur E. Wood of Detroit. This measure after being tabled once or twice was revived and placed on general orders, but was passed by each day without consideration, at the request of its sponsor.

Gambling Bill Also Delayed

Another measure of more than usual interest on which action is being postponed daily in the Senate is the Bahorski anti-gambling bill. It is understood that the delay is to await an opinion from the attorney general as to the constitutionality of the bill.

Especially interesting is attached to this measure because one big Detroit daily is leading the fight in its favor, while the two other Detroit sheets strenuously and openly oppose its adoption.

Distinct progress was made by leading agricultural measures in both chambers. The senate passed unanimously the Horton cheese bill establishing moisture and fat standards for Michigan cheese and requiring honest labeling. Immediately after its passage by the senate it was sent to the house, where it was referred to the committee on agriculture. They reported it favorably the next morning.

T. B. Bill Starts Fight

A battle royal broke loose in the House when the Kirby bovine tuberculosis bill came up for final passage. Enemies of the measure "agreed not among themselves." They put up a stiff, though rather disjointed, fight.

The main provisions of the Kirby bill are that it slightly reduces the maximum state awards for condemned cattle to correspond with the federal award and paves the way for county cooperation in carrying out what is termed the 5-year program of bovine tuberculosis eradication. The bill finally passed 53-34, having a bare margin of two votes more than the necessary fifty-one.

The Town anti "Filled Milk" bill has been advanced to third reading in the House without amendment.

After considerable debate, the House passed by a vote of 72-14, Rep. Fred Wade's bill to prohibit fishing in inland waters, from which the public is barred, and where the state plants fish. The bill is a conservation measure intended to break down the barriers, which private sportsmen's clubs have thrown up about streams, either enclosed by or adjacent to their lands.

Covert Act Repeal Sought

Repeal of the Covert Act in regard to highway construction is proposed by Rep. Peter Lennon of Genesee. This was one of the planks in the State Farm Bureau's legislative program adopted by the Board of Delegates at the Bureau's recent annual meeting. Opinion is expressed that the Covert Act has served its purpose and should be repealed to prevent abuse of its provisions.

It seems probable that the voters will again have the opportunity to express their opinion in regard to the "port district" and "excess condemnation" amendments.

Tuesday evening the House passed the Dacey resolution providing for submission to the voters of the port district constitutional amendment by a vote of 74-8. A similar amendment was defeated by a narrow margin of 8,000 votes in the 1922 election.

Rep. Culver's excess condemnation constitutional amendment is up for third reading in the House. This is another measure that was defeated by the voters in 1922.

Sen. Brower introduced a bill to appropriate $100,000 a year for the agricultural fairs during the next two years.

License To Fish Is the Latest

Sen. Condon would require all persons over sixteen years of age to secure a license to catch game fish with hook and line. Fees would be $1 for residents and $5 for non-residents.

Rep. J. F. Watson's bill to permit banks to invest in farm loan bonds issued by Federal Land Banks has been O. K. ed by the Committee of the Whole of the House and awaits the final vote on third reading.

Electric light and power for rural districts is proposed by Rep. E. O. Ladd of Grand Traverse county, who has introduced a bill "to permit townships to acquire, construct, maintain and sell facilities for the purchase, transmission, distribution and sale of electrical energy."

Tonnage Tax Pops Up Again

An old-time tonnage tax such as formed the basis for historical battles between the Grange, the Cleaners, down-state members and upper peninsula representatives has again made its appearance. The 1923 edition of the tonnage tax proposal came as somewhat of a surprise. It was introduced in the House by Rep. Wm. B. Ormsbee of Genesee.

This proposed tax is a stiff one and, based on the average mineral production in the last six years, would yield $26,000,000 annually into the state's coffers.

The measure is far more sweeping in its provisions than any similar tonnage tax issue before the legislature in the last generation. Whereas previous bills have attempted to tax only copper, iron ore and sometimes salt, the new bill covers coal and almost every other known mineral, also forest products.

The amount of specific tax which Mr. Ormsbee proposes to take from the mining industry exceeds by $9,000,000 the amount of the direct state tax levy this year and nearly approaches the aggregate of state expenditures from direct and miscellaneous tax revenue for the same period.

Mining interests protest that this is an inopportune time to establish such a tax since the mining business is not flourishing at present. Many of the Michigan mines are reported abandoned because of adverse market conditions.

Sen. Walter J. Hayes, a Detroit banker, has introduced a bill in the Senate to tax trust companies on the same basis as banks. This, Sen. Hayes believes, is only a matter of fairness and a square deal since trust companies enjoy banking privileges.

The House passed a bill authorizing the state public administrator of estates to appoint assistants in each county. The vote was 79 to 4.

Open War On Drugs

The first move of the Michigan legislature in the nation-wide war against narcotics was contained in a bill presented by Sen. Joseph Bahorski of Detroit, to provide stringent regulations of the sale and possession of habit forming drugs.

The bill would make it illegal for any person except a practicing physician to sell or otherwise dispose of such drugs, and would give police the right of search and seizure. A penalty of a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for two years is provided in the bill. A similar bill has been introduced in the House by Rep. James A. Burns of Detroit.

A bill enabling Michigan to take advantage of the provisions of the Shepard-Towner act and providing the necessary funds and appropriations was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Blumley E. Brower.

Under the Shepard-Towner Maternity act, the federal government appropriates approximately $33,000 for use in the state of Michigan, while the state provides about $29,000. Sen. Brower's bill accepts the provisions of the act, promoting the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy, and orders the State Health Commissioner to carry out the terms and conditions thereof, cooperate with Federal boards and officers, and do all things "necessary and proper" to entitle the state to receive the benefits of the act.

Income Tax Discussion

Members of the senate finance committee on a hurried trip to state institutions in the Upper Peninsula, in conversation with newspaper men, let leak a few inside facts about state finances, notably the information that behind all taxation discussion is a fear of a renewal of the agitation for an income tax to meet state expenses. There is apparently reliable information that Governor Groesbeck is in sympathy with the idea of an income tax. Frank J. Russell, the unusually keen editor of the Marquette Mining Journal touching on the "inside" information left by the fast moving solons says:

"The legislature is determined that there shall be no increase in the state tax on realty. Thus the eagerness with which possible new sources of revenue are being scanned the consideration being given the gas tax and the proposal to revise the corporation fee tax so that it will yield several millions more revenue. It will require nice management to prevent an increase in the state tax on realty and at the same time meet the irreducible demands.

"Bearing on this tax question, the senatorial visitors this week gave the interesting information—not as yet generally published in the press—that Governor Groesbeck is urging that the legislators consider the possibility of passing an income tax. The governor contends that such a tax may be imposed without amendment to the constitution. He believes its passage would greatly simplify the tax problem. It would do away with the necessity for the gas tax, to which the governor is opposed, would make possible the repeal of the corporation fee tax law, and would make possible giving up the state tax on realty. The governor inclines strongly to the opinion that passage of an income tax would be far the best way out of the legislature's dilemma, and his opinion that it would be found constitutional is said to be positive.

"Signs are not lacking, however, that if the governor should push this issue he would precipitate a sharp fight. Many members are said to doubt the constitutionality of such a law. Further they say, conceding that it would be constitutional, the voters of the state gave a definite verdict against such an enactment when they voted down the constitutional amendment designed to pave the way for an income tax. They contend that this expression of the voters should govern the legislature. "If the governor should come out openly for the passage of an income tax law it would give an entirely new slant to the tax problem, as it is taking form in the legislature, and it would open up what probably would prove to be the most contentious matter of the session."

Gas Tax Legislation Gains Favor

The proposals of Colonel Waldron of the Detroit Automobile Club to put a fixed valuation on automobiles covering the average life of the car did not hit a responsive cord with the legislators. The Detroiters likewise addressed the state supervisors but the assessors after hearing Judge P. T. Colgrave argue for the gas tax and Colonel Waldron expound his theories voted in favor of Representative J. E. Warner's bill which is the two cent bill. Senator W. M. Connelly the senate leader for the gas tax, made this statement after the members had had time to give Colonel Waldron's idea a couple of days study:

"Colonel Waldron appeared before our committee, and set forth his ideas of a substitute for a gasoline tax. Continued on page seven)

PROBATION

ITS USE AND ABUSE

The present Circuit Judge has sent out a statement in which he says: "During the past eight years I have placed on parole over 55 per cent of those found guilty of law violation."

What does this mean?

It means this: After the officers and citizens have used every honest effort and have obtained evidence and brought a man or woman into Court and after a trial has been had and the jury has said guilty, then the Judge has sent the guilty party home.

He has done this in more than half the cases.

This means that the Judge has overturned the notion of the local officers, has refused to impose sentence as the law provides and let over 55 per cent of guilty persons go without punishment.

This is according to his own statement.

Do you want more of that sort of thing?

In the same statement he says, if elected again he will carry this sort of action further than he has in the past.

Is it any wonder that local officials and law abiding citizens are disgusted in trying to enforce the law?

One officer puts it this way:

"I look up evidence, get proof of law violation, swear out a warrant, arrest the party and take him to Circuit Court; there he is tried and found guilty by the jury and then the Judge lets him go and he beats me home—he is there to laugh in my face when I come home from Court."

The use of parole or probation is proper in some cases. Some young persons who come before the Court as first offenders should be given an opportunity to make good, but this method can not be properly applied wholesale, and particularly to adult criminals.

Is it not true, that the great increase of crime has been due to the fact laws have not been enforced? A law that is not enforced ceases to be a law at all. The strength of any law depends upon its enforcement.

The community must be protected, and while in proper cases youthful offenders should be treated with due consideration and given fair chance, it is a serious mistake to extend the same treatment to criminals generally. The wilful criminal should be punished and not released to commit more crime.

AEROPLANE OR SUBSIDY?
The recent emergency on the Beavers, that finally called for government aid and received it under circumstances so sensational as to find their way into the press of the entire country, should bring home to citizens and officials of Charlevoix county the responsibility that rests upon the county government for that part of its jurisdiction that is separated from it by some twenty-two miles of lake.

A situation that leaves an island population wholly dependent for medical care upon "crude and unusual" methods of transportation, for even as short a period as one or two months, is surely not an enviable one for the islanders or for the self-sacrificing physician who pluckily terms his late experience a "bully trip" and is inclined to make light of its perils in comparison with more harrowing struggles through wind and wave on earlier professional visits to the Beavers.

It is a question whether the inhabitants of the Beaver group could, of themselves, afford to maintain a physician and surgeon who should make his permanent residence with them. It is an absolute certainty that with financial help from the county of which their islands are an integral part this could be accomplished.

Early in 1922, a petition, signed by almost every man and woman on Beaver Island and adjacent islands, prayed the supervisors of Charlevoix county to grant a certain sum which should be used to partially defray the expense of maintaining a competent medical man in their community. The committee of the supervisors, to which this petition was submitted at their spring session, reported favorably on it. Then, it died and has never since, to our knowledge, been resurrected.

We would commend the plight of our island neighbors to the sympathetic consideration of the people and officials of the mainland who do not have to wait for the coming of a government aeroplane, while their offspring depend on the unskilled and blundering (though kindly) hand of a neighbor for their safe entrance into this life and their injured bleed and sick languish.

MILDER GRIPPE

The gripe wave continues menacing. In many towns schools have closed or are threatened with closing because so many pupils and teachers are ill. Doctors and nurses in hospitals have not escaped it.

Yet there is encouraging news concerning this sickness. Many communities report that most of the cases are of a mild type. There are comparatively few deaths from it. It is dangerous and weakening, but it seems to be losing its virulence. Partly, no doubt, this is due to a milder attack of the disease. But also it indicates better understanding of how to treat it. The oft-repeated warnings as to rest and prompt measures against flu have begun to show results.

As cure is becoming more general, prevention is likely to follow soon. One school superintendent reported that with schools closing in all neighboring towns, the attendance for January in the local schools showed a margin over 90 per cent. The high school attendance averaged 94.4 per cent, and one sixth grade led the town with an average of 97 per cent. Plenty of ventilation in school rooms was credited with part of this triumph. That would help everywhere.

ALASKA AS A STATE

William B. Greeley, chief forester of the United States, advocates statehood for that part of Alaska lying south of the Arctic circle and east of the 152nd meridian of longitude. That section of Alaska, he maintains, has the economic wealth and stable law-abiding population which justify such an honor.

Residents of the territory feel that they are qualified to run their own affairs, as citizens of the 48 states run theirs. They believe they understand their own needs better than the remote federal government can. As Col. Greeley tells it, "what Alaska wants is not that the Union should be ousted from the territory, but that Alaska should be admitted to the Union."

If Alaska became the 49th state of the Union, it would be the first state located outside of the solid continental group. It would be much farther away from the national capital than would have been deemed possible or wise in the early days of the country. Yet it ought to be able to live and act as a self-governing state quite as easily as many of the others. It is nearer than it used to be, brought closer by the airplane and the wireless. It will grow nearer as these two miracles are still further improved and developed.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

Sunday, February 25, at 6 p. m., we study the topic, "Negro Men and Women of Achievement," using as the scripture lesson Heb. 12:1-2. Mrs. Beards lends the service.

Ideas are vital things. Planted in the ground of noble purposes, nourished by thought and prayer, and cultivated by faith and untiring effort, the seed-idea becomes a marvelous reality. Such ideas were born in the minds of those negroes who have become leaders among their people. Negroes are usually thought of as poor people, spending as they earn and satisfied with the mere necessities of life. Nevertheless, negroes bought $225,000,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and War-Savings Stamps, besides giving large sums to the Red Cross.

White people know little about the more prosperous Negroes, their contact being chiefly with the houseworker and day laborer class.

The remarkable economic progress made in the last sixty years is due primarily to the influence of missions and government schools and the Negro leadership they have developed.

Such leaders are: Miss Nannie Burroughs, founder of the National Training school at Washington, D. C.; John B. Pierce, a product of Tuskegee and Hampton and a farm demonstration agent in Virginia for the government; Mrs. Maggie L. Walker, president of St. Luke's Bank, Richmond, Va.; Dr. Charles Roman, a skillful surgeon, teacher and lecturer of the south and Joseph A. Booker, D. D. Ph. D., president and founder of the Arkansas Industrial School.

EYES OF ENTIRE COUNTRY ON HOLSTEIN HERD AT LOEB FARMS

Do you know that in the last seven months a farm in Charlevoix county, only three miles from the town of Charlevoix, has become famous throughout the world and has emblazoned its fame forever throughout the state. This farm first became famous when they erected their farm buildings of stone, thereby setting up a permanent tribute to the breeding and cattle, horses and hogs in this county. Next they became famous when they reclaimed hundreds of acres of worthless land which now bears the fruit of golden yields. This sets an example to the rest of Charlevoix county and challenges the vast outcrops of Michigan. In the fair circuit this last year this same farm won over $2,500.00 premium money on their cattle, horses and hogs. What an opportunity for fame! What a boom for our county! What advertising for our modest city!

KOLRAIN MARION FINDERNE

These are only a few things this farm is famous for—only a smattering compared to the last seven months' achievement of glory. Look at the photographs of these three cows. Did you know that KOLRAIN MARION FINDERNE is known from coast to coast? Did you know that she is the highest yearly milk producer east of the Rocky Mountains? For two years' production she has the World's Record—her first year starting in heifer form. Her name and even her picture were in a countless number of magazines and in hundreds of daily papers throughout this and other states. And she was developed in Charlevoix—and the name of Charlevoix appeared wherever she did.

Do you know she and her dam, KOLRAIN ELEANOR PONTIAC KORNDYKE, have the world's combined record for dam and daughter. They are perhaps two of the most famous cows alive. But did you know that this same farm has recently developed another matron, QUEEN GRACE PONTIAC, equally as famous?

Look at their pictures! The three of them together average over 30,500 pounds of milk containing over 1,220 pounds of butter. This is more milk than any other cow of Michigan heretofore ever produced, and only two cows in Michigan ever beat their average for butter.

Records reveal that no herd in the world ever produced in seven months three cows finishing with such a remarkable average.

QUEEN GRACE PONTIAC

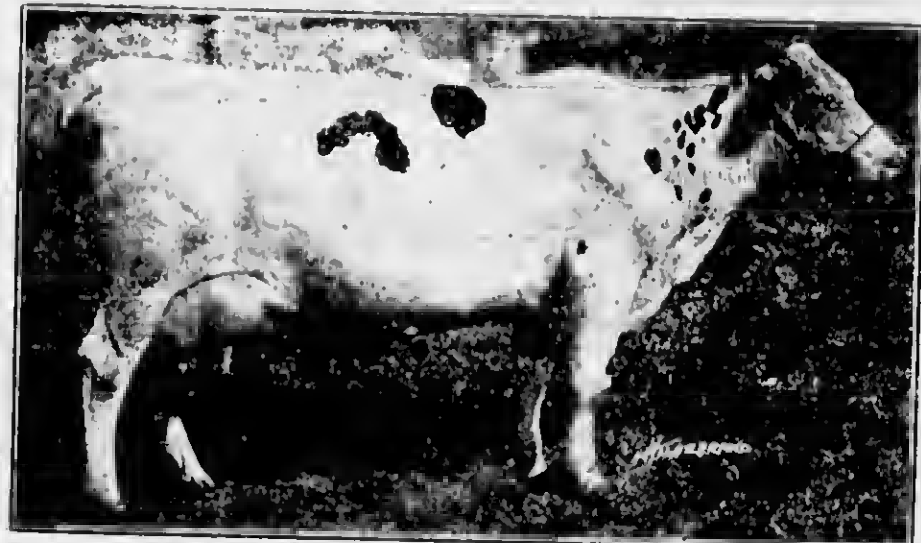

Charlevoix county gets the advertising through such records as these. Buyers are coming to Charlevoix county for pure-bred Holstein Friesian Cattle. Are all the farmers in Charlevoix county going to be asleep when these buyers arrive? Are all the farmers going to lie down and let this one farm and just a few others make all the sales? It costs no more to raise pure-bred cattle than it does the "Bolshevik Grade." Scrub cattle are a detriment—pure-breds an asset. The prices are low now, why not get in and sail with the good ship prosperity? Remember PROSPERITY always follows the dairy cow!

The records of these 3 famous Holstein madams follow
KOLRAIN ELEANOR PONTIAC KORNDYKE closed 365 day test June 5, 1922, with 26,995.4 lbs. milk containing 1,143.71 lbs. butter.

KOLRAIN MARION FINDERNE closed 365 day test Oct. 26, 1922, with 35,339.5 lbs. milk containing 1,278.56 lbs. butter.

QUEEN GRACE PONTIAC closed 365 day test Jan. 12, 1923, with 29,365.9 lbs. milk containing 1,238.98 lbs. butter.

The average for the three is 30,567.9 lbs milk containing 1,220.42 lbs. butter. The average per cent butter fat for the three is 3.2 per cent.

LOEB SCHOOL KIDS HONOR SAINT VAL.

Pupils Staged Fine Program Friday Night

The St. Valentine's Day program at the Loeb school, which was given last Friday afternoon after having been postponed from the fourteenth because of the severe blizzard of that day, drew a good attendance in spite of snowdrifts.

The first hour of the afternoon was given over to demonstration of regular class work, and the entertainment began at 2 p. m. St. Valentine and February's four greatest Americans—Lincoln, Washington, Edison and Longfellow, all of whom were born in the year's shortest month—constituted the program topics handled by the pupils, and Edward E. Webb, teacher of the upper grades, and for many years teacher of elocution and public reader in Chicago, recited "Jamie Douglas" and "How We Hunted a Mouse."

The singing consisted principally of patriotic numbers and the best loved of the old songs—"Nellie Gray," "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe," and "Home Sweet Home." Beryl Snider, accompanied by Mrs. Ed. Snider, gave a Lincoln song and Marjorie Lindley and Bertha Freese sang one on St. Valentine. "Holy Night" was sung by Raymond Snider, James Novotny, Ruth Critchlow, Beryl Snider, Bertha Freese, Cleota Petter and Violet Dodd.

Essays on February's four great men were given as follows: "Lincoln," Beryl Snider; "Washington," James Novotny; "Longfellow," Edwin Kling; "Edison," LeRoy Sanders.

Preceding the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," which was first of the patriotic group, Lytta Lindley recited "All Stand and Sing," a humorous reflection on the inability of most people to remember the words of our national song. Among the recitations were "A School Lesson on Washington," by six primary pupils; "The Story of Lincoln," by nine primary pupils; "Vera's Valentine," by ten primary pupils; "The New Valentine," Marshall Freese; "To a Picture of Lincoln," Bessie Pop and "Information Wanted," by Charles Cellner.

The program was followed by the opening of the valentine box and the distribution of hundreds of evidences of regard.

Child Cons. League

The Child Conservation League of Charlevoix will hold a meeting next Friday night in the kindergarten room of the Central school building, at seven-thirty o'clock. All members are earnestly requested to be present at this meeting. A regular business session will be held and papers will be read and discussed.

Be content with what you get—but get more.

E. Edwards on May Street, Wednesday, February 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Adams were called to Detroit, Saturday, by the serious illness of their son, John, who is reported to be in a hospital suffering from pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conita, Sr., returned last week Thursday from Detroit and Ohio points, where they have been visiting friends and relatives for the past two months.

Joe Suori, a resident of the north side, was admitted to the Charlevoix hospital today for an operation for hernia which will take place tomorrow morning.

Miss Eva Morse, of Central Lake, was discharged from the Charlevoix hospital Monday afternoon, as completely recovered from the operation on her leg, some time ago, and has returned to her home.

Robert Bridge left Friday for Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Lansing. At Ann Arbor, he will attend the meeting of U. of M. alumni, as delegate from the local association.

Howard Darbee, of the Eveline Orchards force, returned to the hospital yesterday for further treatment, after having been discharged from the hospital some three weeks ago. He is suffering from chronic nephritis.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Smith of Rollo, Ill., January 28, an eight pound baby daughter, named Marie Evangeline. The Smith's were former Charlevoix residents, Rev. Smith occupying the pulpit at the Congregational church.

George W. Priest and wife left Monday morning for Grand Rapids, where Mr. Priest will attend a meeting of the Consistory and Shrine. From there they will go to Detroit on a short visit to relatives and friends.

Mrs. Nellie McGonigle and Ronald and Ruth Dutton, who have been spending the past five weeks at the home of C. R. Bellinger on Bridge Street, returned this morning to their home in Saginaw. They intended to leave last week, but were held here by the storm.

Lawrence McMan has returned from Minnesota, where he has been on a visit to the Mayo brothers, famous surgeons, in regard to an abscess in his side which has given him much trouble. He is feeling somewhat better.

Mrs. Charles Parker, of Ridgewood, N. J., Edwin G. Nash, of Hanover, N. H.; Mrs. Sophia Shaver, and her son, Fred Shaver, both of Nettleton, Arkansas, returned Friday to their respective homes after attending the funeral of G. V. Nash, which took place Tuesday of last week.

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION IS ORGANIZED

With P. D. Campbell and F. J. Fessenden as Officers

The merchants of this city met last Friday at the council rooms under the library building for the purpose of organizing a retail merchants' association, to be known as the "Charlevoix Merchants Association."

Practically every merchant in the street was represented. As his is a strictly retail association, banks, professional men and manufacturing institutions are not included in its membership.

The aims of the new organization are mainly to promote a better understanding and relations between the merchants themselves and between the merchants and their customers. This is the first attempt that has been made in Charlevoix to form a merchants' association as an independent unit. A similar organization existed some years ago as an off shoot or department of the Charlevoix Commercial Association.

While the new association intends to co-operate in every way possible with the Commercial Association, it is a completely independent body and will function as such. Attention will be given to advertising, credit, hours of closing and other matters properly coming within the scope of the association's activities.

It is planned that the association meet every other Friday evening of the month. At the initial meeting, P. D. Campbell and F. J. Fessenden were elected to the offices of president and secretary respectively.

KIBBE-HOOKER NUP-TIALS CELEBRATED

Popular Young Couple Married At High Noon

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Kibbe, at 106 Palmere St., Charlevoix, was gay with flowers and ferns last Monday, when their daughter, Madge, was united in marriage at high noon to Harrison F. Hooker, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hooker, of this city, Rev. Herman Hurus, of the Baptist church, performing the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bridal couple were attended by Warren Kibbe, brother of the bride, and Miss Doris Vincent, instructor in the commercial department of the Charlevoix high school.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hooker left for a ten day trip to southern Michigan.

Mrs. Hooker is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, class 1919, and also of the Cleary Business College at Ypsilanti. Mr. Hooker is a graduate of the local schools and has been engaged in the garage and livery business with his father for several years. He is at present holding the office of county treasurer.

The young couple will be at home to their friends, upon their return from the wedding trip, at the Swayne Smith house on South Bridge street. The Courier and their many friends wish them all kinds of good luck.

EPISCOPAL PRELATE OF MICHIGAN DIES

Bishop Williams a Leader in Liberal Thought

Right Rev. Charles David Williams, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, died suddenly on the evening of February 14th, in Detroit. Death was due to cerebral hemorrhages.

Bishop Williams was widely known as a pioneer in the movement to liberalize religious thought in both the United States and England. He was 63. Bishop Williams was elected to the Michigan diocese Feb. 4, 1906. He suffered a slight attack of grippe about two weeks ago and never fully recovered. Ten minutes before death he presided over a meeting of diocesan officials.

WATCH THE SOB SQUAD

The "sob squad" whose tender sensibilities are so affected by the prospect of the passage of a law to execute murderers ought to visit the grave sacred to the memory of the husband, father and only support of the frail wife and three small children left destitute by the dastardly deed of the ruthless assassin. If the "sob squad" could see this stricken family, plunged into abject poverty, left desolate by the murder of the father and then, along side of this pathetic picture, would allow their fertile but misguided imagination to conjure up the thug who dogged the father's footsteps, murdered him in cold blood, robbed him of his weekly wage, all this little family had to live on—if the "sob squad" would only gaze on this picture and then on this, for whom would their sympathies be moved? Every alternate year for many years a bill has been before the legislature to restore the death penalty in Michigan. Every year soft hearted, uninformed, impractical women and men who saw only the "poor, misguided murderer who maybe wasn't guilty at all," have gotten just votes enough to prevent its passage. Year after year murders have gone on increasing until they have reached alarming proportions. A few years ago a woman fiend three miles north of Ithaca murdered her two innocent children. She and her husband were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. He died of typhoid fever at Jackson within three weeks. She served about twelve years at Detroit, was pardoned out by some soft hearted or misinformed governor and is now living in an adjoining county. There was not a single redeeming feature in this awful tragedy. If ever a convicted murderer deserved a life imprisonment or the electric chair, she deserved it. What is twelve or fifteen years for such a crime? Yet that is about the average term of murderers in Michigan. No wonder murder is on the increase. No wonder it is a common thing. It is high time we give some attention to the protection of the innocent and defenseless instead of wasting our sympathies on the vicious and abandoned.—Cratiot County Herald.

OPERA BY RADIO

A good many radio fans are wishing that really good music might be transmitted over the air. One writes from Maillard, Iowa, to a musical magazine, giving this experience: "The other night I tuned in on the following places: Detroit, Cincinnati, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Atlanta and Fort Worth. In each case I heard jazz. Five times I heard a popular waltz. It grew extremely monotonous, and I was about to give up in disgust when I caught Wichita, Kan., and got a few opera arias and a violin number worth listening to."

This man believes that there is sufficient demand to make it worth while to transmit the productions of the Metropolitan and Chicago Civic Opera companies by air. "Transmitting will not cheapen the profession, as has been claimed. Rather it will raise the general standard of music and put the artist and his music on a higher level than ever before. There is just as much to be gained in transmitting good music over the air as in putting it on phonograph records."

The writer makes a good case. The Radio Corporation of America has been wanting to broadcast Metropolitan performances, but the opera management declined, saying it "could find no genuine popular demand, and could not see that broadcasting would be beneficial to opera."

The statement seems to indicate either that the management fears the competition of radio with personal attendance, or that the managers are not in touch with the musical development of the country at large. There is plenty of demand for the best music, even in small communities, east, west, north and south.

And as in the case of the phonograph, popularizing the best opera would feed the attendance, rolls rather than abstract from them. The more knowledge spreads, the more demand there is for the best which artists can supply.

DODGE BROTHERS
BUSINESS SEDAN

Dodge Brothers, with equal aptness, could have named it the Family Sedan.

In the first place, it is big and roomy—a five-passenger car that will really seat five adults in comfort. There is no space wasted on superfluous adornments. Every inch of body and chassis is put to actual use.

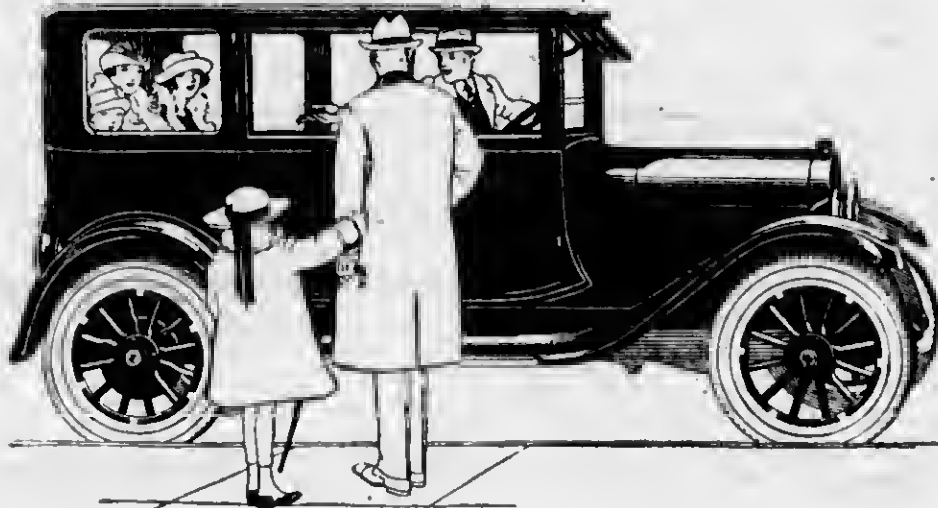

There are no delicate cloth furnishings to be soiled by the children. The seats are upholstered in durable and attractive blue Spanish leather.

There is no sensitive varnish to be easily scratched or finger-spotted. The body is steel-built—a new principle in Sedan design—making it possible to finish the exterior in Dodge Brothers oven-baked enamel, the most durable finish known.

The rear seat furnishings come out—instantly converting the rear section into a spacious carrying compartment—handy for carrying trunks, boxes and household luggage of all sorts.

Children can romp and play to their hearts' content in this car, and when cleaning time comes, you can turn the hose on it—inside and out.

Miss Helen Boss left on Friday for Detroit, for an indefinite stay. Sheriff Kittle, of Bellaire, was a business caller here on Saturday of last week.

Homer Cramer, of Detroit, was a business caller here on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

James Ruis and S. P. Bear are attending the Auto Show at Grand Rapids, this week.

Ellsworth was snow bound from Tuesday until Friday of last week, for the first time this year.

Miss Esther Parsons, of Grand Rapids, arrived on Monday, for a short stay at the home of her parents here.

Rural carrier W. G. Patterson, made a part of his trip on Friday of last week on foot, as the roads were impassable for horses.

The coal famine of the past week has been broken here, when the Marketing Association received a car of coal the first of this week.

Leagan McDowell and family, who have been working the F. H. Skow farm for the past year, have moved to Central Lake, and Harley Wansnauer will work the farm for the next year.

Relatives of Arthur Vandenberg received word on Tuesday of last week of his death at the Ann Arbor hospital, death being caused by pneumonia. The body will probably be brought home for burial.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

February, bluff and cold. Keep smiling, spring is on the way. U. Lenehue lost a valuable cow Saturday.

H. DeGroot bought a cow of P. Dipstra, near Central Lake, Friday. Charles Kass, who has spent the winter in Grand Rapids, returned home Saturday evening.

Last Saturday was the coldest day of the year so far, the thermometer dropping down to about 20 below zero.

Our mailman, Mr. Patterson, has a hard time at present, delivering the mail, on account of the storms and bad roads.

P. Brunhema, who has been very sick the past week with pneumonia, is a little better at this writing. Dr. Beuker, of Ellsworth, is in attendance.

ATWOOD

Thanks for better weather. Schools closed for one week on account of sickness.

Edna Joliffe is visiting friends and relatives in Charlevoix.

Conrad Kleister is in bed with the grippe.

Mrs. Ethan Joliffe is the guy that predicted an open winter.

A Mr. Taylor of Eastern Banks, has been the guest of Mrs. Ed. Blow, for several days.

Aaron Harwood has been confined to his home during the past week with a very sore throat.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown's six months old baby boy is quite sick.

Gen. Parsons is in Wisconsin, taking his summer vacation. Wonder how he likes the weather—30 below zero last week.

WILDWOOD

(Too late for last week)

Mrs. Harry Hyde, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is improving slowly.

Duncan Crawford is in East Jordan at present, where he has employment for a while.

The clay pit is running full blast again, after two weeks spent in repairing machinery, etc.

Alex Sinclair has resolved, we understand, to be sure that the party he asks to watch his horse next time has hold of the reins.

Ben Newman has brought Dr. Mohrman out from Central Lake, twice in the past week to attend little Ruby, who has been suffering an attack of pneumonia.

MILES DISTRICT

Albert Beckman sold hay to Mr. Tjipkas, last Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Addis returned from Traverse City, Tuesday.

Dick TerWee had the misfortune to cut his knee with an axe, one day last week.

Chester Donaldson, who had been at work in a camp near East Jordan, returned home last Friday.

Owing to the severe storm Wednesday, which blacked all roads, our rural carrier, Will Patterson, hiked over snow drifts to bring our mail on Friday.

ITS USELESS TO WRITE TRAVERSE

UP STATE TEAM MAY BE SAILING UNDER FALSE COLORS

Letters and Telephone Messages Fail in Effort to Arrange for Game With the Local Girls

The girls' basketball team of Ellsworth high school are apparently going on ground in their attempt to secure a game with Traverse City high, in spite of the fact that Traverse issues a sweeping challenge to any and all girls teams in the state.

Hopes of a game with Traverse were high here on January 3rd, when the coach of the latter school wrote Ellsworth and gave us the date of January 19th here, and February 9th at Traverse.

Advertising the game was well under way here, when on January 9th a letter was received from Miss Johnson of Traverse, in which she stated that her school had scheduled Frankfurt for January 19th and March 2nd, but giving as their open dates, February 9th and 16th, and March 9th.

The athletic board immediately wrote principal Frances, of the Traverse City schools as to which of these dates they could fill here and received no answer, a second letter also being unanswered, and finally after a third letter and a telephone call to Superintendent Poor at Traverse, a reply was received on February 6th stating that the only open date on the Traverse schedule was March 2nd, which game must be played at Traverse City.

Ellsworth plays at East Jordan on March 2nd, and Traverse had already announced a game with Frankfurt for March 2nd, so the opinion of the athletic board, girls' team and fans here is that the Traverse team, for all their claims to championship, are deliberately side-stepping our girls, who are making no claims to championship calibre, but have been undefeated so far this year and have defeated some of the same teams as Traverse and by a more decisive score.

Think it over.

Political Announcement

To the Electors of Antrim County. I hereby announce that I am a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Schools, on the Republican ticket, at the coming primary election, March 7th, 1923.

Having served you, as Commissioner, for one term, I shall let my services speak as to my qualifications.

If elected, I shall give the office my undivided time and attention in the future, as in the past.

I shall appreciate your support, March 7th.

Adv. 4-16. Kate A. Wilson.

UNDER DONE AT LANSING

His substitute is to materially increase the license fees on the motor cars above the Ford class. Most of the members of the legislature with whom I have talked are opposed to this plan because it does not take into consideration the mileage per annum by the vehicle and therefore is not a just tax. I do, however, think that our present license schedule is in need of revision, but it is my opinion that we had better adopt the gas tax at this session and revise the license schedule two years hence.

Cities and Villages Charge Discrimination

City Clerk Bates K. Lucas of Owosso, secretary and treasurer of the League of Michigan Municipalities, in a call urging cities to send delegates to a general conference now in progress in Lansing, touches a new complaint relative to automobile taxation, viz, that the cities and villages where the bulk of the cars are owned, derive no benefit from any legislation so far proposed. Mr. Lucas probably reflects the attitude of the legislative committee of the League comprising: Ganson Taggart, city attorney, Grand Rapids, Chairman; James H. Lee, ass't. corporation counsel, Detroit; Van R. Pond, city attorney, Owosso; Charles McBride, city attorney, Holland, and John Mackey, city attorney, Marshall, when he points out:

"Automobiles were originally taxed as any other property. They require and are given police and fire protection and good roads. These have been exempted from local tax-

The De Laval is the natural way of milking

Always keep in mind that the De Laval Milker has been designed to please the cow. The cow cannot change her temperament to suit the milker.

Your cows have always been milked with an alternating action similar to that by which the De Laval will milk them. This is the logical and proper way of milking. It permits of rest and massage between each period of extraction, while the milk is drawn in an even, continuous flow.

The De Laval improves on even the best hand milking by making the periods of extraction and rest absolutely uniform.

"HALF CENTURY" BRAND WHITE CEDAR SHINGLES.

Look With Care and Buy the Best

In building a new house or barn or reroofing an old one there are four things which you should clearly bear in mind. These are:

First, the seasoning of your shingles. This is one of the most important things about shingles. If they are kiln dried they stand a good chance of being dried out too fast and too much. That makes them brittle and liable to crack in nailing. "Half Century" Brand Shingles are all "air-cured"—nature's way—the best way.

Second, accurate and uniform thickness of shingles. If too thin they are apt to "curl" and warp.

Third, the kind of wood from which your shingles are made. Everybody who knows anything about woods knows that some woods stand the "wear" of weather much better than others and that the wood that resists "weather-wear" best is White Cedar.

Fourth, use the proper nails. "Half Century" Shingles use the common steel nail by a long, long margin. Use galvanized or copper nails. The other kind soon rust out. For a roof that will last your lifetime (and more) insist on having "Half Century" Brand White Cedar Shingles and use rust-resisting nails.

And remember that White Cedar Shingles take any color, shade or stain beautifully. All lumber dealers can supply you. (Insist on seeing the trade-mark above on every bundle).

NATION BURIED IN SNOW

WORST BLIZZARD OF SEASON STRIKES

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Last Week Saw Vast Tie-Up of All Communications

The worst storm of the winter season hit Michigan last week, Tuesday forenoon and grew steadily worse until Wednesday morning, when the mercury slid to below zero, the wind grew into a fierce gale and the snow filled cuts on railroads and wagon roads in most places level full. All rail and other travel was halted in most places in the state, particularly in northern Michigan, and trains were annulled on every line.

The Pere Marquette railroad did not undertake to move trains Wednesday forenoon. So fierce was the blizzard on all junction points along that line that no attempt was made to clear the tracks. Officials of the road expressed the hope that the storm would abate enough by afternoon or night to warrant sending the plows and shovel crews out to clear the line of snow.

Great drifts were reported on the tracks near Charlevoix, in the Lake Superior country near Traverse City, and at points farther south, towards Grand Rapids. Because of the fierceness of the wind and the fact that it drifts the snow into cuts about as fast as it can be cleared out, railroad officials believed that plows could not keep the tracks clear for trains. The Pennsylvania lines, Manistee & Northeastern and the B. C. G. & A., as well as the Michigan Central and the D. S. S. & A., north and west of St. Ignace, were fairly crippled by the storm. The reports came fast and furious over the wire for aid at different points along the lines and announcing the cancellation of train schedules.

Southern Michigan seemed to be in no better shape than the north re-

ONE WEAK SPOT

Many Charlevoix People Have a Weak Part and Too Often It's The Back.

Many people have a weak spot. Too often it's a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist. Dull aching keeps up, day and night. Backache is often from weak kidneys.

In such case a kidney medicine is needed. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

For backache and urinary ills. Charlevoix people recommend the remedy. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. Frank Smith, 307 May St., Charlevoix, says: "My kidneys were weak and irregular and there was a dull ache in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I got a few boxes at Hines & Co.'s Drug Store, and they cured me completely."

Price 60¢, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

gion. In fact the entire country felt the force of the storm, railroads and wire communications being tied up throughout the entire northwest and winter wheat, unprotected by snow, was damaged seriously by the freezing temperature.

Sub-zero temperatures roared on the wings of a gale that varied from 50 to 80 miles an hour. Mercury dropped 56 degrees to six below zero within eighteen hours, at Clinton, Iowa. Temperature ranged to 25 below in the northwest. In Chicago three deaths from freezing and more than 150 fires were reported in the space of twenty-four hours, and relief societies rushed food and coal to hundreds of needy families. From Oregon to Maine and the Canadian border to the Texas coast the storm raged. The gale reached 72 miles an hour in New York City and the northern part of New York state was completely traffic bound. From the Atlantic and Pacific coasts came rumors of ships lost and Lake Michigan claimed a car-ferry as its first victim.

In this region an epidemic of grippe accompanied the storm and attendance in the schools has been fairly decimated by the plague, which fortunately has appeared in a mild form. East Jordan had one hundred and ninety students out of school Tuesday and only one third of the total enrollment appeared Wednesday morning.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The A. A. P. A. have made an appeal for names to be enrolled at Washington, D. C., as opposing the 18th and some other amendments to the constitution.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with an army of patriotic Christian men and women, enrolled under the banner of loyalty to the constitution and against the return of the liquor traffic in any form.

The power of organized womanhood is unlimited. Let there be no quietism on the work of Charlevoix white ribboners rather with renewed efforts and an individual responsibility—let each woman exercise the right of citizenship with willingness and give of her strength and purity to help rejuvenate the nation, uphold the law, and respect the flag.

There is need of more definitely expressed public sentiment, and of continued vigilance on the part of Christian citizens. In all our work we must emphasize the principles of the W. C. T. U., especially in the matter of patriotism and law enforcement and the best way to help the nation is to realize our individual opportunities in our own community.

The Charlevoix union will be led in the registration campaign by Mrs. Silas Alex, chairman of the registration committee.

NEW BOOKLET IS A BEAUTY

FOLDER ADVERTISING CHARLEVOIX WELL DESIGNED

With 24 Pages and 47 Cuts Covering All Summer Activities, It Is Worthy Of Its Theme

The new booklet gotten up by the advertising committee of the Charlevoix Commercial association which will be used to put the beauties and advantages of Charlevoix as a summer resort before the city-weary denizens of the north, south, east and west, the patient sufferer of the hay fever belt and the winter population of the southern resorts, is going to be a beauty.

The book is a pamphlet, which, when folded, will measure 4x8 3-4 inch, spreading to 8 3-4 by 8 inches when opened out flat, which is the approximate size of the page. There are twenty-four pages—twenty-two of which are devoted to reading matter, liberally sprinkled with 46 excellent cuts depicting tennis, bathing, boating, golfing, horseback riding scenes, enticing bits of local scenery, hotels, etc. The two center pages are devoted to a double page "spread" showing a new air, plane view of the city, taken from a point above Pine Lake and looking west, showing the north and south sides and the South Point, with Lake Michigan beyond. The reading matter is exceptionally well written and a new slogan has been used, heading the top of every page—"Charlevoix, The Beautiful; The City On Three Lakes."

The paper used in this pamphlet is a fine quality of enameled book paper. The cover is printed on folding enamel paper in four colors and shows a fine yacht racing scene on the waters of Pine Lake. Ten thousand copies of this booklet are to be printed and they are to be ready by March 1st. Blank envelopes are furnished for their enclosure.

It is intended to enclose one of these booklets with the answer to every communication addressed by prospective summer visitors to the Commercial association, information bureau, individual merchants or hotel keepers.

Conditioned on the receipt of these booklets from the printer in time to mail before the end of the winter season at the various southern and west coast resorts, it is planned to put a number of copies in the hands of winter resort hotel men at those points for distribution to their guests and also to individuals who are residents of Charlevoix, now temporarily sojourning in the south and west.

"CAPPY RICKS" A "SCREAM" ALL THRU

Peter Kyne Play Kept Audience Shaking Sides.

Though we are not in a habit of commenting on productions at the local theatre, the play, "Cappy Ricks," which appeared at the Palace last night, certainly deserves a few lines.

Those fortunate ones who attended enjoyed the one big laugh of the winter season, the inimitable "Cecil Pericles", with his rib-tickling "Thanks, awfully" and lame duck gait, never failing to bring down the house. The part of "Cappy Ricks" was ably represented by Douglas Hope, who put much force and dramatic ability into his portrayal of the irascible old salt. The character of "Matt Peasly," the stalwart, two-fisted New England seaman, was most excellently played and the ladies of the cast carried out their roles to perfection. We hope to see them all again next year in some other feature of their repertoire.

Besides the immediate relatives, those present at the funeral from out of town were Mrs. Votruba, of East Jordan, Frank Zobel, of Joliet, husband of the daughter who was killed in the accident; Joseph Stertzing, a brother of Mrs. Charles Zeitler, from West Allis, Wis.; John Stertzing, a nephew of Mrs. Zeitler, also of West Allis; Mrs. Joseph Haney, of Lansing, and the latter's son and daughter, Lorne and Ida Marie.

FIRE LOSS A QUARTER MILLION

PETOSKEY SUFFERED HEAVILY SATURDAY MORNING

Alameda Block and Stores a Total Loss—Howard Cigar Store and Three Houses Damaged

The story of Petoskey's biggest and most disastrous fire in years is so graphically told in the columns of the Petoskey Evening News, published on the day of the fire, Saturday, February 15th, that we quote their account in full:

"Two bad fires, one the worst in recent years in Petoskey caused damage estimated near a quarter of a million dollars this morning. The first fire wrecked the big Alameda apartment building, corner of Howard and Mitchell streets together with the four stores occupying the ground floor, while the second partially destroyed the building occupied by the Howard cigar store on Howard street, and also caused damage to the building occupied by the Foley studio, adjoining it on the north, three residences were also damaged. The first fire alarm was turned in at 2:15 o'clock and that for the Howard cigar store at about 8 a. m.

Two persons were probably fatally injured in leaping from the Alameda apartment building, while others were badly burned and cut in escaping. The fifty guests were forced into the wintry storm in their night clothing saving none of their belongings. For some the escape by the hallway and stairs was cut off and they stood in the window, with fire leaping about them waiting for rescue by firemen and bystanders using ladders.

The Alameda fire is believed to have caught in the rear hallway and spread rapidly to the top of the building. That part of the structure was all afire when discovered. Several guests in the building, up and about at 1 a. m. saw no signs of fire. Others were aroused by the fire alarm but found no evidence of fire and returned to bed only to be chased out within a minute or two by clouds of smoke pouring into their apartments. Many guests crawled on hands and knees to windows so dense was the smoke. Some became lost in the hall and failed to reach any of the fire escapes.

The flames reached upward and downward to all corners of the big building, floors dropped and soon the south and west walls burst outward. The south wall fell against the Smith & Lake store building across the alley to the south, partially wrecking the roof, breaking out the windows and causing other damage. The west wall fell across the railroad tracks blocking all the tracks for a time. The front, or north wall, did not fall.

Firemen in Danger

Firemen fought the blaze from the roofs of adjoining buildings while hundreds watched the thrilling spectacle. Flames drove the men back as the wind shifted or air currents carried the flames and fire-filled smoke into their faces. Firemen were aided by many who were attracted to the fire. These manned hose and fought hard all through the early morning. Others aided firemen with ladders, carrying occupants of the rooms of the building to safety. While still others aided these unfortunates to places of warmth and safety. They were taken to the Cushman, Perry, Braun and Park house and to private homes where clothing was provided them. Coffee and food for the fire fighters were brought in by the Park house and Braun, while the paper mill and pump factory offered use of their hose.

Howard Cigar Store Burns At 8 o'clock Saturday morning, after most of the people gathered at the Alameda fire had gone to their homes or work, fire, probably from sparks from the Alameda, broke out in the rear of the Howard Cigar store building on Howard street, damaging that building and the building adjoining. The second floor of the Howard building was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jay Burnham, Mrs. Burnham and daughter were alone in the rooms and were rescued by L. W. Boening and H. J. Johnson, who discovered the blaze. Much of their household goods were carried out, and a part of the stock was removed from the cigar store and from the Foley studio.

Two lines of hose were laid to this (Continued on page six)

BRAHMS THIS WEEK'S SUBJECT

HUNGARIAN DANCES 5 AND 6 HIS WORK

These Striking Composition Are Excellent Examples of The Folk Songs

Brahms, German, 1833-1897. Brahms (Johannes) (Yo-hahn-es Brahms) born at Hamburg, Germany, was a German composer whose work shows no trace of foreign influence. He has been called "the most German of them all," (this has reference to his musical style). He came into prominence when the romantic style of composition was most flourishing, but with strict independence of spirit kept himself in great part aloof from that movement, although there are some traces of it in his work. He was a most thorough and careful workman, elaborating the individual parts of his compositions to such a high degree that only one who is familiar with them can appreciate them to the full.

His songs, which often partake of folk song nature, are more immediately appealing and his dances are full of striking rhythm.

The use of the instruments in his orchestral pieces sometimes lack color and is apt to be heavy, but as the public becomes more familiar with these compositions they seem to gain in popularity. Brahms contributed no new forms to music but he enriched his literature in the already existing forms. He wrote piano pieces, songs, chamber music and symphonies, but no operas. His greatest work, probably is the "German Requiem," a composition for chorus.

IT IS OUR DUTY TO VOTE

LIFE OF GOOD GOVERNMENT DEPENDS ON IT

If Citizens Don't Want Compulsory Voting Law They Must Use Their Franchise

Now that registration days are over, the only thing that remains for the voters of Charlevoix to do is to be sure and get out on Wednesday, March 7th, and VOTE.

Of late years, a sentiment has been growing among the qualified electors of the country that voting is a tedious formality, a privilege to be exercised at choice, if the weather is good and one feels just right—and, oh, well, what does it matter, anyway, my vote won't count.

No greater mistake could be made. The right to vote carries with it a corresponding DUTY to vote. Misgovernment and crooked politics thrive on this apathetic attitude of the average voter. The forces of evil are never at rest. Exponents of a bad cause and seekers after selfish ends at public expense are unflinching in their efforts to place themselves in power. The good (?) citizen who willfully neglects to vote is in about the position of the soldier who would go into battle without his gun. His cause is lost before he begins to fight.

So serious has the disinclination to vote become that a compulsory voting law for the state has several times been brought to the attention of the legislature. Now, most of us feel that while law, in the abstract, is good, there is such a thing as having too many laws on the books, especially such as are designed to force us into doing something that we have always been accustomed to use our discretion about. We have no laws compelling us to attend church, as yet, this being felt to be a matter of conscience. In like manner is voting a matter of conscience. Better one vote, intelligently and prayerfully cast, than a dozen stuffed into the ballot box under compulsion.

However, the state will sooner or later compel us to vote if we don't wake up and forestall them. If you want to walk to the polls at future elections in about the spirit of the chap who has been summoned to "meet the Judge" in the police court on the "morning after the night before" instead of prancing along, all puffed up with the proud sensation of the free-born American etc., proceeding royally to exercise his most important prerogative, why go ahead, together with some several thousands of your fellows and neglect your plain duty a while longer and you will have the chance.

In the meantime, let's see who we are going to vote for. Perhaps the following list of names of most immediate interest, which appeared in this paper recently, and which we are reproducing again, will help to refresh our memories:

For Circuit Judge—Parm C. Gilbert, Frederick W. Mayne.

City Republican Ticket

For Mayor—Arthur Bergeon.

For Justice of the Peace (full term)—J. R. Cooper.

For Clerk—Charles H. Lamphear.

For Treasurer—John Cook.

For member, Board of Park Commissioners (full term)—Len P. Adams.

For member, Board of Park Commissioners (to fill vacancy)—Geo. W. Priest.

First Ward

Alderman—Henry Partridge.

Supervisor—Darwin F. Meech.

Nassau Burns, Robert W. Paddock.

Constable—Joseph Howard.

Second Ward

Alderman—Archie Livingston.

Supervisor—Simon M. Rose.

Constable—Elmer L. Johnson.

Third Ward

Alderman—David C. Eckinger, Edward Shapton, Will E. Parmelee.

Supervisor—Geik C. Geiken.

PARM GILBERT FOR JUDGESHIP

TRAVERSE CITY MAN IS QUALIFIED FOR JOB

Long Experience As a Criminal Lawyer Will Insure to The District an Efficient Judge

When the people of this community go to the polling places on Wednesday, the 7th of March, they should have in their minds a pretty good conception of what they want in the way of a circuit judge.

Remember, this is no rocking chair job. It is an important post and its incumbent should be active—in middle life, a man of experience and plenty of energy; in other words, a full sized man's job.

We believe that Attorney Parm C. Gilbert, whom we have endorsed for this place has had the necessary long years of experience which are important for a judge trying all classes of cases in court. We know he is active and full of energy and will put the same life into this work that he has shown in his own business.

We believe that the people of this county want good government and it goes, almost without saying, that good government depends upon the enforcement of the laws. Mr. Gilbert has gone on record repeatedly with his intention to enforce the laws of this state and visit swift and drastic justice upon offenders. He does not believe in the promiscuous use of the parole and lawbreakers of every variety may well look upon the prospect of his election with fear and trembling, as the wilful transgressor will have little hope of leniency at his hands, unless he deserves it.

Mr. Gilbert's record is a clean one and he will come to his office with a reputation not only as a distinguished criminal lawyer but as a solid citizen who has been and always will be active in the support of the region's best interests.

HO! YE SLEEPY-HEADS! HEAR YE!

How About Rolling Out At Four O' The Clock

A petition was presented to the city council at their meeting on Monday evening last, signed by a number of our business men and others, favoring the establishment of fast, or eastern time, during the coming season. This change, if adopted, will take effect April 15th and terminate on October 15th, 1923.

The council has agreed to place this proposition on a separate ballot, to be voted on at the spring primary, March 7th.

The matter of moving the long hand of the clock an hour ahead of sun-time is too well understood by now to need much discussion. Although there may be some little annoyance experienced by those whose work is more or less intimately concerned with the railroad train schedules, as in the case of the post office, drymen and bus-drivers, the majority of the town's population will, believe, be benefited greatly by the change. While it necessitates a little earlier rising, on the other hand, it means an hour of extra leisure on the other end of the day.

For instance—if your alarm clock is set for five-thirty n. m. fast time, it will be necessary to roll out of the feathers at the witching hour of four-thirty sun time. However, this will not be hard to accomplish as Old Sol will be up and doing and roosters crowing by the time your unslipped feet hit the floor. At seven o'clock sun time stores will be open; at eleven you will eat the midday meal and at four-thirty p. m. you will lock the safe, kick the office cat down the back stairs and sally forth into the warm sunshine with nothing to do till tomorrow. This arrangement should be eminently satisfactory to everybody.

Hospital Auxiliary

The committee in charge of the contribution for dishes and silver for the hospital, are very desirous that all the aprons be returned with any contribution, however small, as they are lacking the necessary amount to cover the cost of articles which have been purchased and are now in use at the hospital. The needs were so urgent, the committee secured the dishes and silver and trust that your contributions may be forthcoming during the week.

GAVE A SURPRISE PARTY FOR BOTH

"Double Header" Birthday Celebrated Monday

The Misses Roberta Stafford and Mildred Parker happen to claim the same date this month as their birthday—February 26th. Knowing this fact, a number of their young friends thought a "double header" surprise party would be a novelty worth trying.

The little girls began to arrive at the Parker home on State street soon after school, Monday afternoon. They played games, sang, danced and enjoyed a pot-luck supper during the evening. Billy Parker was the only boy present and he sneaked in.

Marion Bartlett danced while Roberta Stafford entertained with aerobatic stunts. A short play was staged by several members of the party. All voted it a dandy time.

Those present were: Irene Bogart, Edna Brown, Myrtle O'Neill, Metta Webster, Doris Solomon, Angie Scott, Edna Heimlauch, Valera Ripley, Doris Stafford, Viola Stafford, Helen Richardson, Fannie Bell, Siminow, Virginia Parker, Geraldine Halversen, Marion Bartlett, Helen Smith, Isabelle Parker and Mary Louise Parker.

CO. HEALTH COMMITTEE FORMED

IT IS PLANNED TO ESTABLISH NURSING SERVICE

State Organizer and District Nurse Are Cooperating With Various Local Bodies

In accordance with the plans of the Bureau of Child Hygiene and Public Health Nursing of the State Health Department of Michigan, a county health committee has been organized in Charlevoix county for the purpose of promoting health work in the county with the ultimate end in view of having a county nursing service established as is being done in many other counties in the state.

This organization work was accomplished with the assistance of the state organizer, Mrs. Alta N. Fulcher, and the district nurse, Miss Charlotte Ludington.

These women have been outlining the work before various groups of women, and in some cases men's organizations have been pleased to have the question brought before them.

This committee will be heard from later. The following people constitute the Charlevoix County Health Committee:

Chairman—Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall, Charlevoix.

1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. H. W. Dickson, East Jordan.

2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. C. S. Morrison, Boyne City.

Secretary—Mrs. Harry Quant, Charlevoix.

Treasurer—Miss Olive Klink, East Jordan.

Publicity—Mrs. Guy Squires, Boyne City; Mrs. Lewis Sherman, East Jordan; Mrs. Iva Adams, Charlevoix.

Advisory—Mrs. F. B. McKercher, Boyne City; A. J. Duocanson, East Jordan; A. C. Belding, Charlevoix; Mrs. Clinton Cooper, Charlevoix; Mrs. C. H. Pray, East Jordan.

It is hoped that the chairman of the board of supervisors will consent to act on this committee. As soon as suitable weather and passable roads will permit, the committee will meet to perfect their plans. This work should receive the cooperation of every earnest man and woman who desires to be of service to his county.

TO START WORK ON NEW EXCHANGE

Telephone Officials Here to Begin The Job

H. J. Johnson, manager of the Petoskey exchange of the Michigan State Telephone Company, is here this week arranging the details of the transfer of the local exchange to the second floor-rear of the Levinson building. The present equipment is not only inadequate but somewhat out of date and it is the desire of the company to make the new Charlevoix exchange modern and efficient in every respect. Operations will commence March 1st, at which time the new quarters will be entirely remodeled to meet requirements.

DIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

JACK ADAMS PASSED AWAY IN DETROIT

Fought Losing Struggle with Diabetes For Over A Year—Was Twenty-seven

When Death visits the aged, our sorrow is tempered by the feeling that it is a natural and unescapable termination of a life thoroughly ripened and ready to be garnered in by the Reaper. When, however, his grim visage appears to one in youth or the prime of life, our sadness is mingled with the bitterness of our conviction that somehow there has been a mistake, that a soul has been cheated of its complete development, that Nature has faltered in her works and missed the way.

It was so with Jack Adams, as his friends affectionately knew him. This young man fought a gallant fight against overwhelming physical odds and lost. Always cheerful and kindly to the last, hardly anyone not knowing would have suspected that he was battling against the insidious disease that caused his death.

John C. Adams was born in Charlevoix on January 28, 1896. He received his education in the public schools of this city, finishing at St. Mary's school. For several years following his graduation from the latter institution, he pursued the calling of a traveling salesman with considerable success.

On July 27, 1918, the young man was drafted into the service and went to Camp Custer, shortly afterwards securing an appointment to the Second Officers Training Camp at Camp Grant, Illinois, where he tried for a commission in the infantry. The signing of the armistice cut short his military career and he was honorably discharged from the training camp on November 26, 1918.

About a year ago, it was discovered that he was suffering with sugar diabetes, at which time he entered the Waukesha sanitarium for diabetes at Waukesha, Wis., from which he was discharged in fairly good physical condition some five weeks later. But the seeds of his fatal malady still remained and some few weeks ago examination developed the fact that he was again in a critical condition.

About two weeks ago, he left for Detroit on a visit and three days after his arrival, took to his bed which he left only on his removal to St. Mary's hospital in Detroit last week, where he died on Thursday, February 22nd.

The remains, accompanied by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Adams reached this city Friday afternoon and the funeral was held the following day at ten o'clock in the morning from St. Mary's church, Rev. Father Wegener, conducting the funeral services, after which the body was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery here.

Besides his father and mother, Mr. Adams leaves a brother and three sisters; Prescott, and the Misses Nell and Mary Adams of Charlevoix; Mrs. Emory Nymen, of Petoskey, and an aunt, Mrs. Al. Dillenbach, of Lawrence, Mich., all of whom were present at the funeral.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, March 4, morning worship at 10:30 a. m. The morning service will be conducted by the Rev. Herman Huras, D. D., convention pastor, who will use as his theme, "The Place of Habit in Our Lives."

Sunday school at 12 o'clock. General topic—"Jesus Teaching in the Temple." Our Sunday school is growing but there is still room for more. If you are not in attendance elsewhere, may we count on you next Sunday?

Run for shelter! Where? Read Psalm 91:1-16 and then come to B. Y. P. U. at 6 o'clock. Subject for study—"The Refuge Psalm." Leader, Miss Margaret Lennia. This is another evening with the Psalms. This Psalm is generally attributed to Moses as the author and gives his own experience of God and his keeping power. As you read it over, what does it say to you?

At 7 o'clock, Dr. Burns will again address us in the evening service. All are cordially invited to come.

On Thursday evening at 7:30, the church meets for the mid-week prayer service. Have you been there lately? If not, grasp the opportunity next Thursday and go. If so, take someone else with you next time.

Owing to the large amount of sickness prevalent, there will be no meeting of the Ladies Aid Society this week.

Mrs. Frank Benriss, our pianist and one of the teachers in the Sunday school, is recovering from her recent illness and we hope to see her back next Sunday. We are very grateful to Mrs. Benriss for her fidelity, her absence a week ago last Sunday was her first in any department of the church in over five consecutive months.

We also missed our loyal Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Penslee, last Sunday, but hope to see him next Sunday. He is recovering from an attack of the "flu."

The B. Y. P. U. held a business meeting last Friday evening and elected officers for the coming year, as follows: Pres.—Miss Ruby Hull; Vice Pres.—Mrs. Eva McGinn; Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Alice Chew.

The names of those serving on committees will be announced later. At the close of the meeting, refreshments consisting of pop-corn and candy were served.

It is with pleasure and regret, that we announce that our former pastor, Rev. C. A. Rice, has accepted a call to the pastorate at Union and Mason in Cass county, to start work April 1. Rev. and Mrs. Rice have endeavored themselves very much to the church and community during their stay here, and we are sorry to have them leave, but feel that what is our loss will be Union and Mason's gain.

DOULTRY NOTES

Regularity in feeding is one of the secrets of success with fowls.

The tender flocks the more valuable and profitable they usually are.

Separate the sexes at eight weeks old, or as soon as sex can be determined.

Move colony house or brooder coop to fresh ground before chicks are turned out.

The incubator is not only a necessity but an economy where early chicks are wanted.

The hen and the caretaker are partners in the poultry business. If either one is lazy the profits are less.

Do not expect to hatch more than 75 per cent of the total eggs incubated, either in machines or under hens.

As incubator often gets lots of blame that should be attached to the operator. When a machine is operated wrong the hatches will go wrong.

COMPARE MERITS OF BREEDS

In Culling Operations In Indiana Standard Bred Hens Show Superiority Over Mongrels.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In Knox County, Ind., half the number of flocks of hens culled under the supervision of the county agent, employed co-operatively by the United States Department of Agriculture, the State Agricultural colleges, and the county, were standard bred and the other half mixed breeds, so their comparative merits could be considered through culling.

The 9 standard bred flocks numbered 1,087, while the 9 of mixed flocks numbered 1,103, or 16 more hens. The week before culling the standard bred hens laid 2,006 eggs and the mixed breeds 2,547, or 541 less. In culling, 314 standard bred and 355 mongrel hens were removed from the flocks, leaving 773 standard bred and 738 mongrels, or 35 more standard bred. Two owners of the standard bred flocks, home breed-rs, culled much closer than the owners of the mixed flocks. The week after culling the standard bred hens laid 2,724 and the mongrels 2,433 eggs.

The figures show that, among the 1,087 standard bred hens there were 11 less cults than among the 1,103 of the mixed flocks, and that they laid 559 more eggs the week before culling and 291 more the week after.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT:

In the person of Parm C. Gilbert for nomination for Circuit Judge at the Primary Election to be held Wednesday, March 7th, we have a fine, Christian gentleman, an able and active lawyer of many years' experience. He has been trying cases in all the Courts of Michigan for thirty-five years and he is eminently qualified for the position. Mr. Gilbert is also a successful business man and his opinions on civic, industrial and community matters are earnestly sought as a guide to future activities, in state, county, city, manufacturing and home affairs.

All the attorneys of his home county have endorsed his candidacy, and there is no disposition on the part of anyone to discredit Mr. Gilbert, especially among those who know him best.

In a spirit of fairness, after some thirty years, we feel justified in asking your support at this time for our candidate, Parm C. Gilbert, of Traverse City, for Circuit Judge at the Primary Election, Wednesday, March 7th, 1923. Do not fail to exercise your right of the elective franchise and the result will be acceptable after all of the votes are counted.

Gilbert for Circuit Judge, Publicity Committee.

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint

Now that the state G. O. P. convention at Flint is a thing of the past, the legislature is settling down to business in real earnest. The past week has been one of repeated interruption for the lawmakers. First it was the State Republican Convention on Wednesday and then the joint legislative celebration of Washington's Birthday on Thursday. Sandwiched in between these festivities, however, some real constructive legislative progress was recorded.

Death Penalty Draws Crowds

Galleries and side-lines were packed with expectant visitors—especially for the two evening sessions which were held during the week. Popular interest centered quite largely around the Pitkin capital punishment measure which was expected to be brought up for final passage at any time, until Rep. Pitkin moved to make further consideration of his bill a special order of business for Tuesday, March 6, at 2:30 p. m.

Bills continued to be introduced in liberal quantities. The house added fourteen new measures to its list Monday evening. The first two enrolled acts passed by the 1923 session of the legislature were signed by the Governor on February 16.

Lobbyists Under Fire

Legislative agitation to curb annoying activities of lobbyists has culminated in the adoption of a resolution to authorize the House Committee on Rules and Joint Rules to pass on the qualifications of all lobbyists seeking entrance to the floor of the house.

Dairy legislation received favorable consideration at the Wednesday evening session of the House of Representatives. The Town anti "Filled Milk" bill was finally passed, 74 to 0, after an amendment had been added to exempt baby foods used under the direction of a physician from the provisions of the act. Sen. Horton's bill to establish standards for Michigan cheese and to require honest labeling also passed by a vote of 71 to 2.

"Land Certification" Urged

The much-discussed "Land Certification" bill sponsored by the development bureau of the State Department of Agriculture was introduced in the house Monday evening by Rep. Thomas D. Meggison, of Central Lake, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the house, and referred to his committee.

PUBLIC SALE

We have purchased 122,000 pair U. S. Army Munson last shoes, sizes 5-12, which was the entire surplus stock of one of the largest U. S. Government shoe contractors.

This shoe is guaranteed one hundred percent solid leather, color dark tan, bellows tongue, dirt and water-proof. The actual value of this shoe is $6.00. Owing to this tremendous buy we can offer same to the public at $2.95.

Send correct size. Pay postman on delivery or send money order. If shoes are not as represented, we will cheerfully refund your money promptly upon request.

National Bay State Shoe Co.
296 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

The bill is a rather complete and comprehensive proposal and represents a great deal of work and study on the part of the state officials responsible for its preparation. It provides for state certification of land and the licensing of dealers to handle such land exclusively.

The bill provides that either improved or unimproved land can be certified at the expense of the owner under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture, the certification to consist of a map, location, topography, soil types, and the location of roads, schools and shipping points.

Aim to Thwart "Land Sharks"

Under the proposed bill no unimproved land could be sold without certification unless it had been seen by the purchaser while the snow was not on the ground and the certificate of certification would be required to be shown in full to the purchaser before a legal transaction was entered into. The bill is an effort to prevent fraudulent exploitation of Michigan land.

Michigan Republicans at their recent state convention at Flint adopted the following resolution in regard to this bill: "We favor a system of state certification of land quality which will protect prospective purchasers of land in the state from fraudulent practices and preserve the fair name of Michigan."

Deer Law Gets Attention

The "one buck" law is arousing the usual amount of debate and amendment. An originally introduced bill would allow the killing of "one deer." It has been amended to provide for one male deer with antlers four inches or more long. Every second year would be a closed season.

Rep. Corless' bill to remove the limits of the present Corporation Tax Law but to reduce the rate from three and one-half to two mills came up for final passage, but was referred to the House Committee on General Taxation, where it will receive consideration along with the other tax-reform measures.

Rep. J. E. Watson's bill to permit banks to invest in farm loan bonds issued by federal land banks passed the house Monday evening by a vote of 77 to 1.

Superintendents of the Poor would be liable to removal by boards of supervisors by the provisions of Rep. Henze's bill which passed the house by a vote of 71 to 6.

Amendments to Auto Laws Up

Two bills were introduced by Rep. Nelson Farrier of Hillman, proposing changes in the provisions covering the licensing of motor vehicles. One would require motorists to keep their license plates clean and readable at all times, illuminated at night and unobstructed by any decorative design or name-plate. It would authorize the secretary of state to issue distinctive plates for motor trucks and would permit the use of dealers' license plates on used cars in the hands of dealers. Parked cars would be required to display a white light in front and a red light in the rear at night.

Rep. Farrier also proposes to raise the automobile drivers' license from 50 cents to $1, to provide more revenue for highway purposes.

The house passed, 68 to 4, Rep. Wells' bill to provide that depletion in county drainage fund, due to embankment, may be covered by appropriation from the general fund of the county.

No Pardon for Murderers

While further consideration of the Pitkin capital punishment bill has been deferred until March 6th, a joint resolution introduced by Rep. Floyd Rowe of Hillsdale, has again focused legislative attention on the death penalty. The Rowe resolution calls for a constitutional amendment to prevent the issuance of reprieves and pardons by the governor in cases of first degree murder. It is evidently intended to supplement the Pitkin measure.

Consent of 80 per cent of the property owners subject to assessment for construction of a county road would be required before such construction was authorized, under a bill introduced by Representative John E. Gillett, of Rapid City.

The bill provides that, within 30 days after the first order of determination for the road, 80 per cent of the owners of land subject to assessment for the highway shall file with the county road commissioners a petition requesting the improvement.

Upon failure of the property holders to file this petition, the orders will be cancelled under the bill.

Prohibition Still an Issue

Prohibition enforcement would be more easily extended to billiard and pool rooms under a bill introduced in the house of representatives by Rep. S. D. Bryan, of Charlotte.

The bill is the second sponsored by the Michigan Anti-saloon league to be presented at this session of the legislature. The first would make a person guilty of manslaughter who furnishes poison booze causing death.

The bill provides that any soft drink, pool or billiard room proprietor, when applying for a license, must make a statement to the effect that if such license is issued, he will at any time allow officers to search his establishment without a search warrant. While it does not specifically mention prohibition, it is understood that the intent of the bill is to expedite the detection of bootleggers.

Another prohibition bill was introduced by Rep. Charles Culver, of Detroit. It would regulate the sale of soft drink, prohibiting mislabeling or the replacing of contents of a bottle which is labeled to indicate that it is "real stuff."

Senator B. L. Case of Gratiot county introduced a bill, the purpose of which is to provide that all bank shares shall be assessed in the township or city where the bank is located. The bill drops the present provision that when a share holder lives in the county in which the bank is located his shares shall be assessed in the township or city where he resides.

C. R. Muayon will be back from California in early spring to take up his work of moving buildings and all kinds of cement work.—Adv. 6-tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Have you ever heard of spiders as interior decorators?

A swarm of these creepy members of the arachnid family were "rung in" by enterprising property men at the Lasky studio and made to help out in the atmosphere decoration of the big gloomy interior of the old Spanish castle of Aragon, built for scenes in "The Ghost Breaker," a pietization of the famous play, which stars Wallace Reid, and which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

The set had been built and decorated with various marks of age and decay by skillful camouflours at the studio. But one thing remained to make the illusion perfect and that was a plentiful supply of cobwebs in all the nooks and corners. Now a cobweb is a very light, flimsy proposition and for property men to go out and hunt up enough cobwebs to supply the demand in this case and bring them and carefully put them up, would have been an impossibility.

The problem was beginning to take on a serious aspect when Wallace Reid offered a suggestion. "Why not make the spiders build us some cobwebs?", he suggested. "Spiders are temperamental, and like all things with temperament, you can fool them just as easily. Get a few cobwebs and put them up. Get a flock of spiders and put several of them near each web. By morning they'll build cobwebs all over the place and get ready to settle down, catch flies and raise families. And we won't even have to put them on the pay roll."

Wally was right in his deductions. The cobwebs and spiders were secured and "planted" as suggested. The set scheduled to be in readiness for scenes next day was covered with black cloth and boxed up for the night. Next day, there were enough cobwebs all over the setting to make it look two hundred years old.

Hayes Township Caucus

The Hayes Township caucus will be held at the Township Hall, Saturday, March 10, 1923, at 10:00 a. m., standard time, for the purpose of nominating the township officers for the ensuing year and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE Parm C. Gilbert

VOTERS: Please read this.

In the Sutton's Bay Courier, February 8th., the present Judge says:

"A judgeship is not a gift from the people."

I say to you that such an office is a gift from the people. It belongs to you and it is for you to give to whom you will.

The same advertisement says:

"Judge Mayne through conscientious service and faithful performance of his work, has removed himself from obligation to the public."

I say that a public officer cannot remove himself from obligation to the public.

That obligation to the public grows with the duties of the office. When anyone has held office so long that he thinks he has removed his obligation it is time for him to quit.

When his obligation ceases then his right to the office has come to an end.

A public office is a gift from the people.

The obligation to the public lasts as long as the office continues.

Think this over and then vote for a man who admits the office belongs to the people and who will put some life and energy into the duties of that office.

Respectfully,
PARM C. GILBERT.

PROVINCE OF A NEWSPAPER

There are some people who take the view that a newspaper is a garbage bucket into which anything may be dumped. Mistake No. 1. There are some people who think that a newspaper is published only to serve their selfish interest and throw the harpoon into the other fellow. Mistake No. 2. There are some people who think that a newspaper should print what is obviously advertising matter without a single cent of compensation. Mistake No. 3. There are many other similar mistakes with regard to the publication of a newspaper, but these will answer for the moment.

A newspaper is not duty bound to print anything that does not want to print. There is no rule that requires it to print something of absolutely no news value just because somebody wants it printed. It is not obliged to effusively laud some person where laudation is not earned, nor lambast some individual where adverse criticism is not deserved. It is not printed for the purpose of satisfying selfish motives. There is not the remotest reason why it should give away its space to somebody who is running something for monetary benefit.

The mission of a newspaper is to print news of general interest. Advertising is not news. Something concerning a single person is not news. An article skinning some private enemy or opponent is not news. Numerous other things of a like nature that find their way into a newspaper office are not news. It is not hard for a trained newspaper man to draw the distinguishing line. It is not hard for anyone to draw the distinguishing line if they stop a moment and give the matter a logical thought.

True it is that a newspaper gives away much, especially where charity is concerned, but it does not follow that the publisher should adopt charity as an established custom and open the door freely to all comers. Space is the only thing that a newspaper has to sell, and the publisher who gives it away is no wiser than the merchant who gives away a hat or a suit of clothes to the man who comes into his store and asks for them.

TO END GUN-TOTING

It is evident that something must be done to check the evil of gun-toting. While a vicious person intent on murder might accomplish his purpose just as effectively without a gun, the fact remains that a shockingly large number of unplanned killings result from the easy purchase and unrestricted carrying of guns. Even where there are local ordinances against carrying concealed

Flint Lady tells of Results in 3 Weeks
Mrs. Geo. Dicair, 2211 Lyman Street, Flint, Michigan, says if you can't come to see me, write and I will tell you how my neck was reduced 5 inches and the relief I obtained from the use of Sorbol-Quadruple, a colorless liniment.

ed weapons, the fact that there is no uniform national law on the subject enables anyone who wishes to purchase guns by mail or in neighborhood communities.

There are many suggestions from many sources. One investigator would have every person carrying a weapon put up a bond of suitable amount to protect the public. The Cleveland Association for Criminal Justice is considering recommendations for changes in the statutes which would make all cases of illegal carrying of concealed weapons felonies, and eliminate the phrase "lawful business" from the statute, because that involves the element of intent which is so difficult to prove in trying a criminal. The association would lengthen the term of imprisonment for this offense, and would have a responsible commission examine applicants for a license to carry weapons.

A member of the New York city magistrates' court would go further still. He says:

"I think the ideal thing would be to have revolvers manufactured only by the government, or for the government, under governmental supervision. Permits should be issued only to peace officers and the military, with a limited issuance, after rigid investigation, to persons who might stand in urgent need, such as bank messengers.

"It might be well to have every revolver the property of the government and only loan to the licensee holder on issuance of the permit, after payment of a suitable fee or deposit. In this way every holder would have to account for his revolver at the end of each license period, or year, and it would be known where every one was."

When these various suggestions can be boiled down to a few simple but effective regulations, enforceable and enforced, the murder habit in this country will be considerably less prevalent.

Tax Expert Leaxes

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, W. S. Darling, was here a few days last week and Monday and Tuesday of this week, assisting taxpayers in filing 1922 income tax returns. As an expert in unraveling the intricate tangles of the questionnaire which sends so many unfortunate to the mad-house at the beginning of each year, Mr. Darling rendered exceptionally valuable service to Charlevoix citizens. This is his last visit here in connection with the 1922 tax, but his memory will be lovingly cherished by many distressed individuals whom he so skillfully and patiently aided. Come again, Mr. Darling.

CAMP FIRE NOTES

On March the 17th, the Camp Fire will celebrate its 11th birthday anniversary. On the evening of this day the Ho-de-os-seh Camp Fire will have a birthday party at the home of their Guardian for the new girls who expect to become members.

The week before this, from the 11th to the 17th, the girls will work hard to increase the membership of the Camp Fire.

From now on I will grind feed Monday and Tuesday only of each week. Jay Kuiper.—Adv. 9-tf.

HOODLUMS DEFACE POST OFFICE LOBBY

Postmaster Weaver Likely to Take Drastic Steps

A gang of boys entered the local post office lobby last Sunday evening and made a most excellent job of wrecking the place, according to Postmaster Weaver who found pens broken, papers from the wastebasket littered about and ink spattered on the walls when he arrived at the office in the morning.

Complaints were also received from tenants of offices in the post office block and nearby buildings that games of tag and "run sheep run" were evidently in progress on the roof of the post office building during late hours of the evening.

The postmaster would like to call to the attention of these boys and of their parents the significant fact that in mutilating and defacing property of the post office they are running foul of Uncle Sam, who is not noted for his leniency to trespassers on his preserves. It is hoped that both boys and parents will heed this warning, as if action comes it is likely to be both swift and severe. It is possible to have plenty of fun without defacing property or creating obnoxious disturbances.

That beautiful wall finish you saw in your neighbor's house was the result of using Acme Quality Paints and Wall Finishes. In any quantity at Benj. Brown's.—Adv. 9-tf.

MACKBY APPOINTED CO. ROAD COMM'R.

East Jordan Man Takes Courier's Place On Board

Roscoe Mackey, of East Jordan, business man and good roads enthusiast, has been appointed county road commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph Courier.

A big petition in favor of his appointment, signed by his friends, neighbors and fellow-townsmen, was presented to the appointing committee of three: Judge S. A. Correll, A. L. Fitch and Charles H. Emrey, who are charged with the selection of persons to fill vacancies caused by resignation of county officials. The Board of County Road Commissioners is now under the state administrative act, it being considered as a purely administrative body, controlling the actual work of its foreman. Under this act, no member of an administrative board shall receive as compensation to exceed one hundred fifty dollars a year and expenses.

Mr. Courier, who is also a resident of East Jordan, is rumored to have charge of road construction work in that end of the county.

PHELPS SCHOOL P. T. A. ENTERTAINS

Hot Lunch Served at Washington-Lincoln Exercises

The Parent Teacher's Association served a hot lunch at the school house February 22nd, and a number of the people from this neighborhood enjoyed it with the school children. The children appreciated a hot lunch, instead of the usual cold one, very much.

The school gave a program between two and two-thirty p. m., to celebrate the birthdays of both Lincoln and Washington, which all enjoyed. After their program, members of the association gave a short program for the children, after which came a spell down in which all took part. The person who remained standing the longest was Mrs. E. Faltling.

They expect to have the next Parent Teacher's meeting sometime next month. The exact date will be given out later.

EAST JORDAN MAN FOUND INSANE

May Be Committed to State Hospital At Traverse

Michael Romanoff, aged about 40 years, was taken in charge by Deputy Sheriff Cook at East Jordan, as he was about to leave the city Wednesday forenoon of last week. Romanoff registered at the Russell House, Monday night, and attempted to leave without paying his board. When arrested he was found to be violently insane and Mr. Cook had considerable trouble handling him. He was brought to this city for examination Thursday afternoon, and will undoubtedly be committed to the Traverse City asylum. Romanoff has no known home, and when searched $70 was found on his person together with a lot of absurd trinkets.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

An important time for every W. C. T. U. member to realize and appreciate the sacredness of her high calling in our community and make the highest use of her opportunities. We have a definite purpose before us, and urge that every man and woman who stands for the righteousness that exalteth a nation, will unite with increasing influence to hasten the time when observance of the law and the supporting of the fundamentals of the government shall be enthroned in the hearts and homes of every true American.

Our civilization rests on the observance and enforcement of righteous law. Theodore Roosevelt emphatically expounded this truth when he said, "No man is above the law, and no man is below it, nor do we ask any man's permission when we require him to obey it. Obedience to the law is demanded as a right, not asked as a favor."

To quote Anna Ames Gordon, National W. C. T. U. president: "As to the desirability of obedience to the law, the right-minded citizen can have but one answer. Those who encourage disregard for this or any other law, or, as officers or jurors, decline to enforce it, because they are not in sympathy with its policy, are disloyal to the first principles of citizenship. The law having been duly passed and its validity declared by the tribunal in which we have vested final authority, for anyone now to decline to obey or to enforce it, is nothing short of anarchy."

MRS. PHOEBE GUARD PASSED AWAY TUES.

End Came At Masonic Home In Alma, Michigan.

Word was received here last night of the death at the Masonic Home in Alma, of Mrs. Phoebe Guard, which occurred Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased will be remembered here by the older residents as the wife of Captain Louis Guard, master of the steamer, "Gordon," which carried passengers and freight between this city and East Jordan some twenty-five years ago.

After the death of her husband in the west several years ago, Mrs. Guard made her home with a sister in Chicago and her son, Ed. Guard, of Portland, Oregon, who survives her. Some three years ago, she was admitted to the Masonic Home at Alma, where she died. The remains will be interred at Alma.

Mrs. Guard was a member of the Charlevoix chapter, O. E. S. and was much beloved by all who knew her. She was a shining example of the few rare and valuable souls who grow old in body but never in spirit. She took life very much as she found it and met everything with a smile, a cheerful word, or a jest. Her vigorous and optimistic personality endeared her to her friends and she will be sadly missed.

FIRE LOSS A QUARTER MILLION

fire and it was soon under control. Smoke and water caused considerable damage. The buildings were owned by W. G. McCune. The loss to the building is covered by insurance as is much of the loss to the occupants.

Two Badly Injured

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Money penny leaped from a rear window when fire cut off their escape and were probably fatally injured. Mr. Money penny was crushed about the abdomen and a broken rib penetrated his abdomen. They were carried into the Churchill Printing company offices and later to Petoskey hospital. Other guests were cut and burned in making their escape down ladders, or fire escapes.

The blaze is considered the worst here since the Fochtman fire in 1914 when that building was destroyed, and one of the most severe in the city's history. The building was one of the older brick structures, located at the corner of the railroad tracks and Mitchell street.

Guests in the building, trapped by the fierce blaze and smoke rushed to the outside windows where they were taken down ladders.

Practically every room in the building was occupied and those on the scene of the fire early declare that it was a miracle that all were gotten out alive.

Blaze Started in Rear

The blaze started in the rear part of the building, whether in the furnace room, rear room or in some first floor hallway no one has as yet determined. When discovered the rear hallway was a roaring furnace. Guests in the south end of the structure escaped down fire escapes or leaped, and those in the front crawled on hands and knees to the stairways or were taken out of the windows.

City firemen hurried many lines of hose into action and held the fire to the Alameda building. The Chattanooga building just to the east was badly damaged by fire and smoke but was not much burned. The Smith & Lake building, across the alley to the south was damaged and windows in nearby buildings cracked and broken. The railroad tower at the corner of Howard and Mitchell was burned.

Stores destroyed included the big double Army store on Howard street, operated by Jonescheck brothers and Eugene Friend; the Royal Cigar store, at the corner of the building, operated by the Royal Cigar company; the Arbor restaurant and ice cream parlor adjoining the Royal on the east and operated by R. A. Stumpf, and the I. Reinhertz store on the extreme east, operated by I. M. Reinhertz.

Stores Had Good Stocks

The Army store carried a big stock of men, women and boys' and girls' clothing, shoes and furnishings, dry goods, and an army goods stock. It was the largest army store in this part of the state.

The Royal Cigar store and billiard parlor, in operation in that location for many years, had several pool and billiard tables, and a stock of cigars, tobacco, candies, and also lost its radio outfit.

R. A. Stumpf, who recently returned from spending some time in Detroit, had been getting his restaurant ready for immediate opening. The place was well furnished with tables and equipment, a good kitchen equipment, and fixtures for the restaurant.

The I. Reinhertz dry goods store carried a good stock of dry goods, men's, women's, boys' and girls' furnishings, shoes, etc.

Many Are Injured

The heat from the fire broke windows in the Churchill Printing company plant, across the railroad tracks and Howard street, and in the Fallas Drug store, corner of Howard and Mitchell. Some other buildings were also damaged.

List of those injured, besides Mr. and Mrs. Money penny are: George Koulls, cut about the hands; Jack Ferguson, burned badly about both feet while standing in the window waiting to be rescued; Alexander Worden, cut and burned; Mrs. Daisy Wellman, burned and cut by glass and suffering severely from exposure; D. H. Kirk, of the Grand Rapids Herald, burned about the face and hands; Volney Moreau, burned about the hands; while many fire fighters were burned in performing their duties.

Loss Quarter Million

An estimate of the damage has been given as follows: Alameda block about $120,000; Reinhertz store about $20,000 to $30,000; Royal Cigar store, $15,000; Army store, $15,000; The Arbor, $5,000; Smith & Lake store, $5,000; damage to telephone cables, $2,500; city light wiring, $1,000; and damage to other buildings, including the railroad tower, $5,000.

Loss to the guests in the Alameda is hard to estimate. Every guest lost everything in their rooms, including jewelry and other valuables, clothing, and in some cases, furniture. This will run into many thousands of dollars.

The loss on the Howard Cigar store fire is estimated at several thousand, while the loss to Foley's will be considerable, and the McCune offices also suffered considerable loss.

The total loss on the fire is estimated at about a quarter of a million dollars.

E. H. S. GIRLS ADD VICTORIES

HOLD NO-DEFEAT RECORD BY LITTLE EFFORT

Scalps of East Jordan and Boyne City Teams Added to Long List of Victories

The Ellsworth high school girls proved their basket ball class twice last week when they won from the scrappy East Jordan team on Wednesday night by a 26-4 score, and again on Friday evening when they trimmed the clever speedy girls from Boyne City, 12-6. The latter team showed the fastest, cleverest work to which Ellsworth has been opposed this season and showed why the Traverse City girls could only win from them by one point on the preceding Friday.

The question of a winner was never in doubt during the Ellsworth-East Jordan game, but in the Friday evening game the visitors had scored three points before Ellsworth really started. The slogan "every player a star," would well apply to our girls in this game.

Supt. Cooper of Alden was referee of the Wednesday night game and is beyond doubt the best official ever on the Ellsworth floor. He kept the game moving from start to finish in a manner acceptable to both players and spectators.

Miss Dean of East Jordan, was referee of the Friday night game and handled the job like a veteran. The only criticism being that she allowed too much rough stuff while the ball was held by two players.

The Ellsworth boys lost to the East Jordan sophomores 13-10, in a fast game on Wednesday night and will meet them at East Jordan on Friday evening of this week, at which time Ellsworth girls play the return date.

ELLSWORTH FARMER DIED LAST SATURDAY

David E. Carpenter Was a Pioneer Settler

David Edgar Carpenter passed away at his home near Ellsworth, last Saturday afternoon, February 24, 1923.

He was born near Bowersville, Ohio, April 4, 1866, and lived there until shortly after his marriage to Jacqueline Bentley, on October 23, 1890, when they came to Michigan and four years later moved onto the farm on which they have resided for twenty-five years.

Mr. Carpenter is survived by his widow, seven daughters and four sons. The daughter are, Mrs. F. W. Bartley, of Eaton Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Vernon Vance, of East Jordan; Mrs. F. H. Glazier, of Vanderbilt; Miss Lucille Carpenter, of Chicago, Ill., and Naomi, Harriet Fee and Frances Margaret, still at home.

The sons are Oris Gilbert, of Ellsworth, and Nathan, David Edgar and Lynn F., also living at their parent's home.

Mr. Carpenter leaves two sisters: Mrs. Samuel Sellars, of Washington Court House, Ohio, Miss Linna Carpenter, who is now with the family and two brothers: John W., of Springfield, Ohio, and Frank DeGroot, of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Carpenter has been a member of the Methodist church since he was sixteen years of age and at his funeral, which took place from the house on Tuesday, Rev. E. E. Clark, formerly his pastor, and now of Pellston, officiated.

DIED SATURDAY IN U. of M. HOSPITAL

Arthur VanOrman Succumbed After Extended Illness

Arthur VanOrman, the second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. David VanOrman, was born in New York state, April 3, 1887, and died at the state hospital at Ann Arbor, on Saturday, February 17th, following an illness of several years standing.

Deceased had been a resident of this vicinity for the past twenty-eight years, making his home with the Ira Drost family for the last few years.

He leaves his father, three brothers and one sister to mourn their loss, two sisters and two brothers having died.

The funeral services were held from the Methodist church, on Saturday, February 24, and the remains were laid away at Boss cemetery.

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

CONTROL OF CHICKEN PESTS

Application of Blue Ointment Will Prove Efficacious, as Will Sodium Fluoride.

A study of the life of chicken lice shows that there are a dozen different kinds infesting the same bird. Most of them, however, frequent the rear part of the body at least once in every twenty-four hours where they obtain the necessary moisture for their life and growth. This moisture is obtained from around the vent. This habit of lice would answer one method of treatment, the use of blue ointment.

This ointment applied around the vent and under the wings of each foot affected seems to get rid of the lice in a very short time. A piece the size of a good sized pea is plenty for one bird. If the blue ointment is thick and heavy it should be melted so that it can be applied in a very thin layer. It is well to make a second application two weeks after the first, especially if the birds are badly affected.

Any of the advertised lice powders and many of the home-made powders seem to work very well. Good dust wallows handy to the poultry house also aid considerably in controlling this pest.

Sodium fluoride can also be used to control lice. This is a common preparation which can be obtained at any drug store. It is applied by what is known as the pinch method. A pinch should be worked into the buff of the tail, a pinch under each wing, a pinch on the back, and a pinch worked into the neck feathers.

Circulation counts—we have it.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Sarah Klooster has been absent the last week.

Marvin Elzinga is absent on account of illness.

Peter Jake Drenth is absent because of illness.

We are sorry to hear that Beatrice Wieland is on the sick list.

We have two more pupils in the primary room, George Martin and Glenn Veltaw.

The American Literature students have finished the study of "Evangeline" and are now writing the story.

All the McDowell children have left school except Hazel, who will remain until after the 8th grade examinations.

On Friday night of last week, our girls played Boyne City and won from them in a hard fought game—the score being 12-6. Our girls play the return game at Boyne City, March 16.

Our girls basket ball team met the East Jordan girls on the home floor Wednesday evening. When the whistle blew the score stood 26-4 in favor of Ellsworth. A good clean game was the verdict of all. The East Jordan girls though defeated, proved themselves true sports. Mr. Cooper of Alden, was the referee and proved satisfactory to both teams. The sophomore boys of East Jordan, met our high school boys on the same evening and defeated them in a hard fight, 13-10.

Intense State-Wide Interest in This Issue—Pastors Join Forces in Support of Bill

Final consideration of the Pitkin capital punishment bill, by the house or representatives, has been set for March 6.

"There is an intense state-wide interest in this issue," Representative Pitkin declared, "and it would seem unwise to leave the date of its consideration indefinite. The debate will require considerable time, as several members expect to speak at length on both sides, and the fixing of a special order status for the bill will give them ample time to prepare."

Another clergyman, Rev. Charles S. Knights, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pontiac, has written Representative Pitkin endorsing the capital punishment measure, and expressing regret that its provisions are not more drastic.

Rev. Knights writes: "The only fault I find with your bill is that it puts too much responsibility on the judge. You and I face when it becomes apparent that some assassin caught red-handed perhaps, is in danger of paying for his crime with his life, friends intercede for him, but all the sub-sisters in the state and all the sentimentalists will come to his rescue."

"They stand ready always to shed tears over some guilty heartless murderer, but look dry-eyed upon the suffering of broken-hearted survivors of his crime. Many, untouched by the plight of orphaned children or the sobbing of bereaved wives, seem ready to spring to the defense of a hard-hearted slayer in the shadow of the electric chair, and would urge incessantly that the judge sentence to life imprisonment, knowing as they do that pardon, parole or escape will open the door to liberty in from 11 to 16 years, the average term of a 'lifer' in Michigan."

"There is only one way to stop this on both sides, and the fixing of a special order status for the bill will give them ample time to prepare."

Another clergyman, Rev. Charles S. Knights, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pontiac, has written Representative Pitkin endorsing the capital punishment measure, and expressing regret that its provisions are not more drastic.

"I am with you heart and soul. Expect to participate in a debate supporting capital punishment Tuesday evening."

"Yours for good government,
C. S. Knights, Pastor."

ago. They express national characteristics and human emotions such as joy, sorrow, courage, passion and devotion and sometimes they relate stories.

Hungarian Dances 5 and 6 are built on folk song melodies which Brahms probably heard again and again in his own country. The egyptian dances of the Balkan countries are most striking in rhythm and slow movement to the height of acceleration in perhaps only a few bars. Dance 6 begins slowly and afterwards from this theme with its hint of sadness, to a much faster one and back again throughout the composition. Dance 5 has this same change of tempo but the mood of this dance is more uniform. These dances were written for orchestra.

FIREMAN'S BALL WELL ATTENDED

Good Sum Cleared At Thursday Evening's Affair

Those responsible for the finances of the Fire department are much elated over the success of the ball that was held last Thursday evening at the bank hall.

That the affair is a popular annual institution in this town was evidenced by the fact that the hall was soon filled and many couples were turned away on account of the congested condition of the floor. The total amount taken in was $119.75. Less expenses of $86.12, a balance was left to be applied on the purchase of the new siren whistle of $83.63. The fire lads want to thank the people for their fine support and the enthusiasm that helped to make the affair a satisfying success, financially as well as socially.

The costumes displayed were unique and the judges had a hard time deciding to whom the various prizes offered should go. Mr. and Mrs. Charley Tuohy, who usually manage to carry off first honors, received the prizes for the best dressed couple—Mr. Tuohy a box of cigars and Mrs. Tuohy a Pyrex glass vegetable dish. Mrs. Hazel Baby won the lady's prize for the best comic costume and C. J. McCarthy, the gentleman's prize of a shaving set in an ivory case.

The one hundred and twenty-five couples who occupied the floor for the evening departed at a late hour fully satisfied with the entertainment that had been afforded them.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The high school declamatory contest was held in the assembly last Friday. Dorris Hammond received first place and Anna Jones received second place.

On Friday evening of last week, Charlevoix's second basketball team played with East Jordan, the score being 30 to 9 in their favor. The score was not so bad considering our men having no regular plays. Wishing them better luck hereafter.

Mr. Hamilton read for chapel the twenty-third Psalm.

Monday morning the high school students were given a rare treat. Four members of Mr. Roe's room (7th grade), Frederick Hawkins, Virginia Solomon, Harold Newman and Lila Heise, talked on the four largest cities of the United States. Each one handled his subject in a masterful style, doing credit not only to the grade from which he came and the teacher, but also their homes.

The history of each city was discussed, its geography outlined and industries discussed in a manner that would do high school seniors credit. Minnet in G. by Rothaven, was played by Paul Sloan. Miss Oliver played on the violin, "Loves Greeting" by Elgaard and "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. The public is cordially invited to these Monday morning assemblies; they are interesting and helpful. Boys and girls are allowed to express themselves as in the program referred to and as nearly as possible take the part they will be required to take in adult life when attending any business meeting. We believe the school is a good place to get the practice.

The seventh grade is one of the finest organizations in the school and the program was only what we expected from them.

The great Junior play which was to be staged at the Palace Theatre, Friday, March 2nd, has been postponed by order of the health officials. The date for the regular showing will probably be March 9.

We long to hear the school bell ring. In tones so soft and sweet. It thrills us from our eye lashes. Way down into our feet.

We have to see our teachers smile. Oh see those looks so kind; If they didn't close the school right now.

We fear we would lose our minds.

GROW MORE FOOD FOR FAMILY USE

Necessary to Save Shipping Costs on Water in Face of Lessened Returns.

BEST TO GROW NECESSITIES

Specialized Farming Has Created Peculiar Conditions—Poultry Is Quickest Meat Supply to Produce on Farm.

"The American farmer is not going to be able this year to pay freight on water," said a department official. "Water takes up a large part of fresh fruits and vegetables. The answer is that he must grow his own table food. He must also study the possibilities of substitution. This applies to vegetables, fruits, poultry, eggs and dairy products which must be transferred from commercial channels to home consumption if they are to come within the reach of the average farmer's family."

Peculiar Condition Created.

"Specialized farming has created conditions of which comparatively few persons are aware. The grade farmer in many instances buys even his potatoes and green vegetables; the fruit farmer buys his dairy products; and even the man who raises milk for creamery, condensation or cheese factory is likely to send his cream or milk away, feed the remainder or whey to the calves, and not make his own butter. This year, just as farmers possible for him to alter his system in a single season, the department officials advise that he get back to the old plan which was aptly described as 'living at home.' This means not so much remaining on the farm as it does deriving every practicable product for consumption from the farm."

"The average American farmer knows how to raise other crops than those on which he specializes, but it has seemed good business; or at least expedient, to devote his energies to very few or even a single cash crop and buy his necessities, just as is done in other specialized industries. The grain farmer is perfectly capable of raising his own potatoes, his green garden stuff and melons, tomatoes and other garden fruits, to take the place of orchard fruits which in many parts of the country have been killed by the late frosts. If the farmer has a piece of really good garden ground he can add many ally to the variety and whole amount of the farm food supply with scarcely any expenditure except for seeds and manure, to make it a lower cost, giving him for several years."

Poultry Most Important Meat Supply.

"The same may be said of poultry. With the increased freight rates this year the home-raised farmer's principal ment supply will come out of his poultry yard, either in eggs or in table chickens and other fowls. Poultry is the quickest meat supply to produce, and the farmer will do well to build up a small flock as rapidly as possible. The increased freight rates on butter and eggs, together with the farm money shortage due to the disappointing returns from last year's crops, will make it advisable for many farmers' wives to return to the butter-making art which they learned as girls from their mothers and which have been largely discontinued as farmers became specialists.

"Fruit is likely to be scarce in large and important farming regions, but its place can largely be taken by vegetable products. Two things are clear. In the first place, the average farmer, as it stands now, cannot afford to pay freight on the water which makes up the larger part of both fresh and canned vegetables and fruits. In the second place, under existing conditions he can raise those things cheaper himself than he can buy them, and he can make many substitutes out of the garden and poultry yard if he sets out to do it. He has the material for the crops, while he is short of money. It is not good business to run in debt except for necessities of production."

The Department of Agriculture will be glad to give information and advice to those who wish to diversify their home-grown food supply.

PRIMARY FUND DISTRIBUTION

WHAT IT MEANS AND WHY IT IS NECESSARY

Commissioner Belding Discusses Proposed Measure Which So Vital Affects Rural Education

Most of our readers have heard something about the new primary school fund distribution measure, which may take the place of the former unpopular "grab" act, designed to divert thousands of dollars of school moneys into the general fund of the state. School Commissioner A. C. Belding, who attended the recent meeting with the state superintendent of schools at Lansing, describes what was accomplished at that time and explains the measure.

"Plan Discussed Last Fall"
That plan was to divert the Primary School Interest Fund to state purposes and so deprive the schools of that support. Nearly every organization in the state jumped on the plan with both feet until the advocates of the bill could find no legislator who would present it to either house or senate. Its passage would have been a calamity to the primary school system of Michigan.

Why a Change is Necessary
Last year the Primary School Interest Fund amounted to $11,925,492.73. It was divided equally among 1,019,147 children, between ages of five and nineteen inclusive, making between eleven and twelve dollars per capita. In several districts of the state this was money enough to pay all their teachers and some beside. The majority of districts received only a fraction of the teachers wages, the rest having to be raised on a then over-taxed community. Districts enrolling nearly all of the census received the same proportion as those careless about the school attendance. Wayne county's valuation which is figured in millions got the same consideration as our northern districts with their five figure valuations. Detroit with its school tax of six fifty got its eleven plus along with Charlevoix, with a rate of about twelve dollars on the thousand, and Boyne Falls with its forty-eight dollar school tax. Educators say this method is unjust. The whole state has felt so for some time, but for lack of a better plan the present one has continued in force. That better plan has been made, the fairness of which takes all argument from the losers.

Plan Discussed in Lansing
A meeting was called by the Superintendent of Public Instruction on Saturday morning, February 17th, to which were invited all people interested in education. The room was filled with business men mostly, some of whom were in no way connected with schools. The representatives of our largest cities went on record as being in favor of this method of distribution. In fact only one remained seated when a favorable vote was asked. This new plan bases the distribution on:

1. The census, because that is a part of the constitution.
2. The enrollment which represents the school load being carried.
3. The valuation which represents the ability to carry the load.

Any district wishing to find its portion under the new plan must

RUN CONTEST TO FIND UGLIEST MAN IN TOWN

Who is the ugliest man in town? This question is looming large in the public eye of a southern Michigan town. "There have been similar contests before," stated an interested party when asked to express his opinion on the matter.

"Well, it's a pretty good thing to keep abreast of the times," he continued. "Ugly men, like the good-looking ones, die out or move away; hence after a few years, it becomes necessary to do it all over again."

"Then, too, the women like to know."

"They've got some pretty good candidates, too. Of course, I don't want to express a personal opinion, and I won't tell you whom I am going to vote for. That was too hard for me to decide. But you can just bet that I'm going to vote."

We might fall down on picking out the ugliest man in Charlevoix, but we'll wager two bits we can name not only the laziest, but also the biggest liar.

multiply the census by the enrollment and divide the product by the valuation expressed in thousands. This times $66.70 gives the amount the district would have received last year.

The proposed method of apportionment will:

1. Equalize school opportunity within the state.
2. Put a premium upon getting as large a proportion of the school census enrolled in school as possible.
3. Grant assistance where needed and in proportion to the need. Poor districts will be given the same consideration regardless of whether they are located in poor or rich counties.
4. Raise the educational standard of the state.
5. Automatically take care of any situation that may exist or rise due to sudden changes in the census, enrollment or valuation of any school district.

Is Such a Plan Sound?

Several eminent mathematicians have carefully studied the plan and have pronounced it sound. Prof. E. A. Lyman, head of the department of mathematics in the state normal college at Ypsilanti, states that the plan is not only sound, but in his opinion, it is as near ideal as is possible to devise. SUGAR BEET CONTRACTS OUT

GROWERS SHOULD STUDY THEM CAREFULLY

Seed Is Furnished by the Company And Beets Must Test At Least 12 Per Cent Sugar

It may be interesting for those of our farmer readers who have followed the arguments pro and con over the sugar beet as Charlevoix county's best bet for 1923 to learn the conditions under which this crop will be grown and marketed this year.

What follows is taken from the contract blank issued by the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company to farmers agreeing to supply it with beets for its run next fall.

"The undersigned hereby agree to plant, cultivate, harvest and deliver during the year commencing with the Spring of 1923, to the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company so many acres of sugar beets on the following described land, etc.

At least 15 pounds of seed per acre, shall be planted, which seed shall be furnished by the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Co., at 15 cents per pound and the cost of same is to be deducted from the first payment made for beets delivered. The title to said seed and to said crop of beets from the time when the same begins to grow shall be and remain in the company.

The beets are to be given due care, and the grower will follow instructions of the company, is regard to selecting and preparing the soil, seeding, caring for, harvesting and delivering the crop.

In case the grower does not give the said beets due care or does not follow the instructions from the company, regarding the caring for, or the harvesting of the crop, then the company shall have the right to enter upon the lands above set forth, and to care for, cultivate, harvest and retain the crop and charge the expense thereof to the grower.

All beets delivered under this contract shall be as free from dirt as possible, and without weeds and leaves, and shall be properly topped by the grower by passing the knife under the lowest leaf mark at right angles to the longitudinal axis of the beet.

Said beets shall be harvested and loaded by the grower for the company on cars, or delivered at factory sheds, at such time, and in such quantities as may be directed by the company. The company will not be liable to receive or pay for beets which do not test 12 percent sugar, are rotten, or that they deem are otherwise unfit or undesirable for making sugar.

It is understood and agreed that all beets delivered from wagons or (Continued on page eight)

MAYNE DEFEATED BY HUGE VOTE

HONORS IN RACE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE GOES TO PARM C. GILBERT BY 2,300 ESTIMATED MAJORITY

Present Judge's Opponent Carries Every County in Circuit With Exception of Charlevoix—Mayne's Majority in County Estimated at 450—Eastern Times Loses.

Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, candidate for circuit judge in the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit, comprising the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse and Leelanau, most decisively defeated his opponent, Judge Frederick W. Mayne, who has presided over this circuit for the past twenty-four years, at the primary election held Wednesday.

Unofficial returns available as we go to press Thursday morning indicate that Gilbert will carry the district by a majority of at least 2,300. In Grand Traverse county alone, Gilbert's majority over Mayne will exceed 2,000 votes.

Vote as Cast, City of Charlevoix

In the City of Charlevoix, Mayne's stronghold, the vote stood as follows:

First Ward—Mayne 92; Gilbert 30.
Second Ward—Mayne 138; Gilbert 99.
Third Ward—Mayne 90; Gilbert 84.
Total vote of City of Charlevoix—Mayne 320; Gilbert 213.
Majority for Mayne, 107.

The Vote as Cast Outside of Charlevoix

In the rural districts of Charlevoix county the vote cast was the smallest on record, estimated as about 25 per cent. Returns received are as follows:

	Mayne	Gilbert
Boyne Valley	59	27
Chandler	13	2
Charlevoix	3	4
Eveline	20	17
Hayes	16	5
Marion	30	53
Norwood	8	24
Peaine	87	10
St. James	50	10
South Arm	71	20

Boyne City, containing four voting precincts, gave the following vote: Mayne 255; Gilbert 313. Majority for Gilbert, 58.

East Jordan swung the other way and gave Mayne a majority of 142 votes, the vote standing as follows: Mayne 264; Gilbert 122.

In Charlevoix county Mayne's majority, from figures available will be about 450.

Vote in Other Parts of District

Antrim county, with every precinct heard from, the estimated majority for Gilbert will exceed the 500 mark.

In Grand Traverse county, returns from 12 out of 13 precincts give Gilbert a majority of 446, the city of Traverse not being included.

Available figures from Traverse City alone indicate a majority for Gilbert of from 1,800 to 2,000.

In Leelanau county, from returns available, Gilbert will receive a majority of from 200 to 250.

Primary Returns for City Officials

In the city primary the complete ticket was elected, there being no contest for these offices.

The three cornered fight in the First ward, for supervisor, between D. F. Meech, R. W. Paddock and Nassau Burns, resulted in the election of Burns. The vote: Burns 60, Meech 43, Paddock 17.

D. J. Eckinger won in the third ward for the office of alderman in a field of three contestants. The vote was close and resulted as follows: Eckinger 60, Parmelee 55, Shapton 47.

Charlevoix city will continue to operate under railroad time, the proposition to change to fast (eastern) time being defeated by the following vote: Yes, 192; No, 332.

OLD-TIME RESIDENT DIED NEAR FLINT

Mrs. Margaret Helms Succumbed To Pneumonia Attack

An old-time resident of Charlevoix passed away last Thursday, March 1st, in the person of Mrs. Webster Helms, who died after a severe attack of pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will H. Monty, at Genesee, Mich.

The body was brought here Saturday, accompanied by Will Monty and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Folander, daughter and son-in-law of the deceased, and laid to rest in the vault at Brookside. Funeral services were held in the Monty home at Genesee. Margaret N. Fairchild was born in Ohio, seventy-two years ago, on August 26, 1851. She was married to Webster Helms of this county and leaves three children, Mrs. Mary Folander, of Flint, Mrs. Will H. Monty, of Genesee, Mich., and Bert Helms, of this city. She is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Fairchild, who lives at Pompei, Mich., near Ithaca and is ninety-two years old; a sister in Montana and one in Gratiot county, and a number of grandchildren. Webster Helms, her husband, died some six years ago. At the time of her death, she resided on the farm where she and her husband had located twelve years ago and was on a visit to her daughter, at whose home she died. This farm lies opposite the Isaac Mills place on Route No. 1.

VAN PELT PLACE SPRINGS TO LIFE

Wild and Woolly Nag Stirred Things Up Thursday Morning

Last Thursday morning, a lively horse used by Earl Miller on his rural route deliveries, but driven by Elmer Donaldson, who was substituting for Mr. Miller at the time, took fright and provided no little excitement for the denizens of Van Pelt Place.

This animal, whose memory of a life on the rolling plains with numerous wild and woolly mustang enemies is still fresh and green, tore down the alley towards State street at a very creditable rate of speed. On the way, he managed to leave a trail of lap robes, seats, whips and an overturned sleigh and narrowly missed Mrs. Jessie Metz, who was approaching from the opposite direction on her way to work. Neighboring windows and doorways sprang to life and there was much craning of necks to see what all the rumpus was about. Nothing, however, showed but the aforementioned debris and a thin blue streak in the atmosphere marking the path of the departing nag. Several minutes later he was discovered at the barn, quietly munching, munching.

DEATH CLOSES LONG ILLNESS

MRS. AGNES FLUMERFELT DIED AT CAREY HOME

Was Born In Canada Nearly Sixty-two Years Ago and Leaves Many Relatives and Friends

The death of Mrs. Agnes Flumerfelt, wife of the late W. F. Flumerfelt, of White Rock, B. C., occurred Friday, March 2nd, at midnight, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Carey, in this city, after an illness lasting over a period of three years and four months, during which time she was confined continuously to her bed except when helped about by those caring for her.

She was dearly beloved by all who knew her, for hers was a loving, patient disposition that her years of suffering seemed only to intensify to those who come in contact with her. "The little things are the things worth while."

The word of praise, the pleasant smile;

The helpful thought, the handclasp true;
The kind of things you always do,
Just the little things that help along
And fill one's life with joy and song," can truly be said of "Aunt Agnes," as she was called by all her acquaintances.

Agnes Alcock was born February 26, 1862, at Oxbidge, Ontario, Canada, and was sixty-one years and seven months old at the time of her death. Her father was born in England and her mother in Oxbidge, the place of her own birth.

She leaves to mourn their loss four brothers: M. Alcock, New Market, Ont.; J. W. Alcock, Cloverdale, B. C.; Lef Alcock, Pontiac, Mich., and Archie, of this city. Also three sisters: Mrs. Chas. Carey, Mrs. A. Shearer and Mrs. Chas. Jefferies, all of Charlevoix, besides a host of relatives and friends in this city, Canada and elsewhere.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon, Rev. Herman Burns, of the Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in the family plot at Brookside.

Grand officers of the state commandery will be in attendance.

Pine Lake Lodge No. 122 will be represented at this meeting by Chancellor Commander, Will C. Bellinger, Vice Chancellor Commander, Guy E. Egleston, Keeper of Records and Seal, Ray Hamilton and Master of Finance, Grover Genelt.

The lodges comprised in the northern Michigan group include those at Pellston, Harbinger Springs, East Jordan, Petoskey and Charlevoix.

PIONEER RE-SORTER PASSES

J. L. SEBRING DIES AT KALAMAZOO ZOO HOME

Fine Old Timer Was Eighty-Three—For Many Years Trustee and Treasurer of Resort Here

The Kalamazoo Gazette of Thursday, March 1st, carries the following account of the death of J. L. Sebring, one of the original founders of the Belvedere resort and, up until this season, a regular summer resident of this city:

"J. L. Sebring, over eighty-three years of age and for seventy years a resident of Kalamazoo died this morning (March 1st) at four-thirty o'clock, at the Borgess hospital. He was a victim of influenza, which developed into pneumonia. He had been ill for two years. Up to the time of his last illness, Mr. Sebring was remarkably active for his age, both mentally and physically, and took a keen interest in events about him.

He was born in Verona, Onondaga County, New York state, October 14, 1839. He first engaged in the grain business with the late Payton Ranney under the firm name of J. L. Sebring & Company. This venture was a very successful one, the concern being among the largest operators of grain and wool in Michigan.

For several years, Mr. Sebring was a director of the City National Bank of Kalamazoo and a trustee of Mountain Home Cemetery. He was one of the founders of the Waukegan Golf Club, now merged into the Kalamazoo Country Club.

On October 16, 1866, he was married to Miss Juliet Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sweet, of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sebring died January 1, 1918.

Older residents of Kalamazoo will remember the hospitality of the Sebring home, in years past it being one of the centers of social activity in the city.

Mr. Sebring leaves three daughters: Mrs. Winifred Sebring Clark, Mrs. John R. Hunter and Mrs. J. G. Chase, all of Kalamazoo; a granddaughter, Julia Sebring Chase; a grandson, Ralph Clark; two great-grandchildren: Marcia Peck Clark and Dorothy Josephine Clark; two brothers; M. O. Sebring and T. Y. Sebring, both of Kalamazoo, and two sisters; Mrs. Mary Kellogg, of Lawton, and Mrs. Adella Forbes, of Mishawaka.

The funeral will be held from the home, 405 West South Street, Saturday morning (March 3rd), the Rev. James Horton Bishop, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, officiating. The burial services at the Mountain Home cemetery will be private. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

Mr. Sebring was also a charter member of the Charlevoix Summer Home Association and for many years a trustee and treasurer of the organization, a man very well and favorably known to Charlevoix people. Their loss will be keenly felt by the members of our summer colony at the Belvedere, who will miss the genial presence of this kindly old gentleman.

Sew for Hospital

FROZEN FEET AND A DOLEFUL BLEAT

Now that the worst is probably over, perhaps we may dare admit the truth by reprinting that anonymous lyric entitled "Michigan":

Home of my heart, I sing to thee,
Michigan, My Michigan;

A colder land there ne'er could be,
Michigan, My Michigan;

Nine dreary months of snow and sleet,
We limp around with frozen feet;

Yer derned old climate can't be beat,
Michigan, My Michigan.

Your loyal sons will ne'er forget,
Michigan, My Michigan;

This year's the coldest winter yet,
Michigan, My Michigan;

Your cold winds howl around our knees;
We poke the fire and sit and freeze—

Oh, what's the use of B. V. D's,
Michigan, My Michigan.

BELDING ON NEW STATE NORMAL

SAYS WE HAVE A RIGHT TO ONE IN THIS COUNTY

School Com'r. Points Out That Southern Michigan Used Our Wealth For Their Schools

Archie C. Belding, Charlevoix county school commissioner, has submitted to us a timely and forceful argument outlining our claims on the state to be considered in their location of a new normal college in the northwestern Michigan region. We are printing his article herewith:

"A new state normal for northwestern Michigan is a necessity not a luxury as some would try to make us believe. We realize the state regulators at Lansing have no normal plums to hand out promiscuously, therefore we are not asking for a normal for the fun of it, but because the need is great, and the need is now.

The people of this section of the state have become sick of having to leave home, occupation and friends and move to some other section of the state in order to give their children the benefit of an advanced education. It is common to find young people with plenty of native ability deprived of ever developing that ability because of a lack of means. Many parents in our own locality have carried heavy hearts because they realized their absolute inability to finance their children while away at school. These conditions have always been, so we perhaps feel the loss of such a school less than would the southern section of the state, but nevertheless the need is here.

We help to pay the running expenses of the present normals and receive least in return. The legislators admit they placed them in the south because of the denser population. They were built by the wealth of the timber of the north, for at that time our natural resources was one of the largest sources of state income. We were asleep. They took our timber without giving us anything permanent in return. We claim for this reason alone, we are entitled to a state school for the education of our children, and that the wealth of the lower part of the state should help pay for the same. Is this an unjust claim? Are we to be chloroformed again, this time, by the statement of some of the people of the south that we have not the population to warrant such a school?

It is a long way from the Northern State Normal at Marquette to the Central State Normal at Mt. Pleasant and not a state school between. Our students who have determination enough and money enough must travel further than many others to find a school which will meet their needs. Most of them do not go. Charlevoix county is mid way between these two schools. Of the four normals now running, three are in (Continued on page six)

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmer's Standpoint

The gasoline tax and the state highway policy were the leading issues in a week of rather sensational legislative activity.

While all sorts of reduced gasoline tax and increased license fee compromises were brewing, the General Taxation Committee of the House took the bit in its teeth and, without asking the permission of any group or faction, reported out the Warner two-cent gas tax bill after changing somewhat the manner of collecting the tax.

Highway Program Big Issue

Meanwhile, the Senate Highway Committee has reported out a husky highway appropriation bill. Decks are being cleared for action on these two important measures.

Many other matters to require the attention of the law-makers and provide satisfactory fodder for the army of newspaper reporters developed during the week.

State Department Under Fire

The outstanding sensation in the Senate was an attack on the State's reforestation and conservation policies launched by Sen. William J. Pearson of Boyne Falls. Just what the outcome of this rumormongering cannot as yet be determined.

Another state department has aroused the suspicions of Rep. Robert Wardell, of Detroit, who appears slightly suspicious of the State Highway Department. In fact, Rep. Wardell declared that he has same facts to back up his demand for a legislative investigation of the State's road builders. A resolution which he introduced reads as follows:

"Resolved, that a special committee of five members, or one of the standing committees of this house, be appointed by the speaker to investigate the granting of road building contracts by the state highway department, the special purpose of said investigation being to ascertain whether state officials, members of the legislature or members of their families have benefited directly or indirectly through said contracts."

Investigations Prove Popular

Another legislative investigation is proposed by Rep. Patrick O'Brien of Iron River in the House and Sen. James M. Wilcox of Calumet in the Senate. These upper peninsula law-makers suggest that the legislature look into the advisability of erecting another state prison in Keweenaw county on the peninsula which runs way out into Lake Superior. Not only would the erection of a prison on this point prevent escape, it is pointed out by those who are advocating the erection of a new prison at that place, but it is also declared that prisoners could crush rocks that would make the best material to be secured for highway construction.

At least one solon has appeared who believes that the state government should be simplified. This rare specimen is Rep. Oscar Braman of Kent county. He has presented a bill to abolish the State Department of Public Safety, which includes the State Police.

Would Change Educational System
Two bills proposing radical changes in the system of higher education in the state have been introduced by Rep. Lloyd S. Little of Tawas City.

One bill would prevent any person from entering the University of Michigan who had not completed two years of work, equal to sixty hours of university credit, in some other institution.

Little's second measure would pay to certain secondary schools of the state the sum of $25 annually for every student who is registered in the institution and who was a bona fide resident of the state.

The institutions named in this measure are: Adrian, Albion, Alma, Hillsdale, Hope, Kalamazoo and Olivet colleges and the University of Detroit.

Passage of these bills would make the University of Michigan a "finishing school" for the other colleges of the state.

Rep. Little argues his program would avoid the necessity of large building appropriations for the state university, and would cut the administrative cost one-half, or about $1,500,000.

Three More Normals Asked

While agitation is afloat that Michigan has too many normal schools, Rep. John Holland, Gogebic county, has come forward with a bill to establish a new normal school in Gogebic county at an initial cost of $150,000 for a site and building.

Next in the line of those desiring a normal school for their districts came Rep. Fred R. Ming of Cheboygan with a bill providing for a normal school to be located somewhere in his county.

Not to be outdone in loyalty to the folks back home and in advocating the advantages of his district for a normal school, Rep. E. O. Ladd of Old Mission presented a bill providing for the acquisition, at the expense of one dollar, of a site of not less than 20 acres in his county. It is understood that such a site is available for the price stated. A bill calling for a new state normal at East Jordan is expected to appear at any time.

Strict Seed Law Proposed

Extension of the powers of the State Department of Agriculture is provided in three bills introduced by Sen. George Leland of Fennville, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture.

His first measure is a comprehensive and detailed seed law, providing for proper labeling of seed as to purity and germination and giving officials of the State Department of Agriculture authority to seize and hold seed not complying with the law.

More State Control Asked

Other bills by Sen. Leland would give the state control over slaughter houses and cider and vinegar factories. The abattoir bill requires the licensing of all slaughter houses in the state and provides sanitary regulations for their operation. The vinegar bill fixes standards for the production of elder vinegar for commercial purposes, and provides for the licensing of cider mills and vinegar factories.

The resolution providing for re-submitting to the voters the "port district" constitution amendment, defeated at the polls last fall, has finally passed both branches of the legislature. Another old friend, the "excess condemnation" constitutional amendment, which was also defeated at the last general election, and which Rep. Culver of Detroit is seeking to revive, lacked six of the required 67 votes necessary for the two-thirds majority required to pass a constitutional amendment in the house. The proposition is not quite dead, however, for the fatal vote was later reconsidered and the defeated resolution placed on the table.

Buck Law Not Changed

Rep. Henze's bill to declare a closed season on deer every alternate year was defeated on final passage in the house by a vote of 19 yeas and 59 nays.

Local option for townships in determining liability for livestock trespass when lands are unfenced is provided in a bill introduced by Rep. Lloyd S. Little of Tawas City.

Sen. George M. Condon of Detroit, introduced a bill to make Eastern standard time the legal time in Michigan. A similar bill has already been introduced in the house. The Michigan State Farm Bureau, on behalf of its membership, has taken a decisive stand in opposition to these bills.

Dead Logs To Be Revived

Sen. Orville E. Atwood of Newaygo wants a law enacted which will declare all dead logs in the rivers and streams of the state public property. Years ago when the upper part of Michigan was being logged off, thousands of big logs sank in streams and lakes and it is known that there is some valuable timber to be raised by someone if legal right to do so is granted, as provided in this bill. As matters now stand no one has a right to remove the logs.

Rep. George C. Watson of Capac, introduced a credit union bill similar to that introduced a short time ago by Sen. Oscar Riopelle of Detroit. The Watson bill permits seven or more persons to form a credit union, but differs from the Riopelle bill in that the members must be employees of the same concern. Operating under supervision of the state banking department, the assets of such a union might be invested in any security that bank surpluses can be invested in. The principal purpose of such a union would be to raise and loan funds to its members much on the order of a building and loan association, it is declared.

Representative Dennis Dawe, of Monroe, one of the five Democratic members of the house, introduced a bill to extend the aid given dependent children under the mother's pension act, to cases where the father is afflicted with tuberculosis.

A bill by Senator Walter J. Hayes, of Detroit, would appropriate $100,000 each for two years to be used by the state agricultural department for the State fair. Of this amount $25,000 is for operating expenses and $75,000 for premiums.

While various proposals looking toward an early adjournment of this legislature have been suggested, there is little probability that the law-makers can wind up their activities before the middle of April or the first of May. Most of the important issues are yet to be settled. New bills appear faster than they are being considered. Seventy-seven new measures were introduced during the past week, bringing the present total up to 468, while only a half dozen bills have passed both houses and been sent to the governor.

From the Banker's Standpoint

The state house was the scene of two very interesting and instructive public hearings this week; the insurance hearing in the House on the so-called administration bill, which measure if passed will require the various companies doing business in Michigan to file their local rating sheets with the state insurance department and the hearing of the building and loan associations before the joint taxation committee. Notwithstanding the insurance bill has already passed the Senate with practically no opposition, it is currently reported the insurance men have succeeded in dividing the House committee; two are said to be for the bill in its present form, two, according to rumors, are against reporting the bill out at all unless the amendments suggested by the insurance men are made part of the measure while the fifth member thus far is classified as a neutral. The building and loan association representatives protested against taking off the present maximum fee of $2,000 as is proposed in the Sligh corporation tax bill and apparently they made a good defense for their position. The various spokesmen cited the century old policy of state and federal governments toward this type of investment concerns because of their encouragement of thrift and home ownership, two fundamentals of good citizenship. It was claimed that because of the rather loosely drawn phraseology of the act governing building and loan associations practically all the active assets of an association are liable for taxation within the meaning of the Sligh proposal requiring "an annual fee upon each dollar of its paid in capital and legal reserve."

Claim Sligh Bill Is Not Concession

While Senator Sligh's bill attempts to recognize this quasi civic function of the building and loan industry by making the proposed fee one mill in lieu of three and a half mills required of all other corporations, it was pointed out quite clearly that even so, the elimination of the $2,000 maximum still left the bill discriminatory. One instance was cited where a bank and loan association with practically the same capital and surplus would, under the Sligh bill, work decidedly to the advantage of the banking corporation because of the nature of what constitutes capital and surplus within the meaning of the Sligh amendments. The general impression about the capital is that the corporation tax will be retained with a $25 minimum and a maximum fee not to exceed $100,000, although $75,000 may be the compromise figure. It is thought that perhaps seventy-five concerns would have to pay the $75,000 maximum.

Senator Sligh Advances New Idea

During the discussion Senator Sligh stated he had received an opinion from the Attorney General to the effect that tax exempt bonds can be rescinded through the administration of an estate, providing, of course, the inventory discloses this type of securities. The Grand Rapids solon favors such a law but he didn't outline whether his idea would be to collect a fixed sum from the estate or suggest a plan covering the earning length of the investments disclosed. This bill is probably in the offing, at least for the present session, but it shows the trend of the senator's mind as to his future study on matters of taxation. In this same connection the Grand Rapids manufacturer said he favors a taxation plan that will relieve all rental estate of taxes for state purposes. It is frankly his idea that the state government should be financed by specific taxes. He didn't disclose his plan but admitted in his opinion the proposition was both practicable and equitable.

Two Other Important Tax Bills Coming

There is an increasing sentiment in favor of limiting the amount which may be raised upon general property for state taxes. The bill had been expected to make its appearance before this but the proponents of the idea find it an unusual task. In this connection it is well known that Governor Groesbeck is determined that the tax levy on real estate for this year must not go over sixteen million which position rather dovetails in with the idea of limiting future tax levies by law. The supporters of the plan thought they had something of a pattern in the Smith one per cent law in Ohio but investigation disclosed the limit had been placed so ridiculously low and the exemptions so many that the law was rather meaningless.

It was found that bond issues evaded the Ohio law and they were resorted to, further nullifying any value the act originally possessed.

BRUTALIZING MICHIGAN
Rabbi Franklin fears that capital punishment in Michigan will mean "the further brutalization of a society that has already had its finer instincts dulled and calloused by the lust for blood during the war." There is that danger, of course.

War is a brutal business, but not always to be avoided. This republic was begotten in war. It was saved from disruption and abolished slavery by war. It helped to preserve human liberty in the last war. It wants to get rid of war, but it may have to engage in war again.

It wants to get rid of murder, too, with or without capital punishment. In some states capital punishment has failed to check murder because capital punishment has not been enforced. Michigan has been trying to check murder without capital punishment for nearly 50 years; yet the frequency, the deliberateness, and the violence of murder in this state in recent years have become appalling. The "finer instincts" of society have not saved Michigan from the slaughter of the innocents.

It is possible that the "finer instincts" of society have become so "dulled and calloused" by the monotonous toll of murder that we have accepted it as part of our normal life—something to be regretted, perhaps, but not to be excused, except with polite conversation and amiable philosophy? Maybe it is brutalizing for society to put a murderer in jail for life, or to put anybody in jail for anything.

Should we free the Saginaw gentleman, for instance, who cut his little daughter's throat from ear to ear while in full possession of his senses, and have him converse with M. Couc?—Detroit Saturday Night.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Captain F. Partridge, who submitted to an operation for appendicitis last Sunday evening, is convalescing.

Miss Vivian Cross of Fairview, had a serious operation performed Tuesday. She is recovering.

Frank Kortanek, son of Joseph Kortanek, of East Jordan, brought to the hospital suffering with appendicitis, is in a very serious condition, peritonitis having set in.

Miss Carrie Orvis, of the hospital staff, is dangerously ill with pneumonia, brought on by an attack of the flu. There is but little hope of her recovery.

Louis Shapton, who was brought to the hospital Tuesday evening, suffering with sinus trouble, was some better today and it is thought that an operation will not be necessary.

Mrs. Gertrude Barnheisel, of the hospital nursing staff, who was ill for four days last week with the grippe, is now able to be up and around again.

Captain Danny Martin, of the Beavers, who was brought over from the island last week, is in the hospital suffering with heart trouble and complications and does not appear to be much improved.

The illness of Miss Orvis and Mrs. Barnheisel has left the hospital force somewhat short-handed. An additional nurse has been secured for regular duty and another comes today from Petoskey to assist temporarily in caring for the critical cases now in the wards.

C. R. Munyon will be back from California in early spring to take up his work of moving buildings and all kinds of cement work.—Adv. 6-11.

VERDI AND GODARD COME NEXT

ITALIAN AND FRENCH COMPOSERS THIS WEEK

Famous Opera, "Aida," is Perhaps Verdi's Masterpiece—"Jocelyn" Godard's Best Known Work

Gulseppe Verdi (Jou-sep-pe) (Vair-dee) was the greatest and the most popular of the old school of Italian opera composers. He was born in the Italian village of Roncole, in 1813.

His parents kept a tavern. It was located in a neighborhood of ignorant laborers, but here, the spark of genius was born and developed. Verdi's father encouraged his son's taste for music and bought him a piano.

He studied in Milan and his first successful opera was "I Lombardi." A few years later "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore," and "La Traviata" appeared. His next period of composition shows a great advance in dramatic vigor and musical expression. "Aida" is a notable example of this. His last opera shows the masterliness of a ripened genius.

In all he wrote twenty-nine operas most of them notable. "Aida" is now his most universally admired work. The scenes are laid in Egypt and the story is tense and dramatic. The "Triumphal March" is a magnificent piece of orchestral work. The triumphant procession are marching and the whole atmosphere is full of victory.

Benjamin Godard (Go-dahr) 1849-1895. Godard was born in Paris. He belongs to the new French school which combines the strength and depth of the German with the brilliance of the French. Godard is not a peer of the German school, represented by Wagner, but he is original and unique. His works are numerous and he shows great versatility in their kind. Among them are operas, orchestral music and songs.

His most famous opera is "Jocelyn," which the "Berceuse" (Cradle Song) has made familiar. It is an exquisite bit of heart-felt melody. It is especially suited for voice and violin.

DAIRY ALFALFA CAMPAIGN FOR COUNTY

Five Meetings a Day From April 16 to 28.

Two weeks of daily dairy and alfalfa schools. Five meetings a day from April 16-28. Two in a. m.—two in p. m. and one in the evening.

On April 16th, will start the two weeks dairy and alfalfa campaign in the interests of better farming for Charlevoix county.

The campaign work is done under the direction of the extension staff of the Michigan Agricultural College. Already these campaigns have been carried on in about a dozen counties. Many more are going to take them in. Last fall, 3,000 farmers attended dairy-alfalfa meetings held at 240 farms in Clinton, Kent and Washtenaw counties. Dairy-alfalfa campaigns scheduled for this spring include Gratiot, February 19 to Mar. 2; Macomb, March 5 to 16; Livingston, March 19-30.

The value of alfalfa as a soil builder, as a high producing forage crop and as a means of cheapening milk and beef production on Michigan farms is brought out in the special campaign drives. Increased acreage and better handling, with resultant added prosperity for the districts have followed the campaigns already held.

The dairy end of the drives brings out the need of increasing the average production of cows in state herds by better breeding, feeding and handling. The cow testing and the bull associations are given as definite means of bringing about greater efficiency in the dairy industry.

There will be a meeting in your township and in your community. Don't miss it. Watch for the coming schedule.

Mrs. Sarah Emrey left Tuesday for Detroit, on a short business trip.

John Slezak made a business trip to Chicago, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Davey and daughter, June, returned Friday from Flint, where they have spent the winter months.

H. B. Jacobs is seriously ill with the grippe this week, at his home on Clinton street. He was taken sick last Friday morning.

Ed. Hildred left on the nine o'clock train Wednesday morning for Toledo, where he was called by the serious illness of his mother.

Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, K. of L., will hold its regular meeting on Thursday evening, as usual. The session will be in charge of a past chancellor.

Jane Durance, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Durance, in Flint for the past week, returned Monday to his home here.

The local organization of the U. of M. Alumni met with Mrs. Lisle Shanahan on Tuesday evening. Very delectable refreshments were served and the meeting was both pleasant and instructive.

Mrs. George Papineau, of Detroit, and Mrs. Ned Durance, of Flint, with their children, arrived Monday to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Agnes Flumerfelt, and to visit for a while with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey.

Mrs. L. P. Adams and daughter, Mrs. Emory Nyman, are laid up with the grippe this week at the Adams apartments on Bridge street. Miss Mary Adams, who suffered an attack of it last week, is now convalescing.

Mrs. Winifred Ives will take Miss Marva Cooper's place at the telephone office while the latter is in attendance at the telephone conference in Petoskey, on Thursday and Friday of this week.

O. A. Solomon, W. E. Goss and Miss Marva Cooper, of the local telephone exchange, leave Thursday for Petoskey, where they will attend a meeting of the Michigan State Telephone employees, holding sessions Thursday evening and Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jeffery and son, Theo, returned Tuesday from Gaylord, where they visited two weeks en route from Miami, Florida, where they had spent the winter months. At Gaylord they report sixteen foot snow drifts, the result of Saturday and Sunday's snow storm.

Will H. Monty of Flint, was in the city over the week end. He accompanied the remains of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Margaret N. Helms, whose death took place in Flint last week and whose burial took place Monday. Mr. Monty was a former resident of this section and moved to Flint several years ago.

MRS. ROBERT LINN DIED IN CHICAGO

Heart Trouble Takes Former Charlevoix Woman

Old residents of this city will remember Mrs. Robert A. Linn, who died very suddenly at her home in Chicago on February 22nd last, a victim of heart trouble, as Gladys Phiney, a step daughter of Henry Wnde, former warden of the Chicago Club, some forty years ago.

In 1884, at the age of fifteen years, she was married to Robert A. Linn, of this city, a brother of Mrs. William Poole of Charlevoix. To this union were born a son, Forest, who died in infancy, a daughter, Hazel, who died from the flu some four years ago in Chicago, and two sons, Glenn and Robert, now living, who are working in Chicago. The father, Robert A. Linn, died twelve years ago. Her mother and a half sister also survive her.

Mrs. Linn was educated in the public schools here and lived here with her husband for about four years following their marriage, when they moved to Gladstone and from there to Chicago which has been her home for a number of years.

The funeral was held a week ago last Saturday at her home in Chicago with interment at that place. Relatives from this city and Grand Rapids attended.

COURT-HOUSE A BUSY PLACE THIS WEEK

Road Officials and Township Treasurers Are There

The court house is the rallying point this week for the county board of road commissioners and the treasurers of the various townships this week.

The commissioners now in session are Frank M. House and Frank Thompson, of Boyne City, and Roscoe Mackey and Joseph Courier, of East Jordan.

County Treasurer Henry Cooper, is busy making settlement with the various city and village treasurers, who are filing returns of unpaid state and county taxes for the year, 1922, this being the final settlement for that year.

County Clerk Charles Emrey, reports two marriage licenses issued and two divorces applied for so far this month—a fifty-fifty situation. Cupid seems to be holding his own, anyway. Maybe a gratifying rise in the mercury and a few more robins singing in the trees will swing the balance in his favor before long.

DIED TUESDAY AT HOME OF HER SON

Mother of Elmer and Will Johnson and Mrs. Ed. Stewart

Mrs. Julia M. Johnson died yesterday with heart trouble at the home of her son, William F. Johnson, in Eveline township. Mrs. Johnson, who was nearly eighty-two years old at the time of her death, was the mother of six children, five of whom are living. They are: Elmer Johnson and Mrs. Ed. A. Stewart, of Charlevoix; Will, of Eveline; Oliver, of Boyne City and Mrs. Lillie Aymer, of Vassar, Michigan. Two brothers, who live in Ohio, also survive her.

Julia M. Shaw was born May 11, 1842, in North Sheffield, Ashtabula County Ohio. Here she lived with her parents and received her schooling and here she was married in 1860 to E. W. Johnson. Several years after their marriage, the couple moved to Michigan and settled in Fairgrove, Tuscola county, where they lived until Mr. Johnson's death in 1913. Of late, years the widow has made her home with her son, Will, in Eveline township.

The remains were taken this morning to Fairgrove, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson. Elmer Johnson and wife, who are visiting in the southern part of the state, will also be present at the funeral, which will be held tomorrow, with interment in the cemetery at Fairgrove.

Clean-up Lake Shore
As soon as the spring break-up occurs the shores of Round Lake must be cleaned up. Do not dump ashes or tin cans in the lake. If you do, prosecution will certainly follow. Clean up the lake front but do not dump the garbage in the lake. Sam Hamilton, Harbor Master.

BELDING ON NEW STATE NORMAL

the lower six tiers of counties. We admit most of the normals should be there, but we cannot concede that we should be without any. "If the present supply of such schools were sufficient for the needs of the state there would be reason in the refusal to build another at this time, but such is not the case.

Mt. Pleasant has on the average about seven hundred students. Its enrollment last summer was one thousand five hundred thirty. Some students had to find rooming accommodations in the country, others had window sills for seats. The Northern State Normal has a capacity of about six hundred. Eleven hundred seventy-nine attended last summer. President Kaye of that normal admitted to me that they were crowded, "but," said he "when our new training school is completed we will be able to take care of them." The natural outcome of these conditions is either the building of additions to the present schools or the construction of a new one. Shall we be contented to have additions made and to send our students to the present schools, or shall we insist on the additional money being spent in building a new normal here, that we may educate our teachers at home?

Have we enough teachers to warrant the building of a new normal school? The crowded condition in the normals mentioned above is, due to those teachers coming from the twenty-three counties within an equal distance north and south of Charlevoix county. In these counties two thousand two hundred and eleven teachers are at work. The qualified list of these counties show twenty seven hundred thirty. Fourteen hundred forty-six of these do not have the qualifications required by the law which goes into effect in 1925. They must attend some normal if they are to teach. Fifty-seven per cent of our teachers do not meet that requirement or about eleven hundred of those now teaching must continue their education. A new normal could take care of half of them without being a detriment to the present schools and we would naturally expect that many to attend.

A normal school in this section of the state is a necessity. It is our just heritage. We have a right to demand that we be heard by the State Board of Education and the legislature, and that our children be given an equal chance with those of other parts of the state.

Archie C. Belding,
Commissioner of Schools.

UNDER DOME AT LANSING

It is not expected such a law would be immediately beneficial in Michigan other than it would have the effect of keeping future taxation programs down to at least present proportions. Another bill that is due any time now will rearrange the computing of the tax now payable on land contracts by deducting from the land contract the amount of the original mortgage, if one exists in the transaction. The Senator Walter J. Hayes bill extending the right of banks to loan up to sixty per cent on real estate loans is likely to pass because of the admittedly existing need for more homes in the state and the increased cost of building since the law fixing the loan limit at fifty per cent, was passed.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headache, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Charlevoix citizen, Daniel Himmelsbach, 107 W. Upright Ave., says: "I had a lame back and felt bad a good many times with backache. I was bothered by the weak and irregular action of my kidneys and had to get up three or four times at night to pass the secretions, which were highly colored and contained sediment. A few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought at Metcalf's Drug Store, fixed me up in a fine way."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Himmelsbach had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THOUGH ILL, STARS TIED OPPONENTS

Ellsworth Girls Team Held East Jordan Team at 6-6.

The Ellsworth girls basket ball team, with their two forwards ill and playing against the advice of both their fellow pupils and teachers, carried a 6-6 tie with the East Jordan girls on the latter's floor on Friday evening of last week in a game interesting only because of the doubt as to the final outcome. Both the Ellsworth stars had been ill for the greater part of the week and had the end of the playing season been farther away, an effort would have been made to postpone the game.

With the scoring end of the Ellsworth machine on the hummer, it rested with the guards to hold the East Jordan team in check and as usual, "Sis" and "Polly" delivered the goods. The girls will meet the Boyne City team—on the latter's floor on March 16th, and expect to be in shape to duplicate the trimming which they handed Boyne City here two weeks ago.

The Ellsworth boys turned the tables on the East Jordan sophomores on Friday night with a score of 11-8, and the fans from here were also treated to a third game in which East Jordan high school scored a 54-22 K. O. on Manelona high.

SMALLEST CAUCUS IN MANY YEARS

Banks Township Heads Ticket With Ralph Witte

Ralph Witte was chosen to head the ticket at the regular township caucus held here Monday, by one of the smallest, most disinterested caucuses crowds seen here in years, ninety-nine votes being the high-water mark as compared with one hundred and ninety-eight cast for the same office last year.

The balance of the ticket this year consists of T. E. Boss for clerk, H. S. Peebles, treasurer; J. J. Smith, highway commissioner; Ed. VanDenBerg, highway overseer; Ethan Joliffe, Justice of the Peace; F. H. Skow, for member of board of review and D. E. Clow, G. Miller, Henry Klooster and Oscar Wynema, constables.

There can be no permanent satisfaction, economy or real investment value in any structure if it does not have a durable weather resisting, long lasting roof. That's why it pays to roof with

"HALF CENTURY" BRAND WHITE CEDAR SHINGLES

Made with Galvanized or Copper Nails

Here are four reasons why "Half Century" Brand Shingles are a superior investment.

First, because White Cedar is the best "weather-wearing" shingle wood.

Second, because "Half Century" Brand Shingles are all "air-cured". No rushing of these through excessively heated dry kilns that take all the life and strength out of the wood, making it curl and warp.

Third, because "Half Century" Shingles are always the right thickness. You won't find them splitting under the nails as will happen to a shingle that is cut too thin.

Fourth, because they are White Cedar they take any shade of stain or paint beautifully.

"Half Century" Shingles live as long as their name. It pays to insist on having them for your roof. All lumber dealers can supply you. Insist on seeing the above Trade-Mark on every bundle. It's your guarantee of quality. And remember this: "Half Century" Shingles outlast common steel nails by a long, long way. Be sure to use galvanized or copper shingle nails.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

"The prisoners have been pleading guilty so fast in circuit court this week," says the Oakland County prosecutor, "it has been difficult to get a criminal case ready for trial." Almost no one will admit being innocent in these days, when it is so popular to go with the crowd.

A teacher at Freesoil has discovered that boys, whose parents make moonshine, are taking liquor to school and treating the other children. As the poet might write in these modern days: "Then the school boy, with his satchel and shining morning nose, creeping like snail unwillingly to school."

A man and wife who took their four children to a doctor's office in Rending to have their tonsils examined were told that the tonsils were in bad condition, that the adenoids were worse than the tonsils, and that they, the parents, were in even worse condition than the children. Every day in at least one way, these doctors are getting better and better.

The action of the Muskegon County supervisors in purchasing 885 acres of sand dune country, to be presented to the state for park purposes is worthy of all praise. Forests, water, sand hills, ravines and flowering vegetation combine in these waste tracts along the western side of the state to form natural recreation sites that are excelled nowhere in the world. They are relatively cheap, being of little use to any one except to the commercial sand companies that are rapidly eating some of them away from the lake side, for transportation to Chicago; and they are accessible in a day's drive to every river owner in the lower peninsula. It is to be hoped that this action of Muskegon county is the first in a process of conservation that will eventually create a practically continuous park extending all the way from Sleeping Bear Dune of the Leelanau peninsula to the Warren reservation at Three Oaks.

Two women have been added to the "plain clothes" department of the Lansing police force. One desperate criminal who told them their clothes were plain is said to be still at large.

"Next time we are riding in the bus," says the editor of the Lowell Ledger in a repentant mood, "and the old thing turns over, and a beautiful young lady sits down contentedly on our back or neck, as it were, and the breathing gets hard, we shall say real politely, 'Madame, I guess you had better get off now, this is as far as I go.' Instead of that all we could do was to roar, 'Get off, for God's sake, get off!'"

More natural ice has been harvested and stored this year than for many previous years, if you can get any comfort out of that information while sitting on your radiator.

The Literary Club of Avoca gave a public debate one evening on the subject, "Resolved, That bachelors should be taxed." If any bachelors were present they probably felt that one had already been imposed on their patience.

A Holland butcher, 84 years old, who opened a market immediately after the Civil War, is reputed to be the oldest butcher in the state, and farmers admit that in a few years more he might learn to make real country sausage.

Now that the pupils in one Port Huron schoolroom have had to be dismissed because a window was broken, it may be a long time before the boys will be able to get all the wild snowballs under complete control.

That western farmer who came to Michigan and attempted to kidnap a wife has learned that under the new view of double harness arrangements the women are not going to stand without hitching.

Are we to understand from the announcement that the state police have been taking courses in law, that when the officers guns fail them they will be expected to hnu off and argue the bandits to death?

A Michigan farmer, a member of an American agricultural expedition to Russia, is being held by Soviet authorities in Moscow, it is reported. Maybe they want to use him, as one from the center of such activity, to furnish expert advice on how to leave the farm.

The "infant phenomenon" very often turns out to be an adult nut.

HORSE LIABLE TO SUNSTROKE

When Subjected to Heat or Fast Work Animals Sometimes Lose Consciousness and Fall.

In hot weather and when subjected to heat or fast work in the hot sun, horses sometimes lose consciousness and fall, or as it is commonly expressed, they have sunstroke.

Sunstroke differs from fits in the absence of excitement, the breathing is slow and often of a snoring character, the pulse is slow and indistinct. The harness should be removed and the horse placed in a comfortable position in the shade and propped up on his brislet. Cold water should be dashed on the head, or cracked ice in a bag be applied to the poll and the head elevated. If the horse is conscious enough to drink, small quantities of cold water should be offered frequently. Four quarts of whiskey may be given, diluted in cold water. The horse should be sponged with cool water and rubbed briskly all over till he is dry and rested. Plenty of fresh air should be allowed, without a draught.

The same treatment is to be given horses that have been overdriven in hot weather and are suffering from heat exhaustion.

CLEAN BATH BEST FOR HOGS

Animals Will Show Appreciation by Making Profitable Gains if Given Chance.

Given a chance hogs will keep themselves clean. While we have come to associate these animals and muddy wallows, the fact of the matter is that the hogs are usually compelled to live in places where they cannot avoid the mud. If the premises are so arranged that the swine can keep the bodies washed off and at the same time stay out of the mud they will respond in action as an expression of their appreciation for the opportunity to have regular clean baths.

If You Doubt This, Count Them. There are 25,000 pores in the hand of a man.

SUGAR BEET CONTRACT'S OUT

trucks, shall be unloaded as directed by the company and if forked into piles all beets scattered on the ground by the grower shall be picked up by him and thrown on the pile before the wagon or truck is moved.

Beets delivered under this contract and loaded on cars by the grower will be paid for subject to tare for dirt and improper topping in accordance with the following table:

If the average price of beet sugar as hereinafter determined is $6.00 per 100 pounds, the total compensation for beets will be $7.00 per ton and as follows: $7.00 per 100 pounds, $8.00 per ton beets; $8.00 per 100 lbs., $9.00 per ton beets; $9 per 100 lbs., $10 per ton beets.

Fractional advance in the average price of beet sugar above $6.00 per 100 pounds will be paid for in the same proportion as set out in the above table.

If, however, the average price of beet sugar as hereinafter determined is less than $6.00 per 100 pounds, then the company will pay $7.00 per ton for beets grown and delivered under this contract.

Preliminary payments to the grower will be made at the rate of $7.00 per ton for beets grown and delivered under this contract, and will be made on the 15th of each month for beets delivered the previous calendar month.

If the average price of beet sugar as hereinafter determined, exceeds $6.00 per 100 pounds, then an additional price per ton above $7.00 will be paid by the company on February 15th, 1924, so that the total price paid per ton for beets grown and delivered under this contract shall be as set forth in the above table.

For beets delivered and unloaded by the grower in beet bins at the factory, an additional seventy five cents per ton will be paid.

Said average price of beet sugar shall be determined from the official New York net cash market quotations of Willett & Gray covering the Central States Territory (Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois) during the months of October, November and December, 1923 and January 1924, by adding together the prices of beet sugar so quoted for the working days of the said period and dividing the total by number of days quoted.

All wagons or trucks used by the grower in the hauling and delivering of said beets shall have boxes with tight bottoms, also tight sides and ends for four inches above bottoms, and shall be free from holes and cracks of sufficient size for dirt to sift through. Beets must be forked from wagon or truck by grower with a regular beet fork, and all dirt remaining in wagon or truck must be weighed out with wagon or truck.

All samples for tare must be forked into tare baskets in the regular manner and must be fair sample of load.

This contract not valid until approved by an officer of the company and no agent of the company has any authority to change or alter the terms and conditions of this contract.

LOEB FARMS MEDICO ISSUES WARNING

Strange Cattle Disease Not Dangerous To Man

Dr. L. V. Simmons, veterinarian at the Loeb Farms, has issued a warning to owners of cattle in this region of the appearance of a contagious cattle disease which has visited one or two farms in the county. We quote for the benefit of our readers:

"This is an unusual time of the year for a disease of its type to appear. A laboratory diagnosis shows the cause to be a mixed infection with the bacillus of hemorrhagic septicemia most prevalent.

The organisms are held dormant by low wet lands and taken to the barns in the hay or ensilage.

I personally believe that free access to sweet clover by animals has some little bearing upon the outbreak.

Young stock seem to be most susceptible. However, the older cattle may be infected.

The disease as a rule is very rapid in its course. An animal may seem normal at night and be found dead in the morning.

Swellings may be noticed in the region of the quarters, or back and the animal will be lame or have a stiff, stilly gait when moved about. After appearance of swellings the animal will die in from 12 to 14 hours.

The treatment of a badly infected animal is of no avail; however, the rest of the herd should be immunized against the infection by the use of bacterin. As a preventative, all cattle in the community should be given treatment, which is not expensive, and it protects the animal during its lifetime.

The disease is transmissible to cattle, sheep and hogs, but not to man. While the meat from an infected animal is not injurious to man, it is condemned by the Bureau of Animal Industry because of the bacteriological changes in it.

The carcasses of dead animals should either be burned or buried deep and covered with lime, the stables thoroughly disinfected.

The milk from an infected herd may be safely used.

L. V. Simmons, D. V. M.,

PRIMARY FUND DISTRIBUTION

of Public Instruction believes that it is well worth the serious consideration of the people of the state.

What Must Be Done?

We must not only see to it that our legislators are on the right side of this question and will vote for its passage when presented, but we must help to advertise it through those counties not familiar with this plan of distribution of the primary money.

The plan to deprive the schools of the fund entirely has poisoned so many against any change in the present distribution that they must be converted to the justice of the new plan. If we would win, we must gain the support of the other counties.

Commissioner of Schools."

BETTER GRADING TO BE DISCUSSED

Meeting For Potato Growers At Co-op Bldg. Thursday

B. O. Hingerman, county agricultural agent, announces a meeting to be held at the Co-op building in Charlevoix, on Thursday, March 15, at one o'clock, standard time, in the interests of the better grading of potatoes.

W. C. Cribbs, marketing specialist of the M. A. C., will speak, taking "Better Grading" as his subject. Mr. Cribbs claims that the reason Michigan potato growers have to be content with from 50 cents to 90 cents a hundred less than the price paid for potatoes from other sections of the country is largely due to the poor grading of the shipments. He will endeavor to get better cooperation among the farmers and farm managers of the county in the matter of grading potatoes before they are shipped to the centers of distribution. It is sincerely hoped that there will be a A-1 attendance at this meeting, as the subject is a vital one to the farmers of this community.

A similar meeting will be held in the Co-op building at Phelps on the following day, Friday, March 16th, at one p. m.

SWATTED AGAIN BY SNOW KING

FOUL BLOW WAS DELIVERED
SUNDAY NIGHT

Death, Injury and Suffering Come
On the Wings of Week-End's
Snow-Laden Gale

Judging from what happened to us Sunday night and Monday morning, it would be convenient for Northern Michigan editors to stereotype the headline, "Worst Blizzard in Years," or have a cut made of it, surrounded by a border of icebergs and polar bears. This might be kept in easy reach of the printer's hand, until, say, about the middle of June, when it would probably be safe to lay it away for the summer.

Sunday promised quick release of the Ice King's grip, but—alas and alack, about an hour before sundown the mercury volplaned some ten or fifteen degrees and a wind came up out of the north that carried a suggestion of razor blades and red pepper in its stinging blasts. When Mr. and Mrs. Charlevoix arose Monday morning, a peep under the edge of the window shade showed that Nature's beautiful white mantle (oodles and oodles of the dingy stuff) had gently descended during the night and was still quietly descending, the peacefulness of the entrancing (?) scene only broken by the very ungente and far from quiet comments of the early morning discoverers.

The pedestrian's progress to his place of business later in the day was accompanied by a species of unrefined torture, alleviated only by the feeling that no fur-clad film hero of James Oliver Curwood ever faced anything much worse "in the great open spaces of the North where men are men."

The vicious storm of wind and snow that struck so heavily here Sunday night and Monday seems to be the same that buried Elmira and vicinity last Friday, tying up all traffic on the Pennsylvania lines from Friday morning until Saturday noon. The south-bound passenger train that left Potoskey Friday morning ran into a deep drift about a mile south of Elmira and was stalled until about midnight of the 9th. A heavy freight engine was sent south to aid the train and this engine became stalled in a drift about a thousand feet north of the train. At that point, railroad workers say, the snow drifted in to a depth of from two to four feet and Friday night this wet snow froze solid. The stalled passenger train was dug out some time early Saturday morning and sent on south to Grand Rapids. All together, trains on the Pennsylvania lines in this district were delayed about thirty hours.

Compared to Elmira's plight, Charlevoix's visitation Monday was a gentle one. All trains over the P. M. got in at near schedule time, with the exception of the northbound from Grand Rapids, due here at 4:06 Monday afternoon, which arrived at 10:20 p. m.—six hours and fourteen minutes late. A lone freight got stuck in the drifts near Kaleva but was rescued without many hours delay.

Points in the Mississippi Valley as far south as Tennessee suffered death and property loss from the violence of the storm. Telephone and telegraph lines were blown down isolating some cities completely. Several persons, mostly negroes, were killed by the storm at Pinson, Tenn., half a hundred houses were destroyed and a freight train blown from the tracks. Absence of wire communication with the stricken district made details impossible, but it was reported that 75 persons were injured. A tornado took five lives in Kentucky Sunday night, according to meagre reports received early Monday. Chicago was only lightly touched, the storm there taking the form of a severe electrical disturbance, which, however, did little damage. Central and southern Wisconsin are tied up by a blizzard which started in Sunday night and still raged Monday. The snow is heavy and in some parts of the state huge drifts have formed from the high wind. Eighteen inches of snow fell in Madison, Wis.

At least three persons were killed, dozens injured and heavy property loss sustained in Ohio from the heavy windstorm that swept the state Monday, according to late reports. Rain, accompanied by wind, which at times attained a velocity of sixty miles per hour, was general over the eastern Missouri section and southern Illinois Sunday night and Monday. Iowa was also swept by a rain and snowstorm. High wind were prevalent throughout the south, New Orleans reporting that southeastern Louisiana and northern Mississippi were without reliable telephone and telegraph communication.

In Michigan, Grand Rapids suffered heavily, hundreds of telephone and telegraph poles being leveled, wire service was crippled, traffic blocked and tree limbs torn off and brought crashing dangerously to sidewalk and street pavement. The barometer Monday stood at the lowest point in many days. The upper peninsula did not escape, Escanaba in particular experiencing extensive damage.

From the Atlantic seaboard comes the report of a fishing schooner lost with six lives off the coast of Nova Scotia. Four men were carried off the deck of another boat by a giant wave.

While the storm had abated Tuesday in some localities, the mercury still hovered low in the glass, with no signs of a thaw.

PRISON MAY NOT BE FOR US

WARDEN HULBURT'S PLAN MAY BE ACCEPTED

Contemplates Location of New Penitentiary Near Present Penal Institution

In view of the recent controversy, both official and non-official, which a week or so ago was an all-absorbing topic of public interest here, regarding the location of a state prison somewhere in this region, it will probably be illuminating to learn of the attitude of the warden of our present prison at Jackson on the matter. If his plans are accepted by the authorities, it is more than likely that the northern half of the state will go prisonless for some time, unless the activities of our busy legislature result in the passage of so many new laws that a major portion of our population become candidates for a hair cut and a striped suit by reason of infraction through ignorance of what really is the law of the land anyway.

Construction of a new prison on the big 3,500-acre state farm three and a half miles north of the city of Jackson at a cost so low that "the people of Michigan would never feel it," is the proposition which Warden Harry L. Hulburt of that institution has made to the house committee on the state prison and also the state prisons commission.

Hulburt at one time was a Boyne City contractor.

With an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the next two years to finance the beginning of this proposal, Hulburt says that he can use the labor of 600 idle men at Jackson prison now, and during the two years can erect a modern prison wall, one or two large cell blocks and have some industries located on the new site and in operation.

"On this north farm, housed in frame barracks made from Camp Custer buildings, we now have over 400 men with little or nothing to do, besides 200 more at the prison," says the warden. "These 600 men are costing the state $1 a day each. If they could be given employment they would make the state at least $2 a day each. That alone would be a saving of $1,200 a day to the state."

Could Transfer Prison

"After the erection of a new prison wall, with some industries and cell block units completed, by the use of prison labor additional buildings could be put up within a reasonable time beyond the next two years with no burdensome expense to the state. The problem of a new state central prison would then be solved. The new prison would be away from the city and the transfer from the old to the (Continued on page eight)

GO DOWN TO BITTER DEFEAT

HARBOR SPRINGS PLAYERS
LOSE BY 37 POINTS

Score of Hotly Contested Game Was 48-11 In Favor Of Charlevoix's
Interpid Five

The Charlevoix High School basketball team defeated Harbor Springs High School team last night by the lopsided score of 48-11. Checking was close and fouling quite frequent throughout the contest. During the first half Charlevoix counted with seven field baskets and five free throws for a total of nineteen points to Harbor's seven. Of the seven field baskets Dagwell, Charlevoix center, made five and Miles, forward, made two. Miles also counted with five out of six attempts at free throws.

Although Harbor fought hard, Charlevoix continued to pile up baskets after basket, until the score stood 48-11 at the whistle. Harbor was unable to solve Charlevoix's system of play, the Charlevoix forwards and center playing with such accuracy at the passing game, that they advanced the ball so that it was possible for close in shots to be made at will. The Charlevoix guards, Todd and Jones, smothered everything Harbor had to offer on offense.

The second half was a repetition of the first, only Charlevoix succeeded in making a larger total which was 29 to Harbor's 4 all of Harbor's being free throws. The whirlwind offensive of Charlevoix seemed unbeatable. During this half Dagwell made seven baskets for a total of twelve for the entire game. Miles two field baskets and three free throws. Bacot, taking Marshall's place at forward, showed up well. His passing was good and his eye for the basket, but he lacks speed which will develop as time goes on.

The last few minutes of play found a general shake up in the Charlevoix team. Glasgow went in for Bacot and Todd replaced Glasgow, Hamilton going to the guard position.

Charlevoix is looking ahead to the Tournament, to be held at Potoskey, March 23 and 24. Charlevoix has lost only one game to a class C school this year, the other two losses being to a class A schools and by very close scores.

One more game remains on the Charlevoix schedule; that with Manacelon, to be played there next Friday night, March 16.

ANNUAL ICE HAR- VEST IS REAPED

Cut Totals 28,000 Tons And Is Thicker
Est Ever Known Here

The annual ice harvest of Charlevoix has been completed. The intense cold of the past two months helped wonderfully, in the quality and thickness of this year's crop of clear, thick ice, which tested absolutely pure as taken from Pine Lake.

Eighteen teams and forty men worked twenty-one days cutting, hauling and storing twenty-eight thousand tons of the commodity in such demand during the summer season. The ice harvested was twenty-three inches thick and each cake weighed two hundred and twenty-five pounds, the thickest clear ice ever cut in the history of this region.

The numerous summer hotels were supplied, including the Inn, the Hallett House, the Hallett's Inn, the Belvedere, and the Chicago Club. The local dealers, Harry Widdifield and Heise & Yettaw, also stored their houses. O. D. Hammond had the contract for the output.

Owing to the quality and abundance of the ice, the contractor, Mr. Hammond, shipped a large quantity by freight to Potoskey. No matter what the demand may be, no shortage is anticipated in Charlevoix this summer.

Legion Auxiliary Meets

A regular meeting of the Woman's American Legion Auxiliary will be held Monday, at eight p. m., March 19th, at S. M. Rose's barber shop. This meeting would be a good time to pay 1923 dues, which are $1.25 this year on account of an increase in department dues. All are anxious to help a good cause along and members are urged to join in their spring and summer campaign, in which everyone can have a good time, as well as help a good cause. Be a booster.

MORE GRAIN SHIPPED IN '22

GOVERNMENT FIGURES SHOW
LESS HELD ON MICH. FARMS

Hay, At Present, Is Only Exception
To The Rule, But This Is Due To Car Shortage And Poor Price

A smaller percentage of the leading grain crops remained on the farms of Michigan on March 1, than on the same date one year ago. The volume in bushels is also less except in the case of oats which was a far better crop last year than in 1921. The crop report issued today by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics includes for the first time a report on the stocks of hay. While wheat is a general cash crop, oats, barley and hay are primarily raised for feeding purposes and only a comparatively few counties produce any considerable surplus for market. The consumption of corn in the State is considerably greater than the production. The stocks of corn for the United States as a whole are considerably smaller than one year ago, while those of oats and barley are a little larger, and those of wheat are considerably larger.

The percentage of the wheat crop remaining on farms is 20 per cent as compared with 23 per cent last year and a ten-year average of 22 per cent, and is equivalent to 2,865,000 bushels. Farmers have sold closer than usual in order to meet their heavy taxes, interest and other obligations. It is estimated that 57 per cent of the crop is shipped away from the county where grown. The United States as a whole reports 19,000,000 bushels more than last year, an increase of about one-seventh.

While the official figures on corn show approximately 20,036,000 bushels on Michigan farms, it must be remembered that about one-third of the crop goes into silos which reduces the actual grain holdings by a corresponding amount, or to about 13,358,000 bushels. Only occasional localities produce more than consumed, so that the total amount shipped out of the county where grown will not exceed five per cent of the crop. It is estimated that 83 per cent of the crop was of merchantable quality as compared with 84 per cent last year. The United States' holdings are estimated at 1,087,412,000 bushels or about one-sixth less than they were one year ago.

It is estimated that 37 per cent of the crop of oats remained on Michigan farms on March 1. While this percentage is slightly less than last year, it represents 18,291,000 bushels or nearly twice the quantity, due to the much larger crop of 1922. The holdings in the United States are about 10,000,000 bushels greater than one year ago, or about two and one-half per cent. The amount that will be shipped out of the county where grown is 23 per cent of the Michigan crop, the same as the ten-year average, but seven per cent more than last year.

The stocks of barley approximate 630,000 bushels as against 1,069,000 bushels one year ago. This is equivalent to 18 per cent of the crop, whereas the holdings on March 1 have averaged 23 per cent over the last ten years. The United States' stocks are little over one million bushels larger than on the same date last year. Michigan will ship about 14 per cent of the crop out of the counties where produced.

For the first time a report on hay was asked of correspondents. The results indicate that 38 per cent of the crop will remain on the farms of the state. This is considerably more than usual. The principal reasons are that last year's crop was unusually large, it has been difficult to obtain cars in some sections, and the price has been unsatisfactory. It is estimated that 25 per cent of the crop will be shipped out of the counties where produced.

GRANDSON OF CHIEF DIED HERE TUESDAY

Ed. McSaubu Succumbs To Attack of Pneumonia

Edward McSaubu, grandson of the late former Chief McSaubu of the Ottawa Indians who peopled this country in the early days prior to the advent of the white settlers, died at his home near Mt. McSaubu on Saturday, Mar. 10th, following an attack of pneumonia brought on by the flu. Mr. McSaubu was born August 31, 1876, and was in his forty-seventh year at the time of his death. His wife (who lies seriously ill at this time at the home of her brother-in-law, Dan McSaubu), three sons, his mother, Mrs. Alexander McSaubu, who was Angeline Mitchell before her marriage, and a brother, Daniel, city mail carrier, survive him. A cousin, June McSaubu, played the part of Hiawatha at an annual Indian play given at Ya-wa-ga-mug, near Potoskey.

The funeral was held at St. Mary's church in this city, Tuesday morning, March 13th, the body placed in the vault at Brookside. Rev. Father Wegener conducted the funeral services.

LAST MONTH WAS A HARD ONE

HOSPITAL REPORT SHOWS
MUCH ACCOMPLISHED

In Spite of Illness of Staff Members and Flu Cases Work Was Kept Up to Mark

The hospital superintendent's report appears this week, unaccompanied by the financial report, on account of an indefinite delay in preparing the latter. When the financial statement is ready, it will be run separately. We shall endeavor, however, whenever possible, to have the two reports run at the same time and as near the end of the month reported on as circumstances permit.

Superintendent's Report for Feb.
No. patients admitted..... 23
No. patients discharged..... 18
No. patients in hospital on Feb. 1st..... 10
No. patients in hospital on Feb. 28th..... 14

Surgical cases..... 10
Medical cases..... 7
Accident cases..... 2
Obstetrical cases..... 2
Births..... 2
Hopeless cases (medical)..... 1
Deaths..... 1
No. days care of patients..... 386
No. meals served..... 1831
Although February was a short month, it was a very busy one at the hospital and trying, as well, on account of the prevalence of flu, several difficult cases, and the illness of members of the nursing and general hospital staff.

Each report, as it is issued month by month, brings home to all thinking Charlevoix citizens the great place in our community life which the hospital is filling and the exceptionally creditable way in which the management and staff are meeting the emergency. Nothing in the way of an obstacle, financial or otherwise, should be permitted for an instant to interfere with its efficient operation.

BRUCE IS FITTING FOR SUMMER RUN

Capt. Sanford Has Picked Star Crew
To Run Her

The Benver Island Transportation Company, through its owner and manager, Harry L. Oldham, announces that the steamer, "Bruce," will be put into commission again at the opening of navigation, to make her usual run between the Benvers and this port with passengers and freight.

Outfitting has started this week. During the winter, the vessel has been thoroughly overhauled and is in first class condition. The new crew, according to Mr. Oldham, is the best that ever trod the "Bruce's" deck or turned a trick at the wheel. The new personnel includes Capt. James Sanford, master; George LaBlanc, engineer; Ned Potter, fireman and Bill Boak, seaman.

The Woman's American Legion Auxiliary will sell sandwiches, punch and coffee at the Fireman's Ball, Friday, March 16th.—Adv. 11-11.

WILL DISTRI- BUTE BOOKLETS

"UNCLE LOUIE" WINTERNITZ IS CHARLEVOIX BOOSTER

Well-Known Grand Rapids Photographer and Local Resorter Is Now in Fort Myers, Fla.

The following clippings from a recent issue of a Fort Myers (Fla.) newspaper, show that our little city has a "place in the sun" that shines lovingly on the land of palms and oranges and that, although a mere dot on the map, our fame far outweighs our size.

"The Michigan Tradesman, an excellent trade magazine of wide circulation, ably published by E. A. Stove at Grand Rapids, reprints in its issue of February 28th an article which recently appeared in the Fort Myers Press regarding 'Uncle Louie' Winternitz, Grand Rapids' most famous nature photographer, who is sojourning at the Royal Palm Hotel here.

Mr. Winternitz, who for years was the general superintendent of the Fleischmann Yeast Co., having had charge of its several large factories throughout the country furnished a part of the photographs for the booklet just issued by the Charlevoix, Mich., Board of Trade, advertising that attractive northern Michigan Summer resort. He received today a large supply of these illustrated pamphlets which may be had at the office of the Chamber of Commerce in the Arcade. In return for distributing this attractive literature advertising Charlevoix, that Summer resort city—through Mr. Winternitz has agreed to distribute booklets telling of the beauties of Fort Myers and Lee County and otherwise to boost this "tropical paradise," which is growing more and more popular not only as a winter resort but as an all-the-year-round desirable place to live."

For the next hit of comment, "Uncle Louie" may, perhaps be forgiven as it is likely that for many years he has not known the joys of skimming over glassy ice on runners of steel, diving from the top of Mt. McSaubu on "wooden shoes" or landing mackinaws through the floor of a fish shanty.

HAROLD R. LUTENBACHER

"Be happy you're here!" That is what "Uncle Louie" Winternitz advises guests at the Royal Palm Hotel. There may be a number of reasons why anyone should be glad he is here, but "Uncle Louie" emphasizes his one reason in a forceful manner by placing on exhibition in the hotel lobby some vivid snow scenes which were sent to him from his summer home, at Charlevoix, Mich. The pictures give winter visitors here a very clear idea of what they are escaping by being in the land of sunshine and flowers. Scenes of snow several feet deep and ice thick frozen by long hours of below-zero temperature serve to make everyone appreciate Florida's mild climate of which "Uncle Louie" is so fond.

The climate is as true as his name he declares: "Winter-nit!"

Pleasant Surprise Awaited Popular
Club-Woman Tuesday

Mrs. Frank Metcalf entertained with a surprise party Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday of Mrs. S. J. Alcox. A sumptuous six o'clock dinner was served, with birthday cake and sixteen candles.

Ten ladies were present and a very pleasant evening was spent in visiting, recitations and songs, after which the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mrs. Alcox many happy returns of the day.

HEIR BORN TO "EARL OF DUNBLANE"

A son was born at Cheboygan on February 27 to Mrs. A. J. W. Grieg, wife of the "Earl of Dunblane," who is serving a term in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson, following his conviction on the charge of fraud in the sale of stock.

The youngster was named "Rhoderick Dhu," one of the father's favorite characters in Scotch tradition. Grieg claimed right to the title of Earl of Dunblane. English authorities denied such a title now exists.

TEMPORARY PASTURES ARE BEST FOR SHEEP

From 10 to 14 Days Is Long Enough on Same Ground.

Basin of 1 Acre to 25 Animals Is More Satisfactory Than Seeding Larger Areas—Smaller Lots Are Convenient.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

For health and for economical use of the pasturage it is undesirable to keep sheep on the same ground more than from ten to fourteen days, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. In discussing the question of raising sheep on temporary pastures. The most generally useful size of lot is one acre to 25 sheep. This acre, on an average, furnished in experiments 14 days' feed.

Sheep Are Valuable Weed Destroyers and Will Keep Fence Rows, Roadways and Waste Places Clean.

Arranging the size of lots on the basis of one acre to 25 sheep is more satisfactory than seeding larger areas and using hurdles to permit advance to fresh feed each day. Less labor is necessary, and by going to entirely new ground after ten or twelve days the danger of picking up parasite larvae on ground grazed over earlier is prevented. With a one-acre lot for 25 ewes, or correspondingly larger ones for larger flocks, it is an added advantage if their length is two or three times the breadth.

With a heavy crop of forage that would last longer than was considered safe to hold the flock on the same ground, a short piece of cross fence can readily be put down to divide the pasture into two parts. The smaller lots are also convenient with purchased flocks, to provide for the separate pasturing of smaller lots of ram and ewe lambs.

Movable fencing is not likely to be satisfactory for the outside lot fences unless the whole area to be used lies in a long strip with side fences, when only two end pieces need to be in place at one time for the ground being grazed.

Bring in that auto tire that needs repairing. Our vulcanizing department is open for business. Best of work guaranteed. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10-1f.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. meeting for March was held at the home of Mrs. William Scroggie last Friday afternoon.

The early part of the afternoon was devoted to folding surgical dressings for the hospital. A short business session followed. Reports of committees and departments showed that greater interest in being taken along all lines of the work. Superintendent Hamilton, of the city schools was commended for his assistance in the essay contest, religious census and the reading of the Bible in the chapel services.

Mrs. R. B. Armstrong gave a very interesting talk on some of the health measures now before us, also a report of the work of the women of the state through the state federation of woman's clubs.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint
Juggling dynamite in the form of such popular issues as capital punishment, commercialized gambling, agricultural statistics, radical extension of state control over fire insurance rate making, and other forms of further centralization of state governmental authority, law-makers have focused public attention on the doings under the big dome at Lansing.

Of all the big issues and routine business considered during the week, capital punishment easily aroused the most intense interest.

Debate Draws Big Crowd

The hall of Representatives was jammed with humanity and electric with scarcely suppressed excitement the capital punishment bill came up as a special order for final passage in the House Tuesday afternoon. Galleries, side-lines and aisles were packed to capacity. Standing room was at a premium during the two and one-half hour debate. Diamonds of Detroit women's club leaders sparkled prominently among the expectant visitors.

Speaker George Welsh issued a stern order that there be no applause or demonstration from the assembled crowd, but experienced some difficulty in enforcing his edict.

Try To Tack On Referendum

The first gun of the big fight was fired by Rep. Rowe, of Hillsdale, who moved to attach a referendum clause to refer the bill to the people. This amendment aroused intense opposition and was defeated.

Then Rep. Rasmussen from Montcalm jumped into the fray with a proposal to exempt women from the operation of the bill. This amendment was also defeated. Rep. Miles who lead opposition to it brought forth prolonged merriment when he said, "If this bill is good for a bear, it ought to be good for a wildcat too."

Pitkin Pleads For Bill

Rep. Pitkin, father of the death penalty bill, led the fight for its passage. He declared that forty states have capital punishment and that Detroit is the only large city not having the death penalty and that its murder rate is the highest. He asserts that states that had abolished capital punishment had speedily seen fit to restore it. He also presented arguments to show that capital punishment actually deterred crime.

Opponents of the bill pointed out that seventy-five years ago Michigan was the first state to abolish capital punishment. They regarded returning to the death penalty as a serious step backward and maintained that it did not deter crime. Rep. Culver pointed out that, "It is not the severity but the certainty of punishment that deters crime."

It is doubtful if the prolonged and eloquent arguments influenced many votes. There was intense and breathless interest while the roll was called and the result announced—"Yeas, 46. Nays, 51." Two years ago the capital punishment bill mustered 49 votes.

But the death penalty didn't stay dead for, after a bitter fight the next day, the vote was reconsidered and the Pitkin bill laid on the table. Meanwhile Rep. Pitkin is considering an amendment or two which he feels will gain him enough votes to pass his bill. The issue was revived late Friday forenoon by Rep. Charles Culver, of Detroit, an enemy of the bill, who moved to take the Pitkin bill from the table. His motion was countered by a motion to adjourn and the House, wearied with a prolonged debate on the subject of agricultural statistics, accepted the adjournment resolution. The Pitkin bill may be brought up again for final consideration any day.

Covert Act Change Sought

An effort is being made to patch up the Covert Highway Act, to prevent abuses and extravagance, and yet retain some of the good features of this well-known measure. Sen. William L. Connely, of Spring Lake, has introduced such a measure. The proposed bill would give county supervisors the right to suspend the exercise of powers now possessed by county road commissioners by a two-thirds vote of the board and would limit the amount of tax that the road commissioners might assess against any county for road construction.

The bill further provides that the supervisor of the township shall sit with the county road commission and have a voice in the laying out of the unincorporated districts in such township.

Soldier Bonus Costs Money

The bill to provide additional funds to complete payment of the soldier bonus was reported out of committee in the House of Representatives Wednesday afternoon. The bill was originally introduced by Rep. Vincent Dacey, of Detroit, but a substitute bill in which a tax clause is attached, was sent out by the committee. Under the original bill these claims would have been paid out of the general fund of the state, without any special tax.

The long-expected fight which was to develop when Sen. Bahorski's anti-gambling bill came up for final passage as a special order Thursday afternoon failed to materialize and the bill passed 28 to 0.

Governor's Power Is Extended

Considerable opposition developed in the House to Sen. Pearson's bill to provide for removal by the Governor of appointive local officers. Since 1846, the chief executive has had this power with reference to local elective officers. Sentiment was expressed by some representatives that centralization of power had gone far enough, but others pointed out situations where some such system of getting rid of undesirable local officers seemed advisable. The bill finally survived all attacks and passed 68 to 28.

The market for farm loan bonds has been improved by final passage by both houses of Rep. J. E. Watson's bill to allow state banks to invest in farm loan bonds issued by Federal Land Banks.

Quail To Be Protected

After prolonged debate, the House passed by a vote of 68 to 21 Rep. Rowe's bill amending the Michigan game laws. One of the leading provisions of this bill is that of placing quail on the song bird list. Such protection of quail is one of the planks in the State Farm Bureau's legislative program.

Persons who cut holes more than six inches in diameter through ice for fishing purposes will be required to erect suitable danger signals if the Senate concurs in the action of the House in passing Rep. Mile's bill to this effect.

More Licenses Proposed

State control of midwifery is being urged by Rep. Chester Howell of Saginaw. He has introduced a bill to require each midwife to procure a license costing $10. A fine of not less than $200 nor more than $500, or imprisonment for six months or less, or both, is provided for violation.

Rep. W. O. Lee, of Port Huron, civil war veteran of the House, introduced a bill to require the display of the national colors in all voting places during the hours that the polls are open.

Fruit Standards Sought

Rep. Oscar Braman, of Kent, introduced two bills dealing with horticultural standards. One measure adds a new grade of apples for the "off color" fruit. His other bill sets up three grades for grapes. It is understood that in this later move he has the solid backing of leading grape growers of the state.

There is a movement on foot to limit the amount of money which the University of Michigan and the Agricultural College may receive annually from the mill taxes. Sen. Burney Brower, of Jackson, proposes to set the maximum for the University of Michigan at $3,000,000, while Rep. E. O. Ladd is sponsoring a bill to limit the mill tax receipts for M. A. C. to $1,000,000. These totals are the amounts now being received from this source.

Sleighs Stir Up Fight

The old fight regarding the width of sleighs has been reopened. By a vote of 52 to 34 the House passed Rep. Hulett's bill repealing the 1919 law which prohibited the manufacture and sale of narrow width sleighs. Northern Michigan members voted against the repeal declaring that the standardization of sleigh and auto track widths made winter highway travel better for all concerned.

Even the busy little bee is among the wide variety of subjects receiving legislative consideration. Rep. Edward B. Manwarring, of Ann Arbor, is fathering a bill providing for state inspection of apiaries and establishing quarantine regulations for the control of bee diseases. Special safeguards are set up around the queen bees. No bees would be allowed to be brought into Michigan unless they are accompanied with an official certificate of health.

Tonnage Tax On Fish

Fish are public property in the opinion of Aaron Miles, of Big Rapids, chairman of the House Fish and Fisheries Committee. He has introduced a bill for a tonnage tax on the product of commercial fisheries. The proposed rate would vary from $1 to $20 per ton, according to the variety of the fish.

Compensation for members of the State Board of Agriculture is proposed by Rep. Oscar Braman, of Kent County. In addition to their expenses, which is all they now receive, Rep. Braman would pay the board members $10 per day while actually engaged in the discharge of their official duties.

A Truth In Fabric Bill

Failure of Congress to finally pass Senator Capper's "Truth in Fabric" bill has not disheartened those who are waging the fight against shoddy. Rep. William C. Sanson, of Caro, is sponsoring a simple and conservative truth in fabric measure for Michigan. The law if enacted would become effective January 1, 1924.

GROW PURPLE VETCH FOR VALUABLE SEED

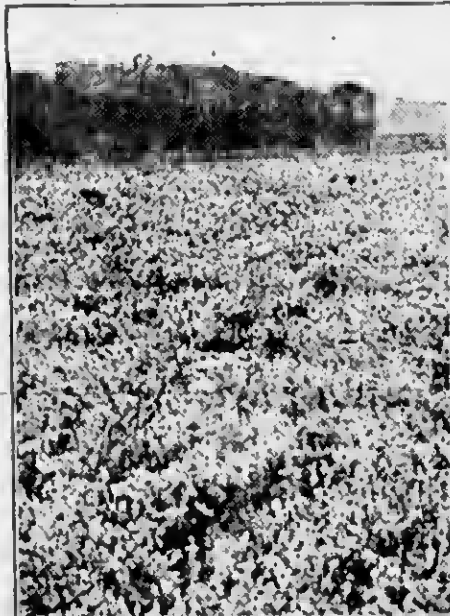

Advantages of Crop Have Been Known for Years.

It is Not as Popular in Northern States as Common Variety, Which is Hardier and Has Become Established as Forage.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Due largely to the intermediary efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture, 2,400 acres of purple vetch is reported as being grown this year for seed in northwestern California for use in the orchards of the southern part of the state, where it has proven a superior green-manure crop. The superiority of purple vetch in California for green manure lies in the fact that it makes more growth during the winter months and can be turned under earlier than other legume crops.

Purple vetch was first brought to this country from Italy in 1839 and its advantages have been appreciated for a number of years, but it was not possible to introduce it extensively because of scarcity of seed. In the region where it was most valuable it has not been feasible to raise purple vetch in large quantities because of climatic conditions. In the North, on the other hand, the seed can be grown successfully, but there the purple vetch is not in as great favor for forage as common vetch, which is hardier and has become established in popularity.

To make a bridge between the two geographically distant localities has been the work of a number of years on the part of the department experts. It was first necessary to demonstrate the value of purple vetch in the South, and afterwards to induce northern farmers to substitute it to some extent for their customary crops. This latter was difficult, because purple vetch was not quoted in the market, and also because, where a sale was effected, farmers were tempted to sell their entire stock, reserving no seed to maintain or extend the acreage.

The assistance of a large California fruit growers' association was enlisted, and last year 500 acres were grown under guarantee, a large portion of the yield being kept for seed. This year northwestern California and Oregon farmers will receive 11½ cents a pound for purple vetch seed, which should give them from $150 to $200 per acre in addition to the straw. From now on it is expected sufficient seed will be available for all needs.

VALUE OF UNDRAWN POULTRY

Experiments Conducted by Department of Agriculture Show Birds Spoil Less Quickly.

Poultrymen still discuss the relative merits of drawn and undrawn poultry. Practice varies in different communities. Opening the body undoubtedly exposes the internal surface to the air which always contains micro-organisms, and thus may hasten decomposition; but it should be remembered also that the viscera decompose more rapidly than other parts of the body, and if left they may taint or infect the rest of the bird.

In elaborate experiments with drawn, partly drawn, and undrawn poultry, conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, it was found that undrawn birds spoil least quickly, and partly drawn ones less quickly than the fully drawn ones from which, not only the viscera, but also the heads and feet, have been removed.

BUILDS WEEVIL-PROOF CRIB

Southern Farmer Demonstrates How Log Building Can Be Made Secure Against Insects.

The county agent of Taylor county, Fla., reports that one farmer in his community has worked out a way by which a log cabin crib can be made practically air-tight to guard the corn against weevils. This farmer put three or four inches of dirt on the floor and covered it with another floor. The walls were covered with rough lumber, and the cracks outside were filled with clay. The door frames were padded with cloth and the door made of two layers of cypress lumber, with a piece of paper roofing between. This arrangement cost about $10. In addition to the farmer's labor. Others in this neighborhood are building cribs in the same way.

VULCANIZING

Tires—Boots—Rubbers

We have opened our Vulcanizing department for the season and are prepared to care for your needs in this line. We vulcanize not only automobile tires, but repair rubber boots, common rubbers, water bottles, etc.

OLD RUBBERS AND BOOTS MADE NEARLY AS GOOD AS NEW

If your rubber boots have a hole in them, bring them in and we will repair them. If the soles are scuffed through and the tops are good, we can put new soles on them, thus almost doubling the wearing life of either boots or rubbers.

Spring is almost here and you will want to drive the car. Tires need overhauling and repairing. Bring them in early and we will fix them up satisfactorily.

NEW PALACE THEATRE

Attractions for the coming week

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, MARCH 17 and 18

Thomas Meighan in "Manslaughter." When the mad quest for excitement seized the place of reason, Rome fell. Are we headed the same way? See Cecil DeMille's "Manslaughter." A picture whose story will clutch your heart, whose beauty will dazzle your eyes, whose spectacular features will make you wonder with admiration. The greatest feature of the season.

Also Harold Lloyd in "Back to the Woods." The cleanest comedy of all time.

TUESDAY, MARCH 20

Charles Jones in "Western Speed." Here is just the style show that we were all looking forward to. One of the snappiest western shows ever produced. You all like Buck Jones, so don't miss this one. Remember the date, Tuesday, March 20th.

We will also give you a good comedy, "Sand Witches."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21

Nita Naldi in "Life." See life as it is being played day by day. Here we have a drama that will tighten the heartstrings and give a lesson for all to remember.

We also have No. 11 of the great and dashing serial, "Breaking Through."

NEXT SATURDAY and SUNDAY, MARCH 24-25

"On the High Seas," and a very good comedy, "Torchy's Big Lead."

toskey. James C. Wood, of Manistiquette, former state senator, was in charge. Mr. Wood is chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Michigan. Will Hampton, of Ann Arbor, grand keeper of records and seal, and Charles Lasher, of Plainwell, deputy chancellor, were also present. Mr. Lasher plans to return to Petoskey next week for a stay of several days. Instruction was given in how to create more interest in lodge work, boost membership and increase attendance.

Lucky Ones in Florida Bask on Gulf Shore

While smothered in snow to our necks and guarding our faces from the icy blasts, we are permitted to hear through a correspondent that:

"Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ashdon and children, of Charlevoix, motored last Sunday to St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend the day with a number of other Charlevoix people, including Mr. and Mrs. C. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. George Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Mack McCarthy. A trip to the Gulf, with a picnic dinner and the evening spent at Hamlin's, planning their return trip to good, old Charlevoix, made a very happy day for all." Delightful enough, to be sure, but the contrast is terrible. B-R-R-R! Woof! Ka-cho-o-o!

Hospital Auxiliary
On account of the bad weather and much sickness, the attendance at the W. C. T. U. meeting held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Scroggie, last Friday afternoon, was very small, but the ladies made 381 surgical dressings and three dozen abdominal pads.

On Thursday, March 15, the Mission Center Grange will have a linen shower for the benefit of the hospital, at the home of Mrs. Emmet Coulter. They hold an all-day meeting on that day and will sew for the hospital.

Clean-up Lake Shore
As soon as the spring break-up occurs the shores of Round Lake must be cleaned up. Do not dump ashes or tin cans in the lake. If you do, prosecution will certainly follow. Clean up the lake front but do not dump the garbage in the lake. Sam Hamilton, Harbor Master.

RURAL EIGHTH GRADERS ATTENTION

Teacher's Special Classes Begin March 31st

Beginning Saturday, March 31st, classes for rural 8th graders will be offered at the high school from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. These will be taught by high school teachers and it is hoped every 8th grader from the rural districts will take advantage of these classes, which will be in the nature of a review and embrace such subjects as Current Events, Civil Government, Arithmetic and the other studies upon which they will have to write on the state examinations.

Students are welcome—Bayshore, Ironston, Norwood—any district within a radius of ten miles, whose pupils are interested in "brushing up" for the examination and who would like to become acquainted with the high school teachers before next fall, when it is hoped they will enter high school.

Their teachers are also invited to come along with them.

Instruction will also be given in the manner in which pupils must apply to the district director for the payment of the tuition by the districts. Last spring it was found that many did not have this clearly in mind and waited too long to make application.

The Home Economics Department of the high school will serve lunch at noon to all who come. Everyone Come.

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

March 15th, The Date—Palace Theatre The Place

That long expected and pleasantly anticipated event, the junior play, "The Merchant of Charlevoix," which has been delayed for several weeks, owing to the flu epidemic, will be presented at the Palace Theatre on Thursday evening, March 15.

The several members of the cast who have been victims of the prevailing illness, as well as the very able director of the performance, Miss Doris Vincent, have recovered sufficiently to make possible the holding of this play on the date above mentioned. From all accounts and the rumours that have been floating around, this home-talent comedy is going to be a "lalla-palooza" and everyone who is able to walk or crawl, with or without crutches, ought to be on hand to give our budding junior dramatists a rousing send off, as they have worked hard and deserve it. Besides, nobody will want to miss the fun.

AT THE MOVIES

Cecil B. DeMille, accompanied by his production staff and several members of the cast, went to Santa Barbara for an exciting day's work on location in connection with the filming of "Manslaughter," which will be presented at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

The incident filmed—one of the most important in the story—was the accident in which a motorcycle officer meets his death because of the careless and reckless driving of the chief feminine character in the story. On these scenes is built most of the subsequent story.

A dislocated shoulder, many bruises and several miles of valuable negative were the net results. The producer refused to use the customary dummy in this series of scenes. Hence the bruises and injured shoulder.

Leatrice Joy and Jack Mower were the principals engaged in the action. Thomas Meighan, Lois Wilson, Edythe Chapman, Julia Faye, Dorothy Cumming, Casson Ferguson and the other members of the notable cast enjoyed a one day vacation in the absence of the producer.

WILL CELEBRATE ITS BIRTH-DAY

Cong. Miss. Society Will Hold Annual Meeting Friday

The annual birthday celebration of the Congregational Women's Missionary Society will be held Friday afternoon, March 16th, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Charles Novak, on Antrim Street.

A very interesting meeting has been arranged. The topic, "Our Opportunity in Our Young People," is in charge of Mrs. George Tomer-sen. Mrs. W. H. Miller will conduct the devotions.

The committee in charge of the entertainment includes Mrs. James Parsons, Mrs. D. J. Eckinger and Mrs. A. E. Mason. All our young ladies are urged to be present.

Farm House Burns

The farm residence of Fred Hol-

We were compelled to look outside of Charlevoix for bread that we considered wholesome and clean. We have sold thousands of loaves of Bon Ton bread and none has ever been returned because it was moldy or dirty.

It is my honest belief that bread would be selling at 12 cents a loaf in Charlevoix today had we been willing to take a 3 cent profit per loaf. We realize that by not taking this enormous profit we have robbed Charlevoix bakers of 1 cent a loaf on all bread sold to the retailer, and that we have also shortened the profit of our brother retailer up the street, 1 cent per loaf, but we can't be bothered.

We are leaving it to Charlevoix bread buyers if our market is disloyal to the Charlevoix public.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS 1923

1. A part of the questions for all grades of certificates in the teachers' examination for April and August, 1923, will be based on the State Teachers' Reading Circle books for 1922-23, and a part on certain bulletins issued by the Department of Public Instruction.

2. The State Teachers' Reading Circle Books for the year are Curry-Clippinger's Children's Literature, published by Rand-McNally Co., Driggs' Our Living Language, published by the University Publishing Co., Andress' Health Education in Rural Schools, published by Doubleday-Page & Co., and Smith's Teaching Geography by Problems, published by Doubleday-Page & Co. Any or all of these books may be secured from the state distributor, W. T. Bishop, Lansing, Michigan. Write him also for prices. Examination questions in certain subjects will be based on these books. Applicants writing grammar will be given an opportunity to choose between Children's Literature and Our Living Language. No applicant will answer questions based on both books.

3. The bulletins of the Department of Public Instruction which will be considered in the preparation of questions are Bulletin No. 46, Reading in the Grades; Bulletin No. 33, Training For Citizenship; Bulletin No. 45, Arithmetic in the Grades; and Bulletin No. 67, Physical Education in the Grades; and Bulletin No. 67, Physical Education.

Questions in reading for the April and August examination will be based on Bulletin No. 46.

Five questions in arithmetic for both examinations will be based on Bulletin No. 45.

Five questions in civics for both examinations will be based on Bulletin No. 33.

For both examinations in physiology three questions will be based on Bulletin No. 67 and three on the Reading Circle book, Health Education in Rural Schools.

For both examinations in grammar three questions will be based on the Reading Circle books, Our Living Language and Children's Literature. No applicants will write questions based on both books.

For both examinations in geography three questions will be based on the Reading Circle book, Teaching Geography By Problems.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS—1923

April 26, 27, 28—Aug. 9, 10, 11

The examinations are held at the county seat in each county. Three grades of certificates may be granted by the County Board of School Examiners: A first grade certificate; a second grade certificate; a third grade certificate.

"Provided, That no certificate shall be granted under the provisions of this act to any person who shall not have completed a term of at least six weeks work in professional training in a state normal school or in one of the county normal training classes of the state, or any normal training school conducted by any municipality in the state, or in any school approved by the state superintendent of public instruction, but the completion of one-half year of work in a school maintaining four years of work above high school rank shall be accepted in lieu of this requirement. This proviso, however, shall not apply to persons who have taught in the schools of the state for at least five months prior to July one, nineteen hundred sixteen."

Extract from the law passed 1915. No teacher's certificate can be granted by the county board of school examiners to any person who has not taught in the schools of the state for at least five months prior to July 1, 1916, unless he has had at least six weeks of professional training. To meet the requirement a person must present to the commissioner of schools certified credit in at least five subjects, each covering six weeks' work. This training must consist of—

1. Six weeks of work in each of the following:

Observation and Practice Teaching.
The Course of Study and Class Management.
The Teaching of Reading.
Physical Education.

2. Six weeks of work in any one of the following:

Agriculture, Arithmetic, History, Language, Geography, Grammar, Physiology, Writing, Music and Drawing.

TWO QUARTS IS GOOD YIELD FOR MILK DOE

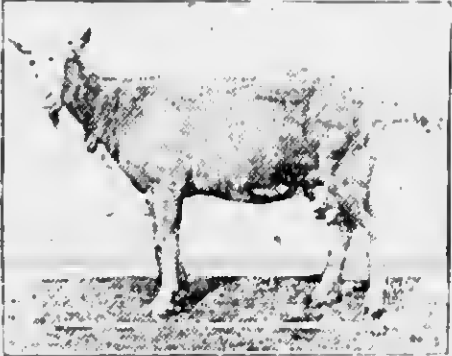

Many Goats Produce Ten Times Their Weight Annually.

Milk Can Be Utilized for Same Purposes as That From Cow, but Less Satisfactory for Making Butter—Best for Infants.

Reported by the United States Department of Agriculture.

About the first question that most people ask concerning milk goats is, "How much milk will they produce?" This is, of course, a very important consideration, as the value of a doe is estimated largely by her milk production. Even if a doe is purchased as a subject unless she is capable of giving a good quantity of milk. Many persons in purchasing purchased or even grade goats have been disappointed to find that the milk could be measured in pints and not quarts or gallons as expected.

A doe that produces three pints a day is considered only a fair milker.

Swiss Faggburg Homestead Milk Goat.

while the production of two quarts is good, and the production of three quarts is considered excellent, provided the lactation is maintained for from seven to ten months, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. There is probably no better way to treat this matter than to state that good does should produce from eight to fifteen times their weight in milk in a lactation period. It is stated by German writers that many goats yield ten times their body weight of milk annually, and exceptional animals as much as eighteen times their weight.

Goats' milk can be utilized for the same purposes as cows' milk, although for some it is not nearly so well suited. For general use, such as for drinking, cooking, and in tea or coffee, the milk has proved very satisfactory. The milk of one of the largest herds in the country is evaporated and sold in that form. Goats' milk is less satisfactory than cows' milk for making butter, but large quantities of goats' milk cheese are manufactured, especially in Europe. Practically all publications dealing with milk goats attribute considerable importance to the use of the milk for infants and invalids.

TO PREVENT POTATO LOSSES

Serious Damage Results From Careless Handling at Harvest Time—Avoid Breaking Skin.

Growers and shippers are responsible for much of the loss that results from shipping diseased potatoes, since a large part of such losses can be controlled, if not entirely prevented, in the field, according to specialists of the bureau of markets of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Serious damage results from careless handling when the potatoes are harvested. Too many persons, it is said, handle potatoes as though they were so many edelweisses, rather than a perishable product. Even the breaking of the protective skin frequently proves serious. Such injury not only damages the appearance and necessitates deep paring of the tuber, but affords ready entrance to infection. Loss of this sort lies in every grower's and shipper's power to control. It is pointed out.

The sooner eggs are set after being laid the better. There is no such thing as setting them too soon for best results.

Keep grit and oyster shell before the fowls, also plenty of clean water, and make sure that the fowls are not bothered with mites or lice.

KLOOSTER STORE ROBBED AGAIN

RECEIVES ANNUAL VISIT FROM YEGGMAN

Make Entrance Into Store Through Cellar Window—Money Loss
Nearly Three Hundred

The general store of Klooster & VanDerArk, formerly Klooster & Son, received its annual visit from burglars on Thursday night of last week, and on this occasion it was not sneak thieves, but real safe crackers who did the job and reaped a reward of upwards of two hundred and fifty dollars in cash, with perhaps other articles of value whose loss is so far undiscovered.

Entrance to the store was made by way of a basement window and the safe was opened by the gentle aid of a pick, a spike, and a heavy steel lining bar, the tools having been stolen from the Pere Marquette section house, which had also been broken open during the night.

Strong arm tactics were used to open the safe, said tactics consisting of using the spike maul to hammer at the center of the door until the edge of the door was sprung sufficiently to allow the use of the bar as a lever with which to pry the door open, a layer at a time.

In addition to the cash taken from the safe, the register was rifled of what change it contained.

Stamps and bonds in the safe had been locked over, but left on the floor with the rest of the contents. Sheriff Kittle was called on Friday morning and looked things over, but nothing has developed to date.

MANY TUBERCULOSIS CAUSES

Department of Agriculture Receives Various Replies on Methods of Spreading Disease.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

What is the most common method of spreading bovine tuberculosis in your community? This question asked by the United States Department of Agriculture in the interest of establishing accredited tuberculosis-free herds brought many answers ascribing the spread of this disease to about a dozen causes.

In North Dakota, where range conditions are typical of those in many other states of the northwest, unrestricted ranging of cattle was given as a common cause. Drinking at the same pool was another. The introduction of the disease was laid to cattle, not properly tested, being shipped into the state.

In parts where the pastures are fenced, the complaint was that the disease is spread by cattle nosing each other at troughs. One breeder advocated a double line of fence to prevent this method of contact. In this state, where pastured cattle are generally tested before being sold but grade cattle are not, much of the spread of the disease is laid to infected grade stock. Close housing in poorly ventilated buildings was given as a cause of disease by a few breeders. Some, from observation and experience, laid the spread of the disease to feeding calves and pigs, milk from tuberculous animals. From one source came the claim that it was spread from dead animals by dogs and hogs rummaging at large and feeding upon the carcasses.

Such Cows as This Will Swell the Dairyman's Bank Account.

From Oklahoma came fewer reasons, but of the same type: Common pasture, importation of untested animals from other states and the sale locally of untested animals, foul stables, and contact with infected cattle in adjoining fields by heavily stocked grazing through fences or stock nosing at fence lines.

Among the chief causes given in New England were the low price at which suspected animals are sold, the lack of testing hogs and grade cattle to be sure they, as well as purebred animals, are free from disease when sold, the breeding to a common bull, serving cows outside the herd, the common drinking trough, milk from diseased animals fed to calves and hogs, unsanitary barns, drafty barns, underfeeding, the common pasture or pasturing boarder animals, and nosing at and breaking through fence lines by cattle, some of which may be diseased.

The 12 causes of the spread of the disease reported generally were:

1. Unrestricted range or common pasture.
2. Common drinking pool or trough.
3. Introduction of untested cattle.
4. Nosing at fence lines.
5. Close foul housing.
6. Milk of infected animals fed to calves and hogs.
7. Trading of untested animals.
8. Dead animals eaten by dogs and hogs.
9. Breachy stock.
10. Breeding to a common bull.
11. Serving cows outside the herd.
12. Conditions unfavorable to health, as drafty barns and underfeeding.

PREPARE WAR ON INSECT ENEMIES

If Left Undisturbed Bugs of Various Kinds Will Destroy Best Part of Garden.

PESTS HAVE BIG APPETITES

Tobacco Extract Is Recommended for Plant Lice and Other Sucking Parasites—Main Point Is to Start Fight Early.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

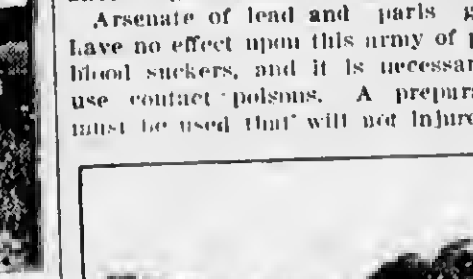

Gardeners are warned by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture to prepare to combat the "little enemies of the garden." Insects of various kinds are making their appearance in vast numbers in gardens in all parts of the country, and if left undisturbed will defeat the gardener's best efforts and lay waste the vegetable crops. This is the open season for insects and there are no laws which limit the number which may be killed. The department specialists urge the use of the spray pump and dusting bag for the frequent application of poisons in order to destroy the pests before they destroy the garden. Early efforts in fighting insects are most effective.

Little Bugs With Big Appetites.

In most localities the Colorado or "hard-shell" potato beetles are industriously depositing clusters of small yellowish eggs on the underside of the potato leaves. In a few days these hatch into little red, soft-shelled slugs or "soft-shells," as they are often called, that have most wonderful appetites, and unless poisons are applied they will soon strip the potato plants of their leaves.

Perhaps there is no class of garden insects the method of attack of which is so insidious as that of the plant lice or aphids.

At first a very few lice may be found hidden on the under side of the leaves of melons, peas, cabbage, and other vegetables. A little later the leaves begin to curl up and to lose their color, and an examination will show that the "lice" which the ants carried out have become grandmother, and the under side of the leaves will be literally alive with them, feasting on the juices of the plants. At this stage something must be done quickly, for within a few days there will be another generation or brood at work. Arsenate of lead and paris green have no effect upon this army of plant blood suckers, and it is necessary to use contact poisons. A preparation must be used that will not injure the plants but which will kill the "lice." The most common of these contact poisons is nicotine sulphate—a tobacco extract—made of tobacco refuse from factories. This is a poison and, to be effective in killing the "lice" without injuring the plants, must be used exactly according to the directions given on the container. United States Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin 856, on the control of garden diseases and insects, has the following to say regarding the use of nicotine sulphate:

"For small garden plants one teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate should be used to one gallon of water, to which a one-inch cube of hard soap should be added and thoroughly mixed. If a larger quantity is desired, use one fluid ounce to eight gallons of water, with the addition of one-half pound of soap. Full directions are given on the covers of packages, and instructions accompany them.

Effective Application of Spray.
"In the use of nicotine sulphate the effective application of the spray is of the utmost importance, since it is primarily upon this that the success or failure of the treatment depends. If the liquid has stood for any length of time it should be agitated thoroughly before use. The insects themselves must receive a thorough coat of the spray or they will not be killed, and immediate inspection after spraying should show the foliage occupied by the insects to be completely wet.

"Spraying should be done as early as possible, always on the first appearance of the insect, not only because it is good practice to keep the plants free from pests but because more thorough work can be done on small plants." The main point is to start the fight in time and kill the advance scouts and head off the main army of insect pests.

PRISON MAY NOT BE FOR US

new institution could be made as the additional cell blocks and other buildings were made ready from time to time.

By this plan the buildings and property of the prison now located in Jackson could be sold to advantage as vacated and the proceeds applied on the cost of the new prison as it was being built a unit or two at a time, according to Hubert's plan. He maintains that this method of developing an entire new central prison plant would cost only a minor part of the expense which the state would incur if such a new institution were to be located in some northern, isolated part of the state.

"Besides that, with the prison retained near Jackson, which is centrally located in the more populous part of Michigan, friends and relatives of prisoners would be afforded better opportunity to visit them," further maintains the warden. "This is also an important consideration. If the prison were located far away in the upper country in most cases such visits would be made impossible."

Consider Plan

Serious consideration is being given to this proposed plan by both the house committee and the state prisons commission. It seems entirely possible that the committee may later report out a bill to give the prison a building appropriation of $1,500,000 as asked.

Governor Groesbeck has time and again expressed his disapproval of any plan to locate a new state prison near Jackson or any place other than some northern site away from any population center. He would locate a prison on state-owned land providing water power facilities for the prison industries. What his attitude will be on this new definite plan is another question.

The state owns about 4,500 acres of land under control of Jackson prison. The prison also operates a tile and brick plant near the village of Onondaga, in Ingham county, where the state owns a large tract of clay land. This is about 20 miles north of Jackson.

After the Bootleggers

UNCEASING MISERY

Some Charlevoix Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit.

Proof in Charlevoix testimony: Mrs. Dan Bacot, 105 Lincoln St., Charlevoix, says: "My back was stiff and sore just over my kidneys. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly, so I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a few boxes. They rid me of the trouble in a very satisfactory manner."

AGED INDIAN PIONEER HAS PASSED

Mrs. Susan Greensky, Dead at Age of Eighty-nine

Mrs. Susan Greensky, northern Michigan's oldest Indian woman, passed away at the home of Isaac Wasagum, in Hayes township, north of this city, last Tuesday evening, after a short siege with pneumonia.

Mrs. Greensky was in her eighty-ninth year and had no living relatives. She was born in Omena, Mich., and received her education there at the Methodist Mission school. Coming to Charlevoix in the early seventies, she located on the Petoskey road, near Greensky Hill and Susan Lake, which bears her name. She had for years been an Indian herb doctor and basket maker and was unusually active, mentally and physically, up until the day of her death. She lived by herself, taking good care of her little property and making frequent visits to Charlevoix on foot, although living several miles from town—trips that would have taxed the powers of most young women of this rather over-civilized generation. Only recently, she walked nine miles to Bay Shore to visit friends.

The funeral was held last week in Hayes township, the body being laid to rest in the Greensky cemetery. So passes the last of the romantic generation of a nomadic people who lived close to our modern life and civilization and though, unfitted to withstand its encroachments, still managed to enrich it to some extent through legend, precept and example.

NEARLY SHUT-OUT OUR FRESHMAN TEAM

Petoskey Puts It Over Our Reserve Players By 18 to 1

Showing unusual strength on both offense and defense the Petoskey high school reserves defeated the Charlevoix high school all-freshman basketball team at Petoskey Friday night 18 to 1, the victors coming near to a shutout as is possible. While the teams were evenly matched in size, the Petoskey players were far superior in team work and ability at the basket. The defense of the Petoskey team was also far ahead of that shown by Charlevoix players.

The Petoskey team was made up of Neiger, center; Fowler, Holben, Behan and Slack, forwards; and Fay, Shoemaker and Gray, guards.

Charlevoix used Brown and McMullen at center, Burns and McMullen and Usher at guard, and Dutcher, Davenport and Harrington at forward. Charlevoix's only point was scored in the first quarter on Charlevoix's first chance at a free basket.

George Schulgen, of Traverse City, was the referee.

The preliminary battle was played by two teams of girl players, the score being 13 to 11. The Legion band gave a pleasing concert during the evening.

The Charlevoix game was to have been the preliminary for the Petoskey-Boyer City battle, but train delays held the Boyer City players at Boyer Falls, and the battle was the main event of the evening.

IT WAS THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

B. P. Wilkinson and Wife Celebrate 50th Anniversary

A telegram was received yesterday by Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson of this city, advising that his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Wilkinson, who are visiting their son, Dr. Allen H. Wilkinson and family, at Douglas, Arizona, had at high noon on that day celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson went through their marriage lines again, the ring ceremony being performed, amid a mass of congratulations and other decorations, and in the presence of their closer friends. The honored couple were the recipients of many fine gifts. The medical fraternity of Douglas expressed their esteem and good-will in beautiful flowers. A five course dinner was served at one o'clock. The telegram stated that all members of the family now at Douglas were well and happy.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Frank Kortanek, son of Joseph Kortanek, of East Jordan, who was brought to the hospital last week suffering with peritonitis caused by too great a delay in seeking medical attention after the bursting of the appendix, died last Wednesday, despite all possible efforts to save his life. The body was taken to East Jordan, where the funeral was held.

Louis Shapton left the hospital yesterday after a week's medical treatment for sinus trouble. His condition is much improved.

Charles Martin, of Chicago, was here today, called by the illness of his brother, Capt. Danny Martin, of the Beavers, who is at the hospital in a very serious condition.

Miss Carrie Orvis, who was reported last week as ill with pneumonia and not expected to live out the day, rallied and is now improving slowly.

Mrs. James Gaskin, Sr., who has been at the hospital for four weeks, recovering from neuritis and an operation for removal of tonsils, returned to her home last Wednesday much improved.

Lyman Ruder, of Ironton, who has been at the hospital for the past two weeks, suffering with pleuresy, was discharged and went home last Sunday.

Miss Clara Miles, of Bellaire, who was operated on for appendicitis a while ago, was discharged and returned to her home Saturday.

Mrs. Eva Trappin, nurse of the Reycraft Hospital staff at Petoskey, and detailed to Charlevoix hospital temporarily on the Danny Martin case, goes back to Petoskey today.

Mr. Jensen, janitor at the hospital, is sick this week with the grippe.

STORM KING—TOOK A FRESH GRIP SUNDAY

No Trains, No Mail Until Tuesday—Heavy Snow-fall with Mercury Dropping to the Depths

The storm that tied up the nation's business last week seems to have been reluctant to release its grip, as Sunday it took a fresh hold and like the well-known "Johnny Walker" is still "going strong."

Sunday's storm was reported as having been general in all parts of the continent, some sections of the Canadian northwest reporting the mercury at 30 below, or lower, Saturday night, while northern Michigan points report the cold having sent the mercury to 20 below Sunday night. Even the west coast and south were hit, and frost was predicted for Sunday and Monday in southern states.

Monday the storm was reported as centered over the east and New England states were reported by radio as being hit as hard as the lake states by the storm.

While the storm was not the worst March winter storm ever experienced in northern Michigan, it was one of the most severe general storms to hit America, weather stations reported Monday.

All Trains Delayed

Trains were delayed, snow drifted so deep in places that rail lines were blocked and serious difficulty was experienced by transportation and communication lines throughout the northwest Sunday.

The Pennsylvania Lines north-bound train of Sunday reached Petoskey at 3 a. m. Monday morning—12 hours late. The train was late out of Grand Rapids, and the snow plow, which was operated ahead of it had difficulty all the way north. Four engines were coupled to the plow and train through the Elmira storm region. After passing that point not so many engines were needed.

The south-bound Pennsylvania Lines passenger, which left Petoskey shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, was held at Elmira all Sunday night, waiting for the plows to clear the cuts south of that point again.

Since last Thursday, the Harbor Springs line has been blocked, Sunday, a plow and flanger were sent in to clear away the snow and Monday a train was sent in. The M. & N. E. R. R. from Traverse City to Frankfort has been snow-bound for the last six days, the drifts from Sunday night's storm being so high and hard that so far it has been impossible to clear the tracks, according to J. F. Jenks, agent at Traverse City.

The Pere Marquette had difficulty Sunday and Monday near this city. A great drift formed on the tracks about a mile north of here and an extra north-bound freight became stalled hard and fast at that point Saturday. A large crew of shovelers were sent to Kaleva to dig out a freight train stuck in the snow there since Sunday and on the completion of the work there they were brought to Charlevoix. Monday morning, snow-plows had been started out from several points on the P. M. line and at eight-thirty o'clock that night both trains were again clear of the snow.

One northbound train came in Saturday. This went down again on schedule time Tuesday morning and was the first train south since Friday. Monday night, a train crept in from Traverse City behind the snow-plow arriving here at about eight o'clock. This train backed in from Bellaire and did not go on to Petoskey on account of the freight being stuck north of here. She carried a deluge of mail that made the post-office people here weep tears—bat not of joy.

Make your own guess on the weather. Your guess is as good as that of the next fellow. Here is the topic for today's conversation: "Is this last storm and wintry blast, the final spasm of the present winter, or are we due for another?" Sunday was one of the most "wintry" days of winter. Sunday night the thermometer dropped to below zero. However, the north wind died down, the snow ceased falling and Monday morning broke "clear and cold."

IMPERILED BY BREAKING ICE

CAUGHT UNAWARES, SEVEN BARELY ESCAPE

Five Indians and Two Whites Struggle To Shore at Good Hart After Many Hours on Floe

Last Friday, a fierce wind came up from the south and in a few hours the ice between here and the Beavers was on the move. A party of fishermen and two other individuals were caught unaware by the sudden break-up and managed only "by the skin of their teeth" to get back to shore and safety.

Dale Lamkin, who keeps the Good Hart store and buys fish and other stuff from the Indians says that during Friday's blow a party of five Indian fishermen; Joseph Chingwa, Samuel Evans, Louis Francis, William Gable and William Kopequat—all residents of Good Hart; were fishing through the ice about two miles from shore at that point, when they suddenly discovered that the frozen floor on which they were atanding was in motion and making headway away from land. The men started at once for the shore but soon came to a wide crack. Then started a run of several miles to find a place where the gap could safely be leaped. When nearly to the crossing-place, another wide crack in the ice yawned before them and they were forced to sprint in a new direction for escape. Again a watery chasm barred their passage to the ice anchored to the shore and again a frantic search began for a spot to cross. Finally, after a two hour struggle to make the distance of two miles to the shore, they reached solid ground and staggered up the bank in an exhausted condition.

Two other men, Jesse Hill and Arthur DeWitt, of Harbor Springs, had driven up the lake from that town. They ran into a great stretch of rough ice, some distance east of the fishing grounds and, leaving their automobile, walked on about five miles from Good Hart in the Seven Mile Point region. They felt the ice underneath them giving way under the impact of the storm and turned about to hurry back to the point where they had left the car. The snow, however, made their progress difficult and they were finally forced to make a try for the shore at Good Hart, five miles away. They had turned back to shore at eleven o'clock but it was six-thirty that night before they reached land, seven hours and a half of running, scrambling, jumping cracks and rounding great stretches of open water.

AGED VETERAN DIED TUESDAY

CAPTAIN HARRISON BERDAN HAD PARALYTIC STROKE

Won His Rank in The Civil War, Counting Wounds and Capture Among His Experiences

Captain Harrison Berdan died at twelve o'clock midnight, Tuesday, March 20th, in New York City, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Clayton, where he had been spending the winter. His wife in this city received a telegram early this morning to the effect that the captain had suffered what appeared to be a light paralytic stroke and a few hours later another message reached her announcing his death. He was ninety-three years of age.

Harrison Berdan was born in Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan. In 1829, his early manhood being spent in the town of his birth following the calling of a carpenter. In 1862, at the age of 33, Mr. Berdan enlisted in the Fifth Michigan Cavalry, as sergeant and, serving with his regiment in many of the principal engagements of the great civil struggle, received rapid promotion, passing to the grade of first sergeant; then commissioned as second lieutenant, in which capacity he took part in the Battle of the Wilderness, receiving a wound and distinguishing himself to the extent that he was afterwards promoted to a first lieutenant and, in February, 1865, was made Captain of Company I, Fifth Michigan Cavalry, which was his rank until mustered out in June of that year at Fort Leavenworth. At one time he was captured by the enemy and was on his way to a Southern prison but succeeded in company with two of his comrades, in escaping from his captors after a brisk fight.

Captain Berdan located in Canton, Mich., near his old home, after the war and for some eleven years ran a hotel there. He came to Charlevoix some forty years ago, where he has since taken a prominent part in our social and political life, having held the offices of chief of police, marshal and sheriff of the county. He was postmaster here for eight years prior to 1894, and served several terms as supervisor of the third ward of Charlevoix. His first wife died many years ago, leaving a son and daughter, who survive their parents. He was married again on November 8, 1893, to Mrs. Mary Budd, of this city.

Besides his wife, his son, E. A. Berdan, eastern representative of the Cincinnati Times-Star, whose home is in New York City, his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Clayton, also of New York, there are two living grandsons, one twenty-three and the other twenty-five years of age and a sister, now eighty-five years old, Mrs. William Hannan, of Wayne, Mich.

The remains will arrive in this city Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, accompanied by the son and his wife and the daughter and her husband. The funeral will be held from the house Monday morning at ten-thirty o'clock, Rev. C. W. Long, of the Congregational church, officiating.

Aside from the attack which caused his death, Captain Berdan appeared to be in the best of health considering his advanced age and retained unusual vigor and activity up to the past few years. Being of powerful physique and more than average height, he was a forceful personality in our community, and in his passing Charlevoix has suffered a distinct loss.

HONORED THE GOOD ST. PATRICK

Celebrants Met At Shores Residence Saturday Eve

About twenty-five North side friends and neighbors of Mrs. N. A. Shores met at her home on Dixon Avenue last Saturday evening to celebrate "the 17th of Ireland."

The decorations of the rooms were, of course, in keeping with the spirit of the day. A bounteous pot-luck supper was served at six-thirty and the evening was pleasantly spent in card-playing, dancing and listening to musical selections. The guests departed at a late hour, blessing the good St. Patrick and Mrs. Shores for a most delightful entertainment.

STRAUSS AND RUBINSTEIN

M. M. C. NUMBERS FOR WEEK OF MARCH 24

"Blue Danube Waltz" and the "Melody in F" Are Their Best Known Works

Johann Strauss was the oldest of three gifted sons of a no less gifted father. He was born in Vienna in 1825. Although his father had a long and brilliant musical career, his wish was that none of his sons should follow this line of endeavor. Accordingly, Johann after finishing his education, became a clerk in the savings bank. His mother, however, helped him to take violin and composition lessons. When only six he composed his first waltz which was performed on his fiftieth birthday. His career was decided when he first appeared as a conductor, playing compositions of his own and of his fathers.

For ten years he was director of the summer concerts at St. Petersburg, and later conductor at the court balls.

In the meantime, he had composed 400 waltzes. His music is penetrated with Viennese gaiety and spirit and has made its way into all countries. His later triumphs were as the composer of numerous popular operettas, which were known and sung over the world.

The famous "Blue Danube Waltzes" were for years a kind of watch word in Vienna circles. They were played on all festive occasions. They seem to have retained a charm and popularity up to the present time. A band or orchestra playing "The Blue Danube" is always rewarded with applause. A noted composer, when asked what piece more than any other he should like to have written, replied, "A waltz as beautiful as the 'Blue Danube'."

Anton Rubinstein was born of Jewish parents, November 30, 1829, in Russia. His mother gave him his first musical instruction and then he had lessons from a piano teacher in Moscow. His rise as a pianist was rapid, and only after a year or two of study he was making extended concert tours into England, Holland and Sweden. Each year heaped him with new honors, the greatest perhaps, when in his native country, the Emperor decorated him with the Vladimir Order, which raised him to noble rank.

Rubinstein's playing is not only remarkable for the absolute perfection of technique in which he is the only rival Liszt ever had, but there is the fire and soul which only a true and genial composer can possess. Rubinstein has written in every department of music, but his songs and chamber music remain most popular. Most of his piano compositions are brilliant. Rubinstein's appearance was remarkable. His head was of a very Russian type, massive and noble with a thick shock of dark brown hair.

The "Melody in F" is arranged and built up on the various chords of the F Major Key. The melody seems to have lent itself to the idea of spring, for words of this sort have been set to the music and are almost as well-known as the melody.

EXCELLENT WORK IS BEING ACCOMPLISHED

Woman's Auxiliary Makes Report of Activities

The committee in charge of the funds for, dishes and silver for the hospital report as follows:

Total amt. collected.....	$29.71
Am't paid for dishes.....	11.50
Am't paid for glasses.....	1.80
Tea Kettle.....	1.60
Knives and Forks.....	13.27
Balance to treas.....	1.54

Total.....$29.71

The committee are very grateful to all who contributed to this fund. The regular open meeting of the Auxiliary will be held the second Tuesday in April, at 2:30 in the afternoon. It is hoped every lady in Charlevoix who is in any way interested in the hospital will attend this meeting, as plans for Hospital Day which will be held in August, will be made at this time. It needs the cooperation of all to make a success of this day.

BELVEDERE AVENUE TO BE PAVED

Plan Unanimously Accepted At Monday Night Meet

A live meeting was held at the council rooms Monday night, a number of Belvedere Avenue residents discussing with the city fathers the proposition of paving Belvedere Avenue with concrete from the east side of Bridge Street to the west side of Alice Street. The plan went through with a whoop, scarcely any objections being raised.

The contemplated pavement will be either thirty or twenty-eight feet wide and will include curb and gutter. It was held by some of those present that, as the Dixon Avenue pavement is only twenty-eight feet in width, and has given satisfactory service, that width will be sufficient for the Belvedere Avenue job. This question will be definitely decided later on.

It is planned to commence on this paving as soon as weather conditions will permit. The construction will be under the supervision of state inspectors and the roadway curbing and gutter will be laid out according to the plans submitted by Earnest A. Robinson, county surveyor, who is also city engineer under the present administration of Charlevoix.

BOYS LOOTED POST OFFICE

THREE CONFESS TO BREAKING IN BUT DENY STEALING

Culprits Rounded Up Tuesday Morning and Are Now in Sheriff's Hands—A Federal Matter

Monday night the post office here was broken into and stamps and cash, amounting to $14.52, were taken from the stamp till.

Dr. W. H. Lawrey, who has his office and living apartments over the post office, heard strange noises below and immediately called the police. He saw three figures making their escape by way of the front door.

Entrance to the office was gained by jimmying one of the carrier windows. It was at first thought to be the work of real cracksmen, who have been operating in this region, but the finding of a small cap, lost in their hurry to get away, let Sheriff Charles Novak and Postmaster George W. Wenner to believe it to be local boys who have been under suspicion for some time.

Tuesday morning, the three boys were rounded up. One confessed. But the boys deny taking the money. They are now in the custody of the sheriff.

Boysish exuberance of spirits may well be excused by the nature of these childish episodes borders, sometimes, so closely on the criminal that it would appear well to nip such tendencies in the bud at this time before they bloom into the full-blown flowers of crime. The people of Charlevoix can stand a little of this stuff but roughneckism grows tiresome after repeated doses. It seems to be one of those cases where justice need be only flavored with mercy—not drowned in it.

A tremendous responsibility rests upon the parents of the modern boy or girl. We are inclined to think that parents nowadays are a little too much interested in reforming the world wholesale by organized effort and not nearly enough in starting their reforms at home. Know where your children are at night and don't sit back complacent in the idea that the neighbor's kids might pull off a post office robbery or some other depredation but yours wouldn't, and it will be worth a million laws to make the world safe for democracy. If the individual home is the bulwark of civilization, let's make it so in fact, not in more high-sounding phrases. It's up to each one of us.

Marion Auxiliary Met

The Auxiliary of the Marion Center Grange did a splendid day's work for the hospital at the home of Mrs. Emmet Coulter, last Thursday afternoon, making 49 tray-clothes, a number of bandages and doing a large amount of mending. On account of the stormy day, the linen shower will be held at a later date.

Don't Be Afraid of what "people will think"—people don't think about you half as often as you think they do.

MASSENET AND SCHUBERT

LAST WEEK'S M. M. C. NUMBERS WERE OMITTED

This Week's Program Will Be Focused Elsewhere in Our Columns Don't Miss It

Massenet, French, 1842-1912. Massenet (Jules Emile Frederic) (Mah-sub-nay) was born at Montand, near St. Etienne, France. He was one of 20 children. His father was a manufacturer of steel implements and invented a huge hammer of great power. The family were rather poor but very thrifty. Massenet early displayed unusual musical talent and when but a child entered the Paris Conservatory. Soon, he found a chance to play the triangle and then the Kettle drums in a theatre for fifty cents an evening. Friday evenings he played in orchestral concerts at a popular cafe. He was growing up in atmosphere of the play house.

He won at the conservatory first prize for piano composition, second prize for a fugue and shortly after the Prix de Rome.

The same year he went to Rome, then 21, Massenet inspired respect by his diligent work. The beauties of the Italian country greatly influenced him and he became a specialist in tones. He believed in using his eyes as well as his ears in composing.

Massenet's music is tender, melodious and sentimental. It possesses refinement and purity of style. His popularity is great. He was one of the best known and most loved men in Paris. Even cab drivers, news boys and street children hummed and whistled airs from his music as he passed them.

Massenet's works include many piano solos, songs, choral pieces, symphonies and suites and several oratorios and cantatas. But he is most noted for his operas, the most familiar being, "Herold," "Manon," "Werther," "The Juggler of Notre Dame" and "Thais." Massenet usually gave the role in his operas to women characters and usually chose sentimental subjects. Having been reproached for this he wrote one opera with male characters only "Juggler of Notre Dame."

The "Elegie" is distinctly French in character. It is written in the minor and depicts most convincingly the "death of joy." This song ranks with the highest of the song classics.

Schubert (Franz Peter) (Shos-beart), one of the most original and prolific of vocal and instrumental composers and the one great composer native to Vienna, was born in the district called Lichtenthal. He was the son of a parish schoolmaster. At an early age he was taught piano, violin and singing. At 11 years Schubert was admitted into the imperial choir. At 16 he wrote his first symphony. He led a somewhat Bohemian life, never married and was very frequently out of money. His wonderful gifts, character and personality with his simplicity and shyness, won many friends. He was the least schooled of all great German-speaking musicians. For this lack of training his keen musical intuition and inexhaustible resources of melody amply compensated. Schubert was unsurpassed for the spontaneity and beauty of his melody and the artistic worth of his accompaniments. He made accompanying such an art that the singer and he for the moment would seem like one.

WHO HAS MORE TROUBLES THAN THE POOR EDITOR

Flowerery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom attendeth the editor off for a 12-month subscription. All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered into a silo. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And be forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darned thing cometh out: "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place." And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great vigor. And they pull eth out their ads and cancell eth their subscriptions and they swing the hammer unto the third and fourth generation.

GOOD YEAR
BENJAMIN BROWN

NORWOOD

Amerlon Stafford and wife are all ready to move to their farm home, as soon as the weather conditions permit.

We have just heard of the birth of a daughter at the home of James Heeres, of the Clark district. Congratulations.

Charles Wisner, who has been quite seriously ill with the flu, is now on the gain and expects to be able to be out again soon.

Owing to the bad weather, the play which was to be given by the L. A. S. March 17th, has been indefinitely postponed. Watch for announcement.

Our mail carrier, Orson Everts, is back on the job again, after his recent illness, and it's some job considering the weather. His brother, Floyd, who substituted for him, has gone to Marion Center.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Dice received a telegram, Thursday evening of last week, announcing the sad death of their niece, Miss Helen Smith, of Lakeville, Ind., the cause of her death being influenza and appendicitis. She was sixteen years old and was a student of the Lakeville high school at the time of her death.

EAST MARION

Mrs. Ed. Snider spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Bert Sheldon, of Charlevoix.

Mrs. N. A. Harper and daughter, Alta, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Ed. Snider.

Orland Cunningham and Percy Wooley, who have been in Flint all winter, returned home Tuesday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beattie and son, Forrest, spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Essie Dodd.

Miss Alta Harper, who teaches the Walker school on the East Jordan road, was home last week on account of illness.

Mary Beattie, Eleanor Webb and Minnette Dodd gave a dinner party Sunday, in honor of their birthdays, Mary being nine, Eleanor and Minnette each being three years old. Their birthday cake was decorated with fifteen blue and pink candles. There were sixteen guests present and the little ones all enjoyed a good time.

Have new soles put on your rubbers and boots. We vulcanize them on as good as new. Benj. Brown. —Adv. 10-1f.

EVELINE

Spring is coming, a Ford was seen passing by Sunday—Maybe.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kemp spent Friday and Saturday in Charlevoix.

Joseph Kemp has returned home, after spending most of the winter in East Jordan hauling logs.

BURGESS SCHOOL NOTES

Pearl Smith is ill with the measles. We began Monday morning with an unlucky number, only 13 present out of 32 pupils.

Warren Boker attempted to sweep the cobwebs off the moon, but the broom was too short so he only swept them off the ceiling.

The second and third grades are making wind-mills and kites from cedar. These are to illustrate a poem learned in language.

The seventh and eighth grades find their reading a very interesting subject. We did not know that so much could be concealed in a poem as there is in "Snowbound."

Word was received that Leslie Burns has recovered from his severe illness of scarlet fever and will soon be at his own home at 1514 Artillery Ave., Detroit.

Some very good oral reports were given by the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. These reports are given in the language classes every Friday.

Miss McCalmon gave every parent an invitation to attend school at any time. We can work better and accomplish more if we know that you stand back of us. We would be very glad to have every parent attend at least once this year.

Bring in that auto tire that needs repairing. Our vulcanizing department is open for business. Best of work guaranteed. Benj. Brown. —Adv. 10-1f.

CLUB BOYS IN GREAT CONTEST AT ATLANTA

Teams From Many States to Compete for Prizes.

Seven Winners Will Be Given Trip to English Royal Stock Show—Leaders and Members Are Showing Interest in Event.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Probably the greatest gathering of boys in the history of club work will take place at Atlanta, Ga., October 19 to 21, 1923, when club boys representing practically every section of the United States will take part in an international club judging contest. The seven winners in this contest will be given a trip to the English royal stock show, and hundreds of dollars will be distributed as additional prizes. This contest is under the supervision of club leaders representing the state agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Many club leaders and members are showing an interest in the contest and have expressed their willingness to send judging teams. The team from Texas, which defeated the entire field last year, is now completing preparations for the trip to Europe. That state will be represented again at the contest in Atlanta, but this year there will be more competition, for teams from Mississippi, Louisiana, Virginia, Oklahoma, Florida, Arkansas, Alabama, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina are preparing to enter. Several other states in the North and West have signified their willingness to send teams to the contest if suitable arrangements can be made.

RENOVATE OLD POTATO BINS

All Growers Are Warned to Thoroughly Disinfect All Storage Places Before Using.

Every grower who experienced trouble with dry rot in his potatoes is warned by A. G. Tolans of University farm, chief inspector of the potato seed department, to disinfect thoroughly all bins before using them again. Either a solution of formaldehyde in ten gallons of water, or a solution of bluestone (copper sulfate) consisting of one pound of the bluestone dissolved in ten gallons of water, should be used for this purpose.

DO YOU KNOW WHY THE GEAR-SHIFT IS DIFFERENT?

The design of Dodge Brothers gear-shift takes into consideration the natural inclinations of the driver.

To start, you throw the lever forward. To reverse, you pull the lever backward. And when the car is running in high gear—which is about ninety per cent of the time—the lever is in a forward position, out of the way, where it does not interfere with passengers, robes, or luggage.

Moreover, the transmission, developed and patented by Dodge Brothers, is so designed that the countershaft—used in intermediate speeds and in reverse—is disconnected when the car is in high. There are no gears in mesh. Power is transmitted directly from clutch to rear axle.

This exclusive feature prevents the loss of power through friction, reduces gear-box noises and eliminates a vast amount of wear.

That is why the gear-shift of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is different.

VALUE OF DOCKAGE IN WHEAT

Material Sometimes Contains Quantities of Nutritious Grain, Good for Farm Use.

Dockage found in wheat in some instances is of real value, while in others it not only may have no value but often may contain ingredients that are positively harmful if ground with the wheat, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The value of dockage, therefore, depends on the value of the material separated from the wheat. Dockage frequently contains quantities of nutritious grain and weed seeds, as flaxseed, wild oats, or other cereal grains. Much of this material can be used to good advantage as poultry or stock feed. Wild mustard and flaxseed can be removed from the dockage in practically a pure state by the use of special cleaning machinery, such as is sometimes found in terminal elevators and the larger flour-mills, but even then the cost of cleaning will be considerable, and when so separated will ordinarily command a fair price.

Under the dockage system of the federal standards, the amount of foreign material separated and considered as dockage is deducted from the weight of the wheat purchased and, in any event, does not affect the grade of the clean wheat. This results in a higher grade and the price paid is on the basis of this grade for the dockage-free wheat.

OUT OF THE GLOOM

Many a Gloomy Countenance in Charlevoix Now Lightens With Happiness

A bad back makes you gloomy. Can't be happy with continual backache. The aches and pains of a bad back are frequently due to weak kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended for weak kidneys.

So Charlevoix citizens testify. Mrs. Chas. Hyers, 207 Park Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I had trouble with my kidneys and felt tired out and languid all the time. My back ached continually. I bought a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Metcalf's Drug Store, and began using them. They soon relieved the trouble."

Mrs. Hyers gave the above statement October 5, 1916 and on May 4, 1920, she added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills brought about in my case has proven permanent." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hyers had. Foster-McBum Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Are You Getting Full Value From Your Skim-Milk?

The cream producer is particularly fortunate in selling his crops most profitably in the form of cream and then having left two valuable by-products—fertility and skimmed milk. Skim-milk is more highly prized, perhaps, than any form of protein supplement. Skim-milk value is very profitable to successful dairymen when available for raising hogs, calves and chickens. While the dry matter content in 100 pounds of skim-milk is usually less than 10 pounds, it is very concentrated and easily digested, and the elements composing it make an unusually efficient balancer of grains.

Numerous breeders of cattle, dairy cattle particularly, use skim-milk in raising calves. Those who express disfavor on appearances of calves fed skim-milk should not blame it on the removal of the fat from the milk, but rather on the feeder who lacks the proper knowledge of good ration balancing. In a trial at the Kaasas Experiment station several years ago, one lot of dairy type steer calves were fed skim-milk and another whole milk, while another ran with their dams at pasture. The calves receiving skim-milk were given equal parts of corn meal and kafir meal with alfalfa hay. After weaning, all calves were placed in the feed lot and given same feed until they were a year of age. The skim-milk calves, up to weaning time in their average daily gains, made only a trifle under a half a pound a day less than the other calves and the total feed cost for each 100 pounds gain was only 16.5 percent as compared with 51.5 percent of the whole-milk calves and 32.0 percent of the calves running with their dams. After weaning, the skim-milk calves in the feed lot made the highest gains daily and required less feed for 100 pounds gain than the other calves. In addition, the calves running with their dams lost almost four pounds apiece, the week following the weaning.

Following this will be an article on "Skim-Milk for Hogs."

The Art of Raising Better Fruit

Dear Reader: This letter will announce, invite and urge you to attend a meeting in the interest of better fruit. Not only better fruit but a more economical production of fruit.

The writer realizes that it is the general opinion around here that there is no money in fruit. Why not? Perhaps for the same reason that Michigan potatoes are selling in many instances for, from 60 to 90 cents per hundred less than potatoes from other sections.

Mr. H. A. Cardinell, fruit specialist, from the agricultural college, will be in the county the last three days in March.

Mr. Cardinell will discuss these subjects and also give actual demonstrations as to pruning, grafting, top working, etc. He will also discuss orchard fertilization, mulching, etc. The afternoon meetings will be actual demonstrations in the orchard, after which there will be lectures and discussions. The following is the schedule:

Thursday, March 29th; Boyne City; place of meeting, Millsapugh orchard, where Geo. Hansen now lives.

Friday, March 30th, Marion Center; place of meeting, home of W. K. Straw.

Saturday, March 31st, East Jordan; place of meeting, home of H. E. Hutton.

Growers in other localities with no better advantage than ours are making money by producing good stuff. The entire community is back of it, they have standardized their varieties and as a result they are attracting buyers who buy large quantities. We have the season and the climate here in Charlevoix county that puts the color and flavor on and in our fruit that cannot be excelled elsewhere.

Years ago, the nuisance wronged the farmers or prospective fruit growers outrageously. Many men thought they were buying wagners, spies or some other standard variety. After wasting some five or ten years they found that their supposedly wagners or spies were in many instances not to be identified at all, only seedlings. Consequently this has put the locality in a bad position.

We have heard considerable agitation lately about being "over potatoed." Here is our chance to divert our efforts. If we should make up our minds to grow fruit and could grow a crop in a year and then grow a different crop next year, we probably would find different conditions. But the draw back with fruit is that we must plan for many years in the future.

Let us look this matter squarely in the face, good fruit was bringing a good price last year on our lower Michigan markets. The writer knows of one instance here in Charlevoix county, where a man shipped in 10 barrels of apples from out state because he wanted to be sure to get all good apples.

Today western apples are being sold in a lot of the stores in Charlevoix county. Why? Well, compare the looks of a barrel of western apples and the looks of a barrel of home grown apples, there is the reason. Nine sales out of ten are made by the looks, not the taste.

Michigan apples have the taste and if properly graded can have the looks, a combination that can't be beat anywhere.

Well, let's remember these meetings and be sure and attend the one nearest you.

Pure Bred Pig Club Proves Popular

The pure bred pig club has proven very popular, and indeed it should, for it provides an ideal way for the young farmers and farmerettes to get a start in this kind of pure bred livestock.

The requests are coming in from nearly all parts of the county. Requests for pigs have been made by the teachers in some communities who have not as yet sent in the children's names.

Lets have these so none will be disappointed.

Following is the list of teachers who have taken this matter up with parents and children and report favorably:

Mrs. Esther C. Glazier, Vanderbilt, Mich.

Mrs. Leden Brintnall, East Jordan, Mich.

Miss Martha Wagbo, Bay Shore, Mich.

LaVerne McCohon, Bay Shore, Mich.

Miss Ruth Solomon, Charlevoix, Mich.

Beryl MacDonald, East Jordan, Mich.

Galo Chew, Charlevoix, Mich.

Avith E. Robinson, Charlevoix, Mich.

Following is also the list of names of the children who have agreed to take care of one of these pigs and who in a very short time will be the owner of some fine pure bred livestock:

STANDARDS FOR CONTAINERS

Hamper, Round-Shape Basket and Market or Splint Basket Lack in Uniformity.

Three important shipping containers in need of standardization at the present time are the hamper, the round-shape basket, and the market or splint basket, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Investigations in all parts of the United States where these packages are used have shown a serious lack of uniformity in capacity, shape and strength which could be corrected by the adoption of standards which have been prepared by the bureau of markets.

These standards have been written into S. bill, H. R. 1900 now before congress. Its adoption should go a long way toward eliminating the 15 styles and sizes of round-shape baskets, 25 styles and sizes of splint baskets as well as the 50 styles and sizes of hampers. The bill provides for five sizes of splint baskets, 4, 8, 12, 16 and 24 quart; five sizes of round-shape baskets 1/2-bushel, 3/4-bushel, 1-bushel, 1 1/2-bushel and 2-bushel, and six sizes of hampers, 8, 16, 20, 32 and two styles for 48 quarts.

The green cabbage worm can be killed with an arsenate of lead spray in which laundry soap has been mixed to make it adhere to the leaves. MANURE PRODUCED ON FARM Dairy Cows Lead All Other Animals Yielding 8.5 Tons Yearly—Goats Give Least.

Under farm conditions it is estimated that the following amounts of manure may be saved each year from mature animals: Horses, five tons; dairy cows, 8.5 tons; other cattle, four tons; sheep and goats, 0.4 ton, and hogs, 0.8 ton.

PRODUCTION OF CLEAN MILK

Chief Causes of Bacteria Are Found in Unsanitary Conditions and Bad Management.

Health authorities agree that the way to get pure milk is to produce it pure rather than to try to purify it afterwards. The chief causes of bacteria in milk are found to be in the unsanitary conditions under which it is produced. These causes are: Dirty stables; dirty cows; careless, slovenly habits; improper handling, and insufficient cleaning of utensils.

Contamination of Milk.

The milk of one diseased cow mixed with the milk from the balance of the herd will contaminate the whole lot, making it unfit for either human or calf food.

EDITORIAL TROUBLES

The troubles of an editor in a small town are many. Besides the difficulties inherent in making up his paper satisfactorily, he often has to live up to a reputation for limitless knowledge. For many persons he is an oracle, and the column headed "Notes and Queries," or something similar, is his mouthpiece. A western paper received a communication bearing pertinently on the matter. It ran as follows:

"Dear Editor: Will you kindly inform me by return mail what number of seeds are contained in a 73 to 75 pound pumpkin, as I wish to settle an argument."

A parallel to this request lies in the unhappy experience of an editor who one morning received two letters from subscribers. The first, an anxious father, wrote to find out the best way to bring up his twin babies in health and happiness, while the other, a farmer, wanted to know the quickest method of getting rid of grasshoppers.

The editor hesitated; then, out of the fullness of his knowledge, he wrote two letters in reply. But in the haste of business he put the letters into the wrong envelopes.

The next morning the father of the twins received this interesting answer:

"Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to it. After jumping in the flames a few moments the little pests will be speedily done for."

And the man who was troubled with grasshoppers was bidden to "Give castor oil regularly in moderate doses and rub their gums with a bone."

IT'S A MISTAKE

The state press is making much of an attack upon the state primary law made by the temporary chairman of the Republican convention at Flint recently. Party chairmen may rant all they please, it won't affect the state primary. The primary has come to stay.

We notice that some members of the legislature said that the legislature stands ready to repeal the law as soon as the members are assured that they have any real support for such action. The legislature that repeals the primary may as well make its political will at the same time.

It is true that the primary has been a disrupter of parties and that democrats have voted in republican primaries in Michigan with a view to nominating weak candidates so that such primary choice may be defeated by a democrat at the polls. The fact only goes to prove that the republicans haven't yet learned the lesson that primary candidates can be put over on the people as convention candidates can.

The fact is that the small group of republicans who want the primary killed are not half as concerned with the party's preservation as they are with continuing themselves in power. They would like to see the primary discontinued because they find the primary voters rather mullish when it comes to doing their bidding.

The republican party in Michigan will continue to meet with reversals in the primary until leaders come to the front with courage enough to call a pre-primary convention that will nominate clean capable men for the office. When that time comes the republican leaders will have no difficulty in getting the people to ratify their choice in the primary.

Let the republican leaders abolish the star chamber method of getting candidates to the front and there won't be much headway made by democrats in republican primaries. "Open covenants openly arrived at" will meet with ratification at the polls. Barrel candidates born in the star chamber and sponsored by a blood sucking brood of money grabbing boosters will have rough sailing always.

THE MICHIGAN GOOD ROADS PROBLEM

There is reason for the flood of bills calling for changes in the state highway code which is pouring in on the legislature. Outgo if far exceeding the amount of income that can be procured without working real hardship; indeed, the state government hasn't enough money to pay its obligations to the counties; and it is not quite clear where the whole of the wherewithal is coming from. So plainly something must be done about the roads program in Michigan, otherwise a good thing is going to be ridden to death and fall into undeserved disrepute, and very possibly the work of really necessary improvement be given a serious setback.

Seated in the midst of a clutter of highway bills, the roads and bridges committee of the house is declining to report out anything until something like a comprehensive view of the general roads problem facing the legislature can be secured; and the prudence shown by the committee is proper, if it is not allowed to degenerate into doing nothing.

Meanwhile Gov. Groesbeck makes a significant statement, which may perhaps act as a guide to the committee when he says flatly that the Covert road act ought to be either repealed or amended. Mr. Groesbeck always has been a friend of good roads, and he has been inclined to support the Covert act as far as possible. He has placed emphasis on its good features and on the benefits it has bestowed on Michigan.

Unquestionably the law has accomplished a great deal. But its inherent defects and capabilities for imposing hardships in certain cases have been apparent for a long time, and there is a widespread belief in the rural districts that its day of usefulness is definitely over and that something more equitable ought to take its place. Whether the change can be made by amending the act or whether a whole new act should be substituted for the Covert act is a matter of detail to be worked out. In such cases it generally is better to make a fresh start, and this is clearly the opinion of Representative Lennon, who has introduced a repeal bill.

Also, though it is easy to go too far in such a matter, the suggestion for a two year's cessation of highway extensions, seems with some possible modifications to be sensible. In any event, measures should be taken to ensure the proper upkeep of roads already built before any further large program is commenced.—Detroit Free Press.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

Last Monday night the sophomores basket ball team met and defeated the fast freshman five, therefore, winning the championship of the class teams, the score being 13 to 5. One of the reasons for the defeat of the freshman team was that they were over confident and the sophomores by taking the advantage of this, swamped their rivals.

The line-up for the teams were:
Freshman.
Dutcher
Harrington
Brown
McMullin
Burns

Sophomores.
Solomon
Ulrich

Coach Altenberg—Say Bacot, hesitate when you pivot with the ball.
Bacot—If I hesitate I will get there too quick.

Jones—Say Charlie. There aint no such word as aint, because aint, aint in the dictionary.

They say the reason the Soph's won was because the girls came down and yelled for them. No such luck for the varsity.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, March 25.—morning worship at 10:30 o'clock. Sermon by the convention pastor, Rev. Herman Burns, D. D.

Sunday school at twelve o'clock. General lesson theme: "Jesus, the World's Savior." There was a larger attendance last Sunday than there has been for several Sundays, let's keep it up.

B. Y. P. U. at six o'clock. Veda Hawkins, leader, topic—"Tales of Indian Christians."

Evening worship at seven o'clock. Sermon by Dr. Burns.

On Friday evening of this week, a public farewell reception will be given in the church parlors for Rev. and Mrs. Rice.

AT THE MOVIES

The motion picture star leads a crowded life and a life among crowds. Like the President, the star enjoys little privacy.

That's why Dorothy Dalton congratulated herself recently on having solved the problem of spending a vacation that includes pleasure of the liveliest sort and peace and quiet. After finishing "On the High Seas," the Paramount picture in which she is co-featured with Jack Holt, Miss Dalton came East. She donned plain attire and journeyed some twenty minutes out from New York City to the suburban town of Larchmont, on Long Island Sound. There, within reach of the roar and tang of the waves, she rented a pretty little cottage. She told none of her friends that she was going. To every one in the village she gave her name as something else besides Dorothy Dalton. She laughed away any remarks as to her resemblance to the well known star. Her incognito was complete. Nobody bothered her, and she enjoyed a much-needed rest.

The beauty of the arrangement was that whenever Miss Dalton craved the pleasures of the gay white lights of Broadway, all she had to do was board an express train, be in New York in twenty minutes, drop her incognito, and be immediately surrounded by friends and invitations.

Miss Dalton's latest picture, "On the High Seas," will be the attraction at the Palace theatre next Saturday and Sunday. Jack Holt is co-featured with her, and Mitchell Lewis heads the supporting cast. Irvin Willat was the director.

left for Detroit yesterday on a few week's visit.

Charlie McPharlan left last week for Grand Haven, where he has secured employment.

Clayton McPharlan left the first of the week for Muskegon, where he has secured a position.

Gus Sendenburgh left for Chicago last Friday to work for Captain John Roen, as engineer.

Somebody thought they sighted the "Manitou," last week, but it proved to be an iceberg.

Trains are running again on schedule time today and it really looks and feels like spring. Hooray!

Willis Cross left Tuesday for Grand Haven, where he will fish with John J. McCann this spring.

Mrs. Herbert Fox was taken ill with the gripe Saturday night and is now confined to her home.

Mrs. Judson Markham has returned to her work at Mason's store, after nearly a week's illness with the flu.

William Shields, who suffered a second stroke of paralysis last Saturday, was taken the hospital Monday.

Judge Frederick W. Wayne and wife left Tuesday morning for Detroit, where they expect to remain until May 1st.

Miss Helen Webster left Tuesday morning for Lansing, Mich., on her vacation, and will visit friends in that city for a week.

V. Y. Tuttle, of Boyne City, former teacher of mathematics at the local high school, was in town Saturday, visiting friends.

R. A. Hill, assistant superintendent of the A. & P. Stores, with headquarters at Potoskey, was in town Tuesday on business.

Judge S. A. Correll returned to his office this morning, having recovered from his three week's session with the gripe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raber and little daughter, Mildred, returned home Saturday, after spending the winter in Grand Rapids.

S. M. Rose will move his barber shop equipment back into former quarters in the Mussalem building on the first of the month.

The fishermen are manufacturing an unusually large number of nets this winter. Must be they expect an exceptionally good season.

Miss Mildred Cross left Tuesday morning for Grand Rapids and Lansing in which latter city she expects to attend some college festivities. John Walker, former resident of this city, was in town over Thursday night and Friday morning of last week. He is attending college at Albion.

The Benj. Brown Auto Sales received a carload of Star and Durant automobiles last week, which are now on display at the garage on Bridge Street.

Have you laid in your winter supply of walrus meat, pemmican and blubber yet? Better do this at once, as the early approach of cold weather is predicted.

Mrs. Margaret S. Patterson and daughter have returned from the state of Sonora, Mexico, for an indefinite stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Saunders.

Floyd Rice, of Mason Street, has taken the position of engineer and electrician at the light plant in place of Neal Kemp, who goes to work on a big construction proposition in the south.

Mrs. Flora Lewis and her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Greenman, accompanied by the latter's little son, Louis, left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, where they will spend the next month.

Charles Emrey, county clerk, left today by train for Boyne City to deliver the ballots for that part of the county. The remainder of the ballots will probably be distributed tomorrow.

Dwight L. Wilson, attorney of East Jordan, was at the court house today on business. Mr. Wilson intends moving shortly to Lansing, where he will continue the practice of his profession.

We understand that a tribe of Eskimos have wirelessed the board of commerce for hotel accommodations here, for the summer months. Must be the climate in Greenland is growing milder.

W. Dreyfus, of Milwaukee, representing A. C. McClurg & Co., is one of our transient visitors marooned here over the week-end by the failure of the Pere Marquette to function properly during the storm.

Charles Martin, of Chicago, who has been here the past week, visiting his brother, Captain Daany Martin, at the hospital, left for home Tuesday morning, the sick man's condition having improved considerably.

Harry Nicholls returned Saturday from Chicago, where he has been taking treatment in a sanitarium for the past two months. His condition is somewhat improved. A. F. Bridge, who went down Monday of last week, returned with him.

Charlevoix independent basket ball team went to Ellsworth Tuesday and played the Ellsworth independents. Score 24-3 in favor Ellsworth. "Red" McCann and Pete McCafferty had a special bet on this game. If they had won—well, that is another story. As it is, it is very sad.

A portion of the proceeds of a recent supper held at the Baptist church—some twenty dollars—was turned over to the fire department. The boys are very grateful to Rev. Herman Burns and his congregation and want to tell the world that the siren whistle is paid for now.

Guests at the Hotel Charlevoix Monday included J. S. Ames, of Traverse City; K. E. Brown, of Louisville, Ky.; H. E. Fenton, of Woburn, Ill.; Mrs. W. J. Auman, of Bloomington, Wis.; and Mrs. A. DuBoise, R. S. Rapson and Homer Rapson, all of Battle Creek.

Steve Smith, of Antrim Street, has moved into the front part of his house, a family of skunks having taken up their abode under the rear portion. This, after several ineffectual attempts to entice his unwelcome little guests into a barrel. Put salt on their tails, Steve.

Mrs. William Pease, who will be remembered here as Nettie Geer, died on March 17th at her home in Chicago, where the funeral will be held. Mrs. Pease was a sister of Reuben and Elisha Geer, of this city, Harry Geer, of Cadillac, and Mrs. Margetta Austin, of Muskegon.

Forrest Fowler is finishing up the decorating and outfitting of his new insurance office at 113 Bridge St., this week and expects to be open for business by the first of next week. They will look very fine, buff and white being the color scheme used for the walls and ceiling.

Miss Clarabel Bellinger is here from Muskegon this week on an indefinite visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bellinger. She is an artist of considerable promise and has brought with her several excellent specimens of her work in water-colors, which are now on display at the Bellinger jewelry shop.

Mrs. R. C. Hammett and daughters, Ruth and Elizabeth, returned Tuesday morning to this city from Daphne, Alabama, where they have been spending the winter. They arrived in Potoskey Saturday night but were forced to stay over on account of the snow-blockade. Mr. Hammett and Dick are driving up from Daphne by automobile.

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, MARCH 24th and 25th

Jack Holt and Dorothy Dalton in "On The High Seas." Here is a fascinating story of the sea. One of the greatest pictures of it's kind. Read the news account of it and then come and see the show. Both stars are active and sincere in their work, which insures a good show.

Also a ripping comedy, "Torchy's Big Lead."

TUESDAY, MARCH 27th

Dustin Farnum in "Yosemite Trail." This picture is full of life and spice, which makes the picture interesting to the public. The name "Yosemite" gives the character of the play. It is worth your time.

Also a very good comedy, "His 4 Fathers." Let your laughing muscles have a chance.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28th

Douglas McLean in "Passing Through." Do you remember "One A Minute?" This is the same hero and believe me he is there with the goods. You will enjoy seeing him.

Also No. 12 of the great serial, "Breaking Through," will be shown.

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, MARCH 31—April 1

Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore in "The Cowboy and the Lady." Also an Al St. Johns comedy, "The Alarm."

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint

Big things are happening under the dome at Lansing. Every day important bills come up for consideration, debate and final passage. The past week has witnessed important legislative progress.

The House has passed the 2c gas tax and finally killed capital punishment and the agricultural statistics law. The Senate has advanced the amendment to the corporation tax law and is making progress with the appropriation measures and other routine bills.

Gas Tax Meets Favor

The Warner 2c gasoline tax went through the House with flying colors. Amendments proposed by its friends were quickly adopted, but proposed changes advocated by its enemies were quickly snowed under. Most of the debate centered around an amendment proposed by Rep. Edward G. Read of Kalamazoo county to change the tax from 2c to 1c. However, this was finally voted down 77 to 21. Rep. Warner and his lieutenants pointed out that it would cost practically as much to collect a 1c tax as a 2c tax, and that a 1c tax would not yield sufficient revenue to pay interest and principal on highway bonds which the state has already issued, and for which no provision has been made for final payment. They declared that the 2c gas tax was one feature of a "pay as you go" policy and that it distributed the burden of highway expense justly among those who used the roads.

It was pointed out that funds for the gas tax would only be used on the 7,000 miles of state trunk line roads, while the 68,000 miles of other roads would still be supported by the general property tax as at present.

When the final roll call was taken only five representatives from outside of Wayne county voted against the gas tax. The vote was 80, yes against but 18 nays. The bill has now gone to the Senate where there is every indication that it will pass, although probably by a much smaller majority.

Death Penalty Pigeon-Holed

Some clever strategy put the capital punishment bill finally to sleep. It had been reposing quietly on the table for a week while Rep. Pitkin, father of the bill, was preparing a referendum clause and some other minor amendments by which he hoped to win enough extra votes to secure passage of his bill.

On Wednesday Rep. Pitkin moved to take his bill from the table and nearly all of the representatives sided in with him, but no sooner had his motion carried than Rep. Charles Culver of Detroit, leader of the opposition to the death penalty moved that final consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed. This motion is not debatable and demands an immediate consideration. So the roll was called and 55 representatives voted to put the bill to sleep. There were only 42 opposing this movement.

Agricultural Statistics Repealed

One of the most sensational battles of the present session centered around the passage of the bill to repeal the agricultural statistics law. The House was evenly divided over this important issue and a lot of lobbying and log-rolling was done for and against the repeal bill. Those favoring the repeal declared that these figures which the supervisors are required to take in regard to crop acreage and number of livestock are no good.

Those who supported the present law, however, declared that such a system is in force in nearly all of the leading agricultural states of the union and that facts obtained are of extreme importance to the extension work of the college, to the State Department of Agriculture, to the Co-operative marketing organizations and to the county agents. They maintained that such figures were absolutely necessary to form a sound basis for the farming business. The final vote was 54 to 39 for the repeal of the law.

Business Tax Law Amended

The Senate Taxation Committee has reported favorably the Slight bill amending the corporation tax law. The bill is now receiving consideration on the floor of the senate. The committee had been considering this bill for nearly eleven weeks and has changed it over more or less. As it now stands it would raise the maximum limit of the tax on a corporation from $10,000 to $50,000 and reduce the minimum tax from $50 to $10. A reduction in the rate from 3 1-2 mills to 3 mills is also provided.

The administration's proposal for state control of fire insurance rate making went through the house despite some ineffectual opposition from the insurance men in the body. The final vote was 72 to 19.

Undipped "Feeders" Allowed

Considerable debate resulted when Rep. Read's bill to allow feeder sheep to come into the state without dipping was brought up for final passage from the house. Rep. Read and his supporters declared dipping of feeder sheep caused an unnecessary expense of $30 per carload and that dipping of sheep during the winter months was dangerous and often resulted in severe losses from pneumonia. Most of the members agreed with him and the final vote was 87 to 6 for the passage of the bill.

Dope dealers are in for more trouble. Rep. Burns' bill to make the sale of certain habit forming drugs a felony instead of a misdemeanor passed the house 98 to 0.

Public Hearings Popular

Public hearings have been held on many of the important bills during the week. The railroad men came down in mass to protest the passage of the proposed "full crew" bill, which would require an extra flagman on certain trains. Frank H. Alfred, general manager of the Pere Marquette, made a long plea for the defeat of the measure declaring that it would cost the railroads of Michigan $1,500,000 if enacted. Mr. E. L. Ewing, traffic manager of the State Farm Bureau made a forceful (Continued on page seven)

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS—1923

April—26-27-28
August—9-10-11

WHERE HELD:

The examinations are held at the county seat in each county.

CERTIFICATES GRANTED:

Three grades of certificates may be granted by the County Board of School Examiners: A first grade certificate; a second grade certificate; a third grade certificate.

Provided, That no certificate shall be granted under the provisions of this act to any person who shall not have completed a term of at least six weeks' work in professional training in a state normal school or in one of the county normal training classes of the state, or any normal training school conducted by any municipality in the state, or in any school approved by the state superintendent of public instruction, but the completion of one-half year of work in a school maintaining four years of work above high school rank shall be accepted in lieu of this requirement. This proviso, however, shall not apply to persons who have taught in the schools of the state for at least five months prior to July one, nineteen hundred sixteen.

Extract from the law passed 1915.

Examination of Law
No teacher's certificate can be granted by the county board of school examiners to any person who has not taught in the schools of the state for at least five months prior to July 1, 1916, unless he has had at least six weeks of professional training. To meet the requirement a person must present to the commissioner of schools certified credit in at least five subjects, each covering six weeks' work. This training must consist of—

1. Six weeks of work in each of the following:
Observation and Practice Teaching.

The Course of Study and Class Management.

The Teaching of Reading.

Physical Education.

2. Six weeks of work in any one of the following:

Agriculture, Arithmetic, History, Language, Geography, Grammar, Physiology, Writing, Music, and Drawing.

General Information

1. A part of the questions for all grades of certificates in the teachers' examination for April and August, 1923, will be based on the State Teachers' Reading Circle books for 1922-23, and a part on certain bulletins issued by the Department of Public Instruction.

2. The State Teachers' Reading Circle Books for the year are Curry-Clippinger's Children's Literature, published by Rand-McNally Co., Briggs' Our Living Language, published by the University Publishing Co.; Andrews' Health Education in Rural Schools, published by Doubleday-Page & Co.; and Smith's Teaching Geography by Problems, published by Doubleday-Page & Co. Any or all of these books may be secured from a distributor, W. T. Bishop, Lansing, Michigan. Write him also for prices. Examination questions in certain subjects will be based on these books. Applicants writing grammar will be given an opportunity to choose between Children's Literature and Living Language. No applicant will answer questions based on both books.

3. The bulletins of the Department of Public Instruction which will be considered in the preparation of questions are Bulletin No. 46, Reading in the Grades; Bulletin No. 33, Training For Citizenship; Bulletin No. 45, Arithmetic in the Grades; and Bulletin No. 67, Physical Education.

Questions in reading for the April and August examination will be based on Bulletin No. 46.

Five questions in arithmetic for both examinations will be based on Bulletin No. 45.

Five questions in civics for both examinations will be based on Bulletin No. 33.

For both examinations in physiology three questions will be based on Bulletin No. 67 and three on the Reading Circle book, Health Education in Rural Schools.

TAKE THE SHORT CUT

When you were a youngster, you never went to school the long way 'round! You took a short cut.

Every advertisement in this paper is a short cut. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the service or articles you need.

At a glance you can sift out the things that interest you most and in a moment you know just when and where to go for what you want.

Then you realize the great economy and necessity of advertising in your daily life.

There is a big difference in quality of shingles, just as there is in any other product. It makes a lot of difference in the value and durability of the roof on your house (or barn) if that roof is of

"HALF CENTURY" BRAND WHITE CEDAR SHINGLES

Made with Galvanized or Copper Nails

"Half Century" Brand Shingles are all "air-cured". That fact in itself makes them a lot more durable and satisfactory than shingles that are rushed through excessively heated dry kilns just so that they can be marketed in a hurry.

Then there is a lot greater natural weather resistance in some woods than in others. White Cedar weathers wonderfully.

Another thing: shingles that are cut too thin will split under nails. "Half Century" Brand Shingles are of uniform thickness—always.

And White Cedar Shingles give just the effect you want with any shade of stain or paint.

It pays to look for the "Half Century" Brand Trade-Mark, shown above, on every bundle of shingles.

According to the New Jersey department of conservation and development, more than $500,000,000 would be needed to New Jersey's industrial value in the next 20 years if the mosquito were eliminated in that state. ful address against the bill in the interest of cheaper freight rates for the farmers.

Women and medical men came to Lansing in generous quantities to talk for and against Sen. Brower's bill to accept the provisions of the Federal Shepherd-Towner bill which provides aid for the benefit of maternity and infancy. Pleas of those favoring the bill must have been effective for the next day the bill was reported favorably by the senate committee on public health. In order to obtain the federal aid the state must appropriate a like amount for this work.

Teachers Must Be Good

The Leedy bill providing for suspension of teachers' certificates for violating their contracts, after the facts have been established by hearing, passed the house 64 to 26. A bill to raise the salaries of county school commissioners was killed by the House Committee of the Whole after prolonged debate.

Rep. Warner of Ypsilanti, chairman of the house committee on education, desires to make the state normal schools financially independent of legislative appropriations. He has introduced a bill to provide them with a one-half mill tax similar to the present mill taxes for the university and the agricultural college.

Civil Service Bill Offered

Civil service, as recommended by Gov. Groesbeck in his message to the legislature, is proposed in a bill by Rep. Vincent Dacey, of Detroit. The bill provides for the appointment of a Civil Service Commission of three members, the chairman of which would be a full time executive officer. All elective officers, those appointed by the Governor or by the legislature, legislative officers, heads of departments, principals or teachers in state schools, would be placed in an unclassified department, and would not be subject to the civil service regulations. Clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, copyists, messengers and other clerical help are classified as competitive labor and would be required to pass a civil service test. Ex-service men and women would be given a five percent bonus in the grades for the civil service examination and would be given preference, other things being equal. Promotion would be made on the basis of efficiency and seniority.

Would Divide Tax Revenue

The Michigan League of Municipalities has a program to provide for the return of certain state taxes to the cities, villages and townships. On their behalf Sen. Charles Sligh of Grand Rapids, has introduced bills providing amendments to the specific tax laws on mortgages and securities to permit municipalities, counties and townships to participate fifty-fifty with the state in the proceeds of such taxes. Another bill sponsored by this league has been presented by Rep. Dykstra, also of Grand Rapids, to require county treasurers to subdivide among cities and villages the amount of automobile license money returned to the county by the state, in proportion to the amount paid, with the provision that it must be expended for street improvement work.

The city officials claim that the increase in specific taxes is decreasing taxable property to the cities, while they are being asked to add to the burden of expense now born by city governments.

Strict regulation and licensing of all cold storage plants in Michigan is proposed by Rep. C. J. Town of Jackson. He would require all cold storage goods to be labeled and dated at the time when they are placed in storage and again when removed. Licensing of cold storage keepers would be in the hands of the commission of agriculture who would have authority to revoke any licenses upon failure to comply with certain sanitary regulations. All goods kept in storage thirty days would have

LIVE STOCK FACTS

PLAN FOR IMPROVING STOCK

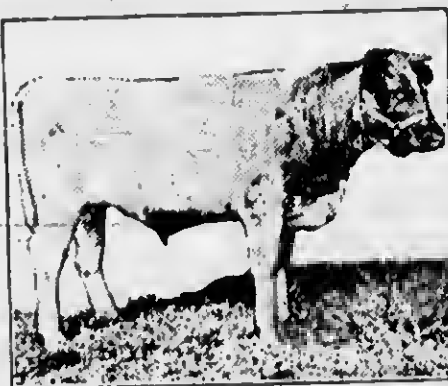

Progressive Firm of Butchers in Ohio Hit on Novel Scheme to Build Up Quality.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Recognizing that live-stock improvement is beneficial to the meat trade as well as to producers of animals, butchers are becoming interested in the better-stock idea. A progressive firm of butchers in a small Ohio city seeks to better the live stock of that locality by a plan described in the following letter to the United States Department of Agriculture:

"While we have never made a business of dealing in purebred live stock," says the writer, "we have always encouraged their use. We try to keep a line on well-bred young bulls in our vicinity, and whenever we buy an animal for slaughter we use our best efforts to have him replaced with something better. We believe this plan will help to build up the quality of cattle in the neighborhood, to the advantage of both ourselves and the farmers.

"When we kill an animal that has an exceptionally good 'dress' we display the carcass in our window, giving on a card the age, live weight, dressed weight and the percentage of dressed meat. In this way we advertise to producers that they get more live weight and we get more dressed weight from well-bred stock than from inferior stock of the same age. We have demonstrated also the superiority of well-bred calves from well-bred parents, and have shown that they mean more to the farmer in dollars and cents than the other kind."

In commenting on the plan, live-stock specialists in the bureau of animal industry point out that small-town butchers are in a position to help

First Cross Shorthorn Steer Obtained by Using a Purebred Sire With a Common Cow.

In influencing the quality of future generations of cattle and hogs, that come in their cutting blocks. The plan as presented by the firm of butchers quoted is in accord with methods of live-stock improvement advised by the department.

SECURE BEST HARVEST HELP

Rovers are Usually Efficient but They Are Liable to Leave Before Crops Are All In.

Getting help for the harvest rush is a problem which is best faced weeks in advance. Grain, and orchard harvest seasons bring to many sections large numbers of traveling help who start with a crop in the South and work north with the season to the Canadian border. These workers are usually efficient through long experience, but they are likely to feel the urge of the road and leave before the farmer gets his crop all harvested, obliging him to pay a much higher rate to secure the remainder of the crop before it spoils. Whenever efficient, local help can be obtained, it is to be preferred by the rovers.

Select harness with care. See that it is well made. A runaway team cannot be controlled with weak reins, nor will weak tugs and straps stand heavy work.

Solons Take Short Course

The law-makers locked up their legislative desks Thursday noon to start on a somewhat belated junket to the University of Michigan. Free transportation and entertainment was provided by the alumni of that institution so that the majority of the law-makers felt for the idea and got on a special train. While at the University they are going to be banqueted at the Union building and "fed up" on the financial needs of that institution.

Pres. M. L. Burton, of the University, urging a large appropriation for the University, declares that each person in Michigan spent last year $2.72 for soft drinks, $3.40 for jewelry, $3.35 for candy, $6.80 for movies and theatres, $14.28 for cigars and cigarettes, and $19.39 for automobiles and parts, while the average cost to each person in the state for the upkeep of the University of Michigan will be but 99¢ a year for the next two years, if the improvements sought are carried out. He declares that since the war the enrollment of the University has increased 3,834, yet the institution has made no additions to its space since 1895 except for the science and literary college.

From the Banker's Standpoint

Next week will see several very important problems of legislation disposed of. Senator James Henry, chairman of the taxation committee, stated Thursday that the Sligh corporation tax bill will be brought out on the floor of the senate early next week and the Warner gas bill is certain to have a place on the general orders of the senate before the legislative history of next week is written. The House spent all Thursday afternoon disposing of the so called administration insurance bill which will probably result in the gas bill going over for consideration by that branch of the assembly until Tuesday.

Two Tax Policies Are Settled

The corporation tax passed two years ago as an emergency law is going to be re-enacted and no doubt will become a fixed source of state taxation for all time. Senator Henry said he isn't quite ready to say just what the minimum and maximum fees are likely to be, but a minimum of $25 is practically certain, while the maximum may reach six figures. The taxation chairman is likewise in favor of a gas tax but, as yet, is not committed to either side of the question. Senator W. M. Connelly, the highway leader in the senate, declared Thursday that a two cent gas tax will pass with votes to spare, that the idea is even stronger than when the legislature convened. He favors paring the highway budget to the quick; cut down the amount proposed for the sinking fund to retire the bonds amortize the six million or more the state will owe the counties July 1 for roads already completed, which program Senator Connelly says will save the state from selling ten million of the remaining bonds, thus cutting down the need for so large a sinking charge as is suggested ($4,000,000) which action will likewise reduce the interest charges. It is the opinion of Senator Henry that the people voted the road bonds on the theory the future should help pay the road costs and any program putting too heavy an expense on the present will not be popular and is likewise not what they contemplated when they voted the fifty million issue.

Property Tax Cut Four Million in Four Years

Senator Henry says there isn't any question but that the respective finance and taxation committees will keep the property tax for state purposes down to sixteen million, a cut of four million dollars in four years. The Battle Creek veteran says no matter what is claimed, the state is headed toward economy. He raised a new point in the senate Thursday suggesting that when an appropriation bill is reported out that the chairman tell the senate what salary increases are provided. "The place to start economy in state affairs," said the senator, "is right here under the dome of the state house. The trouble with taxes," he continued, "is that the legislature has delegated too much spending power to subordinate bodies. Just analyze your last tax receipt and you will be at least surprised at the small percent of your tax that goes for state expense, yet it is the one tax we hear more about than any other single item of taxation."

Legislator Was Foreman Tribune-Ford Jury

Orvy Hulet, the Macomb county house member who introduced the bill making eastern the standard time for the state, was foreman of the Chicago Tribune-Ford jury during the famous Mt. Clemens trial. He declares the jury knew better what they are doing when they returned the famous six cent verdict than the public has ever given them credit for. Mr. Hulet says the verdict was merely a notice to the newspapers that they cannot attack individuals with impunity and oftentimes without reason, and the Macomb member says the verdict taught a wholesome lesson.

Incidentally the eastern time is a goner. The bill is peacefully sleeping in some committee room. The farmers' club of the House is reported to be very emphatically against Mr. Hulet's ideas about time.

Insurance Men Lose Their Fight

The so called administration insurance bill calling for the filing of the various fire insurance rate schedules with the state department passed the House with practically no opposition. The bill has already passed the Senate. Despite the fact the insurance men put up a strenuous fight to eliminate the filing of rate sheets, only three voted for the amendment asked for by the companies when it was offered during the course of the debate on Thursday. The death penalty bill was killed in the House and will never be heard of again, notwithstanding sufficient votes were mustered to reconsider its defeat. This is merely a legal way of torturing a bill to its final rest. All this time has, in a measure, been wasted, as it is well known that Governor Groesbeck would veto the proposal. Any likelihood of passing the bill over his head is ridiculous. With the gas tax and the corporation tax bills out of the way, the legislative highway is being paved for some rapid fire work on the various bills of lesser public importance. Final adjournment by April 1st is a possibility.

TEST YOUR EDUCATION

The best college is not measured by endowment. It is measured by the men and women it turns out. The test of culture is the ability to serve, the power of giving, not getting; of helping, not hindering.

The college will oftentimes pass a man the world will quickly flunk. Many men have been honored in college who have been dishonored by society because with all their high gradings in classes they have not learned how to march with the masses.

The college is a starter, but it never completes the education job. Your education does not end when you pick up your diploma. That is when it just begins. That is why graduation day is Commencement Day.

Many of the best educated people get their education without the help of college courses. Test yourself. If you can honestly answer "yes" to all the questions that follow you are indeed educated, even though you never heard of Xenophon's Anabasis and never owned a parchment encased in a tin tube:

Has education given you sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?

Has it made you public spirited?

Have you learned to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

Can you look an honest man or pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn as compatible with high thinking as dancing or golf?

Are you good for anything to yourself?

Can you be happy alone?

Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?

Can you be a brother to your neighbor?

Have you a better ambition than merely "to make your pile."

Have you formed the habit of hoping that you may help others and thereby leave this world a little better than you found it?

Do you put patriotism into your politics?

Do you support a public official after election with the same enthusiasm you show before election and thereby help him to fulfill his pre-election promises?

Can you read the history that is written in the rocks that bodily shoulder the broad current and bend the river in its course?

Does the mountain lift you nearer heaven and the sea lead you in silent prayer?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?

Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?

Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?

Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

How many college A. B.'s can honestly say "yes" to these 22 questions? If you cannot, is it not time to ask yourself which has failed, you or your college? There are many who could pass this examination who cannot boast of an academic degree.

To help you to conceive the purpose of life and to pursue that purpose is the mission of every school and college. They are to equip you with the tools. You are to use the tools.

Are you educated? Study these questions, answer them honestly, and you yourself will know.

FRIENDS BADE THEM GOD-SPED

Rev. and Mrs. Rice Have The Best Wishes Of Everyone

A farewell reception was tendered to the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Rice, last Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hooker. It was a most enjoyable affair. A bountiful six o'clock pot-luck supper was one of the occasion's features.

The Rev. Mr. Long and Rev. Mr. Quant spoke of Mr. Rice's brotherliness during his incumbency here and the great work that he has accomplished, voicing the hope that he might have as gratifying a success in his new field.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice are leaving the city with the highest esteem of the entire community. Mrs. F. N. Metcalf, in behalf of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, with loving words, assured the late pastor and his wife of the affectionate regard in which they are held by members of this organization and presented them with a set of silver fruitknives as a token of the many friends they have made in this vicinity.

"Blest Be The Tie That Binds" was rendered, followed by the singing of several other familiar hymns. Mr. Rice then expressed the regret with which he and Mrs. Rice were leaving Charlevoix but was enthusiastic over the possibilities of service awaiting them in their new home. Then followed the hand-clasp of goodbye and the expression of the heartfelt good wishes that accompany them on the way to their destination.

PORT AMENDMENT UP AGAIN

IT MEANS MUCH TO MICHIGAN COMMERCE

Must Become Law Before We Can Develop Lake Ports To Take Care Of New Trade

On the state ballot, at the election of April 2nd, will appear the Port District Amendment. This amendment has previously been submitted to the people of this state, but without the preliminary publicity and explanation as to its nature, intent and effect that would enable a vote to be cast intelligently for or against it.

There is no question but what it is absolutely necessary that the people of Michigan adopt this amendment to their state constitution before they can develop the lake ports and begin to plan on receiving and dispersing the vast trade awaiting their lake towns with, and even preceding, the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway. This development of the ports of the entire lake-front, or part of it, is as necessary to the nearest inland town as it is to the port town, itself.

Waterways development during the past few years has become a subject of ever increasing interest and importance to the people of the Middle West, and particularly to the people of Michigan, who are so favorably located on the greatest inland waterway system in the world.

Oceans of talk have been spilled concerning the necessity of developing the inland waterways, and especially the waterway through the St. Lawrence to the sea. This has been all true talk. There is no doubt of the importance of inland waterway development. But one phase pertains to the development of adequate terminal facilities for handling the immense water-borne commerce that soon will be carried on between the ports of the Great Lakes and between the East and the Middle West, via the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence waterway, and to some extent via the New York barge canal.

And while this matter of port and harbor development has had but little attention in Michigan, it has had much attention in other states bordering the Great Lakes. Chicago has already spent many millions of dollars in the development of adequate water terminals. Milwaukee has spent several millions and will spend several more. Toledo is preparing to spend several millions. Cleveland already possesses adequate port facilities, and other cities in other Great Lakes states are carrying on port development on a lesser scale. Michigan alone has little to show in this respect.

The situation in this state has been complicated by a number of factors of peculiarly unfortunate aspect, chief among which has been a lack of authority in the state constitution whereby the legislature might permit by statute, as would under any circumstances be necessary, the organization of port districts, without which no adequate or efficient port development on a large scale would be possible.

A port district is an organization of two or more municipalities or other governmental units for the purpose of constructing, owning and operating port facilities, comprising ships, wharves, warehouses, handling machinery, lighters, etc. A port district may be said to be in effect a sort of super-municipality. It may raise money by bond issues, based on the actual port properties, by taxation levied only on property within the limits of the districts, and by fees charged shippers and vessels using the port facilities. It may receive no money out of state, county, or city taxes. The tax power vested in the district is strictly limited.

During the present session of the State Legislature, a joint resolution was passed by them and will be on the April 2nd ballot as follows:

"Shall article 8 of the State Constitution be amended by adding a new section thereto to stand as section 30 of said article, authorizing the legislature to provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts with power to engage in work of internal improvements?"

If this amendment be adopted, the next legislature will be empowered to authorize the establishment of port districts in the state. If this amendment is defeated, it will be two years more before a new amendment can be voted upon. Meanwhile other states will be pushing their development work. Now, it has been stated that the creation of port districts in Michigan will not cost upstate taxpayers, except within the port districts themselves, where the benefits would accrue, one single dollar in taxes of any kind. Also it has been stated that the creation of port districts will not make it possible for the state to encroach upon the so-called Home Rule rights of lesser governmental units. But nothing has been said thus far as to the actual benefits that will accrue from the creation of port districts to those people living in the state outside the limits of the port districts.

While Michigan in an important manufacturing state, only a small proportion of the raw products used in manufacture are produced within the state. As the years pass, more and more of this raw material will come to the state in vessel bottoms--if the ports of the state are adequately equipped to receive it.

The raw materials that are brought into the state include such things as raw hides, furniture woods, oil, and hickory bark for the tanneries, pulpwood for the paper factories, granite, paint materials and scores of other raw products.

But what will all this mean to the average citizen, as well as to the manufacturer?

MET NEATH THE SYCAMORE TREE

MICHIGANDERS HOLD REVEL AT A LOS ANGELES PARK

About Thirty-five From This County Present and Others From All-Over the State

An interesting letter, just received by us from Mrs. Hazel Pearl Phillips, former resident of this city, shows that Michiganders, even while trekking far from home, do not forget their native state. The letter describes a Michigan picnic, held at Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, California, on Sunday, March 11th. This picnic, it seems, is an annual affair out there and well attended by former Michigan people from all over California. Mrs. Phillips' letter follows:

"And from what part of Michigan do you hail?" was the greeting heard on every side, as we sauntered among the huge crowd of Michiganders, Sunday, March 11, 1923, at Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. More than 12,000 former residents of Michigan gathered beneath the giant sycamores under the genial California sunshine, to meet old friends, relatives and acquaintances. Everyone was shaking hands, chatting merrily and enjoying themselves thoroughly. 'Well, if here isn't Jack! When did you come? Going to stay long?' etc. were some of the numerous expressions one heard repeatedly.

Plaques, bearing the name of each county, were placed on different trees and tablets put beneath, where the name, old home town and present address were written by each person from that county.

The first person I met at the Charlevoix tree was Mr. F. G. Hines, who was having a merry time, meeting all the "home-owners." There were about thirty-five people representing Charlevoix county. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball and daughters, Carolyn and Vivian, Alice Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Midge, Ivan P. Newman, Mrs. Minnie Newman Schrader, Mrs. F. M. Chapel and son, Wilfred, Frank Chaloupka, Lyman Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Woodworth, John M. Lit-zaw, F. W. Fox, M. P. Mes, P. A. Meyers, Betty Belair, P. Mes, and F. G. Hines, and from East Jordan Dr. F. Mes Foster and Mrs. E. Wiseman and son, Mose.

At noon, groups of friends and neighbors gathered around the tables to enjoy an old time basket dinner. At a table near-by, a lady had brought an cake, made with Michigan history-aus. Everyone near was intent on getting 'his small share' of the very popular delicacy.

OLD MAN WINTER DIES HARD

KNOCKED OUT SEVERAL TIMES

—STILL FIGHTS

Past Week Has Furnished Complete Assortment of Plain and Fancy Spring Weather

At the risk of boring our readers, we return to the weather as the liveliest (albeit the most monotonous) topic of conversation and discussion at present "in the ring."

Sunday night, according to the oldest inhabitants and the weather bureau, was one of the coldest spring nights recorded in Northern Michigan, the mercury dropping to twenty degrees below zero during the night. Traverse City, Cadillac, Charlevoix, Petoskey and other nearby cities reported temperatures of twenty to twenty-five degrees below.

The cold wave was ushered in early Saturday morning with a flurry of snow. Many Charlevoix families who sleep with open bedroom windows, were awakened at about two o'clock by the unexpected coldness of their rooms. Some searched for additional blankets and some quickly dropped the windows. Some found snow blowing across their beds from the open windows.

The rapid transition from spring slash, ankle deep, to bitter cold started up several fresh cases of flu. During most of last week, the sidewalks were not entirely safe places for pedestrians who would escape wet feet. In some places the flood water covered the walks and most of the street, making navigation to these stretches difficult and dangerous to those not equipped with "high-tops."

The snow-fall in sufficient quantity to cause some trouble to the railroads. The Pere Marquette people seem to have kept their lines open in good shape, despite the storm. North of here, Harbor Springs reported a blocked line and service was cancelled until the snow could be cleared away. A Pennsylvania line train was stuck in the drifts between Brutus and Pellston for several hours. A snow plow was sent north from Grand Rapids to Cadillac and one south from Elgin to Cadillac. The Northport branch of the Manistee & Northeastern R. R. is still blocked with snow from the storm of two weeks and a half ago and the only communication with the outside world is by stage from Sutton's Bay and Northport.

Harbor Springs people, who have been crossing the ice to reach Petoskey, reported Friday that a large crack had opened up and that the ice had raised two or three feet. This made the ice crossing dangerous, they said. The trip is now being made by the highway, the road having been plowed out. A large snow plow and tractor were used in this work.

Today is still cold and viciously blustery, with no visible signs of a let-up. However, a change is predicted soon, and this is food for hope (all right, laugh if you want to). The prophets might be O. K. this time, though.

MRS. PAPINEAU SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

Will Leave, Shortly, For Her Home in Detroit

Mrs. George Papineau, of Detroit, formerly Miss Agnes Carey, was the "surprised" one at a very pleasant surprise pot-luck party held last Monday evening at the Charles Carlevoix home on Bridge, corner Lincoln, where Mrs. Papineau is visiting her parents.

About twenty-one of Mrs. Papineau's friends gathered at the home of Leo Carey with their "cats" and walked in upon their unsuspecting hostess in a body at about eight o'clock. After supper, the evening was spent most enjoyably in card playing and conversation. The affair was of the nature of a farewell, as Mrs. Papineau expects to return shortly to her home in Detroit.

CONTEST IN BUT ONE TOWNSHIP

TOWNSHIP CAUCUSES WERE

—QUIET AFFAIRS

But One Ticket Named in All Townships with Exception of Evelyn—The Line-up

In the selection of township officials at the April 2 election, held on Monday next, the voters of each precinct will have little to do other than make their mark at the head of the ticket. Evelyn township is the only one to present more than one ticket to their voters. In this instance Ticket No. 1 is headed by F. H. Wangerman for supervisor, and Ticket No. 2 by G. C. Ferris. The scrap seems to be centered on two offices only, and the outcome is hard to figure out until the ballots are counted.

Those nominated for office in nearly all townships are as follows:

Township of Norwood
Supervisor, Raymond Stafford.
Clerk, F. E. Nickerson.
Treasurer, Orton VanBusen.
Highway Commissioner, Joseph Clark.
Member Board of Review, George Vermylen.
Justice of the Peace (full term), James Hines.

BOOZE CLEANUP ON AT CHEBOYGAN

Eleven Pinched by Sheriff Slade Charged with Violations

Spring clean-up time has arrived in Cheboygan. Anyway, it is there, for as the sheriff's department is concerned, for last week eleven Cheboygan men were hauled into court and officially charged with violation of the liquor laws. Warrants were issued on request of Prosecutor Walker and the arrests made by Sheriff Slade and his deputies.

The men were all released on bond and their examination set for March 27, 28 and 29. At that time the prosecution must produce enough evidence to satisfy the court good cases have been secured against the prisoners. In that case they will be held for trial in circuit court or turned over to federal authorities.

The men were: Charles Sias, Max Reed, Eli Reed, Mose Soreault, John Muschick, Phil McGraw, Ed. Schl. Isadore Geinier, Eugene Lafrenier, Eugene H. Lafrenier (uncle and nephew) and Jack Elling.

More arrests are to follow, according to a statement from the sheriff's department.

TREE PLANTING WEEK IS NEAR

ALL CITY ORGANIZATIONS SHOULD COOPERATE

A More Beautiful Community Means A Happier, Richer, More Inspired Life

From the National Headquarters of the American Tree Association, Aurora, Illinois, where the campaign for Tree Planting Week, Spring of 1923, is rapidly being put into activity the country over, come the following suggestions to those appreciative of the opportunity in this direction:

"Begin immediately to plan for Tree Planting Week.

"Organize every effective agency in the community to work collectively as one unit.

"Put aside all selfish desires for personal or club credit. Remember that as many organizations as you stimulate into action, just that many times do you increase your own club's strength and power and effectiveness as community benefactors.

"Line up all Women's Clubs, Commercial Clubs, Merchant's Associations, Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, City Officials, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Parent-Teacher Associations, Park and Cemetery Boards, Patriotic Societies and organizations, etc.

"Arrange for a survey of community planting needs and possibilities by a representative committee co-operating with a local landscape gardener or other horticulturist and one artist.

"Organize committees with representatives from each of these organizations. A Publicity Committee to work with newspapers, the public library, poster or card distribution, every possible form of publicity; an Intelligence Committee to inform itself and be ready to answer all questions regarding both the practical and inspirational side of Plan to Plant Another Tree and of Tree Planting Week, or to be able to direct inquiries into their proper channels; a Ways and Means Committee to plan for the providing of planting material to be distributed; and, as other committees that will suggest themselves as the work develops.

"Educate these organizations to the visions that a beautiful community means a happier, richer, more inspired life to those who share its beauty. Then direct them in a general co-operative planting effort. This should result not alone in a community to which the individual may point with pride as his home, but should infuse a spirit of harmonious, effective cooperation that will lead to other good efforts and ends.

"Then, when you have succeeded in awakening to the community vision, help to get the county vision, then the state vision and work as one strong link in the great chain of collective effort certain to bind America's beauty closer to its home and hearts."

UNION MEETINGS HELD THIS WEEK

CHURCHES JOIN IN EASTER PREPARATIONS

Various Pastors Occupy M. E. Pulpit During This Week—Striking Address by Dr. Hewitt

Union meetings are being held at the M. E. church this week in preparation for Easter, at which the various pastors of the city are officiating in turn. Rev. H. R. E. Quant opened the series of Easterweek services Monday night. He was followed on Tuesday night by the Rev. Dr. T. W. Hewitt, of Jackson, now residing in this city, and to-night Rev. C. W. Long will have the service. Rev. Herman Burns, of the Baptist church, will speak Friday evening, and this will close the week's program.

Dr. C. W. Hewitt, whose summer home at Norwood was recently destroyed by fire and who, with his family, is now sojourning here for the winter months, proposes to the churches of the city a bold plan. In this fact lies the secret of its probable success, as we Americans admire boldness and fearlessness in all things.

In his sermon, last night, at the M. E. church, Dr. Hewitt took as his text the 30th verse of the 19th Chapter of the Gospel of St. John and First Corinthians, 6:12-20. He said in part:

"Many of our churches are facing the greatest crisis in their history, simply because they are devoid of the finished product (love), purchased by the shed blood of Jesus Christ on Calvary's cross."

There are 619 passages in the Holy Writ from which I could select a text to preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified. The preacher has no excuse for not preaching the true Gospel, when he can select 619 texts that will bring to the world the finished product (love), the one thing necessary to redeem the world from sin. You church members, professed followers of Christ, have no excuse for not having in your hearts the love of Jesus Christ, when you have 619 passages of scripture to select it from.

When the greatest preacher that ever walked the earth, save one, was going up to his churches to set things right and wrote them that 'he was coming, did he say, 'Get together your old tur'ry buzzards and humming-birds—I want you to tell me off about the sins of the people up there; I want your filthy gossip poured into my ears.' No, that's just what Paul did not say. But he did say, 'I come before you determined to know nothing save Jesus Christ and Him crucified.' What was Paul giving them? What was the desire of Paul's heart? That which should be your desire—to give to the world the pure, unadorned gospel, the finished product—Love, purchased by the shed blood of Jesus Christ on Calvary's cross."

Dr. Hewitt believes that what the religious life of Charlevoix needs is a spiritual revival—a moral house-cleaning to sweep away the dust and furbells of prejudice, selfishness and pride, stir up the slothfulness of sluggish souls and awaken Christian conscience to the realization that there is but one God and one Lord Jesus Christ and that all men who worship Him are brothers and that the pure Gospel is his sacred word and free to all.

Dr. Hewitt proposes that the Protestant churches of the city unite in the staging of a huge open-air revival, to be held during the four weeks of September, at a location in this city to be later determined. He, himself, stands ready to start things moving with a substantial donation for this purpose and calls upon the Christian community to come cheerfully to the support of what can be made the greatest spiritual awakening Charlevoix has ever known.

Three Deaths in E. J.

East Jordan reports three deaths during the last few days, William P. Jones, Civil war veteran, died Wednesday night of heart failure; Geo. Heileman, aged farm resident, died Wednesday morning from the grippe; and David Isaac Ruch died at Yellow Springs, Ohio, the body being brought back to East Jordan for burial.

ROCK ELM

Those who have been sick are now well on the way to recovery.

The grange held its regular meeting Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Darby was recently hurt quite seriously when one of his horses kicked him on the head. He is able to be about again now.

Farmers hereabout are beginning to wonder when the weather man is going to let them start their spring work. It thaws one day and everyone hopes the end of winter is in sight, only to be disappointed by a snow storm the next day, which leaves them buried deeper in the snow than they were before the thaw.

Jesse Lawton agrees with the Irishman who said, "Double misfortunes never come single." Tuesday morning, as he was trying to draw a small log with a double bitted axe, the axe pulled out and struck his right arm, cutting quite a gash. A litter later in the day he sliced his right thumb with a piece of glass and on Saturday, while trimming a tree top, he cut his right knee. His wounds are all healing nicely.

DEER LAKE

Turkey Barber had the misfortune to run a pitch-fork into his foot last Monday.

Mrs. Geo. Barber and children spent several days with relatives at Boyne City.

Miss Carrie Korthase spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Will Crozier, at Boyne City.

A number of the scholars of the Deer Lake school have been absent on account of sickness.

Deer Lake grange enjoyed an "Irish" program at their last meeting. They also planned for a homecoming sometime in April.

The Deer Lake Ladies Work Society met with Mrs. Charlie Hott, Thursday. Mrs. Lora Hardy was presented with a traveling bag and dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dewey and children, who lost their home near Bellaire by fire, are staying with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shaulter and mother.

Use Hygrade gas filled electric light globes. Everybody is talking about how long they last. Any kind you want. Charlevoix Hardware & Electric Co.—Adv. 5-1f.

EVELINE

John Cooper is busy making maple syrup.

Lyman Ruder is said to be improving slowly.

Emil Nasson took a load of potatoes to Charlevoix, Friday.

Neal Kemp left last Tuesday for Kentucky, where he will work for some time.

Miss Jennie Sherman returned to Charlevoix, Thursday, for a visit before going back to the Soo.

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. V. Peterson Wednesday. There were twelve ladies present and a fine time was had by all.

Joe Kemp and V. Petersen took their cream separators to Charlevoix Thursday, and had them examined by the "repair doctor."

No better electric light globes than the kind we sell. Try them and see. Charlevoix Hardware & Electric Co.—Adv. 5-1f.

EVELINE

(Too late for last week)

No mail on Friday on account of the storm.

Mrs. Karen Lyngklip's grandson, Ralph Mitchell, is very ill at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams are better after their attack with the grippe.

No school this week, as the teacher, Miss Harper, is sick with the grippe.

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. R. H. Sherman Wednesday, and all reported a fine time.

A. L. Darbee was kicked by one of his horses quite badly the first of the week. Trouble never comes single.

Lance Kemp and E. E. Orvis went down after Neil Kemp's household goods, which are going to be stored at his father's, as Neil Kemp and wife are moving away.

IRONTON

Vaughn Ogden was out of school last week with the flu.

Mrs. Richard Williams, who was in bed with the flu for a week, is up and much improved.

Mrs. Walter Peterson will entertain the Ladies Aid Wednesday, Mar. 21st.

Clyde Ogden has gone to Holland, to visit his mother and brothers, also to Grand Rapids, to visit a brother.

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. Sherman, Wednesday, for an all day meeting. All had a very pleasant time.

George Williams returned to his home on Beaver Island, after a two week's visit with his mother, Mrs. Richard Williams.

Mr. Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Ogden, Mrs. Stewart, Miss Long, Miss Schweitzer and Willard Bird attended the Junior play at Charlevoix, Thursday evening.

EAST MARION

Mrs. Wickersham is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. August Cellner visited their mother, Mrs. Cellner, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Einwachter spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jensen.

Mr. and Mrs. August Olinier spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charley Lindley.

Mrs. Matt Allen and sons, Glen and Gale, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cunningham, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snider and Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge, of Charlevoix, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Nixon, of Marion Center.

A jolly dancing party was staged last Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jensen. A sleigh load from the Loeb Farms augmented the goodly crowd of neighbors present, and the light fantastic toe was tripped to airs from the instruments of Charlevoix musicians until a late hour. Refreshments, both substantial and dainty, were served.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Loeb school are working at the school from 10 to 3 o'clock on Saturdays in anticipation of the coming examinations. Their teacher, Edward E. Webb, volunteered to direct their week-end "home studies," and all availed themselves of the privilege and of the school board's consent that they might use the building.

BARNARD

We won't remark about the weather this week. It is getting tiresome.

Fahim Ecklund is spending a few days in Detroit on business and incidentally calling on old friends.

Wm. Burns celebrated his birthday on March 17th with a dinner party. Needless to say it was an enjoyable occasion.

We are sorry to hear of the severe illness of Mrs. Robert Matchett. Other members of the family are also sick.

We hear of the arrival of a new daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cummings, on March 17. Her name is Edna May.

The children had a two-day vacation last week, because Miss Robinson was called to Sparta, on account of the illness of a sister.

John Zylstra returned last Wednesday from Zeeland, where he was called on account of the illness of his son and grandchild.

Mrs. Clarence Beattie is quite ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bowditch, of Charlevoix. We hope she will soon be home and well again.

We are sorry to note the death of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gillett, of Zeeland. Mrs. Gillett was formerly Nellie Zylstra.

IRONTON

Wilbur Brown is visiting his sister, Mrs. Peterson, in East Jordan.

Mrs. Peterson entertained the Ladies Aid Wednesday, to an all day meeting.

Mrs. Brown will entertain the Ladies Aid this Wednesday, to an all day meeting.

Hugh King and family moved from the Breezy Point Farm to their own farm Monday.

Mr. Ogden returned home Saturday night from a two week's visit at Grand Rapids and Holland.

Mrs. Joe Clark and son, Bennie, living south of Ironton, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Grant Hammond home.

Mrs. Alexander entertained Saturday evening with a party in honor of Mr. Alexander's fifty-fifth birthday. Sixteen were present. Games and music were enjoyed.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Easter Sunday—April 1. Church worship at 10:30. Sermon—"The Sealed and the Unsealed Tomb," by Dr. Burns, convention pastor.

At the Sunday school hour, 12 o'clock, Easter exercises will be given by the Sunday school pupils in conjunction with the regular Sunday school program. A special Easter offering will be taken at that time, besides the regular Sunday school contribution. Let everyone make his Easter offering as large as he can.

B. Y. P. U. at six o'clock, with another lesson from the Psalms—"The Easter Psalm." Psa. 16; 2:22-27.

Evening worship at 7:00. Sermon by Dr. Burns.

On Wednesday of next week, April 4, the Ladies Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Bert Staley for a business meeting and pot-luck tea. The ladies are contemplating a bazaar to be held in the near future, and all who are members of the society are urged to be present and assist in its preparation.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock. Let us not neglect the mid-week prayer service for it is the Christian's "vice station."

The church has been invited to join with our sister church, the Methodist, in their Passion Week services, and it is hoped that a large number of our congregation will be able to attend throughout the week. Dr. Burns will be the speaker on Friday evening.

A very happy reception was given for Rev. and Mrs. Rice in the parlors of the Baptist church, which Rev. Rice has so faithfully served the last five years, last Friday evening.

A large number were present to show their appreciation of Rev. and Mrs. Rice's services, and refreshments consisting of ice-cream and cake were served. Dr. Burns presided and talks were given by the Rev. Messrs. Quant and Long, in which they pointed out from the ministerial point of view, the many ways in which the minister serves the community, they also spoke of the faithful service rendered by our former pastor here and wished him a crowning success in his new field.

Mr. E. Penslee also spoke of the deep regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Rice were held by the church. After the talks, Mrs. Bearss, on behalf of the Ladies Aid presented them with a set of Sterling Silver spoons. Mr. Rice then spoke of the regret in which they were leaving the city, but was happy in the prospects of the future.

Following this, everyone joined in singing, "Hail Be The Tie That Binds."

Rev. and Mrs. Rice expected to leave Tuesday, of this week for their new home in Cass county, where he becomes pastor of the churches at Union and Mason.

AT THE MOVIES

They're calling her "Brakeman Ethel" at the Famous Players Lasky studio at Hollywood, Calif., now. Ethel who? Ethel Clayton. For she proved herself a "masterhand" at jumping trains during the taking of scenes in "Wealth," a Paramount picture produced by William D. Taylor which will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday, April 4th.

One of the sequences call upon Miss Clayton to board a train just as it pulled away from the station. At the time of taking, however, a misunderstanding arose about signals—and when the star arrived within forty feet of the train it pulled out!

This was quite unexpected but Miss Clayton didn't stop to reason why—she just ran at top speed and made a flying catch of the hand rail on the last car and pulled herself aboard as the Special reached a speed of some fifteen miles an hour.

"Anything for realism," she panted, breathless, as Mr. Taylor and troupe congratulated her on her athletic prowess.

"Did the cameras get it?" The cameras did—and the result is an exceptionally colorful bit of action round the usually rather drab process of boarding a train. "Wealth," is a Julia Crawford Ivers adaptation of an original story by Cosmo Hamilton. In the supporting cast interpreting the story, which tells that money is a curse when it takes away the incentive to work, are Herbert Rawlinson, Claire McDowell, Richard Wayne, J. M. Dumont, Geo. Peridot, Jenn Acker and others.

ARE YOU NERVOUS?

Maybe There is a Cause For It That You Can Correct

Many who suffer from backache and weak kidneys are unnaturally irritable, fretful and nervous. Not only does constant backache "get on the nerves," but bad kidneys fail to eliminate all the uric acid from the system and uric acid irritates the nerves, keeping one "on edge," and causing rheumatic, neuritic pains. When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the medicine so well recommended by Charlevoix people. Read this Charlevoix resident's statement: "Mrs. James Bogart, 303 Bridge St., says: 'My back was lame and sore and I was nervous and depressed. The irregular action of my kidneys had me all worn-out. I purchased Doan's Kidney Pills at Ilmes & Co.'s Drug Store, and they cured me in a splendid manner.'"

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bogart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Add Profitable Land to Your Farm—at Less Expense

LOTS of farm land around here cheap. It's upland but year with Dumorite. That land is now putting money in the bank for them. It's no longer a loss. They saved money on the job too.

For Dumorite gives you one-third more value per dollar—it has approximately the same strength as 50% dynamite, and the above is a fact of 200%. Non-freezing and non-headache.

Let us give you full information on Dumorite and other du Pont explosives for land-clearing and ditching work. We can give you quick delivery, and probably some helpful advice.

Suggestions From County Agent Hagerman Worthwhile Your Closest Attention

COUNTY AGENT WORK

If the county agent work continues to advance in the thirty-three northern and western states at the average rate it has maintained during the past eleven years, every county in these states will have a resident agent within the next three years. It has made a steady gain ever since its beginning, even following the conclusion of the war, when a large amount of federal support was withdrawn. County agent work made a conservative and uniform growth from 1913 until 1917, of about one hundred counties each year. In a period of about ten months, during 1918, 544 agents were appointed. Today, there are over 2,000 county agents throughout the United States.

To those readers of this letter who do not have the co-operation of the county agent, we are glad to give you an extract of an article on the duties of the county agent from a publication by the United States department of agriculture.

The county agent is an officer of the State Department of Agriculture, or the United States Department of Agriculture. He may be employed in co-operation with the county government or the county farmer's organizations contributing to his support and aiding in his work. He is not, however, expected to act as a business agent of the individual farmer or group of farmers carrying on commercial transactions. He is not, in any sense, a hired man operating the farm or farm enterprises. His business is to put into practical form his knowledge of agriculture as developed by state experiment stations and the United States Department of Agriculture and the results of the best farming practices. He is expected to show, by practical field demonstrations, publications and otherwise, the application of such knowledge to local farm conditions in his county. The advantages of such improved farm practices as demonstrated from these three main sources should give the farmer in his territory a wealth of material to make his production more economical and efficient.

The county agents' duties cover practical application of agricultural science to soil management and building; to the control of plant disease and insect pests; to the improvement in methods of feeding, breeding and care of farm animals; to the introduction of better varieties of farm products; to the promotion of dairying as a reliable source for building the farm income; to the study of sane and rational marketing systems and economical purchase of farm supplies—these are the broader phases of his diversified work.

SOIL EROSION CAUSE OR SERIOUS DAMAGE

In view of the large acreage of land in Michigan which is susceptible to waste, or is actually being wasted through erosion of hillside washing, more protective measures should be practiced to control the soil erosion evil in Charlevoix county and in the entire state. A recent soil survey in one of the southern counties of the state, reveals the fact that approximately twenty-live per cent of the entire county already has eroded land or slopes which are quite susceptible to erosion or hillside washing. And this county, as a whole is really much more level than the average of other counties in the state.

It is generally believed that the only damage done by hillside washing is the cutting which prevents cultivation. While it is true that this is one of the ravages wrought by washing, the fact remains that even hillsides that are left smooth after washing are damaged by the water's having carried away the surface soil. Instances are brought to our attention where the collection of wash from hillsides shows three times as much nitrogen and twice as much phosphorus as does the remaining soil. No better example can be brought to our attention than the comparison of crop production in a low land which received wash with that on a hillside which has lost its true crop producing soil.

A glance at our numerous hillsides which are gullied and almost gorged in some cases, can well tell the story of how thousands of acres of land in our state is now almost past the stage of reclamation.

The work done by moving water is important in erosion control. If a current of water is able to carry a certain amount of material at a given velocity it will be capable of carrying thirty-two times as much with double the velocity. On the other hand, where the velocity of a stream is reduced a half the excessive load will be deposited. Since the damage wrought by water depends upon the amount and rate with which the water flows over the surface, control methods should include the checking of amount and velocity of run-off water.

Where surface or sheet erosion is occurring there is no better method than having a luxuriant growth of vegetation over the surface during the fall and winter where the loss by erosion is greatest. Rye, because of its rapid growth, is an excellent crop to seed on such land. Later summer or early fall seeding gives sufficient growth to check the rate of water over the surface. It is not always convenient to run a drill around a hill so as to leave no wash channels for the water, but by broadcasting the seed and harrowing this inconvenience can be eliminated. If such land can be allowed to go into pasture and encroached upon by the vegetation, the short, such practices will eliminate the greater amount of damage done by water.

Where gullies have been formed, considerable care and labor is necessary to reclaim the land for agricultural purposes. When such land can be reclaimed it is usually advisable to turn it into permanent pastures or seed to alfalfa. Minimum cultivation should be practiced.

The filling of once formed gullies is best accomplished by building dams across the gully to check the velocity of the water. When this is done, the stream deposits its load. Brush, stalks, or straw are used most commonly, however. These must be reinforced by posts in order to hold the force of the current. Concrete dams are often used for checking the water but the labor and expense make them almost prohibitive.

PLAN NOW FOR NEXT WINTER'S COW FEED

This is the season of the year that every farmer in Charlevoix county and especially the dairy farmer, should be thinking of planting his feed for next winter's consumption.

All feeds and this is especially true of cow feeds, must be grown on some farm. Charlevoix county is so situated that it will grow a great variety of grains and grasses which indicates that very few additional feeds need be bought.

In preparing for the planting of your feed, it is well also to consider those feeds which tend to make good fertilizer. A good dairy farmer, who raises young stock with skim milk, has an abundance of manure. This should be carefully handled as it is one of the cheapest fertilizers you have. But this, the care of handling of manure, may well be the topic for a separate article.

Now as to feed—There is nothing better than good pasture for cows in summer. There is nothing better than silage and legume hay, probably alfalfa or sweet clover for feed in winter. There are many farmers in Charlevoix county, who if they would spend a part of the money they are paying for feeds, in establishing a good stand of alfalfa or improving their pastures, would find that it was a very profitable proposition.

The writer is told by men, who are older in this section than himself, that there is an abundance of splendid pastures in the spring and up until approximately the last of June, then our pasture lands begin to show a decidedly brown color. This brown color is burnt grass and from then on good pastures are mighty scarce.

Experiments have been conducted at the College with sweet clover as a pasture crop. Milch cows have been turned into these fields of sweet clover while they were still wet with dew, with an effort to determine whether or not the sweet clover would bloat them. The results have been that as yet never has such been the case. It is also surprising the amount of good pasture a small area of sweet clover will afford.

We often hear a much agitated cry for more and more live stock. This is true, every live stock community and especially a community consisting of dairy cows, is a prosperous community, but one great trouble has been that many farmers have been encouraged, urged and persuaded to purchase live stock when they absolutely did not have enough feed to winter them over in proper condition.

Let us not get the cart before the horse and get our live stock before we get feed to properly feed them. Live stock poorly cared for and improperly fed is a poor investment, but a good dairy cow, properly cared for and fed good feed is a mighty good investment.

As has been proven by a cow tester in one of the cow testing associations is a neighboring county, the owner of 12 cows for the last three months has averaged $212 a month above the cost of the feed.

If you cut down your potato acreage, which perhaps you can well afford to do, why not plan on putting in six or eight acres of alfalfa with the idea in view of sooner or later adding an extra good dairy cow or two.

We have the time, time means legumes, legumes mean dairy cows, Dairy Cow means a prosperous Community.

CERTIFIED SEED CUTS COST OF PRODUCTION

The primary object of the inspection service or the growing of certified seed is to help place potato growing in Michigan on a more profitable basis. Some progress has already been made along this line, but the desired results will not be secured until Michigan growers plant more of the high quality certified seed—that is now available. Last year Michigan farmers planted only 22 per cent of the Michigan certified seed that were offered for sale. The remaining 78 per cent went out of the state. Pennsylvania last season planted nearly 40,000 bushels of Michigan certified seed which gave them an increased yield of 50 per cent over seed with which it was compared. Pennsylvania farmers appreciate that high quality seed must be used if yields of good quality are to be expected. This season they have already bought over 80,000 bushels of the Michigan stock.

Heavy inquiries for certified seed are now being received from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and several eastern and southern states. It is believed that approximately 160 car loads of certified seed will be required by Ohio and Indiana.

The planting season in the states above named is several weeks ahead of that in Michigan, and therefore, their orders are placed quite early in the spring. Michigan growers should make arrangement for their seed promptly so that they will be assured of getting the stock they wish.

THEATRICAL

"Calvert's Valley," a William Fox production starring John Gilbert, will be the attraction at the Palace Theatre on Tuesday, April 3rd.

The story, "Calvert's Valley," was written by Margaret P. Montague and the scenario by Jules Furthman. Jack Dillon directed the picture. In addition to the star the cast contains such well known names as Sylvia Bremer, Philo McCullough, Herschel Mayall and Lulu Warrenton.

While mystery is one of the main elements of the picture, the spectator being kept in suspense until the very end, it also carries the golden thread of a charming love story. According to reports received, the photography is an outstanding triumph.

The many recent successes of John Gilbert in Fox pictures, notably "Monte Cristo," is an omen of great promise for "Calvert's Valley."

FOLK SONGS AND THE OPERA

COLERIDGE-TAYLOR AND RICHARD WAGNER THIS WEEK

"Deep River" is Negro Composer's Best Loved Work—Wagner's Rich and Profound Genius

American as a nation of civilized people is not old enough to have much native heritage of folk music or folk literature. The nearest approach to folk music is songs of the Negroes of the South. Before the civil war, very few Negroes were permitted to learn to read and write and the times they sang or danced to, therefore, were traditional. They were passed on from father to son and from son to brother or neighbor, and just as with the song of the wandering minstrel in Europe he found the days of the printing press.

The origin of the Negro's music is obscure. Probably many were brought from Africa by the first Negro slaves. Certainly some of the Negro music is so old in time structure, and in its rhythmic movement, that we may well conclude it is of its origin in primitive Africa. The Negroes had songs for every occasion. Whether working in the fields in the cotton fields, on the river steamboats, or along the levees, or enjoying leisure moments together, they had songs and dances appropriate for their occupation. Often, someone acting as leader would sing or chant a few measures alone, then being joined by the group, or a chorus. Sometimes the leader would make up words for his solo parts as he went along. If another member of the group had an inventive mind, perhaps he too would contribute verses.

The Negro has strange sense of rhythm, keen ear for pitch and gift for improvising peculiar harmonies. A group of Negroes will sing for hours, passing from one tune to another, always managing to strike the key best suited to their voice and to the song, singing true to pitch and usually employing harmonies other singers would not be capable of inventing.

Samuel Coleridge-Taylor was born in 1875. His father was native of Sierra Leone, Africa, and his mother, an English woman. His compositions are fine and brilliant. Among them is the musical setting for the poem, "Hiawatha," one symphony and many orchestral numbers and songs, including "Deep River," a Negro spiritual.

Wagner (Richard Wilhelm Wagner) is the world's greatest composer of opera, for he created a music drama more serious, noble and dignified than pre-existing opera and more expressive of the profoundest human emotions. To him, the music drama was the culmination of all arts, uniting not merely music and poetry, but also sculpture, for the poses, and architecture, painting and the decorative arts, for scenery and stage settings. Wagner treated the human voice as a constituent part of the orchestra, not as something to be petted and pampered. He used a "leit motif" (guiding theme) to represent each principal character or idea, these themes (groups or notes) recurring and developing as the music drama progressed.

Wagner was born in Leipzig, Germany, in 1813, of intelligent parents. Owing to the fact that his step-father was an actor and playwright, the youngest of nine children spent much of his time about the theatre and gained knowledge that was to help him later. He was a fine student, fond of the classics and devoted to the music of Weber and Beethoven, which he studied while preparing for the university. He could neither sing nor play in a way to give much pleasure, but he had ideas, wonderful ideas in composing, a knowledge of the orchestra, ability as a conductor and tireless energy. He became a chorus director, writing incidental music, interpolating air and an 1840s. "Rienzi" was his first ambitious work. That opera launched him on his career as a composer at the age of 27. He married early and his wife was his companion in a long struggle against debt and poverty. Their story is a journey from a place to place unable to get recognition; release of scores of failures of operas; constant working scenes with difficulty places of debt and hours of repose to put the wonderful pipe dreams into form.

"Rienzi" was Wagner's true friend during those trying days, but it was with money, now sympathy, devotion, appreciation and powerful influence. In four years, Wagner and his wife had three children and full social friends. Lady of the Reich had three children and full social friends. Lady of the Reich had three children and full social friends.

STIMULATES GROWING OF THE SMALL FRUITS

Potoskey Factory Provides Market For Many Varieties

Dr. H. W. Wagner, of Chicago, who resorts at Potoskey in the summer time, is at present in the latter city, having recently closed a deal for the purchase of the Potoskey fruit cannery plant, on West Lake Street.

He intends to conduct a permanent business in Potoskey during the fruit season and is now engaged in remodeling and enlarging the plant to fit it for the production of fruit juices for medicinal purposes. Dr. Wagner has been operating for the past two summers most successfully and now plans to branch out and include some fruits in his products. At present he is using wild cherries, elder berries, and some other of the wild fruits. The plant also provides a comfortable facility for red currants, gooseberries, blackberries, and buckberries.

The doctor expects to open the factory the first of June and to put in operation the first part of the summer. It is likely that the presence of this factory, so close to Charlevoix, will serve to stimulate the growing of small fruits in the vicinity. There is a lot of more, in the crowding of small fruits, if it is handled. This fact has been amply demonstrated in the Grand Traverse region, and they have no special advantages over this section for their culture.

Dr. Wagner's American-born wife will hold a meeting Monday evening, April 2nd, at 8 o'clock, at the Charlevoix Public School.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

Two more months of study. Everyone who feels an attack of spring fever coming on, prevent it, as Mr. Hamilton made it very plain that any slipping this year means expulsion.

We are glad to see Miss Cotton back again after a week's illness.

The children of the first grade (Miss Jarvis, teacher), the third and fifth grades of the training room, and the primary room of the south side (Mrs. Trimble, teacher), were the first children to enroll 100 percent in the Junior Red Cross for 1923.

Miss Bertha Hepburn, of Bellaire, was a visitor at school Monday.

Monday morning, after the reading of the Bible, chapel was given over to the Music Memory Contest. The orchestra played "Barcarolle" and "Humoresque." Miss Cotton and Miss Boley presided at the piano for three numbers and other numbers were given on the victrola.

The fourth annual tournament at Potoskey was one of the most successful events of its kind ever held in the North. This form of entertainment bids fair to become the big moment in high school athletics and is becoming more popular every year. Hundreds of people came from all directions to cheer for their teams and the hotels were crowded to the capacity. Approximately twenty towns and cities were represented.

Five games were played Thursday night. Charlevoix defeated Ellsworth in the fourth game of the evening, 28-2. The next morning Elk Rapids created the sensation of the tournament and completely upset the hope of the prophets by eliminating Charlevoix. Fortune had to have her little joke and C. H. S. was the goat.

The second surprise of the day came when Boyne City unexpectedly defeated Cadillac.

Saturday afternoon saw some very exciting games. Potoskey defeated Manistee for the Class B title in the most thrilling game of the tournament, when Fry of Potoskey, caged a long one in the last twenty seconds, putting Potoskey one point in the lead. Pellston defeated Grayling and took the Class C title.

In the evening Potoskey won the championship of the tournament by defeating Pellston.

The ceremony over and the prizes having been awarded, the crowd was entertained with dancing and refreshments.

This eventful occasion ended officially Saturday night, but was not completely ended until 3:30 Sunday afternoon. At that time five weary fellows, arm in arm, their faces red with sunburn, and their knees wobbly with fatigue, were seen slowly Charlevoix Chapter No. 141, R. A. M., will meet Friday evening for the purpose of conferring the Royal Arch degree. Supper at six o'clock.

O. D. Hammond and Henry Wood left Tuesday morning for Detroit, on business.

Bert Noble took a five and a quarter pound white fish out of Pine Lake Monday afternoon.

Fred Norton returned to this city Saturday, from Detroit, where he has been working this winter.

Miss Eleanor Finucan is here from Ypsilanti to spend her Easter vacation with her sisters.

Miss Aurelia Verduin, former teacher in the schools here, is the guest of Mrs. Will Marshall this week.

Drs. Frank H. Wilkinson and W. W. Mitchell are attending the sessions of the State Dental Society at Detroit, this week.

Miss Dagmar Anderson, who has been spending the last month or two at the home of her parents, in East Jordan, arrived here Saturday for a few days' visit to friends.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold a meeting Monday evening, April 2nd, at the office of R. F. Sloan, on Bridge Street. Everybody come.

The closing basketball game of the season between the Ellsworth and Charlevoix independent teams will take place here Thursday night at the rink. Fans please be on hand in force.

Miss Helen Webster returned Sunday morning to Charlevoix, after spending a week's vacation at southern Michigan points. She arrived in Petoskey Saturday night and drove over in a sleigh.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Countryman, at East Jordan, on March 23, a nine pound baby boy, Charles Howard. Mrs. Countryman was formerly Miss Alma Nowland of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards, Jr., have purchased the house at 102 Wood Street, formerly owned by A. B. Carberry. They moved in last Saturday and are now engaged in redecorating and otherwise fitting the place up.

Three deaths this week—John James Barber, well known farmer of the Ironton district, sixty-nine; James Ralph Mitchell, eight year old son of Peter Mitchell, of this city. Further particulars next week.

A fisherman went out on the ice east of Holly Island last week and tried to chop a hole in the frozen surface of the lake. He cut down to a depth of sixteen feet and then quit, fearing that the water would come through and drown him in the hole. This story, Bert Beaudouin assures us, comes from the most reliable sources.

R. E. Olson, manager of the local Western Union office, who has been ill for the past two weeks with the gripe, is back on the job again. R. E. Brown of the Detroit office, has been supplying for Mr. Olson during his illness.

Benjamin Brown has sold the building, formerly occupied by Ray Ashdon's barber shop, to John Egan, who will remove it to his lot on the south side and remodel it into a dwelling. Mr. Brown will erect a modern shop of brick on the site of the old building, for Mr. Ashdon.

Neal Kemp, former electrician and engineer at the local electric light plant, left Tuesday, March 20th, for Owensboro, Ky., where he will supervise the installation of machinery in a cooling station for the Howlett Construction Company, of Moline, Ill. From there he goes to Pennsylvania on a similar mission. His new home and permanent headquarters, however, will be at Moline, where Mrs. Kemp expects to join him shortly.

The advertising committee of the city council and the Charlevoix Commercial Association, meeting in joint session last Monday evening, agreed to accept Miss Adelle Halley's proposition to give her services, clerical and stenographic, and space in her gift shop for the purposes of the Information Bureau for the four months of June, July, August and September. Compensation was fixed at $100.00 for the four months.

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE ON APRIL 2nd

Stand Behind the Nominees as Good Citizens Should

The fact that the result of the recent primary election left only one candidate in the field for circuit judge and other important offices of the Republican ticket does not lessen the individual voter's responsibility to get out to the polls on Monday, April 2nd, and confirm the people's choice with his vote.

Public officials need and should have the backing and support of the people who elected them at all stages of the game, not only at the primaries, but on election day, and this support should be continued throughout their official career if they are to render a real service to the people.

Let's get out strong, therefore, on next Monday, and show Farm Gilbert that, whatever our previous preferences or prejudices, now that the decision is made we intend to stand by him in the cause of good and efficient administration of justice.

Besides, there are the city ticket and an important amendment to receive your official sanction and await your decision. In another place in this issue you will find a clear and complete description of the Port District amendment. This amendment has a very important bearing on Michigan shipping and commerce and, in view of the proposed Great Lakes Waterway plan assumes an added importance. It will be impossible to take care of the vast increase of trade brought to our doors by the projected linking of lakes to ocean unless some such measure as this becomes a law.

JOHNSON TO COMMAND STEAMER, "MANITOU"

Famous Floating Hotel Will Keep Old Schedule

Captain George Johnson, of Traverse City, will command the S. S. "Manitou" during the 1923 season, announces R. F. Church, president and general manager of the Michigan Transit Company. The "Manitou" will run on her old schedule, making Charlevoix the first stop.

The "Missouri" in command of Capt. William T. Bright, of Chicago, will make weekly trips between Chicago and the Soo, stopping at Charlevoix on its north and southbound trips Sundays and Tuesdays.

The "Puritan" will make the run between Chicago and Ludington, under the command of Capt. John Stufbeam of the latter city.

All vessels of the line, except the "Manitou," will go into commission with the opening of navigation this year.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Lyman Ruder, of Ironton, was back in the hospital this week for the third time recently. He had an operation for abdominal abscess performed Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Lamphear, who submitted to a slight operation at the hospital Monday, returned to her home today.

Robert Emrey, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emrey, is recovering nicely from a slight operation on the ears, performed last week.

The condition of Captain Danny Martin is much improved at this writing and he is sitting up, now.

Donations of apples and potatoes are needed at the hospital now. Your generosity will be highly appreciated.

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

From the Farmers' Standpoint
As one big city daily somewhat facetiously remarks, "The Senate is getting down to work." The statement is even more true of the House. Long sessions devoted to the consideration of routine business have been the rule. Fiery debates have interrupted the monotony and helped the struggling reporters to win first-page space for their articles.

The Warner two-cent gas tax was reported favorably by the Senate Taxation Committee despite the strenuous opposition of Governor Groesbeck who is bringing every effort to bear on the members of the upper chamber to have the rate reduced to one cent. His only apparent victory so far has been to have the further consideration of the gas tax bill postponed until Wednesday, March 28.

School Fund Change Sought

Revision of the system of distributing the Primary School Interest Fund is proposed by Rep. Thomas D. Meggison of Antrim County. His bill would apportion the state aid among the school districts of the state directly in proportion to product of school census and school attendance and inversely as the equalized assessed valuation of the district. The proposed bill not make any change in the source or amount of the school aid fund.

The operation of the bill would promote school attendance and would distribute the fund more in proportion of the need of the school district. Sentiment in favor of the bill is developing rapidly among representatives of the poorer and more sparsely settled districts of the state. The only strenuous opposition to appear as yet is from the Detroit members. The State Department of Public Instruction and many leading educators heartily endorse the bill.

Tax Measures Appear

Rep. Meggison introduced another important bill during the week. His second bill aims to promote reforestation and the profitable use of the state's idle land. It provides for an annual tax on the bare-land value of the land growing commercial forests until the time of maturity or harvest of the timber, when a harvest tax would be assessed.

Sponsors of the bill point out that this principle is the one now used with all other farm crops. They maintain that the annual general property tax is not suited to a long-time crop like timber or forest products. The principle of the bill and its specific provisions have been approved by the State Conservation Department and the State Tax Commission.

Definite protection against mounting local and state taxes on real estate is carried in a bill presented in the House by Rep. Charles Evans of Tipton. The bill is strongly urged by the Michigan Real Estate Association, who regard it as the surest method of preventing the rapid increase of real estate levies.

Under its provisions no county, township, city, village or school district could levy on real estate more than two per cent increase over the 1922 levy for the year 1923, and in each succeeding year an additional two per cent increase on the basis of the 1922 levies.

The same provision is made for the state tax levy on real estate. In case of an emergency, however, the Legislature could by special enactment place an additional levy on real estate for a period of not more than two consecutive years, defining and setting forth in detail what the emergency was that demanded such levy. This additional levy could be passed only by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.

The bill is designed, say its supporters, to accomplish two things; first, to force economy in all branches of government; second, to equalize and lessen the burden borne by general property.

Income Tax Proposed

Another important tax revision measure has been dropped into the legislative hopper by Rep. Warren D. Byrum of Leslie. The legislator has "started something" by proposing the statutory enactment of a state income tax to replace all general property tax for state purposes. The bill provides a straight four per cent rate on all personal incomes after exempting $1,000 for a single person, $2,000 for a married person and $400 for each child under 18, or other dependent.

Leading legal authorities, including Governor Groesbeck, have advised Rep. Byrum that for a straight income tax, which is not progressive or graduated but has a flat rate, a constitutional amendment is not necessary. There is some possibility that the Byrum income tax may receive early consideration in the House. No predictions have been made as to what the Senate would do with it.

Dairy Legislation Advanced

The legislative deadlock between the Senate and the House over the Horton cheese standard bill has finally been broken. The House receded from its most important amendments and the bill has been passed substantially as proposed by Sen. Horton.

The Senate passed the Town anti-filled milk bill by a vote of 29 to 0. Both of these bills now go to the Governor for his signature.

Another bill of some interest to dairymen is the Strauch ice cream bill which was passed by the House 87 to 0. This measure requires the state licensing of ice cream factories, gives the State Commissioner of Agriculture authority to issue rules and regulations regarding ice cream manufacture, and to cancel licenses when his regulations are not observed.

Grape Standards Pass House

After considerable discussion and explanation the House passed without opposition Rep. Oscar Braman's grape standard bill. Three standard grades are established and made compulsory for all grapes sold in closed packages. The bill is favored by the commercial grape growers who seek to improve the market for the product of Michigan vineyards.

Sen. Johnson's bill to place a $50 license on travelling dealers in drugs and toilet articles passed the Senate 26 to 5.

Abolition of the present system in which a large part of the incomes of county officials is paid with the fees collected by such officers, and substitution of a plan whereby such officers would be compensated on a straight salary basis, are the purpose of a bill introduced in the Senate by Frank L. Young of Lansing.

The Senate passed by a 28 to 1 vote a bill sponsored by Sen. Connolly to call a two year halt in giving state rewards for non-trunk line highways. The rewards will automatically come back after two years, but will be reduced to 10 per cent of the cost of the road, instead of 25 per cent to 40 per cent as at present.

Set End of Private Banks

The bill to bring private banks under state inspection and supervision was reported favorably by the Senate Committee after being amended to exempt any private banks located in any village incorporated or unincorporated having a population of less than 250 inhabitants. The time for coming under state supervision has been extended to two years.

This bill provides that at the end of the specified two year period, all private banks would have to submit to an examination by the state bank.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which quickly relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health. Sold by druggists for over 40 years. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

ing commissioner and if a satisfactory showing was made and such banks wanted to continue business, then they would be required to incorporate as state banks and come under state supervision. They would be allowed to begin business with $10,000 paid in capital until such time as their deposits should reach $125,000 when $5,000 more capital would be required, then when deposits reached $150,000 another $5,000 in capital would be required, making the minimum $20,000 in conformity with the present state banking law.

More Pay for Solons

A joint resolution to amend the state constitution to increase salaries of members of the State Legislature from $800 for the session to $2,000, was introduced in the House by Rep. George Brown of Detroit. The resolution was referred to the House Committee on Revision and Amendment to the Constitution. A similar constitutional amendment setting the pay at $1,200 per two year term has been proposed by Rep. Walter Henze of Iron Mountain.

Should either of these measures emerge from the committee and find favor with legislators, who have previously shown a disposition to frown on any such pay boosts, the amendment would go to the people for decision.

No Short Sessions

No matter what the pay is, our law-makers do not appear to be in hurry to get back home. The Senate voted down Sen. Wm. L. Cuses's proposed constitutional amendment to limit legislative sessions to 90 days, after a discussion in which the idea was advanced that hurriedly made laws are not good laws.

Nearly 90 days of the present session are already gone and a huge mass of important legislation remains yet to be threshed out. 72 new bills appeared during the week, bringing the present total up to 661.

TAKE THE SHORT CUT

When you were a youngster, you never went to school the long way 'round! You took a short cut.

Every advertisement in this paper is a short cut. Advertisements make it possible to tell you in a few minutes all you want to know about the service or articles you need.

At a glance you can sift out the things that interest you most and in a moment you know just when and where to go for what you want.

Then you realize the great economy and necessity of advertising in your daily life.

PETOSKEY WINS THE TOURNAMENT

TAKE REGIONAL AND CLASS B HONORS IN STIFF FIGHT

Northern State Normal Athletic Director Compliments Both Teams And Fans on Their Work

The Petoskey high school basketball team won the championship of the northwestern Michigan region Saturday night, winning from Pellston, Class C champions, in a hard-fought game in the final round of the fourth annual district championship tournament held at Petoskey. They not only won the regional championship but also captured the championship of Class B schools, this being decided in the tightest game of the tournament in which Manistee high was downed 9 to 7. The tournament ball, emblematic of victory, was presented to the Petoskey team, at the close of the contest, which decided the district championship.

In addition to winning the highest honors of the tournament the Petoskey team was further honored by having Captain Frye elected as the most valuable player to his team and having this same star guard elected to the all-tournament team.

Petoskey and northern Michigan basketball fans were highly complimented by W. B. McClintock, director of athletics of the Northern State Normal at Marquette, chief official of the tournament, for their sportsmanship and fine spirit of fairness displayed in every game throughout the tournament. The official declared that he had seldom been privileged to work before a crowd which gave such fair treatment to both Petoskey and visiting teams.

Big Crowds Attend Games

Packed houses greeted the teams as they took the floor at every session of the tournament. The Friday night crowd and the one Saturday night were the largest ever seen at a tournament at Petoskey, while the afternoon assemblage was unusually large.

At the close of the battle for the northern championship Saturday night, the Petoskey squad, wearing their blue and white blankets, formed a circle in the center of the gymnasium floor and at once the crowd packed around to view the champions.

Many remained to witness the award of the handsome trophies, selection of the all-tournament teams, and announcement of winners of special honors.

Petoskey and Pellston received handsome shields as emblems of their victories in their classes in the tournament. Loving cups were presented to second place winners, Manistee in Class B and Grayling in Class C. Cups also went to third place winners, Cheboygan in Class B, and Elk Rapids in Class C. Onaway won the consolation cup in Class B and East Jordan the consolation cup for Class C.

Captain Emerson Frye, of Petoskey, elected by the visiting coaches and tournament referees as the player of most value to his team, received a loving cup and jersey sweater.

E. Brown, of Grayling, was presented with a jersey sweater, for having made the greatest percentage of foul shots in two or more games in the tournament, thirteen out of seventeen chances. The same speedy forward won a pair of basketball shoes for making the largest number of points in any one game in Class C tournament. He scored nineteen points—eight field baskets and three fouls.

Trudeau, center of the Cheboygan team, with the high score honor for Class B teams with fourteen points. He was presented with a pair of basketball shoes.

All Tournament Team. Players were elected as members of the all tournament team by the officials, and each man was presented with a sterling miniature basketball watch charm. The team is as follows: Forwards, Brown of Grayling, and W. Fournier, of Manistee; center, William, of Pellston; guards, Captain Frye, of Petoskey, and Stacer, of Elk Rapids.

The Grayling team won the honor of making the highest score of any team in the tournament—31 points in one game, and a total of 85 for the tournament. Brown scored 45 of his team's points. Hewitt, of Pellston, scored 32 of his team's 65 points. Petoskey led Class B teams with 73 points, Hoffman scoring 28, Beer 18, George 14, Frye 8, Olson 4 and Slack 1.

The Charlevoix basketball team played entirely out of form as can be readily seen by their early elimination from the contest. They defeated their first opponent, Elk Rapids, on Thursday evening, but lost to Elk Rapids the next morning.

It is needless to say that Charlevoix fans were disappointed somewhat, as Charlevoix was rated as one of the strongest Class C teams in northern Michigan. However, we have very good material for next year, most of the players of this year's team coming back for another season and prospects look bright for next year.

KING TUT COMES HERE NEXT SUMMER

Salem Mussalem's Boy Named For Egyptian Monarch

We note in the columns of a Chicago daily, sent in by one of our readers that a bouncing baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Salem Mussalem in St. Augustine, Fla., last week.

The baby's father, who is well known here and returns to Charlevoix each summer to open his curio shop in the big building on Bridge street that bears his name, was born in Alexandria, Egypt and, believing in reincarnation, has named the boy Tut-Ankh-Amen, for the great Pharaoh, whose tomb was recently discovered near Luxor.

WILL DISCUSS ON FARMING AND FRUITS

Messrs. Hagerman and Cribbs To Address the Marion Grange

B. O. Hagerman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, and W. C. Cribbs, marketing specialist of the M. A. C., will address a special, open meeting of the Marion Center Grange at the grange hall in Marion Center, on Friday evening, March 30th. They will discuss general farming methods.

Friday afternoon will be devoted to an open air meeting at the farm home of W. K. Straw, the trimming and top-dressing of fruit trees being the topic of discussion and demonstration.

PORT AMENDMENT UP AGAIN

It will mean that with cheaper water transportation, of which adequate port facilities are a vital part, merchandise and agricultural products shipped out of the state will bring better prices, and products manufactured and sold within the state will be bought cheaper, owing to lessened cost of production. Transportation costs are as much a part of the cost of production as are the actual costs of manufacturing operation. This applies to the farmer as well as to the manufacturer.

So, to sum it all up, passage of the so-called Port Amendment to the State Constitution will mean to the people of Michigan lower prices for things they have to buy and increased prices for things they have to sell; and it will cost nobody a penny except those who benefit directly by residing and doing business and owning property within the port districts. Neither will passage of the amendment cost anybody an iota of political freedom.

It was late afternoon when the gay Wolverines reluctantly departed, each vowing to attend the next annual picnic.

Mrs. Phillips also sent us one of the hand-bills distributed prior to the picnic and from this we note that another feature of the entertainment was a Sacred Hour Service, lasting from ten to eleven a. m., with address delivered from Radio Station K. Superintendent Chas. Hamilton Receives Letter From Committee.
One of 120 High Schools

Early in January, Superintendent Hamilton of the Charlevoix public schools, was advised by School Inspector J. B. Edmondson that the local high school's application for accreditation under the North Central plan had been passed upon favorably by the Michigan committee and would come up for final consideration at the Chicago meeting, to be held on March 15-17, 1923.

The following letter was recently received by Superintendent Hamilton:

"Ann Arbor, Michigan
March 20, 1923

Dear Sir: We take pleasure in informing you that your high school was accredited at the recent annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which was held in Chicago March 15-17. You will receive official notice of this action from the secretary of the association within the next few weeks. You will also receive a bulletin giving the approved colleges, the accredited high schools and the revised standards.

It may interest you to know that at the meeting of the association, a total of 120 Michigan high schools were accredited. Of this number ten were new schools as follows: Charlevoix, Coldwater, Detroit, Sacred Heart Seminary, Farmdale, Hart, Lowell, Manistee, Muskegon Heights, St. Johns and St. Louis.

We regret to state that two high schools formerly accredited were dropped from the list and that fourteen high schools were warned to enforce with greater care the standards relating to the teaching load and the professional preparation of teachers. Your school however was fully accredited by the association.

We are much pleased to announce that the best report in recent years on Michigan high schools from the standpoint of buildings, equipment, preparation of teachers, salaries, etc., was presented this year to the association.

Respectfully yours,
Michigan Committee on North Central Schools.

Inspector J. B. Edmondson, University Chairman.

Inspector C. L. Goodrich, Lansing.

Principal E. L. Miller, Detroit.

For those who have never given the subject of accreditation much thought—there are two steps to be considered. There are two forms of accreditation: What is known as University accreditation under which plan graduates are admitted to the higher institutions of the state on diploma; then there is the North Central accreditation which enlarges the boundaries and allows the graduate of the school to enter on diploma any of the universities or colleges in any of the states belonging to the North Central Association.

Let us take for the sake of an example a city where a new high school is to be established: The authorities must plan the curriculum so that no teacher teaches more than six forty minute periods per day; there must be a minimum number of classes held in session room where pupils study; there must be plenty of reference books, laboratory equipment sufficient to enable each student in science classes to work individually the experiments necessary for that course.

Teachers must be college trained and as many as possible degree.

The general trend of the school policies must be in line of progression. When the university inspector passes favorably on said school it is placed on the university list.

If the school authorities desire higher standards and more prestige for their institution, they go one step further and raise their scholarship standards for teacher so each teacher of an academic subject has a college degree, standards of scholarship for pupils are raised and the morale of the institution made the equal of the best schools in the state.

Charlevoix High School has been on the university list since 1902 and in 1914 won North Central accreditation, but two years ago failed to measure up to one of the important standards of the association and was "struck" from the list of North Central schools, but still remained on the university list.

YOUNG FAULKNER LEADS HIS CLASS

Chosen As Valedictorian By Seniors
Of '23

Raymond N. Faulkner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Faulkner of this city, has been named valedictorian of the senior class of the Charlevoix high school.

In his junior year, Mr. Faulkner took the leading part in the junior play. He is a pianist of ability and a member of his school orchestra. He won a C as a member of the debating team and in the mental contest he stood the highest in the high school. He is sixteen years of age.

A recent issue of the Grand Rapids Press carries Mr. Faulkner's picture with an account of his enviable record. Just another one of the young men that Charlevoix is producing every year to represent her in the new generation whose names are being written on the long roll of honorable achievement in the work of the world.

SPRING IS STILL BASHFUL

HER FALTERING ADVANCES
AROUSE FALSE HOPES

She Probably Is Peeved At What The Hard-boiled Sidewalk Shovelers Have Said About Her

With parsimonious, unexampled in the mercy of the oldest inhabitant, winter still retains his icy grip upon the Northern Michigan region.

Tuesday morning, and for most of the day, the arctic eye was greeted with a beautiful sight. Soft, fluffy snow had fallen during the night and the branches of the trees were heavy with the clinging stuff, dazzling white in its purity, giving the landscape a fanciful aspect. Tuesday afternoon, the sun broke through the low, spring clouds for a little while and the effect was entrancing. Even the grumbling comments with which most of winter's manifestations for the past few weeks have been greeted were stilled in the presence of nature's magnificence.

Hard lines, though, for the farmer and the car owner. Early spring plowing is an impossibility and the energetic farmer chafes impatiently at the sight of his waiting acres, still blanketed, while the poor bird who rushed over to the court house for his license plates at the first break in the temperature now wishes he had applied his money on the new bill.

The early morning sidewalk brigade on Bridge street have lost their individual goals completely and are thinking (and saying) unutterable things. About all the cheerful passerby who seeks to inject a word of hope in their gloom can get out of any of them nowadays is a profane grunt. We believe they have about given up hope.

Traffic conditions on the side streets are about the same, only more so and due to the unrelenting ventures off the path. Some of the south-side residents are collecting boat catalogues and the more enterprising ones are planning an ark in anticipation of the spring break-up next summer.

Last Monday morning, the experimental department of the Sanitary Engineering Company, who answers to the name of "Cy," drove a two foot iron spike into the crown of the ice in the middle of Bridge street to prove that there was really a pavement underneath. He struck bottom at 24 inches, but had to borrow a team of horses to pull out the spike. So much for science.

And now, on top of it all, along comes the amateur weather prophet with the prediction that a worse storm than any previously experienced this winter is on its way to us. May the fiends confound him!

Well, when all is said and done, when the change once comes it is likely to last (please don't remind us that we have said this before) and we may confidently expect that Nature, repenting of her erstwhile severity, will smile upon us with benign and tender amusement at our childish fuming over deferred hopes.

Miss Helen Marting of Olivet College, accompanied by Mrs. A. A. Swinton, will entertain at a concert at the Congregational church Friday evening.—Adv. 14-11 pd.

MONSTER RE- VIVAL FOR SEPTEMBER

SPEAKERS OF INTERNATIONAL REPUTE—BILLY SUNDAY AND WM. J. BRYAN AMONG THEM

Charlevoix Has A Rare Opportunity For A Spiritual and Intellectual Feast That Will Bring People Here From Far and Wide—A Wonderful Program

Citizens of Charlevoix county and vicinity—are you interested in bringing to this part of Michigan the greatest influx of people ever known, which will not only result in great material good in Charlevoix, but a marvelous, spiritual uplift? Would you like to have a large open air tent meeting conducted in Charlevoix, with singing and music such as a majority of citizens in this part of Michigan have never before heard, with speaking by gentlemen who are spiritually educated and spiritually born?

The speakers who can be secured for an open air service for the month of September, provided you get busy this month, are: Rev. James Gray, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute, the man after the Evangelist Moody's own heart; Rev. John McNeil, D. D., whose books are found in many thousands of homes and libraries, whose noble Scotch heart is so filled with the riches of Christ's love that his preachings reach men's hearts in all walks of life; the Rev. William (Billy) Sunday, D. D., that doughty champion of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, so well known that throngs will come from far and near and hang upon his every word. He is too well known for further comment.

Then our own C. Wilbur Hewitt, D. D., in whom we have explicit confidence, not only as a preacher of the Book of God, but a spiritual man, (a fact evidenced by the Gospel Question Box recently conducted in this paper, which so thoroughly stirred the community for Jesus Christ,) whose sermons have that which furnish the needs of the Gospel seeking heart. And then his life lived among us—these are the things that make us want to hear him.

It is also possible that America's greatest idealist greatest Christian reformer and greatest orator can be secured for one day (two addresses)—we refer to the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, who as a lecturer stands in a class by himself. If Mr. Bryan can be secured, he will be requested to give his two most famous lectures, namely: "The Prince of Peace" and "The Price of the Human Soul."

Have the people of this vicinity a vision of what a campaign of this kind will mean to Charlevoix?

Well, if you have, that vision will never become a reality until you act. You may ask, "how much will it cost?" to bring these Christian men to Charlevoix for this campaign, which would commence September 2, ending September 30. Our answer is NOT ONE DOLLAR.

It is not contemplated that this revival shall be the "property" of any one branch of Christ's church. It will be strictly undenominational and the appeal for support will be made to all the city's protestant bodies. The pastors of the various churches will be asked to take an active part in the preliminaries as well as the revival program, itself, and, in truth, the earnest co-operation of every Christian body in the city is needed to make the project a real success. It is the people's spiritual feast and the people shall share its burdens if they partake of its benefits.

The period selected for the holding of the open-air services—the four weeks of September—was happily chosen, not merely with respect to the favorable weather conditions that may confidently be expected to prevail at this time, but also in view of the fact that a great many of our summer visitors will doubtless be induced to delay their departure for home by the exceptional character of the speakers who will be secured. With the large number of people who will be attracted to Charlevoix from other resort points nearby and many Michigan cities, we are sure of record crowds during the month of the revival and this lengthening of our summer season will be of very great material benefit to the town and vicinity.

As a means of awakening the latent religious enthusiasm of our people, the effects of this great inspirational enterprise will be hard to estimate. It is probable that the churches of Charlevoix will feel its influence in the deeper and more vital realization of his duties as a Christian that will be brought to each and every one of their members. And this influence will be felt for years to come. It is likely, in fact, to manifest itself in every department of our social life, and in the light of this probable result, it is certainly worth the best efforts of us all.

NO MORE SPEARING AT ANY SEASON

Ruling Protects Fish in Charlevoix
Streams and Rivers

County Clerk Charles Emrey has received a notice from John Baird, director of the Michigan department of conservation, stating that, after due deliberation of the evidence submitted at a hearing held in Charlevoix February 6, the department hereby orders that for a period of five years from March 22, 1923, may not be taken from the rivers and streams of Charlevoix county at any season of the year in any manner except by the use of hook and line under penalties of fines, imprisonment, or both.

The Charlevoix net and gun club is back of this order. They claim that in the spearing of suckers many steelhead trout also are being destroyed.

NEW ELECTRIC SIGNS FOR BRIDGE STREET

Sanitary Engineering Co. Has Contracts For Several

The Sanitary Engineering Company, of this city, is working at present on a number of attractive electric signs for various of the city's business houses that will do their bit towards making Charlevoix's "White Way" a little brighter this summer.

These signs are big fellows, hand-somely executed in white lettering on a deep blue field with black bordered edges. They represent some very clever work in tin-smithing, executed in galvanized iron throughout, with the exception of the letters, which are of a transparent, porcelain-like material. The signs are of the flash or intermittent type and will blink and wink away continuously throughout the long summer evenings, giving quite an impression of Broadway at its best.

These new under construction are designed for the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co., Hackett's Inn, Mike's Grocery, the Sugar Bowl and Campbell's Root Shop.

FORD DISTRICT SCHOOL TAX 110

SOME DISTRICTS RAISE MORE THAN $45 PER THOUSAND

Primary Fund by New Distribution
Would Reduce Discrepancy in Education Costs

The school tax rate in the state of Michigan ranged in 1921 from the eleven cents per thousand of assessed valuation to $49.00.

This tremendous spread will be reduced, if the pending primary fund legislation is enacted.

The local costs for public schools range all the way between these two extremes. The costs are highest in the remote and weak agricultural counties. They are lowest in the relatively populous and wealthy industrial counties.

The lowest rate in the state, approximately eleven cents per thousand, was found in Springwells, of Wayne county, the location of the big Ford factory. This district had of course an enormous valuation, thus the school tax, based on valuation, was practically nothing. Work in the Ford factory were and are young men from all over Michigan, many of them educated in the schools of the rural counties. Whatever they learned is used in Mr. Ford's industry. But for the education their parents paid at the following average rates, given for some of the rural counties of the state: Manistee, $13.27; Mason, $15.76; Moonstar, $12.57; Oscoda, $13.82; Wexford, $16.00; Emmet, $15.06; Berrien, $12.21; Branch, $9.11; Calhoun, $11.70; Cass, $10.99; Grand Traverse, $11.23; Ionia, $14.12; Lake county, known all over this state and over neighboring states, also, for lack of resources, pays $25.30 per thousand as school taxes.

The average school tax is down, as a rule, straight through the industrial and wealthy sections of the state. Wayne county paid a school tax, on the average, of $8.63; Ingham county, with Lansing, $7.60.

The effort of the proposed change in distribution of the primary fund is to recognize assessed valuation, as equalized, as well as school census and actual attendance upon the public schools. This has led to a study of the number of pupils enrolled in public schools per each $100,000 of equalized assessed valuation. It will be seen that this gives a more definite idea of the size of the burden which the various communities are carrying for education. Here is the enrollment in terms of number of students for each hundred thousand in a few of the rich school districts of the state: Springwells district No. 4, Wayne county, 17 of one pupil per hundred thousand; Springwells No. 4, Wayne county, 55 of one pupil per hundred thousand; Clayton No. 5 of Genesee county, 2.8; Kalamazoo No. 13, fractional, Kalamazoo county, 3.2.

Quite a different story may be told of the school tax burden which is borne in some of the very poor school districts of the state. Here are the number of pupils which must be educated by the tax raised on each $100,000 of equalized assessed valuation in the following districts:

Barl River No. 1 of Delta township, 88.1; Forest No. 5 of Missaukee county, 75.7; Ellsworth No. 8 of Lake county, 66.7; Huron No. 2 of Wayne county, 28.6; Forest No. 5 of Genesee county, 32.8; Alcona No. 2, fractional, of Branch county, 32.8.

A somewhat broader view of the local cost of education in various parts of the state is secured by giving by counties the number of pupils enrolled in the public schools for each $100,000 of assessed valuation. This varies from 8.7 pupils per $100,000 in Wayne county to 58.7 in Lake county. Here are these figures for quite a number of counties of the state: Alpena, 28.5; Baraga, 31.6; Berrien, 19.2; Branch, 14.7; Calhoun, 14.4; Chippewa, 26; Emmet, 33.4; Grand Traverse, 30.5; Houghton, 26.8; Iron, 19.1; Keweenaw, 12.1; Lake, 58.7; Leelanau, 43; Charles Hamilton was returned as Lake, 17.9; Manistee, 32.6; Mason, 31.8; Mecosta, 35.3; Monroe, 10.5; Oscoda, 41.2; St. Joseph, 37.7; Van Buren, 24.3; Wexford, 37.7; Wayne, 8.7. The average number of pupils enrolled in the whole state for each

MENDELSSOHN WAS PRECOCIOUS

HIS TALENT DEVELOPED AT AN EARLY AGE

Starting At The Age Of Eleven, He Produced Sixty Pieces In The First Year

The life of Felix Mendelssohn strikes one because of its remarkable activity begun at a very early age and brought to an early close when the composer died at the age of 34 years.

Reviewing his life, which has received consideration before, as the first music memory number—he was the son of a wealthy banker and born at Hamburg, on February 3, 1809.

Mendelssohn received his first musical training from his mother, but at the age of 11 Felix began composing. In the first year he produced 60 pieces. At the age of 12, he began writing opera. When Felix was 16, his father accompanied him to Paris, where they met Rossini and Meyerbeer, and with these men Mendelssohn worked and discoursed as their equal.

His first triumph was at the age of 17, when he completed "Midsummer Night's Dream." This was a distinct success. Mendelssohn was untiring in his musical activity. Any festival or event of importance in his family or in the state called forth compositions from his pen. During this period of fluent production, he was filling the position of director of music, first at Düsseldorf, then at the Geyandhaus, Leipzig, the latter being the highest honor in the German musical world.

The latter part of his life was a battle against failing health, but despite his weakened condition, he continued to fulfill a manifold number of duties.

When he was 33, he was struck by a great number and variety of compositions as any composer of his rank.

Not the least loved of his compositions are his songs. One example of their quality is "On Wings of Song." The melody is faultless, smooth, adaptable to the voice. The accompaniment represents flowing water.

Poldini (French)

The Waltzing Doll is descriptive of one of the puppet dolls of France, which at the manipulation of strings can dance in a most lively fashion. One can recognize in the first few measures the preciseness and slight jerkiness of the doll's motions. It is a charming description and we regret that the composer has left little else with which to connect his name.

Teachers Get Contracts

Teachers of Charlevoix were given their new contracts April 3rd. Charles Hamilton was returned as superintendent. The general corps of teachers will remain the same, although some changes may be looked for. No general increase of salaries is contemplated. Several new subjects, will however, be added to the school curriculum next year.

STRAITS FERRY NOW SEEMS SURE

Officials Inspect Dock Facilities At Both Sides of Straits

That the state of Michigan will operate a ferry across the Straits of Mackinac, appears more certain each day. Word comes from Mackinac Island to the effect that the state is looking into the proposition from every angle. Superintendent Kenyon and William Pierce of the state department have been at Mackinac City and other points looking over the docking facilities.

The value of a state owned ferry to transport cars across the straits at a nominal charge will have a greater bearing on the development of the resort business in Michigan than any other one factor. For years the prohibitive prices charged by the present operators hindered to no small extent the resort development.

It was stated last summer that the straits problem sent half of the Canadian travel through Wisconsin instead of Michigan where it naturally should have gone, due to the exorbitant charge of transporting cars.

FORD DISTRICT SCHOOL TAX 11c

$100,000 of assessed valuation is 14.1.

These figures are sufficient to show the wider variation in the local cost of education. The weaker counties of the state must either pay a relatively high school tax, or they must cut down the school advantages. Both things are happening. Some rural districts are stretching beyond what should be their capacity; others, paying more than is paid per $1,000 in the industrial centers, are not making adequate educational provisions.

A recent hearing at Lansing on the proposed change in distribution of primary fund was attended by F. W. Boswell, president of the Flint board of education and personnel director of the Buick Motor Car company. Having learned the details of the proposed plan, Mr. Boswell proclaimed his adherence, notwithstanding that Flint will lose some primary money. He declared that the Buick company, paying 40 per cent of the taxes of Flint, depends upon the rural counties of the state for employees, and that the Buick is better off with educated employees. It is felt, in his judgment, that in the distribution of the primary fund, recognition be given the rural sections for their contribution to the education of citizens of the entire state.

The distribution of the primary school fund on a per capita basis has helped a very little to equalize the load of education; that is, the situation is some better than as though all the money for school purposes had been raised by local taxation. This is due to the fact that there are relatively more children than money in the less opulent parts of the state.

Just what leveling effect the primary fund has had may be noted by computing the capitalized value of the primary fund in each county:

that is, by figuring the value of property which would yield as a direct tax the amount which reaches the county in the form of primary fund distribution. When such an amount is added to the assessed valuation, a figure is found which represents the equivalent of the entire tax capacity for school purposes. And the number of enrolled pupils per $100,000 of this entire tax capacity, so found, is as follows, in some of the counties: Alpena, 15.7; Baraga, 20; Berrien, 14.2; Branch, 11.6; Calhoun, 11.5; Keweenaw, 9.9; Leelanau, 22.3; Lapeer, 13.8; Lake, 27.6; Manistee, 18.9; Mason, 19.1; Mecosta, 21.2; Monroe, 8.3; Oscoda, 23.7; St. Joseph, 12.9; Van Buren, 17.2; Wexford, 23.2. The average for the state is 11.1. Wayne county has a load on this basis of 7.1 pupils per $100,000, and Kent county of 9.4.

It will be noted from the above that, with the primary fund thus capitalized, there is still great discrepancy. The school tax load per $100,000 in Lake county is almost four times as heavy as in Wayne. The load in Baraga county is twice that of Kent.

Now the purpose of the new distribution plan is to level the educational costs still further. The load per hundred thousand would be more nearly equal. The average for the state is 11.1, and no county would go higher in number of students per hundred thousand than Muskegon, where the load would be 16.9. Lake county would drop to 15.1. The number of pupils per hundred thousand would range for the wealthier counties around 9, 10 and 11; for the weaker counties, around 13, 14 and 15. Wayne county would have 7.8 per hundred thousand. There would still be a great variation in local school taxes, but the discrepancy would be less than now.

ASKS STATE PICK NEW NORMAL SITE

Rep. Smith, Cadillac, Would Have Committee Named by Legislature

A proposal that a legislative committee of five be appointed to investigate a site for a new state normal school is contained in a bill introduced last week by Representative Smith, of Cadillac. The committee would consist of three representatives and two senators, appointed by the presiding officer of each house.

An appropriation item of $1,000 for the expenses of the committee is contained in the bill.

Numerous bills asking for the location of a new normal in various cities in the north part of the state are now before the house committee on education, but there seems to be little likelihood that any action will be taken on these bills at the present session.

Representative Smith's bill will have the way for selection of a site by the 1925 legislature.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

Passage by the Senate of the Warner two-cent gas tax was the outstanding legislative achievement of the past week. Not only was it a most important accomplishment in itself but it also has a significant bearing on the future relations between the Senate and the House and the legislative and administrative branches of the government.

The very air was electric when the gas tax came up as a special order for final passage on Thursday. Galleries and side-lines were packed to capacity. Members of the lower house were massed in the rear to observe the fate of their favorite bill which they had previously passed 80 to 18.

The anti-gas tax forces sparred for time and moved for postponement of the final vote. But the gas tax supporters had the votes and finally maneuvered to bring the bill to final vote. The Senators lined up as follows: Yeas, Atwood, Bernie L. Case, Connelly, Gansser, Henry, Hunter, Karcher, Pearson, Truettner, Young, Bohn, Wm. L. Case, Eldred, Gettel, Horton, Johnson, Leonard, Slight, Whiteley. Nays: Bahorski, Brower, Glaspie, Hayes, Osborn, Penny, Biopelle, Ross, Smith, Wilcox, and Wood.

Sen. Thomas B. McNaughton of Ada, and Sen. Geo. M. Condon, of Detroit side-stepped, placing themselves on record by absenting themselves for the big day.

Biggest Debate of Session
For two and one-half hours preceding the final vote the battle raged furiously. All the pent-up eloquence and earnestness developed by the big issue broke loose in a swirling torrent of debate, of challenge and counter challenge.

Sen. Wm. M. Connelly, of Spring Lake, chairman of the Senate Highway Committee, led the fight for the gas tax. He plead for immediate passage of the bill and urged the Senate not to make a further mess of the situation.

Sen. Burnie Brower, of Jackson, who is the Governor's spokesman in the Senate, ably led the opposition to the gas tax. He urged delay, declaring that he never knew of any real legislative improvement being made in haste.

To this Sen. Connelly replied that the gas tax was not hasty legislation. He showed that it was no new or untried method, declaring that 25 other states already have gas taxes. He said that the bill had been before the legislature for two or three months and they should be familiar with it. Hearty applause greeted his thrust. "You warn against hasty legislation, why there is no such word as 'hasty' in the vocabulary of this Senate."

Gas Tax Easily Collected

The experience of other states regarding the ease and cheapness of collection of a gas tax was quoted in detail by Sen. Connelly. He declared that it furnished the only known means of deriving revenue from the drive-away cars and from the constantly increasing tourist travel.

Predictions that the Governor will veto the bill are being freely made. Perhaps the fight has only begun. But whatever the final outcome of the gas tax, responsibility for its fate will be definitely placed. Everybody will be on record. The next few weeks promise exceedingly interesting developments.

Senate Amends Business Tax

The Slight bill to amend the corporation tax law has passed the Senate, 30 to 0. The bill in its final form reduces the rate from 3 1-2 mills on the capital stock and surplus, raises the maximum tax from $10,000 to $50,000 and lowers the minimum from $50 to $10. The House will probably attempt to raise the maximum still further in order to increase the revenue from the big corporations of the state.

So-called woman's hills aren't progressing very rapidly in the Senate. One of them has, finally squeezed through the upper chamber. This successful measure is the bill to accept the provisions of the federal Shepher-Towner act which provides government aid for promoting the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy. Women's clubs and organizations have been showering the senators with petitions favoring passage of the bill.

Eastern Time Killed

Rep. Huett's proposal to make Eastern time standard in Michigan was snuffed out in the House by a vote of 37 to 55. Opposition to Eastern time was strong among the members from the western part of the state, and the rural districts generally.

Rep. Fred Wade, of Saugatuck, strongly opposed the bill, declaring that state-wide adoption of Eastern time would result in uniform time but would really mean double time in all parts of the state. He pointed out that railroads, postoffices, and other federal institutions would be required to run on central standard time since this time has been specified by Congress for this region.

Rep. John B. Corliss, a Detroit member, declared fast time would be a good thing for the farmer and stated, "Farmers will have to get up a half hour earlier anyway to make both ends meet this year."

Rep. George Roxburg, of Reed City, in opposing the change in time said, "It is a reflection on the intelligence of the American people to think that we have to change the clock in order to change the time of going to work. If you want to start work at 6:00 instead of 7:00, there is nothing to hinder you."

Legislature Starts Investigation

The first legislative investigation of the present session has been determined on by joint action of the House and Senate. The scandal in the present instance concerns child labor conditions in the sugar beet districts in the thumb.

Reports have been circulated and given nationwide publicity that extremely bad conditions are prevalent among the beet growers. The lawmakers intend to find out the exact conditions, correct them if they need correcting, and put a stop to false and exaggerating statements which are at present putting Michigan up in a rather bad light before the eyes of the other states in the Union.

School Fund Change Favored

Sentiment is developing rapidly in favor of the proposed change in the manner of distributing the primary school interest fund. A large public hearing was held on the bill Tuesday evening. Friends of the bill, including Tom Johnson, State Supt. of Public Instruction, and leading educators from many Michigan cities, spoke convincingly in favor of the proposed change. The only opposition offered was from Detroit, and this appeared rather weak and half-hearted.

There is every indication that this new method of distributing state educational aid will receive favorable consideration in the House. It is expected that the bill will be reported favorably by the Educational Committee of the House in the near future.

It is said that tremendous pressure is being brought to bear on members of the committee to smother this bill. One member of the committee is said to have been promised the support of the entire Wayne delegation for any of his bills if he would vote to keep the bill in committee.

In spite of such vote swapping and log-rolling, there is every indication that the justice of the proposed new system will appeal sufficiently to the representatives so that the bill will be speedily passed by a safe majority and sent to the Senate where the real fight will probably be staged.

Four Year Term Proposed

Voters of Michigan will choose their state officers once in four years if Rep. Milton Palmer's joint resolution for a constitutional amendment as reported out by the house committee on revision and amendment of the constitution is passed and approved by the electorate.

As originally introduced, the resolution called for the election of the governor to a four-year period, with a provision that he should not be eligible to re-election until at least one term had intervened between his first term and his candidacy for re-election.

The committee amended the resolution to make it include all state officers. The provision against immediate re-election applies only to the governor.

Farmers to Dope Hogs

Under a bill introduced by Rep. Charles Evans of Tipton, Lenawee County, farmers would be allowed to administer cholera virus to hogs by obtaining an annual license from the commissioner of agriculture at a fee of $5.

The extension department of the Michigan Agricultural College would be required to conduct classes of instruction for applicants in the various counties, and no license would be granted until the applicants have satisfactorily passed the course of instruction. Lenawee county farmers have a lot of hog cholera and feel the veterinarians have not been treating them right.

Salary Increases Considered

A proposal has been reported favorably in the House to submit to the people a constitutional amendment to double the pay of the Senators and Representatives. The new rate would be $800 per year instead of $400 per two year term, as at present.

It looks as if the law-makers would need a raise in pay if they are ever to finish the work of the session, especially if they get into a deadlock with the Governor over the gas tax and other features of highway funding program.

Petoskey Corporation To Sell Million Dollars of Mortgage Bonds

The Michigan Tanning & Extract company has placed on the market $1,000,000 of first (closed) mortgage 6 1-2 per cent gold bonds dated Mar. 1, 1923, and due March 1, 1938. Interest periods are March 1 and September 1 of each year.

The purpose of the issue is to provide funds to be applied in the payment of current obligations and insure additional working capital.

The Michigan Tanning & Extract company, in addition to its Kalamazoo plant, has properties at Boyne City, Fremont, Manistee and Wells, Mich.

The company is a Michigan corporation and was organized in 1911. The same management, which has successfully operated the properties the past twelve years, will be continued under the direction of W. S. Shaw, president, of Boyne City, and George S. Rice, vice-president, of Petoskey.

Financial circles regard the issue favorably, and belief has been expressed that it will be quickly absorbed by the investing public.

"MAYFLOWER" DESCENDANT IS DEAD

Mrs. Polly Meech Passed Away At Asheville, N. C.

News comes this week of the death at Asheville, N. C., of Mrs. P. J. Meech, well-known former resident of this city, which occurred on Monday, April 2nd, at the home of her son, Arthur B. Meech, with whom she had been visiting since last fall. She was 86 years old and a victim of heart trouble of long standing.

Polly Frances White was born in Shelburne, Vt., and was a direct lineal descendant of Peregrine White, one of the passengers in the "Mayflower" on its first memorable visit to this country in the seventeenth century. She was married in Shelburne to Frederick J. Meech sixty-two years ago, lived with her husband in Albany, N. Y., for a time and came with him to Michigan, ten years after their marriage, settling in Norwood township, where Mr.

...they moved to Charlevoix where they made their home until the death of Mrs. Meech some five years ago. Mrs. Meech was the mother of Arthur Meech, now of Asheville, N. C.; Arthur J. Meech, of this city; Mrs. Edgar Meech, wife of Judge F. R. Meech, of Grand Rapids; and Miss Helen Meech, of Ellsworth. Two grandchildren, Mrs. Lynn Hardy, a native of Canada, and Mrs. G. W. Wain, of Grand Rapids, also survive her.

The body will arrive here Thursday afternoon from Asheville, accompanied by Arthur Meech, and will be taken to the home of A. F. Brodie, on Main Avenue, where the funeral services will be held later, conducted by the Rev. H. R. E. Quant of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a faithful member.

COMMERCIAL ASS'N. BANQUET ON 11TH

Come and Hear Good Speakers On Timely Topics

The Charlevoix Association of Commerce will hold a meeting April 11, 1923, at the Masonic temple here, at which a banquet will be served by the ladies of the Eastern Star, followed by the regular order of business. The banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Special music and good speaking will be the main attraction. Rev. C. W. Long will talk on the topic, "Americanism." The association says to the people, "We can't make our work a success without your help and in order to help you must be a booster, not a knocker. You're for a better Charlevoix. Come!"

M. E. Ladies Sewing Club will hold a baked goods sale at the Charlevoix Hardware, Saturday, April 7th.—Adv. 14-11.

MUSICAL TREAT AT CONG. CHURCH

Helen Marting, Former Charlevoix Girl to Entertain

Miss Helen Marting, a former resident of this city, instructor of voice in the conservatory of music at Ohio college, will entertain at a concert at the Congregational church on Friday evening of this week. In the numbers presented, Miss Marting will be accompanied by Miss A. A. Swinton of this city, and the event will be a treat to musical lovers of Charlevoix.

FIRST SATURDAY CLASS A SUCCESS

Thirty-nine Visitors From All Parts Of County Present

Saturday classes were held in the high school building here last week. Thirty-nine outsiders were in attendance, representing the following schools:

Hopland, Ironton, Bay Shore, Burgess, Marion No. 3, Districts No. 1 and No. 2, Murray School, Hilton School.

The outside teachers present were: C. H. Dewey, the Misses Lucals, Robinson, Long, Chew, McAlmon, and Mrs. Ruth Hair.

Review classes were conducted by Messrs. Cleveland Roe, grammar; Walter Alexander, government and geography; Clarence Altenburg, geography; Chas. Hamilton, arithmetic.

Lunch was served at noon by the Home Economics department under the direction of Miss Dorothy Wilson, instructor in that department, assisted by Miss Oliver and Miss Crowley and also by girls taking that course.

This experiment proved very interesting and will be tried again next Saturday. The rural pupils and their teachers are to be commended for their efforts and local teachers have responded in a splendid manner. Let's make it fifty next Saturday.

Something new at the regular monthly meeting! Come and hear good singing and a good address. Charlevoix Association of Commerce.—Adv. 14-11.

LOCAL INDEPENDENTS WIN GAME

Home Team Cleans Ellsworth By 5 to 4

Last Thursday evening, the local independent basketball team played the heavy Ellsworth five here in a show but hard fought game.

The visitors started the game with a rush, scoring two field baskets early in the first quarter. After that, the locals found themselves and, at half time, Ellsworth led by the score of 4 to 3. During the last half, Charlevoix was only able to score once, but that was enough to put the game on ice for the locals.

The lineup was as follows: Charlevoix—Mayne, R. F.; Babcock, L. F.; McCafferty, C.; McCann, R. G.; Block, L. G.; Ellsworth—Sinclair, R. P.; Yettaw, L. F.; Griffin, C.; Parsons, R. G.; Wilson, L. G.

Field goals: Ellsworth—Alex Sinclair, Griffin; Charlevoix—Mayne, 2. Free throws: Ellsworth—4 out of 4; Charlevoix—1 out of 8.

Substitutions: Pools for Block, Sinclair for Yettaw.

Referee: Dagwell, of Indian River.

Came to the regular monthly meeting to be held at the Masonic temple, 6:30 p. m., April 11th. Charlevoix Association of Commerce.—Adv. 14-11.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY NOTES

The Episcopal Ladies Guild met last Wednesday, with Mrs. Leo Carney. They turned over the proceeds of their tea, which was $3.00, to the treasurer of the hospital auxiliary.

The M. E. ladies met with Mrs. Grover Goebl last Wednesday afternoon and finished a quilt which they will dispose of in the near future. Half of the proceeds will be given to the hospital auxiliary.

Ladies Attention!

On Tuesday, April 10, 1923, at the council rooms, will be held the semi-annual business meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Charlevoix hospital. The attendance of all interested in the progress of this work, is earnestly requested.

Concert by Miss Helen Marting of Olivet College, at Congregational church Friday evening.—Adv. 14-11.

DIED ON HIS WAY HOME FROM FUNERAL

Ed Came Suddenly To Henry Clark Last Wednesday

Henry Clark, a well known member of this community, died very suddenly last Wednesday, March 28, on his way back home from attending the funeral of the father of his son-in-law, John James Barber, his wife, who sat beside him in the sleigh noticed that he swayed in his seat and asked him how he felt. Receiving no answer, she became alarmed and with the help of others in the party got him to lie down in the bottom of the sleigh. Efforts were made to restore him to consciousness, but without avail until he breathed his last shortly after he was carried into his home.

Mr. Clark, who has had some trouble with his heart in past years, had felt exceptionally well this spring but had recently suffered an attack of the flu which apparently left him weak. The end came as a great shock to his family and friends, however. He was 61 years old. Born in Tecumseh, Canada, he came to Charlevoix county at the age of 18 years and went to work with his brother, George, on the James McCough farm. Of late years, he had been a resident of this city.

Besides his widow, Mr. Clark leaves five children: Mrs. Annie Goebl, George Clark, Jr., and Addie, of this city; Mrs. Emory Barber, of Saginaw, and Elizabeth Clark, who has been working in Grand Rapids this winter. His only brother, George, who has made his home with the deceased for many years, also survives him.

All the children were present at the funeral, which was held from the Clark home, at 303 West Lincoln St., last Friday, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Herman Burns, of the Baptist church, officiated. The remains were laid to rest in the vault at Brookside.

Hear "Americanism" by Rev. C. W. Long, April 11th. Charlevoix Association of Commerce.—Adv. 14-11.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Walter Desener, of East Jordan, was brought to the hospital Monday afternoon in a critical condition. His appendix had ruptured and peritonitis had already set in. Despite efforts to save him, the young man died Tuesday morning. His only living relative is a sister, Mrs. Jihson, at Ironton, Mich. He will probably be buried at Brookside.

Mrs. Anna Russell, who was operated on for an abscess Wednesday morning, is doing nicely.

Lyman Ruder returned to his home here yesterday, having recovered from an operation for abdominal abscess performed a week ago Monday.

Jacob Dienth, of Ellsworth, returned to his home Monday. He submitted to an operation for appendicitis on Wednesday, March 21st. Cecil White, of East Jordan, who had a similar operation on the same day, returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Clow, of Ellsworth, is the new cook at the hospital, in place of Mrs. Olive Nowland, who has resigned.

It was stated last week through error that the hospital was in need of potatoes. They have plenty of potatoes but are still shy of apples, cabbage, beets, turnips, squash and onions. Contributors please note.

Make Trip to Beavers

According to news from Cross Village, one of the largest parties to cross the ice from that point to St. James made the trip safely recently, last Wednesday, one-horse rigs being used for the journey. Those in charge report one large crack encountered and that a fierce storm swept the ice during most of the journey. The long line of rigs reached St. James just before dark, after a long, cold, dangerous trip.

The M. E. ladies will serve an April supper at the church parson, Wednesday evening, April 11. Reserve this date.—Adv. 13-12.

The state papers announce that "The Michigan Stone Products Co." has been incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $250,000 and 25,000 shares at $1.00 per share has been subscribed and $25,000 paid in in property. The headquarters of the company is Bay City.

At the last regular meeting of the Dickens Club, Mrs. Alice Miller was elected president, Mrs. Sadie Faulkner, vice president and Mrs. Mildred Ochs, secretary. The fifth annual banquet of the club is to be held on April 10th and will conclude the activities of the year.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kind services and gifts of flowers, during our bereavement—the death of our dear husband, brother and father.

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, APRIL 7 and 8

Wanda Hawley and Milton Sills in "Burning Sands." The burning Sahara—where pulse rules the deeds and hearts of men and women. That's the romantic setting of this great love story. Where the swaying palm trees woo the heart in romance—where the soft lights of Cairo call to love—where the dark face of the Arab Sheikh masks hot passions and mystery—there this flaming love-drama is played through thrills to its startling climax.

We also have a Snooky comedy, "Beat It."

TUESDAY, APRIL 10th

Dustin Farnum in "While Justice Waits." Here is a remarkable play. Not the usual Dustin Farnum type. It is a very good interpretation of the old mining days in California. The play is well produced and you are sure to like it.

We also have a Vanity comedy, "Without A Wife." Shows every Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11th

Charles Jones in "Rough Shod." Here is an exceptional Western play. When East meets West there's an explosion that shakes both. The story of a ranch-man successful in both love and war.

Also No. 11 of the wonderful serial, "Breaking Through" will be shown.

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, APRIL 14-15

Tom Mix in "Do and Dare." Also a Clyde Cook comedy, "High and Dry."

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Suggestions From County Agent Hagerman Worthwhile Your Closest Attention

RURAL FIRE PROTECTION IN ADEQUATE

The fire of unknown origin which so totally burned to the ground the big barn of John Mathews, of Melrose township, simply is only another forceful reminder of our inadequate methods of farm fire protection.

Fires, nine times out of ten, start from small origins, and while some one is going to the neighbors to borrow a ladder or to get help, it gets beyond control. When once well under way there is little hope of saving much.

A very serviceable chemical extinguisher can be purchased for a nominal price. Of course you may not need them very often, but when they are wanted, they surely are wanted in the worst kind of a way.

Just as a suggestion, here is an idea which may be worth consideration in time of need. You men who have high pressure potato and fruit sprayers have at your command a machine which in time of fire may be worth many times its original purchase price. This is especially true of those sprayers driven by an engine.

When you are through spraying, just fill up your sprayer tank with water, attach it to an ordinary garden hose and with a pressure of 200 to 250 pounds you have an emergency fire fighting apparatus which is hard to beat in any rural community.

A bucket brigade can keep the tank full and the water can be forced sufficiently to reach the roofs of all ordinary farm buildings.

In case of a fire, the old adage surely holds good, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

FRUIT MEETINGS POSTPONED

The horticultural meetings which were scheduled for the 29th and 30th of March, were necessarily postponed to a future date.

These meetings, which were to demonstrate the pruning, top working, and grafting of trees, had been looked forward to by many interested people and an attempt will be made to hold them some time later when there are more favorable prospects for Spring.

SEED AND SUPER-SEED

The above title heads an article in the March 31 issue of the Country Gentleman.

This story, written by P. S. Lovejoy, well known by his re-forestation policies, surely is a mighty potent article advocating a thorough knowledge as to the source of the seeds you plant.

Mr. Lovejoy points out that at the best, crop-raising is a huge gamble. Men, with no control over rainfall, frosts, droughts, etc., is at the mercy of the elements. He takes a chance with crop diseases, bugs and insects. If they are numerous, he must spend heaps of money in fighting them. Then there is the labor proposition: transportation and markets. Again he is taking a chance. The soil—well he can have some say about that. If his soil is good, it doubtless cost him time and money to get it so, and a lot of it.

"But how is the seed? There is one of the most important items in the whole list of things which go to make big and profitable crops. Carelessness or bad luck with the seed and there goes the crop and the profit. Left that right? And the seed he uses is the one big factor absolutely within the control of every farmer, every season. Isn't that right?"

Mr. Lovejoy then relates a story of how thousands of dollars were lost in one season by farmers and by a cunning company through the use of poor seed. No, it is exactly poor seed, but seed not true to name.

He cited instances of where several experiment stations have conducted tests with samples of seeds, collected promiscuously throughout

Ray Nelson spent Sunday and Monday with relatives at Charlevoix. He and Mrs. Floyd Frook are at home again, after a month's visit with relatives at Cadillac.

Elmer Kloster left on Monday of this week for Grand Rapids, where he expects to work this summer.

Miss Bertha Martin left on Tuesday for Holland, Michigan, to help her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Nixon.

D. E. Clow is at Toledo, Ohio, this week with potatoes belonging to the Banks Marketing association. Roy Martin and Loyd Parsons accompanied him a part of the way.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Best, on Thursday afternoon, April 12th, and a full attendance is urgently asked for.

Election on Monday of this week was a tame affair, but one hundred and sixty votes being polled. The ticket as nominated at the primaries was elected.

The high school students are working hard on the program which they will give at the penny social at the Blue Hall, on Friday evening of this week. A splendid time is assured to all who attend. Don't miss it!

The Ellsworth independent basketball team went down to defeat at Charlevoix, on Thursday evening of last week, in a hard fought game, the score being 5-4 in favor of the independent team of Charlevoix. This makes a victory for each team, Charlevoix having been defeated here earlier in the season.

That "He who laughs last, laughs best" was proved last week when the registered Duroc sow, purchased from the Loeb Farms by Eugene Best, presented him with a fine brood of eleven pigs. Several farmers in this vicinity have been giving Mr. Best the merry ha! ha! since he made the purchase, which was at a price considerably in advance of the one on the common or garden variety of brood sows, but now, with every one of the litter eligible for registration, and worth at least double the price of ordinary pigs, the laugh seems to be reversed.

A large share of the expense in any roof is the labor of laying it. If you put on the right kind of roof, that settles the matter for good and all. You are never going to have to fuss with it and your first cost is going to be your last cost. That is the result when you insist on having

"HALF CENTURY" BRAND WHITE CEDAR SHINGLES.

There is no wood that can excel White Cedar in weather-resisting quality. That's why it is such a wonderful shingle wood. And "Half Century" Shingles are the best White Cedar Shingles because they are made the right thickness and are air cured.

Shingles that are cut too thin or are too hastily seasoned, as is apt to be the case when they are cured under the dry kiln process, are liable to split in nailing and they have a tendency to crack, curl and warp.

"Half Century" Shingles are cut right, cured right and they last as long as their name indicates. And they stain beautifully in any shade. All lumber dealers can supply you. (Look for the trade-mark on every bundle. It's your guarantee of quality.)

ELLSWORTH PIONEER DIED LAST SUNDAY

William Hoffman, Sr., Was Father Of 13 Children

William Hoffman, Sr., died on Sunday, March 25, 1923, at five p. m. Services were held in the Christian Reformed church on Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m., of which he was a member. The remains were interred in the Holland cemetery.

Mr. Hoffman was 88 years of age. Born in the Netherlands, he came to America when a young man. He was married to a Miss Spruik, of Holland, Mich., and to this union were born 13 children—John, Joseph, Garret, Iliam, William and Edward; Mrs. Jake Vanuuren, Mrs. H. VanDer Stuck, Mrs. Albert VanBeek, Mrs. H. Reunsmat, Mrs. Joseph Reunsmat, Mrs. Charles Cox, and Mrs. Mrs. Bert DeYoung. Eight of his children survive him. Mrs. Hoffman died in 1901.

In 1905, Mr. Hoffman married Miss Ida Mitchell, of Charlevoix. To this union were born two sons, making 15 children in all. Our sympathies go out to the bereaved ones.

OF INTEREST TO THE FARMERS

various states. The purpose of these samples was kept from the dealers. They were purchased just as an ordinary farmer would buy them.

When the project was completed, the experiment stations found that these samples ranged from 11 per cent to as high as 38 per cent off type. In the article it is further shown the seriousness that would result after a few years planting of such mixtures.

Mr. Lovjoy mentions some specific cases with the clovers. He speaks of the millions of pounds of foreign clovers shipped annually into the United States. As these clovers first come up, it is impossible to distinguish the difference, but wait until they have gone through the first winter, then you can tell them every time, about half of a stand left.

These conditions found existing in the clovers also exist in the alfalfas. It makes no difference what kind of seed you sow or plant, are you sure of its source? Is it adapted to our conditions?

DAIRY-ALFALFA CAMPAIGN

Inquiries being received daily. Interest in the Dairy-Alfalfa campaign sure is looming up big.

Every day requests come into the office regarding it. We would like to tell you all about it now, but if we pulled such a stunt as that, there wouldn't be anything left for the dairy and alfalfa specialists to tell, then of course that would make them sore.

Watch for further publicity. Moving pictures at night.

AT THE MOVIES

If you like spirited action as developed in Western adventure and romance, make a note of the fact that Charles Jones, the Fox star, is to open at the Palace theatre Wednesday, April 11th, in a picture entitled "Rough Shod." It is sure to be worth while. Helen Ferguson is the star's chief support, with Ruth Ronick a close second. Maurice Flynn, who has starred for Fox, is seen in the "heavy" role.

Though in these days the motion picture producers are given to choosing old men to play elderly roles wherever possible there are times when it is necessary to depend on makeup entirely for the effect desired and a case in point is the remarkable transformation effected by Cecil Holland in the role of an old Sheikh in "Burning Sands" a Paramount picture which will be on view at the Palace theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Holland, who will be recalled for his admirable work as the half-witted Roger Uthbank in "The Great Impersonation," is in his early thirties; made up as the old Sheikh he looks fully eighty even at close range.

By means of a peculiar substance which he puts on his face the skin and features seem to shrivel and are seamed with many wrinkles which in turn are accentuated by the careful use of the grease paint lining pencil. The addition of heavy gray eyebrows and beard of crepe hair, so perfectly applied as to defy detection, with the striped bournouse and head dress, complete the transformation to the last detail.

It proves that our boyhood heroes of detective fiction who resorted to disguise so successfully were not exaggerated except in the matter of time. To create a makeup such as the one in question, a good deal of time and the most painstaking work is required. No lightning change would be possible, of course.

Wanda Hawley and Milton Sills are featured in this production which Oscar Printzlaub adapted from Arthur Weirall's story. It is a picture fully as thrilling and spectacular as "The Sheikh," it is claimed. Louise Hesser Winter Hall, Jacqueline Logan, Robert Cain and others of note appear in the big cast.

YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

When a man in a nearby city was asked the other day what was the best investment he ever made his reply was quick and to the point: "My wife."

A lot of men won't admit it, but the fact is that a good many men are made by their wives. Certain it is that a good wife and mother is a priceless possession. A sad fact is that a lot of men take their wives for granted and in their selfishness these husbands let them work on and sacrifice through the years without much praise or sympathy.

A former physician of ex-President Taft tells of how such a man had his eyes opened—but too late. He was visiting at the home of this man and sitting on the front porch with him while the wife was preparing a special meal. The husband became impatient at something and spoke harshly to his wife who seemed cut to the quick, but who said nothing. The physician noted the incident, but did not think it wise to rebuke his friend in his own home. In a short time the wife died suddenly and the remorse of the husband at his lack of kindness and his lack of appreciation of his wife overwhelmed him. He sought out his friend, the physician, and opened his heart to him. The incident out on the front porch came up and the physician admitted that he had noticed it but did not want to interfere. Then the other man broke in: "Why didn't you make me see my mistake; why didn't you hit me over the head" to make him appreciate his wife?"

There are many such tragedies in life. Many a man ought to be "hit over the head" to make him appreciate his wife, who may be dying by inches of heart break. Many another man ought not to be hit so hard but he ought to be jarred out of his self-complacency in taking all his wife's sacrifice for granted.

If a wife is the "best investment" a man has, she should be treated with at least the same care that one's money is treated.

Many men are physically strong and many are mentally strong, but it is the combination that brings success.

A man's standing is rated by what he does—a woman's by where she goes.

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The district oratorical contest will be held Friday evening, April 13th, in the assembly room of the high school. Margery Brown, of the Junior class, will represent C. H. S.

The benefit dinner for the athletic association, which was to have been given on the 13th, has been indefinitely postponed.

The interior decorating class is planning a series of field trips for the purpose of studying house plans materialized, studying the placing of furniture and color schemes that others have found practical for their needs. The first of these trips occurred last Thursday, when the class had the privilege of going through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge. By means of these trips and the observation of a variety of homes, the class hopes to gain a broader knowledge of how to put into practice the theories presented in the class room.

Students of the eighth grade English classes of the East Junior High School at Warren, Ohio, are making their study of letter-writing practical and interesting by mailing their class composition letters to the students of other schools. This week the Charlevoix eighth grade pupils received one of these letters, telling of the most interesting phases of the course of study at the Warren East Junior High school. In reply, letters are being written describing to the Warren pupils the location, the natural resources, the principal occupations, and other things of interest in regard to Charlevoix. The best composition will be mailed to the eighth grade English class at Warren. This form of correspondence will doubtless be continued until the close of school in June.

The county normal will have its commencement on May 29th.

Next Friday evening, one of our high school alumni, Miss Helen Marting, now instructor of music at Olivet college, will give a concert at the Congregational church. Every loyal high school student should aim to be there.

All book reports must be in by the first of May. Remember, "Safety First."

The "Harlequin" has gone to the printers.

An eye test, as provided by the Eyesight Conservation League of New York City, has been given in all the grades. The results of this test are filed in the office of the superintendent. The parents of all the students with defective eyesight will receive a letter to that effect soon.

The interior decorating class is pointing two week tables, thus making practical use of some of their knowledge gained in that course.

We had a very interesting and unusual program Monday morning. Johnny Woods, of the seventh grade, gave us a violin solo. A quartet, composed of Miss Oliver, Miss Haley, Frank Poulle and Noy Smith, sang "The Blue Danube." The two selections of the music memory contest for this week, "Pilgrims' Chorus," from Tannhauser, and "Deep River," a Negro spiritual, by Wagner, were played. Mr. Hamilton read his Capt. Berdan's account of the "Battle of the Wilderness."

Thursday morning, Dick Paddock and Murella Quast gave us very interesting talks on the life in the M. A. C. and Albion colleges, respectively. We are always glad to welcome the alumni and wish more of them would come and speak to us.

Last week, before spring vacation for the surrounding schools, brought many visitors to Charlevoix high school.

Spelling class was discontinued last Friday, after a very successful year.

The penmanship class has again sent in Palmer drills and are looking forward to the results with great anticipation.

The county normal class visited the polls Monday. Mr. Payton explained very carefully how the election board was chosen, how vacancies are filled and how to vote. The students were given instruction ballots, which they made use of in their civil government class.

The county normal students and training room children will give an entertainment in the high school assembly, Thursday evening, at 7:15. The program consists of monologues, dialogues, kindergarten hand and foot dances. The entertainment will be directed by Miss Burklund.

For your spring painting use the famous Heath & Milligan's paints. Gives better service than the average run of paints. Ask for color cards and estimate on your needs. Charlevoix Hdw. & Electric Co., Adv. 13-12.

JOHN JAMES BARBER DEAD AT 70

Lived in This County For Many Years

John James Barber was born in Elmira, Ontario, September 28th, 1852, and moved to Grand Rapids, Michigan, in 1871. He remained there about five years, then moved to East Jordan, Michigan, where he lived until 1899; then moved to Charlevoix where he lived until his death on March 25th 1923 at the age of 70 years, 5 months, and 27 days.

He was married in May, 1890, and to this union five children were born, four of whom survive. Mrs. Mrs. Ethel Graham of Saginaw, Mrs. E. McGhan of Charlevoix, Elmer Barber of Charlevoix, and Emory Barber of Saginaw. He also leaves three brothers: George, of Birmingham, Mich.; Thomas, of East Jordan, Mich.; and Henry of Charlevoix, Michigan. The sister, Mrs. Fred Pearsall, of Wilson, Michigan, also remains.

Funeral services were held at the brother's residence Wednesday morning, March 28th, conducted by Rev. Herman Burns, of the local Baptist church. The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at East Jordan.

Mr. Barber was esteemed for his sterling qualities as a neighbor and friend and leaves a large circle who mourn his passing.

ELMER INGALLS HAS HOLSTEIN BULL

Buys High-Grade Animal From Loeb Farms

The Loeb Farms have sold to Elmer Ingalls, prominent milk dealer of this vicinity, a high grade Holstein bull of the Ormsby-Finderne cross.

Mr. Ingalls is very well pleased with this bull and intends to breed up his herd along these lines. The county needs more of just such farmers and dairymen as Mr. Ingalls, as he has learned by experience that prosperity follows the dairy cow of registered stock.

Refinish Your Car the Berry Way

YOU can produce a show room finish on your car at a nominal expense with

and be your own finisher—no skilled help is required.

These auto varnishes are made in all the standard colors and black and white, so that you can get exactly the color combination you prefer with quick service and no finisher's bill to pay.

By adopting the "Berry" way instead of sending your car to the repair shop you can get a fine finish and perhaps save enough on the operation to buy a liberty bond.

Come in and get an illustrated folder giving color combinations and quantities of material required, and simple directions for the amateur finisher.

FORD

Four Reasons Why You Should Buy Your FORD CAR This Month

I. The unprecedented demand for Ford Cars throughout the winter months has taken the entire output of the Ford plants working at capacity, indicating that the demand this Spring will be far in excess of the number of Ford Cars that can possibly be built.

II. January was the tenth consecutive month in which retail deliveries exceeded 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks. Requirements for February, the month when preparations are already under way for Spring business, called for 148,407 Cars and Trucks—more than 21,000 in excess of the number we can possibly produce.

III. Ford dealers in many parts of the country are already finding it necessary to specify future delivery dates on Ford Products because there are no reserve stocks to draw from.

IV. Your order placed now will protect you against delay or disappointment later on—it is the only way you can be assured of reasonably prompt delivery.

We consider it important to give you these facts, so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor for use this Spring or Summer you can list your order at once and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

PROGRESS MADE BY THE SCHOOLS

SUPT. HAMILTON'S LETTER TO PUBLIC DESCRIBES WORK

Much Has Been Accomplished In Past Year with Help of Churches
And Other Organizations

Superintendent Charles Hamilton, of the Charlevoix public schools, has written an open letter to the public, outlining the progress that has been made in the schools during the past year and plans for the future that will bend every energy to realize the letter follows:

"I believe the public to be interested in its public schools and in view of that opinion I submit the following facts, which it is believed will give an index to the character of the work we are attempting to do. Let me say at the outset, that no one individual deserves the credit for any forward steps, but the following groups deserve mention:

First, the faculty of the Charlevoix schools, for their splendid cooperation and loyalty in attempting as a unit to do whatever was suggested to them, and for suggestions made by them for the common good.

Second: A student body who gladly and willingly observed the regulations that make for good citizenship and for the scholastic training which will enable them to do the work in higher institutions creditably or form a good foundation for life's work (if higher education is not sought).

Third: The counsel and co-operation of a Board of Education interested in seeing Charlevoix schools grow.

Fourth: The backing of the ministers of the Christian churches in the city.

Lastly: The spirit of co-operation received from the homes. This is a very essential thing if we are to continue to grow and prosper as an institution.

The following "forward" movements have been born or reborn in our school life during the past year, and I believe are worthy of note:

1. Eyesight test of children in all grades below the eighth. Results of tests filed in office. Parents notified in cases that need attention.

2. In high school, arrangement made whereby every pupil physically fit may receive at least one forty-minute period of physical training weekly. Time permits only the barest outline of the work, but it has been the hope that with the incentive thus furnished, interest would be aroused that would serve to engender a real love for a clean, healthy body. Results have been very gratifying.

3. Under the direction of Miss Wilson, instructor of the Home Economics Department, hot lunch has been served at noon to any pupils who may pay a nominal sum for one hot dish to add to their noon meal.

4. Through coach Altenburg's efforts, "track" has been resumed. The basement under track has been cleared in order and is now being used for that purpose. The shower bath installed in the new athletic room in the basement serves as a "conditioner" to the boys after their run.

The coach also has a squad of "long distance men."

The big thing that I see athletics have accomplished under coach Altenburg is: the coach is a clean cut gentleman himself, and has engendered a spirit of self control and fair play into the men. Charlevoix did not win every game she played, but has won a name among the surrounding schools for manliness and true sportsmanship, that to me is much more important than the winning of games. I would call attention to the type of gymnasium in which our boys are forced to train. No team can play up to its possible limit which is forced to train under such conditions.

5. Sponsored by the Shakespeare Club of the city and directed by Miss Oliver, a music memory contest has been carried on, which I believe has done much to accomplish the purpose of its organizers, to "popularize good music and make good music popular."

6. A student council has been initiated and is ready to function whenever need may arise. It has to date suggested minor changes which have effected greater efficiency. It is composed of students whose marks are 87 per cent or better.

King Saunders and Other California
May Have The Budge On Us Now, But—Wait

King Saunders, one of the lucky ones who have been harking under California skies this past (?) winter, takes it upon himself to chortle over us poor miserable sinners in an original poem which we reprint herewith. The title of this aggravating composition is "Michigan Versus California."

"Each week I read my Courier thru,
Each page from front to back,
But the one best bet (take your honest due)
Are the stories of your rough and back.

I read how you shovel the coal and snow,
And shiver 'til your skin is blue,
And go 'round asking, "Does any one know
How soon this storm will be thru?"

I get quite a thrill from the lines I see,
Of the trains that never get in,
How the mails get piled clear up to your knee,
And make the office force swear like sin.

It's nice as we sit on the beach out here,
Or lie on the salt-whitened sand,
To know there's a place we once held dear
Before we came to this tropical land.

How the ice in Pine Lake is solid and green,
Out in front of the old Belvedere,
The prettiest ice you ever have seen
Being twenty-four inches and clear.

I sit in the shade of an old palm tree,
Or swim in the ocean, so blue,
Or knock the little white ball right off the tee.

The things that in summer you do,
I don't have to worry about freezing my feet,
Or wearing my big overshoes,
For 'tis summer-out here and all the winter we have.

Is what we read from your good weekly news.
I'll tell you right now, I don't envy you much,
Your life in the cold and snow,
I'd rather be feeling the magic touch
Of the California breezes that blow.

It's a toss-up, however you take it,
These climates we holler about.
I'll take mine with sunshine and roses,
And gladly the snow do without."

W. K. Saunders
Now, fellow sufferers, what about it? Shall we submit to this ghastly affront tamely or shall we appoint a lynching party to meet King at the train next summer when he returns to this despoiled and much maligned region, as he surely will—they all do. What'duzee mean, d'ye suppose—"California breezes that blow." We have breezes here, that blow, too, but we don't blow about them. We'll guarantee, though, that it will be pleasant to "lie on the whitened sand" of Lake Michigan about the middle of next August than on the sultry, sunbaked strip that grimes the old Pacific.

California may be all right now, but wait till July and we'll show 'em a climate that can't be matched for pleasant coolness, freedom from gnats, chiggers and mosquitos and beauty of scenery in all this broad land. "Shorty" knows it too, only he doesn't say so out there. That's less majestic in California.

ADDS TO HIS VAST HOLDINGS

DAVID MAY LEASES BIG LOS ANGELES STORE

New Establishment When Enlarged
Will Be Largest Department Store West of Chicago

We are in receipt of a copy of the Los Angeles Express, Los Angeles, California, dated April 2, 1923, giving an account of the recent acquisition of one of the largest department stores in the west, the Ham-burger store in Los Angeles, by the company of which David May, prominent north-side summer resident of Charlevoix, is the founder and president.

With the transaction completed and the transfer of millions of dollars in property and leases made, the advent of the great middle-west corporation, the May Department Stores Company on the Pacific coast for the first time is recorded. The lease on this Los Angeles property will cost the May Company approximately $25,000,000, for the 50-year period which is named in the transfer. No mention has been made public as to the actual price of the firm itself, its good will, fixtures, stock and other equipment, but the figures is said to set a new record on the coast.

Although it has been known for some time that the May Company was desirous of buying out the Ham-burger interests in Los Angeles, it was only recently that negotiations were advanced to that store where the transfer was expected to be announced at any time.

Colonel David May states that with certain contemplated improvements and enlargements in his newly acquired property, his company will give Los Angeles the largest department store in the U. S. west of Chicago. He also announced that his sons, Thomas May, treasurer of the May Company (who is also well-known in Charlevoix) and Wilbur May, business manager, will take active charge of the new store. With the entry in Los Angeles of the May Company, one of the foremost merchants of the country becomes a part of the commercial life of the city.

Col. David May, member of the staff of Governor Fred Gardner of Mississippi, has long been recognized as one of the most remarkable merchant princes in America.

Although starting his brilliant career in the west at Leadville, Colo., in 1877, Col. May's greatest achievements have been made in the middle west, where his establishments are accepted as among the finest business houses in the world.

It was in Denver, Colo., that Col. May founded the institution from which he branched out as head of one of the best organized strings of department stores in America. Today, the May Company establishments in Cleveland and Akron, Ohio, St. Louis, Mo., and Denver are considered modern, up-to-date institutions.

Thomas May, treasurer of the May Company, is one of the youngest progressive business men in the country and is known to be an able disciple of his famous father's business principles.

Wilbur May, who will actively manage the Los Angeles store, has been engaged in his father's company since leaving school some years ago. He served with the A. E. F. in France, as a lieutenant in the infantry.

MRS. CAREY PLEASED ANTLY SURPRISED

Sixteen Friends Pay Her An Evening
Visit

Surprise parties seem to be the order of the day. Tuesday night the "bunch" friends and former schoolmates of Mrs. Leo Carey, descended upon her, about sixteen in number, having previously met at the home of Mrs. Roy Ripley for the purpose of going in a body, and a delightful evening was spent in singing, card-playing, sewing and chatting. Supper was served at midnight, after which the guests wended their several ways homeward, caring little for the ankle sleep slush that impeded their progress in the remembrance of the long time enjoyed.

The ladies of the Congregational church will serve one of their famous thirty-five cent suppers in the dining-room of the church on Wednesday, April 25th.—Adv. 15-12.

BUILDING RECENTLY MOVED AN OLD TIMER

W. J. Weikel Remembers It On County Bank Site in 1867

The old building formerly occupied by Ray Ashbo's barber-shop, which was sold to John Engan and moved to the lot's old on East Lincoln Street last May, is one of the first houses built in this town.

It was originally erected by Alden Chamberlain, on the corner now occupied by the County Bank. Chief of Police, W. J. Weikel, remembers this old building and boy in the fall of '67, having come with his parents and his brother-in-law, "Doc" Brown and N. A. Jones and their families in a bunch of "prairie schooners" from Chocoma County, Iowa, they came to Charlevoix on the greenway that then flourished where the junction of Bridge Street now extends. The party arrived by the way of May, then on the old steamer, "Helen," landed at Fox's dock, and came ashore with their covered wagons, two span of horses and two cows. They were on their way to East Jordan by the way of Antrim City and stopped at the Fourstar City house, which was then run by Dick Coquer, over the first night. The next day and night they camped out in front of the Chamberlain building and used a part of it for a few days longer before continuing to their destination.

ORATORS WILL COMPETE HERE

SUB-DISTRICT CONTEST SET FOR APRIL 20TH

Entrants Will Come From Boyne, Alba, Traverse, Cheboygan, Petoskey and Pellston

Charlevoix has been chosen as the city most centrally located in the fourth district for the Sub-District Oratorical and Declamation contest, which will be held at the high-school auditorium, Friday, April 20th, at 7:45 p. m.

Entries have been made from Boyne City, Traverse City, Cheboygan, Pellston, Alba, and Petoskey. The local school will be represented by Margery Brown, as the oratorical contestant, and Doris Hammond as the declamation contestant. The winners in the sub-district contest proceed to the district contest and then on to the state.

The Michigan State High-School Oratorical Association was organized over twenty years ago for the purpose of promoting interest and efficiency in public speaking. It is interesting to see Michigan as one of the leaders of this important movement, since the contests of the M. S. O. A. are now regarded as well-established and valuable part of the educational work of the state. The present, with its immense program of constructive problems promises more inspiration for oratory than any time since the association's organization.

Supt. Lantz, of Petoskey, who is sub-district chairman, will have charge of the contest. The admission has been placed at a low figure so that everyone may have the opportunity of hearing these speakers.

SETS FINE MILK PRODUCTION RECORD

Petoskey Queen Pledge, Loeb Farms
Holstein, A Winner

A purebred Holstein owned by the Loeb Farms, Charlevoix, Michigan, has made a good record of production and is listed in the latest bulletin of tests published by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Petoskey Queen Pledge, a six-year-old Holstein produced 677.3 lbs. of milk and 24,580 lbs. of butterfat, equivalent to 30.7 lbs. of butter in seven days. Her thirty day record is 2773.1 lbs. of milk and 99,702 lbs. of butterfat, equivalent to 124.6 lbs. of butter.

These tests were supervised by a representative of the Dairy Division of the College of Agriculture. The supervisors watch the milking, weigh it and take samples for testing. A duplicate sample is sent to the college to check figures. The figures are later checked by The Holstein Association.

The Tom Thumb Wedding will be at the M. E. church, Friday evening, April 20. Admission 35 and 25 cents.—Adv. 15-11.

UNCLE SAM IS RETRENCHING

NEW POSTAL ECONOMY ORDER IS DRASTIC MEASURE

All Auxiliary Help In Clerk and Carrier Service To Be Dropped
Earlier Closing Hours

One of the most drastic retrenchment orders ever issued by the post-office department at Washington went into effect Sunday, April 1, and was a curtailment of the service in Charlevoix at least until the first of June. The order means the discharge of a 1 auxiliary help in the clerk and carrier service. The post-office department at Washington states that this retrenchment has been ordered throughout the entire United States in order to keep the expenses of the department within the fiscal budget which cannot be increased before July 1 when additional appropriation will be asked for.

These are conditions over which the local postoffice officials have no control, and the cooperation of the public is asked in making the service as efficient as possible under the circumstances.

One of the regrettable features of the new ruling in regard to auxiliary help which affects the local office is the ordered suspension from her duties of Miss Mary Thurman, one of the most efficient and courteous employees who has served the postal department and the public of this city.

New Registry Fees

A recent bulletin received from Washington respecting fees to domestic and foreign points says:

Postal Laws and Regulations are amended to read as follows, effective April 1, 1923:

The registry fees on both domestic and foreign mail shall be at the following rates and in addition to the regular postage, both of which shall be prepaid by stamps affixed, viz:

"For domestic articles of the first class indemnified for fifty dollars or less, 10 cents; for over fifty and not in excess of one hundred dollars, 25 cents;

"For domestic articles of the second class, for which no indemnity is provided, and for domestic articles of any class without intrinsic value for which indemnity will not be allowed, 10 cents.

"For domestic articles of the third class indemnified for not exceeding twenty-five dollars, 10 cents.

"For domestic fourth class (parcels) articles sealed and prepaid at the first class rate of postage, the same as for first class mail.

"For articles of whatever class addressed to foreign countries, 10 cents.

"Two or more articles when tied or otherwise fastened together, addressed to or intended for the same person shall not be registered as one unless in the same envelope or wrapper."

EVENING CALLERS WERE A SURPRISE

Twenty Friends Visit Mrs. Esther
Neff Last Wednesday

Mrs. Esther Neff was visited at her home on East Lincoln Avenue last Wednesday evening by a party of about twenty of her friends.

They arrived at eight o'clock and provided Mrs. Neff with quite a surprise, as she had not expected so many callers that evening. However, it was a very enjoyable surprise, as may be gathered from the fact that the supper, a "Dutch" affair, was not served until eleven-thirty p. m. Playing cards, chatting and sewing was the order of the evening and the guests departed at a late hour pronouncing the party a most delightful experience.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will entertain the mothers and children of the society next Friday afternoon at the parlors of the Methodist church.

Topic for the day: "Fortifying Young Lives To Bravely Win On Moral Battlefields." A paper will be read on this topic by Mrs. E. E. Cross. Mrs. Rotert will favor us with a reading and special music has been arranged.

Spring Colds Are Dangerous

The Simple Treatment Knocks A Cold Right Now

Heed the warning—at first sign of a cold this spring, get busy and get rid of that cold. It's a simple thing if you take it in time.

Send to the drug store for an ordinary jar of Muco Salve which sells for 25 cents.

Melt a little of this salve in a spoon and inhale the vapors which arise. This will clear the head, soothe the upper respiratory tract and give nature a chance to heal the inflamed membranes.

If cold has gotten the start on you, take a good dose of oil at bedtime and rub Muco Salve thickly on chest, covering same with warm cloths, flannel preferably.

In the morning cold will probably be gone.

MOTHER

Keep Muco Salve On Hand At All Times for Family Use

It has always been a mother's job to guard the family health. Mother saves our lives every year.

Colds, spring colds, are mother's greatest fear for they so often lead to grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Don't wait for colds to come. Get a jar of Muco Salve from the drug store for a few cents and have it handy to use first time anyone sneezes.

Doctor's Advice

Your doctor will tell you the common cold is the forerunner of much sickness. He advises you to take every precaution against a cold and to treat your cold at once.

The "Muco Treatment," as some call it, offers the simplest remedy and probably easiest to use. It is pleasant and safe. Muco Salve contains certain healing elements like turpentine and menthol that give off a vapor, which, when inhaled through the nose, reach the upper respiratory tract—the seat of the trouble.

For deep seated chest colds get a bottle of Muco-Solvent (Liquid). This is the prescription of Dr. L. W. Griffin who is well remembered by the people of Necedah, Wis. As the name implies it is a dissolvent which disintegrates the mucous (phlegm) so that it can be expectorated. Muco-Solvent (Liquid) at 75 cents per bottle and Muco Salve at 25 cents per jar form a combination that usually relieves all kinds of colds.

Both are sold everywhere by all druggists. We are positive you can get it here of F. J. Fessenden, F. N. Metcalf, B. A. Herman.

BAY SHORE

Too late for last week.

Mr. Peterson, of the Petoskey Grocery Co., was a business caller at Bay Shore, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Amandus Evers have both been sick with the flu, but are much better at this writing.

Mrs. W. D. Blair, Nina Johnson, Helen Spiegle, James Spiegle and Andrew Anderson of the Fairgrove school attended classes at C. H. S. Saturday.

Henry Ward, an old resident of Hayes township, died at his home in Petoskey, Saturday, March 24. He was a veteran of the Civil War.

Mr. Dewey and Hugh Burnett of Bay Shore attended classes at C. H. S. Saturday, March 31. Also Miss McCulmon and the eighth graders from Burgess attended.

Looking over some back numbers of the paper we notice one correspondent says, "March came in like a lamb." We're glad there was something good about it to be remembered. Wednesday, March 28, the thermometer registered from 8 to 12 degrees below zero in several different places west of Bay Shore.

F. W. Zipp, Sr., an old resident of Bay Shore, died at his home in this village, Tuesday, March 26, after an illness of five years and four months. Besides his widow he leaves three sons, two daughters, three brothers, one sister and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral was held from the family residence, Rev. Albright, of Petoskey officiating. The body was left at the Greenwood vault, later to be taken to Mancelona and laid beside his father and mother.

STRENGTH AND SAFETY IN THE BODY OF STEEL

If you could see the main body structure of Dodge Brothers Business Coupe before the enamel is baked on, and before the interior is furnished, you would be profoundly impressed by its strength.

You would see that every panel, every pillar, and every rib is steel—that even the door sills and window mouldings are steel.

You would see that all of these parts and sections are electrically welded together into one staunch steel body, with no bolts or rivets to work loose, nothing to rattle or squeak or warp.

And you would realize that, like the all-steel Pullman coach, this unique construction—originated by Dodge Brothers for this car—represents the last word in protection to passengers—the ultimate achievement in closed car sturdiness.

UNDER THE DOME AT LANSING

Report of 52nd Session's Opening Work From Standpoint Of Banking and Farming Interests.

With the asphyxiated condition of the gas tax off its chest, temporarily at least, the legislature is grinding along steadily on appropriation requests and routine legislation.

Disagreement between the Senate and the House over appropriation bills may result in at least a temporary legislative deadlock. The House has made some severe cuts in several appropriation bills passed by the Senate. The Senate has refused to approve the House amendments, while the House has just as stubbornly refused to back down from its position. Conference committees are now trying to reach some agreement over the disputed items, which really are not particularly large or important. It is feared, however, that the present lack of harmony between the two houses may be only a symptom of a condition which may become chronic before final adjournment is reached. During the session two years ago such disagreements led to a deadlock which prolonged the session and was an aggravation to all concerned.

Auto Licenses May Be Cut

In what appears to be an effort to win the favor of the Ford owners and embarrass the Governor as much as possible in his stand on the gas tax, the Senate Highway Committee has reported favorably the bill to decrease the auto license fees. This measure would cut the license on Fords about in half and would reduce the license on medium priced cars to a less extent. The license on the heaviest cars would not be noticeably affected. Such a move is taking a lot of wind out of the Governor's sails, for he has been trying to convince the Ford owners that the gas tax would work a great injustice on them.

New Tax Office Asked

Abolishment of the state tax commission and substitution of a new state department of taxation under the complete control of a single commissioner to be appointed by the Governor at an annual salary of $6,000, is proposed in a bill presented by Rep. Fred Wells of Cassopolis.

This idea was advanced in the report of the legislature of the special committee of inquiry into taxation of which Rep. Wells was a member. Such strong opposition developed to the idea, however, that it was supposed it had been abandoned.

It is openly rumored that George Lord of Detroit, who was chairman of the committee recommending the proposal, is seeking to create this new office with the idea of getting appointed to the very attractive position himself.

Alternate Plan Proposed

A companion bill by Rep. Wells provides for a reorganization of the State board of equalization to harmonize with the provisions of his first bill. Under the new system, the state board of equalization would consist of the auditor general, the commissioner of agricultural and the new tax commissioner.

Rep. Charles Evans of Tipton, Chairman of the House General Taxation Committee, who was also a member of the legislative committee of inquiry into taxation, has proposed an alternate plan. He would allow the present tax commission to name one of its own members as secretary, thus abolishing one of the big salaried officers required by the present system.

Sen. Sligh of Grand Rapids introduced a bill providing for the sterilization of feeble minded. A similar bill was introduced two years ago in the House but died in the committee. The Sligh bill provides that a judge may, after proper hearing, order sterilization on state charges when the welfare of the state or of the individuals themselves warrants.

The Lennon bill providing that school districts must have a total assessed valuation of $1,000,000 before combining to form a consolidated school, passed the senate 32 to 0. It has previously passed the House so now awaits the Governor's signature.

The proposed constitutional amendment to restrict the right to bear arms in defense of self or county to citizens was endorsed by the Senate 30 to 2. The proposed constitutional amendment is intended to pave the way for legislation to prevent the indiscriminate use of firearms by aliens.

"Full-Crew" Still An Issue

The far-famed "full-crew" railway bill, probably the most advertised bill pushed by the labor unions, has finally been reported favorably by the Senate Committee who have had it under consideration for some months.

The bill as it now appears has been subjected to some extensive amendments which have removed some of the most vicious features of the original bill. In its amended form, it has been endorsed by the State Grange, but Clark L. Brady, Sec. Mgr. of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, has written each Senator and Representative that it is yet far from satisfactory to the Farm Bureau organization.

Road contractors building certain kinds of roads will be required to furnish bonds covering maintenance and repair for a period of one year under the terms of a bill which Rep. Joseph Warner, father of the Warner gas tax bill, has successfully piloted through the lower house.

Hereafter trunk line highways will be largely state propositions if the Senate concurs in the House action in passing the Evans bill, providing that 90 per cent of the cost of building and maintaining trunk line roads will be borne by the State and only 10 per cent by the county. The present distribution of the burden between the state and the counties has been on a 50-50 basis.

Uniform Traffic Laws Oked

Uniform-traffic regulations for Michigan are being favorably considered by the Legislature. A bill to carry out this purpose, sponsored by Rep. Milton Palmer of Detroit, has been passed by the Senate 74 to 7.

Enactment of this measure will reduce confusion, simplify law enforcement and result in greater safety to the autoist and pedestrian. Details of the bill refer to parking on road-sides, passing street cars, right of way, signals to fellow motorists, etc.

The Senate has oked Rep. Read's bill to exempt feeding sheep from the provisions of the bill requiring dipping for all sheep brought into the state.

"Pittsburgh Plus" Attacked

The "Pittsburgh Plus" system of fixing steel prices is attacked in a resolution introduced in the Senate by Sen. Wm. L. Connelly of Spring Lake. A duplicate resolution has been proposed in the House of Rep. Oscar Braman of Grand Rapids.

It is explained that under the "Pittsburgh Plus" practice, all steel

Does the Job at Less Cost

LAND-CLEARING used to be a long, hard, expensive job. It's cheaper and easier today—with Dumorite—the latest du Pont dynamite.

Dumorite gives you one-third more sticks for each dollar with approximately the same strength, stick for stick, as 40% dynamite—and the slow, heaving action of "20".

Use this new du Pont explosive to clear your land—costs less—gives better results. And it's non-freezing and non-headache.

is sold at the Pittsburgh price plus freight from Pittsburgh to point of delivery, regardless of where the steel is actually made. It is understood that the resolution is being pushed by the Michigan State Farm Bureau as a logical step in lowering the price of farm machinery and equipment.

Sen. Connelly points out that while steel can be manufactured at Gary much cheaper than at Pittsburgh, still Michigan steel consumers must pay a phantom freight charge all the way from Pittsburgh. It is declared that this shrewd practice raises the total cost of steel consumed in Michigan about $1,000,000 per year. The (Continued on page seven)

This is one of the exquisite old gems from Schumann's "Child Scenes." It is as its name implies, "A Dream."

Greig, Norwegian, 1842-1907. Greig (Edward Hagerup) (Green), born in Bergen, Norway, is the most representative Norwegian composer. Through the influence of the great violinist, Ole Bull, who recognized his talent, he was sent to Leipzig, Germany, to study when but 15. From there he went to Copenhagen, and later he returned to Norway and worked for the development of a national school of music. The Norwegian government gave him a life pension, which enabled him to devote his time to composition. His manner of expression is lyrical rather than dramatic. His short pieces are the most successful. To them, as well as in his larger works, he caught the national folk style with its strange harmonies and melody, bizarre rhythms, although his melodies are original and not mere transcriptions of folk songs. His compositions include pieces for the piano, violin, viola, cello, string quartet and orchestra, and also beautiful songs and choral works. The two Peer Gynt suites, written at Ibsen's invitation to be used as incidental music to Ibsen's drama of that name, are probably his best known compositions.

"Morning," from Peer Gynt suite, Peer Gynt (our guest), as the drama begins, is a pleasant, dreamy, soft, sordid and superstitious.

He leaves his home and wanders through foreign countries where he apparently prospers. But his character remains unchanged and there are only glimpses of the good striving.

When you are worried by back ache: By lameness and urinary disorder. Don't experiment with an inferior medicine. Follow Charlevoix people's example. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Charlevoix testimony. Verify it if you wish: Mrs. John Cook, 207 Mason St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for symptoms of kidney disorder and backache and they have given me splendid results. I am glad to recommend Doan's for they certainly are a splendid kidney remedy."

OVER EIGHT YEARS LATER, Mrs. Cook said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's for some time, as they made a cure for me which has never been lasting." Price 60c at all dealers. ing in predominance. At last, in his old age, he returns to his early home and realizes the worthlessness of his existence. He is saved from utter despair by the revelation of God, who has loved him from his youth.

"Morning" is a tone poem of the morning of day. The scene takes place in the mountains and occurs at a time when Peer Gynt's better motives have prevailed. The bird-song to sleep, sounds of bells coming from the hills below; the theme, gradually becoming louder, suggests the sunrise from pale pink to full glory.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Week beginning Sunday, April 15, 10:30 o'clock morning worship. Sunday subject, "The Cause and Cure of Worry."

12 o'clock Sunday school. General lesson theme, "The Joy of the Spirit of this People."

6 o'clock B. Y. L. Union, topic, "The Joy of the Spirit of this People." Who are you? Think of the joy and come to B. Y. L. U.

At 7 o'clock, we will attend the church, where Rev. E. R. Lathrop, pastor of Sunday School and Young People's work, for the first time will speak. Rev. Lathrop is an old-time friend and co-worker of Dr. Harris and an able speaker. All who are interested in Sunday school and people's work should make it a point to attend.

Wednesday afternoon the Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. A. J. Foster.

Thursday evening at 7:30, mid-week prayer service.

"My God, my God, so sweet From bluish of morn to evening star, As that which calls me to thy feet, The hour of prayer!"

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The school board meeting, the Glee Club sang, "Barrenmoor." Miss Oliver played on the violin, "Wall-owing Ball," by Polakine and "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn. Mr. Hamilton read the "University of Needful Knocks," which was interesting as well as instructive.

The declamatory contest, which we have all been anxious to attend, has been postponed until April 20th because of poor traveling conditions. The schools to be represented are: Alba, Petoskey, Pellston, Cheboygan, Traverse City, Boyne City and Charlevoix.

The track team has started its practice in the basement of the school. If we had had as many out for football as we have for track we could have three teams and subs for each team. Maybe they are coming out because it is something new. The basketball team has not begun practicing yet because of our old friend winter, who hates to leave us, but we all hope Capt. Marshall can soon get his men in action.

When do we get our football "C"? Everyone save waste paper for the Junior class. We need money!

The following players were chosen captains of the teams for 1923: Baseball—J. C. Marshall. Track—Joe Hamilton. For 1924: Football—Gordon Todd. Basketball—Harold Jones.

Stop! Look! Listen! The Harlequin, after nearly a year's hard work of collecting and sorting material, is at last to be completed and put on sale May 2, 1923. It will be a big day and should interest everyone, especially students and alumni. Folks, buy a Harlequin and know your high school. The price is only $1.25. This is the first year the high school has published an annual since 1910 and there will be only a limited number, so be on time. Remember May 2nd.

Clare Usher—"They say Charlie Dagwell is a baseball pitcher. Is it true?"

Charlie Myers—"So he says."

The training room pupils and the county normal students netted $68.75 at the entertainment given Thursday evening. Their expenses were $55.50, giving the class $62.25 to add to their bank account. It will not be necessary for the class to call on the board of supervisors to help defray the commencement expenses as is usually the custom. Miss Burkhead and the classes are very thankful to everyone who in any way helped them to raise the fund, whether it was by taking part in the program or by giving their interest and donations.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the kindly assistance rendered us during our recent bereavement. Also for the beautiful floral tokens and attentions on the day of burial.

KIDS REVEL AT FLOYD'S PARTY
Young Eccleston Celebrated His Fifth Birthday

Floyd Eccleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eccleston, celebrated his fifth birthday last Saturday, with the help of about fourteen of his little friends and playmates.

The cake with five candles and the other birthday delicacies were hugely enjoyed by the young folks who spent a busy afternoon in having a thorough good time and general jollification. In fact, the consensus of opinion seemed to be that Master Floyd should have a birthday every day.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. James O'Brien, of Charlevoix, was brought in Monday for an operation, from which she is recovering slowly.

Mrs. Robert Russell, of this city, who had an operation performed last week, returned home Saturday.

Peter Jensen, janitor at the hospital, has been laid up since Thursday with a relapse from his recent attack of the flu.

A generous response was made to the call for apples and vegetables sent out last week and the hospital board and staff want to thank the donors. However, more of the vegetables will be acceptable, of the kinds enumerated in last week's issue.

Benton Grange will hold a dance at the grange hall on April 20th. Adv. 15-11.

Anyways, it's more fun working than hating.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The figures compiled by the Women's Christian Temperance Union in connection with their recent religious census of the public schools show that:

144 pupils attend a Sunday school at Charlevoix.

75 pupils have a church preference, but do not attend Sunday school.

10 pupils have no church preference and do not attend Sunday school.

8 pupils attend Sunday school at L'Angeles.

8 pupils were reported absent and no attendance was obtained.

445 records in all were received.

Charlevoix averages higher than most communities in the number who attend Sunday school, but, so long as there is a boy or girl who is receiving no religious instruction, we should not be satisfied.

Earl A. Young can be contacted for the season. See him at telephone 245 or 584. Adv. 15-11.

First Church of Christ Scientist Sunday service at 10:15 a. m. subject, "Are Sin, Death and Hell Real?"

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, APRIL 14 and 15

Tom Mix in "Do and Dare." Here is a Tom Mix picture which is very much out of the ordinary. The thrilling tale of the American Plains and a South American revolution. He was the lineal descendant of the great pioneer, Kit Carson Boone, and he sought to uphold the traditions of his name. Come and see what happens then.

We will also have a Clyde Cook comedy, "High and Dry."

TUESDAY, APRIL 17

John Gilbert in "The Love Gamble." Here is a real Gilbert play. You can't help but be interested.

Also a Vanity comedy, "Assault and Flattery."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18

William Farnum in "Moonshine Valley." Here is the first William Farnum picture of the season. A wonderful picture, a marvelous story, a brilliant star. An intense drama showing the love of a man for his child.

Also No. 15 of the spectacular serial "Breaking Through." This is the last number. Don't miss it.

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, APRIL 21 and 22

"The Old Homestead." One of the biggest pictures of the season.

PROGRESS MADE BY THE SCHOOLS

have not been organized in the recent past: Trigonometry, Camp Cooking, Solid Geometry, second year Algebra, so students may take the work in high school that will allow them to enter college and pursue the course they may choose and be sure they will have no preparatory work to take up after entering as what is termed in some schools "vocational counseling" has been given, not only from posting lists of credits required by the universities, but advice from the office has been freely given.

Perhaps our biggest aim has been to develop American citizenship in our boys and girls—to make the good attractive and make the things not worth while unpopular to the extent that they make a minimum appeal.

As a result of these forward steps, the North Central authorities thought us worthy when we submitted our program to them, together with a statement of our future aims and standards, to grant our request for North Central accreditation, under which plan our graduates may enter on diploma any of the higher institutions in any of the states belonging to this association, which takes in our most progressive middle-western states.

We urge your greater interest in the Charlevoix schools. We need your support. We solicit your confidence.

Very respectfully,
Charles F. Hamilton

AT THE MOVIES

William Farnum, noted William Fox star, in a rattling fine picture of the west, is the attraction this week at the Palace Theatre, where "Moonshine Valley" appears on Wednesday evening, April 18th.

Everyone loves a western picture. No other type is so distinctively American, affording, as it does, a wide scope for good acting and exciting scenes. And "Bill" Farnum in a western is just about the highest development of good entertainment. That's why "Moonshine Valley" is a picture that one would not sorry having missed.

Farnum's role of Ned Connors appeals from the outset. A hard-working gold prospector with bad luck, his wife, believing him killed, goes with a doctor. Farnum becomes a "bad man" and a drunkard. After four years his wife returns to the section where she formerly lived with her present husband and their little daughter (Dawn O'Day).

The man with whom she had eloped (Holmes Herbert) sees her husband and quickly leaves town. Their child is lost. Farnum finds her and she works his reformation. Later he finds his wife's illegal husband and in a thrilling fight kills him. The human touches provided by Herbert Brenon, the director, make the picture an excellent entertainment.

Dawn O'Day, the three-year-old actress, scores a decided hit. Once seen she is loved forever. Sadie Mullen, as the wife, who is playing her first leading part, is a clever and beautiful actress and bound to become a screen favorite. Holmes

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by N. P. Smith, a single man, to Fred E. Frazier dated the 12th day of June, A. D. 1919, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix and the State of Michigan, on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1919, in Liber 53 of Mortgages, on page 344, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Seven Hundred Fifty (750) Dollars and fifty-six (56) Cents, and an Attorney's fee of Thirty Dollars, provided for in said mortgage and in addition the amount of taxes paid thereon, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, By virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 6th day of July, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, I shall sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, at the East front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said County of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with an Attorney's fee of thirty Dollars, and the taxes paid thereon, as provided by law and as covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows: to-wit: The Northeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section thirty-three (33) Township thirty-four (34) North, Range Eight (8) West, in the Township of Charlevoix and County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan.

Dated April 3rd, 1923.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of two certain real estate mortgages whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, which said mortgages were given respectively as follows, to-wit: the first of said mortgages dated March 21st, 1919 by Norman W. Smith and Janet Smith, husband and wife, of Charlevoix, Michigan, as mortgagors, to the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, a corporation, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, on the twenty-second day of March, 1919, in Liber forty of mortgages on page two hundred and forty-six, and the second certain mortgage dated November 13, 1920, was given by Norman W. Smith and Janet Smith, husband and wife of Charlevoix, Michigan, as mortgagors, to the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, a corporation, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the fifth day of May, 1921 in Liber forty of mortgages on page four hundred and nineteen; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said first mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Six Hundred and Forty-two Dollars, principal and interest, and Twenty-five Dollars as an Attorney fee as provided for by said mortgage; and whereas the amount claimed to be due on said second mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of Eleven Hundred and Forty-two Dollars, principal and interest, and Twenty-five Dollars as an Attorney fee provided for by said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the moneys by either of said mortgages or any part thereof, Now, therefore, notice is given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgages and of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgages will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount then due the mortgagee of the principal and interest, together with the costs and expenses of foreclosure on these mortgages including the Attorney fees therein provided for, at Public Auction to the highest bidder thereon, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held,) on the 30th day of June, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day. The premises described in said mortgages being described as follows: to-wit: In said first mortgage, the South West Quarter of the South West Quarter of Section Thirty-four (34) Township thirty-four (34) North, Range Eight (8) West, containing Forty (40) acres of land more or less; according to the government survey thereof; and in said second mortgage, the West half of the North East quarter of the South West Quarter of Section Thirty-four (34) Township thirty-four (34) North, Range Eight (8) West, containing twenty (20) acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof; both said descriptions being located in the Township of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan.

Dated March 21, 1923.

TO HAVE A NEW CANNING FACTORY

WORK OF ERECTION BEGAN THURSDAY AT ELLSWORTH

Wisconsin Men, Is Prime Mover and Principal Stockholder—Has Wide Experience

When the first load of gravel was dumped near the P. M. tracks a few rods south of the Ellsworth Produce company's warehouse on Thursday, of last week, the first definite steps were being taken towards the erection of a canning factory for Ellsworth, something which the town has needed for years.

Plans and prospects have been bright for this to be attained since last Fall, but so many bubbles have burst in the past that many of the business men and farmers most vitally interested in the project have been somewhat skeptical as to the final outcome of the present plans.

C. O. Bigler, of Bayfield, Wis., is the moving spirit in the present plans, as well as the heaviest stockholder. He is a man with years of experience in the business, having interests in canning factories at present, as well as having a reputation of being a square and hustling business man. He will hold the office of president and general manager. Geo. Klooster is vice-president and S. P. Baar secretary and treasurer. Elmer Hood, also of Bayfield, Wis., will be superintendent and these four, together with E. R. Harris, constitute the board of directors.

The factory is planned to handle sweet corn, pumpkins, beets and beans, apples and cherries, as well as all kinds of berries.

The buildings, according to the blue prints now in the hands of Tice Coeling, the contractor, will consist of a building 84x42 feet running east and west, and will be one story without basement, except for the end next to the tracks, which will be 42x28 with basement and two floors.

A shed 56x20, for receiving and storage, will be on the north side of the main building, while on the south side will be cider and vinegar rooms, each 42x36, a 12x36 ft. cooking room and an engine room and coal shed.

Mr. Coeling assures us that if weather opens up so that actual building operations can be started within a reasonable time, the entire plant will be ready for operation on or before July 1st.

Material for building is being placed on the grounds as fast as possible, and nearly all the lumber, as well as most of the concrete material is in place. The railroad survey, for switch and side track has been completed and the track will be laid as soon as weather permits, and about one hundred and eighty acres have been contracted for vegetables, and barring war, pestilence or famine, a canning factory for Ellsworth is an assured thing.

Mr. Bigler and Mr. Hood are at Bayfield at present, packing their furniture for shipment here, and will return with their families in a few days.

resolution urges Congress and the Federal Trade Commission to take action to abolish this practice.

The proposed change in the manner of distributing the primary school interest fund has been reported favorably by the Education Committee of the House. It is understood that members of this committee were lined up 6 to 2 on this issue.

Sentiment in favor of this bill has developed rapidly in the House and there is every indication that it will pass this body. Since it gives more state aid to poor districts it appears that it is well intended to carry out the original intent of the founders of the fund, namely, to equalize primary school opportunity in Michigan.

WON A PRIZE AT RECENT CONTEST

His Entry, "Where Quiet Reigns,"
A Loeb Farms Subject, A Favorite at Boston Competition

A recent Lansing newspaper has an account of a pictorial photography contest, in which one of their local photographers won a prize for his treatment of a scene on the Loeb Farms, near this city. We quote the item below:

"Norton L. Avery, manager of the Lines studio, is the only Michigan photographer to secure a prize for prints entered in the third annual photographic competition open to pictorial photographers from all over the world.

"This contest was recently held in Boston, Mass., and announcement has just been made that the first award was granted to John M. Whitehead, Ferndale, Ala., Scotland. The third, thirteenth, and fourteenth prizes were secured by English photographers.

"Mr. Avery was awarded the twenty-first prize for a print he called 'Where Quiet Reigns.'

"The scene depicted is one of pastoral beauty and shows a view on the Loeb farm near Charlevoix, which Mr. Avery treated with artistic appreciation for the exquisite lights and shadows on the chateau-like building, the placid river and the graceful sweep of a bridge.

"The prize-winning prints will be used to make up a collection to be loaned to art clubs and libraries throughout the United States. They will also appear in 'American Photography,' the journal of photographers in this country."

PRESENT WINTER HARD ON DEER

Northern Sportsmen Report Many Have Starved To Death in Woods

The deer of northern Michigan are being decimated by the severe winter, according to several northern Michigan sportsmen. In the eastern part of the northern peninsula, many deer have been found starved to death, and in a number of cases, farmers have taken the weakened animals into their barns and are feeding them.

One farmer near Hessel has six deer in his care, having carried the exhausted animals to his enclosures, and restored them to life.

The heavy snows, which have become frozen, together with the fact that the buck deer have been partly killed off, have made breaking new swamp trails almost impossible. It is pointed out that the does are heavy with fawn and are unable to break through the heavy crusts to find feeding grounds, and that they are slowly starving.

Lovers of animal life are becoming interested and it is believed that the matter will be taken up with the conservation commission with the view of rendering aid of some sort to the rapidly diminishing species.

NEW POSTMASTER IS APPOINTED

Wm. A. Stroebel To Be Acting Postmaster of East Jordan

Wm. A. Stroebel has received the appointment of Acting Postmaster of East Jordan to fill vacancy. He has filed the bonds required and on Thursday of last week entered upon his new duties.

The appointment of Mr. Stroebel was unsolicited and came as a distinct surprise to him.

The action of the First Assistant Postmaster in appointing Mr. Stroebel meets with the hearty approval of the citizens of East Jordan. He has been actively identified with the business interests of that city for many years, and his proven business ability coupled with uniform courtesy to all customers makes him especially fitted to the postmastership.

TWO HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS RIG

Dr. George Reyecraft and Roy Otto Injured at Petoskey

Dr. George E. Reyecraft, Petoskey physician, and Roy Otto, manager of the Reyecraft farm on East Mitchell street road, were badly shaken up, bruised and otherwise injured early Wednesday morning of last week when the rig in which they were riding was struck at the South Howard street crossing by a Pennsylvania Lines freight train. The rig was upset and drove a quite a distance. The team was torn loose from the rig and one horse was thrown completely over the other, according to reports of the accident. One horse was benumbed and cut but the other apparently escaped injury. The rig was considerably damaged.

Dr. George was more seriously hurt than was Mr. Otto. Fear was expressed that he may have suffered a fractured rib and other hurts.

The men were coming back to Petoskey from a trip to Charlevoix and Walloon Lake, where the physician had been called to visit a patient.

EAST JORDAN MAN TAKES OWN LIFE

Leon Umor, Proprietor of Meat Market Slashes Throat

East Jordan was shocked Friday morning to learn of the tragic death of Leon Umor, proprietor of the west side Umor meat market on the west side of Umor, in a fit of despondency, slashed his own throat late Thursday night, with a steak knife. He died about an hour after being found by persons passing his store.

Mr. Umor had resided on a farm near East Jordan for many years and about a year ago moved into the city and opened a market. Failing health caused him to give up his work at the market and seek aid by outdoor work. Some time ago he became worse and was forced to quit work. He went to Traverse City to visit his parents for a few days.

He returned home Thursday to find his shop closed and his family moved to another part of the city. Worried over his failing health, finances and domestic affairs, friends say, caused him to take his own life. He leaves a wife and three children.

TRUCKMEN TO WATCH LOADS

Asked To Aid State and County Enforcement of Wet Weather Load Law

The Charlevoix county highway department and the state department are to co-operate more closely than ever before in an effort to secure the enforcement of the net automobile load law and in that way aid in preserving the roads of the county. Within a short time the roads of northern Michigan will be going through the annual spring break-up, and to protect them as much as possible the highway department has asked that truck owners and operators observe the rules governing the weight of loads carried.

The following is explanatory: A truck weighing 6,300 pounds with rear tires 10x8 and front tires 10x6, under the rules, could carry 3,600 pounds.

A dry weather load of 10,500 pounds, but the wet weather load would be only 2,120 pounds. Truckmen are also asked to see that the loads on their trucks are properly distributed over the entire truck with the heaviest part of the load on the rear axle.

Copies of the state motor vehicle laws, which cover the matter of loads of motor trucks, may be had at the county clerk's office at the court house.

FORD ANNOUNCEMENT

—OF INTEREST TO—
MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for a multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

"AMERICANISM" WAS THE TOPIC

REV. C. W. LONG DELIVERS STIRRING ADDRESS

Meeting of Commercial Association Was Marked by Excellent Speaking in And a Fine Banquet

The last meeting of the Charlevoix Commercial Association, which took place last Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple, was marked by four of the most interesting talks to which members of the association have been privileged to listen this winter.

Following a most excellent supper, prepared by the Ladies of the Eastern Star, a short business session was conducted, at the close of which president W. W. Mitchell, of the association, called upon the Rev. C. W. Long, who took as his subject, "Americanism." Mr. Long developed his topic in a highly original and interesting manner and held the interest of his audience to the last word, the length and vigor of the address he received testifying to the deep impression his words had made upon them.

He began by defining Americanism as an ideal—not a fact; that ideal being "the application of true democracy to all motives and affairs of human life." This principle, said Mr. Long, had first been violated by the very people who originally bore its seed to these shores—our forefathers, fleeing from religious and civil oppression, who, in their high-handed and unscrupulous treatment of the native Indian population, had run counter to the basic American rule of fair play and had come into possession of their first holdings in the new land by placing might above right. Today we are worshippers of the golden calf and through our devotion to sensuous and material enjoyment have become drifters and wasters, incapable of the sturdy independence of mind and spirit, clarity of thought and vision and capability of sacrifice which are comprehended in the character of the ideal American.

Our casual, not to say careless attitude towards the church, said the speaker, was a further evidence of our departure from the ideals of America. "God has given us a wonderful land, freighted with opportunity such as no other people of earth ever had. Talk about a paradise of long ago—an Eden—such is but a dream of the sages, who try in their only known way to picture the blessings of God provided abundantly for man. The blessings of God are beyond the largest capacity of man to recount. How can a sane human being keep from worshipping such a creator and honoring such an indulgent Father. Why rob God of the honor and praise we ought and, by every sane and intelligent thought, are compelled to give. In neglecting this, you are not true to the first principles of Americanism, which is, in its very nature, a seeking to know the highest ideals and a giving of oneself to the best means to attain them."

The home, school, church, business and state, said Mr. Long, must have the cooperative effort of every true American, if the highest ideals of life (which only are true Americanism) are to be maintained. He deplored the prevailing wickedness in high places—the graft and dishonesty now rife in our officialdom and the flagrant disregard of law, not only on the part of the people at large but among their representatives sworn and bound by the most sacred cows to uphold it. This, he said, was most emphatically not American but that every wanton and deliberate violation of the laws of the land on the part of any one of its citizens disgraced America and the flag that is stained with the blood of her martyrs, who died that freedom, justice and humanity might remain with us forever. "May it," he said in conclusion, "be raised out of the mire and dirt into which in many cases it has fallen and be unfurled in all its glory, beauty and purity, before all the world, as the emblem of honest and honorable faith, love and service—not to a sickly immunity or wanton license, but with the spirit of true democracy and manly independence that will do honor to the God whom we profess to love and serve."

The chairman next called on Mr. Alonzo Powers, who recently returned from Florida, who amused his hearers with several clever yarns, especially by his experience in southern waters with a motor boat which simply wouldn't "move" when the tide ran out and left it on a sand bar. Mr. Powers, unused to tides, had not taken them into his calculations and he and a fellow rescuer had a waist-deep flounder in sticky mud to pay for their ignorance of local conditions. "Lon" turned his mishap to good account, however, as he made it the basis of a glowing argument which finally persuaded his

NEW INDUSTRY IS DEVELOPED

ERICKSON MFG. COMPANY BORN LAST NIGHT

Meeting At State Bank Results In Formation of Local Stock Organization

A meeting called by the new industries committee of the Charlevoix Commercial Association was held Tuesday evening at the State Savings Bank for the purpose of considering plans for the formation of a new stock company in Charlevoix to handle on a larger scale the garage accessories invented by Theodore Erickson of this city and now being manufactured by the firm of Erickson & Olmstead in their Antrim Street building. Another meeting will probably be held the latter part of this week or first of next for perfection of the organization.

The new corporation will probably be known as the Erickson Manufacturing Company, or some modification of this title, and it is the intention of the organizers to make it a purely local concern with the stock held by Charlevoix people. The suggested capitalization is $10,000, but this figure is subject to revision. Under the present plans, Mr. Erickson is to retain fifty-one per cent of the stock. Of the total capitalization, shares to the value of $19,600.00 will be available for subscription. Some five to six thousand dollars of this amount was subscribed at the meeting last night. The balance is to be raised by the circulation of a subscription paper among local people.

The products to be manufactured are mostly accessories for garage use and include a floor crane, a wrecking crane (for service trucks), presses for general garage work, sleeve pullers, rear pullers, small auto jacks, an interchangeable clamp and press for the quick removal of spring bushings and shackle bolts, and spark plug wrenches.

An enterprise of this kind, if properly developed and managed, will mean a great deal for Charlevoix and, as industry is no exception, but rather a striking example of the rule that like attracts like, it may be the entering wedge for a number of similar enterprises that will serve to keep our floating population at home during the winter season and at work, which will be no small blessing.

Lead lines and anchor stone of a net placed in Round Lake near the Wilbur dock were discovered Monday. The dead body of a fish caught entangled in the meshes of the net let to its discovery. The finding of this net and reports of other nets being placed in the lake during the fall and winter months fully account for the poor perch fishing in the lake this winter. We often wonder if this practice will ever be stopped, or officials of the state game department will make an effort to apprehend the guilty parties.

NEW MANAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

BELVEDERE HOTEL PUBLISHES ATTRACTIVE FOLDER

Many Improvements Made in This Popular Hostelry During Past Winter

The Belvedere Hotel is advertised this season in a most attractive booklet, put out by the Charlevoix Summer Home Association. In an eight page folder, printed on high-gloss, enameled book paper, in three colors, the many delightful features offered by the Association, of which the Belvedere Hotel and cottage colony are a part, are set forth, beginning with the announcement of the coming summer season of 1923 under the management of Andrew I. Creamer, one of the best known of the northern hotel men, who has been engaged to manage the Belvedere this summer. Former manager of the Inn in this city, he is also the senior partner in the operation of Highland Pines Inn, Southern Pines, North Carolina, and his many years experience in the management of both winter and summer hotels insures the patrons of the Belvedere the best of everything.

The Belvedere is owned by the members of a private association, The Charlevoix Summer Home Association, who all have cottages surrounding the hotel are deeply interested in the selection of guests for the hotel, insure the presence of only a most congenial and high class clientele.

Besides a complete list of the members of the association and their home addresses, the folder displays many interesting views of the Belvedere cottages, the new casino and boat houses, glimpses of Round Lake and a new airplane view of Charlevoix, showing the three lakes. It also outlines the various summer delights afforded by the sports facilities of the association.

A new casino for dancing and other entertainments has just been completed on the shore of beautiful Pine Lake, only a few steps from the hotel. Also a new, attractive solarium, or sun-parlor, has been added to the hotel, from which guests can enjoy the view over Pine Lake or from the new veranda outside.

Many other new improvements have just been made, the most important of which is the addition of some thirty new bathrooms. Almost every room or suite now has a private bath—a very unusual accommodation for a summer hotel. The few remaining rooms without baths have practically all been equipped with hot and cold running water.

Charlevoix has a very unusual location for all kinds of boating. With its three bodies of water, all joined by deep channels, there is a choice of Lake Michigan, Pine Lake and Round Lake. The latter, only about a half a mile in diameter, between the two other lakes, is one of the finest harbors on the Great Lakes and is ideal for boat houses or anchorages. The Belvedere has boat houses available for guests and also boats for rent.

Contrary to the usual opinion, there is still good fishing in and around Charlevoix. Bass and perch are plentiful in Pine Lake and in late August and early September many fine catches of steelhead have been made the last few years. The great improvement in the roads has also made the many small lakes and trout streams, within a radius of ten or fifteen miles of Charlevoix, easily available by automobile.

The eighteen hole course of the Charlevoix Golf Club is considered the best in Northern Michigan and is only a short distance from the hotel. Riding is a popular pastime here and the swimming dock and beach are the rendezvous for the cottagers and hotel guests each afternoon, while there are seven excellent tennis courts, with an instructor provided to take charge of the tournament and to help the younger children.

With the purest of water and air and unexampled natural beauties of scenery, coupled with a delightful summer climate and facilities for a wide range of vacation-time occupations in their possession, the association is looking forward to a very busy and interesting resort season.

If you have a cottage to rent for the season, see or telephone Earl A. Young, phone 275 or 584.—Adv. 11-16.

STATE SHORT ON FARM LABOR

GREATEST SHORTAGE EVIDENT SINCE YEAR 1921

Other Facts Brought to Light in Report by State and Government Officials

The supply of farm labor in Michigan on April 1 was only 71 per cent of the demand. This is the greatest shortage since an annual inquiry of this character has been made, except in 1920 when it dropped as low as 58 per cent. In 1921, it had risen to 108 per cent; and in 1922 it exceeded the demand by 11 per cent. That the situation is more acute in Michigan than for the country as a whole is evident from the fact that the ratio of supply to demand is 88 per cent for the United States. These are some of the facts brought to light in the Federal-State crop report issued lately by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The demand would be far greater and the ratio of supply much lower if the wages demanded by farm labor were within reach of the average farmer. The surplus labor has gone to the cities, many tenant farmers have gone, and many farm owners have gone or are intending to go soon. Many farmers went to the city last fall in order to earn money to pay up their taxes and other debts, and many of these are not returning to their farms this spring. One county agent has been able to locate only two hired men for the farmers of his county although he has a long list wanting help.

The first inquiry of the current season on the condition of wheat and rye was also made on April 1. The central and northern portions of the state being under a moderate to heavy covering of snow, which had been continuous since early in the winter, the prospects for fall-sown grains were thought to be very favorable. The outlook in the southern counties had been excellent up to the middle of March, but the extreme cold weather with little snow covering after that date undoubtedly caused some local injury, the extent of which could not be definitely determined at the time of report. Both wheat and rye entered the winter with a normal growth of top and a firm and vigorous root development, and the opinion of the majority of correspondents was that the greater portion of the crop will ultimately prove to be in good condition. The reported condition of wheat is 83 per cent, the same as one year (Continued on page four)

NORMAL SCHOOL BILL PASSED THE SENATE

Now Goes to the House, Where Only One Opposes

An authenticated report has come to us by the way of superintendent of East Jordan schools, A. J. Duncan, to the effect that the bill, introduced in the state senate by Senator William J. Pearson of Boyne Falls, providing for the establishment of a normal college in East Jordan, passed the senate Tuesday, April 17, by a vote of 29 to 1.

The bill now goes to the house, where in all probability, it will be acted on before the close of the present session. The only exception to the general favorable outlook for its passage is the opposition of Rep. Smith, of Luther, who is working for Cadillac on this proposition, and has been blocking it to some extent. His opposition is not considered serious in the house, and it is probable that he will withdraw from the contest in the face of the opposing odds, especially as the governor has already indicated his strong partiality towards the East Jordan bill.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Thos. E. Johnson, has voiced the opinion that the East Jordan normal would be the greatest summer normal in the north, in view of its favorable location in the heart of the resort region. It is also likely that the presence of a state normal in this county will have a gratifying effect on the resort business of this section.

Although, perhaps, this year may see summer normal classes at East Jordan, the work will not be in full swing before the season of 1924, as at least one new building must be erected for administration purposes.

SAMSON GODBOLD DIED TUESDAY NOON

Well-Known Charlevoix Farmer Passed Away

Samson Godbold, long time resident of Charlevoix county and road commissioner of this township for nine years, died very suddenly at his home near this city, at nine a. m. Tuesday. He had been in poor health since October 30, 1922, with heart trouble.

Mr. Godbold was born November 2, 1848, in Waterloo county, Ontario. He was married in Canada in 1874 to Miss Mary Bauman, and to this union six children were born—two boys and four girls, all of whom survive their father. He came to Charlevoix in 1895 from Remus, Michigan, and later in that year was married again to Mrs. Maggie Sands, of this city. The family located on a farm in Marion township, near the Barnard church. They moved to the home which they now occupy, just north of the city limits, about fourteen years ago.

The funeral services will be held from the house Friday, the remains to be taken to the old home at Remus for interment. The two sons, Walter Godbold, of Rodney, Mich., and Ivan W. Godbold, of Rodney, Mich., are here and will accompany the body to Remus. The deceased was a member of the Macabre lodge and the Grange.

LEGION POSTS TO PLANT TREES

THIS WORK WILL BE A PART OF MEMORIAL PROGRAM

The Movement, Nationwide in Scope, Will Occupy Period of April 27th to May 4th

Planning their project to be a part of the Tree Planting Week program in their particular state, local posts of the American Legion all over the United States are including in their current activities the planting of Memorial Trees.

From Geneva, N. Y., from Kansas City, Mo., from St. Joseph, Mo., from Dundee, Illinois and from other cities and towns, east, west, north and south, come announcements of Memorial Tree planting plans already under development.

In orders to posts throughout the country the Legion early threw its influence to the Memorial Tree Movement, and from every section of the country come reports of tree planting by the Legionnaires in tribute to their comrades at arms.

The Herkimer, N. Y. post of the American Legion has already begun the planting of a whole Memorial Forest. Beginning with a few plots set aside for the purpose, the post will acquire and plant about 5,000 acres of land.

Along the highways from east to west, on public school grounds and in city parks, Legions have planted or are planning to plant Memorial Trees. Roads of Remembrance have quite naturally grown out of the single tree idea, and many posts are working to this end in their tree planting.

Women's Clubs, Historical Societies, the D. A. R. and other community-minded organizations, are duplicating the work of Legion men. "Victory" groves have been planted in Louisiana, along the Jefferson highway which leads from New Orleans to Winnipeg, Canada, and other towns along the way are planning to plant Memorial Trees during Tree Planting Week in their respective states.

The Tree Planting Association of America working under the slogan, "Plan to Plant Another Tree," is concentrating a particular effort on Memorial Tree planting and its work with the Legion in this connection. Membership in its organization and details of its aim and scope may be obtained from addressing its national headquarters at 53 S. LaSalle St., Aurora, Ill.

Home From Arizona

B. P. Wilkins returned Monday afternoon from Douglas, Arizona, where he and his wife have been visiting their son, Dr. Allan Wilkins, and family for the past six weeks. Mrs. Wilkins accompanied her husband as far as Grand Rapids and went on from there to Lansing, where she will visit for another week or ten days before returning to Charlevoix.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD ATTEND

DAIRY-ALFALFA CAMPAIGN TO BE HELD IN COUNTY

Intensive Drive to Carry Message of Better Dairy Stock and More Alfalfa

A Charlevoix county "Dairy-Alfalfa" campaign, the results of which will be of great importance to farmers of the county, is to start on May 11 and run for two weeks.

During the campaign, many local or "barn-yard" meetings are to be held on farms scattered all over the county, making it possible for every farmer to attend one of the meetings without driving more than a few miles. The campaign is to carry the gospel of better farming to all corners of the county, placing chief emphasis upon the dairy industry and upon the value of alfalfa and other leguminous crops on Charlevoix county farms.

The Michigan Agricultural College, through its dairy and farm crops departments, will furnish teams of specialists to carry on the work of the campaign, in co-operation with the Charlevoix county farm bureau office. Prof. G. E. Reed, head of the dairy division and Prof. J. E. Cox, head of the farm crops department, will head the work of their respective teams.

The Charlevoix county dairy industry assumes proportions which gives the coming campaign added significance. Any measures which can add to the efficiency of this big industry will be of untold value, not only to the dairy men themselves, but to the whole county as well.

Those who have made a careful study of the county know that there is room for improvement in the quality of dairy cattle kept on Charlevoix county farms. The average Charlevoix cow is said to be only about on a par with the state average in production, a figure below 4,000 pounds of milk a year. And this average production means but a meagre profit for the farmer keeping such cows.

When the production of a dairy cow falls much below the average, she may not only fail to profit her owner but actually mean a loss, production failing to pay for cost of feed and care.

Lack of knowledge of facts in regard to many features of the dairy industry is responsible for much lost profit in the county, and it is to bring out these facts that the coming campaign has been planned.

In addition to general information on feeding, care, etc., the value of cow testing and bull associations in raising the standards of the dairy industry will be brought out. The cow-testing association makes it possible to spot the low producing or "border" cows which pull down the average of a herd, while the bull associations enable groups of farmers to secure the services of pure bred bulls of much higher quality than the average individual farmer could afford to own alone.

Hand in hand with the direct dairy work of the campaign will go information on the value of alfalfa and other leguminous crops on Charlevoix county farms, especially dairy farms.

Michigan has made a great increase in its alfalfa acreage during the last few years, farmers generally coming to realize the worth of the crop. Charlevoix, for her part, has also made a remarkable record for increase with this crop, but there is still room for greatly increased acreage. Details of cultural practices, with relation to Charlevoix county conditions, will be given out during the campaign.

GOVERNOR VETOES 2c GAS TAX ACT

Latest advices from the "seat of war" which in this case means the legislative halls of the state, where the upholders of the act establishing a tax on gasoline consumption have been engaged in a fierce struggle with its opponents, the former finally succeeding in passing their measure through both houses, state that the governor has vetoed the bill.

What the outcome of the governor's action will be, in the face of the strong sentiment throughout the state in favor of this bill, remains to be seen.

Commonsense Home Treatment For Head and Chest Colds

Get from your druggist a twenty-five cent jar of Mucos-Solvent Salve, the ingredients of which are used by physicians constantly. Moisten a little in a spoon and rub the salve on the forehead, the chest and the throat, and the vapors will soothe and heal the inflamed membranes of the upper respiratory tract.

If cold is the most you can do, sit in a hot bath and stay there. Take a good laxative. Rub Mucos-Solvent thickly on chest and cover with warm flannel. A mucous bed of the chest will soothe the vapors that rise. Apply the salve up the nostril and breathe deeply.

Tomorrow morning you will be like a new person. If not, call a doctor, but it is possible for a cold that can be broken with this treatment to turn into pneumonia.

Add Profitable Land to Your Farm —at Less Expense

LOTS of farmers around here cleared stump land last year with Dumorite. That land is now putting money in the bank for them. It's no longer a loss. They saved money on the job, too.

For Dumorite gives you one-third more sticks per dollar—it has approximately the same strength but for stick is 40% dynamite, and the slow burning action of 20%. Non-freezing and non-benched.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A Michigan poet has a firm estate of $37,000. Accumulated entirely by the sale of something he sides poetry, we presume.

Through the press agent of that theatrical company which has produced a show called "Bubbles" in a number of Michigan towns, is foretold blowing.

There are certainly plenty of surprises in the news, nowadays. We read last week about a woman who was going to be married, and we didn't even know she had been divorced.

Clothes are cheaper now than they were 800 years ago, according to a tailor's statement in a Lansing paper. In that case, perhaps we had better buy a new one, and just keep our 800-year-old one for second best.

We have just met one of the great industrial kings of the future; a man who, after duly studying the Michigan climate, has invented a folding straw hat, which can be slipped conveniently into the overcoat pocket.

An up-state paper points out that a thief who entered a Detroit restaurant one night after it was closed escaped with $2. But an ordinary honest man can sometimes do quite as well in the day time, if he has $10 or more when he enters.

An Ironwood woman who has reached the age of 100, without a gray hair in her head, may live at least 20 years longer, physicians believe. That is, unless the advertisers of patent hair tonic cause her to worry too much trying to remember which one she used.

There are at least 100 major plant pests, and many hundreds of minor pests which may infest a vegetable garden, according to an agricultural authority. The neighbor who comes over and tells you that he believes his tomatoes will ripen first is, of course, the one for which the poison should be spread most thickly.

Once more the harmfulness of tobacco; "A southern Michigan man," says the Ionia Sentinel, "collected his weekly stipend on a Saturday night a week or two ago, but while on the way to the old homestead he ruitously spent eight cents on a home made cigar, which so provoked his better half that she grabbed up the family rolling pin and gave him a two weeks' vacation in the town hospital."

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

For chapel, Monday morning, Mr. Hamilton read a chapter from the Bible and Vera Belding favored us with a piano solo, "Valse Chromatique" by Chopin, and Lucile and Vera Belding played "Quartet from Rigoletto" by Verdi. Then "Golden Road" and "The Olden Days" were played by the orchestra. The trio, consisting of C. Usher, A. Davenport and G. Saltonstall, sang "The End of a Perfect Day," and last but not least, Dr. McMillan entertained us for a few minutes with jokes taken from a number of state eighth grade examination papers.

The oratorical contest will be held in the high school assembly at 7:45 Friday evening. Those representing C. H. S. are Doris Hammond—"Abraham Lincoln" and Margery Brown—"The Japanese Must Go."

Miss Burt spent the week-end in Muskegon.

The track team is reported as being in good trim and planning on the state meet at Kalamazoo, May 12, and the Cadillac meet the last week in May.

For those who are interested, an illustrated lecture on "Beginning School in a Kindergarten," will be given Saturday night, April 21, at 7:30 in the high school assembly. It will be worth your time.

AT THE MOVIES

Paramount's picturization of Donnan Thompson's famous play, "The Old Homestead," will be the attraction at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, April 21 and 22. The picture is said to be beautiful and impressive, and the various roles are in capable hands. Theodore Roberts, "the grand old man of the screen," will be seen as Uncle Josh, a part played by Mr. Thompson on the stage for thirty-two years. Don't miss this photoplay.

Due at the Palace Theatre on Tuesday, April 24, next is Charles Jones, that magnetic film star who has made such rapid progress under the Fox banner. Few men on the screen have equalled his speedy development from the crude to the artistically finished actor. He has come to be an ever-welcome visitor, and in his new picture, "Bells of San Juan," William Fox has supplied him with a role exactly to his liking.

"Brighten the Corner Where You

Are." This was the motto of the orchestra made up of members of the Paramount company during the filming of "The Bouded Woman," starring beautiful Betty Compson, which will be seen at the Palace Theatre beginning Wednesday 25th, next. Miss Compson herself is an accomplished violinist and often brings her violin to the studio; John Bowers vibrates a vivacious guitar string, and J. Farrell MacDonald tickles a tune-ful ivory, while Florence Egan, herself a soloist, plays "second fiddle" when Miss Compson is playing. Richard Dix occasionally breaks into song.

Balance Cash on hand February 28, 1923 to the credit of the School
Treasurer

Bank Statement at close of February 28, 1923 shows same balance.

The records in the County Treasurer's office of Delinquent School Taxes collected by the County Treasurer and Auditor General from January 1, 1917, to December 31, 1922, agree with the amounts received by the City Treasurer, all of which has been paid over to the School Treasurer, and I find that the School Treasurer has received from the City Treasurer the correct amounts collected on the tax levies of 1917 to 1921 both inclusive, and the School Treasurer has received $33,000.00 on account of the 1922 levy, the balance collected on that levy will be paid over as soon as the City Treasurer closes his books.

The Delinquent School Taxes collected by the County Treasurer and Auditor General from January 1, 1917 to December 31, 1922 for Charlevoix township have all been paid over to the township treasurer.

Because of a misunderstanding no interest received on these collections was paid over to the School Treasurer except in one instance. And because of lack of knowledge in regard to the disposition of the rejected and charged back state and county taxes, charged to the township by the County Treasurer, the same were deducted from the school tax collections by the township. Also certain Reassessed School Taxes were not accounted for by the township. When settling the several tax levies I find a balance due from Charlevoix township to the School Treasurer to December 31, 1922, of $982.04. The township clerk and treasurer have a detailed statement of the items making up this amount and have checked the statement over with me. The township treasurer will pay over a part of this amount without delay and the balance as soon as can be arranged.

As the township officers now fully understand the proper method of handling the Delinquent tax collections received by them; and in settling the tax levies, it is not likely there will be any omission or errors in the future.

The matter of taxes paid but afterwards refunded to the Auditor General, was called to my attention. I desire to say that I interviewed the city clerk in regard to this matter and he informed me that he knew of but one instance, in that case the city paid the county the amount of the city taxes refunded and charged the school with the School Tax and Interest on same. I looked over the Auditor General's quarterly statements of refunds on file in county treasurer's office and found but one refund of Charlevoix city school tax, amount $8.00 and interest $5.35, and no refunds of Charlevoix township taxes. This, no doubt, is the one referred to by the city clerk.

I notice that the Library Fund receives practically no credits other than the Penal Fines paid over by the city treasurer. The appropriations for library purposes are deduced on when the yearly School Budget is made are generally placed to the credit of the Library Fund on the books of the secretary and treasurer. In my judgment it would be well to follow that course.

I can see no particular object in creating an account at the bank for the purpose of drawing checks for the teachers salaries. It is customary to issue orders for these salaries in same manner as other orders are issued—by adopting the course some time would be saved.

In this connection I would suggest that the orders when issued be stamped "Payable at the Charlevoix County Bank." This method is used by many school boards, also by cities and counties and is found very convenient. Many boards of education use a claim book in which are listed all claims other than salaries of officers, teachers and janitors. In passing on these claims, the reference made on the secretary's minutes would be something like this—"On motion of blank, seconded by blank, claims on pages blank and blank from number blank to number blank, amounting to blank dollars, be allowed and orders be drawn for same."
The benefits of this system would be that any claim could be very readily referred to and it would save the secretary's time as the claims would not be listed on the record book of board meetings except—as before mentioned.

I notice the clerk journalizes all orders issued before posting same in classification ledger. This appears to me to be entirely unnecessary. Much time and liability for errors would be saved by posting from the stubs of the order book directly to the ledger. I am pleased to state that I found the totals posted in the ledger from July 10, 1922 to February 28, 1923, to agree with the totals of orders listed on the treasurer's cash book and bank statements.

In conclusion I desire to say that the superintendent and clerk have promptly rendered me any assistance or information required.

Respectfully submitted,

Success Without Mystery

When a car as good as Overland is made better—at the lowest price in history—and when people welcome it with ringing praise—and call it the greatest automobile value in the world—there is naturally no mystery in the tremendous increase in Overland sales, both locally and nationally.

Invest in a Thriving Furniture Factory With an Unusual Record of Earnings

JOHN THWAITES
Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

Probably no man knows more about the manufacture of fibre furniture than
Mr. Thwaites, who has had 30 years practical experience. He formerly operated the Wolverine Reed Co. of Detroit, which earned 100% of capital invested under his management. He also founded and was for nearly 10 years head and general manager of the Ypsilanti Reed Furniture Co. of Ionia, which paid 15% dividends semi-annually while he was at the head.

The Thwaites Furniture Co. is the only manufacturer of fibre furniture in Grand Rapids. It enjoys exclusively the advantage of location in this national furniture capital, where 2,000 merchants come to buy twice a year.

This company has orders booked to run to capacity through the present season. Much more business awaits if it can enlarge its factory to handle it. Last year's sales were over $300,000.

To secure capital to increase production facilities, the Thwaites Furniture Co. is selling a limited amount of $10 par value common stock, owners of which will participate fully in the profits of the business. There
